Mr. MORGAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 697, entitled:

An Act regulating the passage of traction engines motor and other vehicles over highways and bridges and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General

Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That no traction engine trailer motor or other vehicle shall be operated upon or over a highway or bridge in this Commonwealth nor shall any object be moved over or upon a highway or bridge upon wheels rollers or otherwise in excess of a total weight of ten tons including the vehicle object or contrivance and load without first obtaining a permit mentioned in section three of this act from the authority or authorities in charge of the maintenance or care of said highway or bridge nor shall any such engine vehicle object or contrivance for moving heavy loads be operated or moved upon or over any highway or bridge the weight of which resting upon the surface of said highway or bridge exceeds eight hundred pounds upon any inch in width of the tire roller wheel or other object supported upon the surface thereof without first obtaining said permit nor shall any vehicle be operated or contrivance moved upon or over said highways or bridges which has any flange ribs clamps or other object attached to its wheels or made a part thereof which will injure cut into or destroy the surface of the highway or bridge The owner driver operator or mover of any such engine vehicle object or contrivance over said highway or bridge shall be responsible for all damages which said highway or bridge may sustain as which has any flange ribs clamps which will injure cut into a result of said action on his part and the amount thereof may be recovered by the authority or authorities in charge of the maintenance or care of said highway or bridge

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President. I hove to amend Section 1, line 3, by inserting after the word "that" the words "from and after the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and fourteen;" also in Section 1, line 8, by striking out the word "ten" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "fourteen;" also in Section 1, lines 21 and 22, by striking out the words "which shall injure cut into or destroy the surface of the highway or bridge," and inserting in lieu thereof the words "of a width less than two inches or a height more than one and one-quarter inches.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I am very much afraid the amendment will destroy the intent of the bill. As I understand the measure drafted by the Highway Department it is drafted for the purpose of conserving our roads and particularly the improved highways of the Commonwealth. They are very much afraid that the traction engines of a greater weight than ten tons run over the highways without a special permit from the authorities will destroy the highways and they have no come back. This bill as originally drawn permitted engines of greater weight than ten tons, but it held this restriction that before those engines were moved over the public roads and particularly the improved highways they were obliged to procure a permit from the authority and the permit stipulated in the event of any injury to the highway to any extent the owners of those machines were liable for the injuries. Now the intent of this amendment as I understand from the reading increases the weight from ten tons to fourteen tons and it removes this stipulation entirely, the second amendment, as to the responsibility of the owner of the machine as to injury to the improved highways. I offer this as an explanation from the Highway Department.

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President, the Senator has stated that the amendment would remove the liability of the owners of the traction engines. It only increases the weight from ten to fourteen tons. I have offered these amendments at the instance of the manufacturers of traction engines, and back of these amendments are the great number of the rural population of the State which use traction engines, and need them absolutely in their business. We do not object to the restriction of ten tons, except for this fact, that a very great proportion of the traction engines in use to-day are of weight exceeding ten tons, running about twelve, thirteen and fourteen tons, and we do not think it is fair that the users of these useful machines should have to go to some office for a permit which office might refuse a permit and put a machine out of commission entirely in which some private owner has a considerable amount of money invested, and we think that the weight ought to be raised to fourteen tons that these machines could be used on the public highways.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The second, third, fourth and fifth sections of the bill were read as follows and agreed to:

Section 2 No steam traction engine with or without trailers and no motor truck carrying a weight in excess of four tons including the vehicle shall be operated upon any highway or bridge at a speed greater than fifteen miles an hour and no such vehicle carrying a weight in excess of six tons including the vehicle shall be operated upon any highway or bridge at a speed greater than six miles an hour when such vehicle is equipped with iron or steel tires nor greater than twelve miles an hour when the vehicle is equipped with tires of hard rubber or other similar substance

Section 3 The State Highway Commissioner County Commissioners Municipal Commissioners or Supervisors of streets or highways Township Commissioners or Supervisors Township Roadmasters or other road authorities having charge of the repair and maintenance or supervision of or authority over any highway or bridge in the Commonwealth are hereby authorized upon proper application in writing to grant permits for the moving of heavy vehicles loads objects or structures over said highways and bridges which permits when duly granted shall authorize such movement Said permits may be general or may limit the time and the particular roads and bridges which may be used and may contain any special conditions or provisions which in the opinion of the authorities granting the same are necessary for the protection of said highways or bridges from injury The authorities having charge of any such bridge are hereby authorized to make regulations limiting the speed of any of the vehicles mentioned in this act passing over said bridge to a speed not to exceed six miles an hour provided notice is conspicuously posted at each end of the bridge affected by such regulation

Section 4 Any person violating the provisions of this act or the regulations made or permits granted under authority thereof shall be liable to a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than five hundred dollars for each and every offense to be collected by a summary conviction before any magistrate or Justice of the Peace as like fines and penalties are now by law collected and said fines shall be paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth for the maintenance of State highways or bridges when State highways or bridges are injured and into the treasury of the city town township or county when any highway or bridge is injured which is under the care of said city town township or county for use on the highways of said city town township or county in addition to any other moneys that may be available for the purpose

Section 5 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

The title of the bill was read as follows and agreed to:

An Act regulating the passage of traction engines motor and other vehicles and objects over highways and bridges and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 852 (House Bill No. 1151), entitled:

An Act to authorize the township commissioners of townships of the first class to ordain and establish sidewalks along the principal streets and highways of the township reading directly to or connecting cities boroughs villages or places of public resort and to charge a part of the expense of constructing the same upon the abutting property owners and to defray the remaining part of such expense from the public funds of the township

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

The first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh sections of the bill were read as follows and agreed to:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be lawful for the board of township commissioners of any township of the first class in this Commonwealth and they are hereby authorized and empowered from time to time whenever they may deem it advisable so to do to ordain and establish sidewalks along either one or both sides of any principal street or highway of the said township leading directly to or connecting cities boroughs villages or places of public resort within the lines of the said street or highway for such distance as the said board of township commissioners may deem proper Provided However That in case the said street or highway be a turnpike or other road managed and controlled by a corporation duly incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth the written consent of the said corporation shall first be obtained thereto

Section 2 The said board of township commissioners is hereby authorized and empowered to charge to the owner or owners of the properties abutting on the said sidewalk according to the respective frontage of each abutting property such part or portion of the expense of the construction of such sidewalk as the said board of township commissioners shall deem reasonable and just not to exceed however in any case fifty per cent of the total cost of the construction of the said sidewalk and to defray the remainder of the expense of the construction of the said sidewalk from the public funds of the said township

Section 3 The ordinance establishing any such sidewalk shall specify the width thereof which however shall not be less than five (5) feet in any case and shall in no case leave a roadway of less than twenty (20) feet in the clear and shall require such grading and filling as shall be deemed necessary The kind and character of the pavement shall be specified in the ordinance and the manner of laying the same may be specified in like manner or provided for by some general ordinance or by the regulation of a committee of the board Provided That it may be lawful for the said township commissioners to provide for the construction of a boardwalk in any case instead of a paved sidewalk

Section 4 In all cases coming under this act if at the time of the passage of the ordinance a sidewalk paved with brick stone or concrete of any sort has already been constructed by a property owner in front of his property the township commissioners may accept such walk as a compliance with the ordinance although it be not constructed according to the specifications thereof Otherwise if such sidewalk be not accepted the township shall bear the expense of reconstructing the same

Section 5 All ordinances for the construction of sidewalks under the provisions of this act shall provide for written notice to be given to the property owners to grade and construct such sidewalk in front of their respective properties within a certain specified period not less than three (3) months from date of the service of such notice Provided however That when such notice is given on or after the first day of September in any year the property owners affected shall not be considered in default for failure to construct the said sidewalk until the first day of June of the following year Service of such notice shall be made by handing the same to the property owner or by leaving the same at his place of residence if he have one in the county or if he do not reside in the county by mailing the same to his address if his address can be obtained and also in all cases a copy of such notice shall be served upon the occupant of the house or any other building on the premises Should any property owner fail to comply with the requirements of the ordinance within the time or times specified in this section it shall be lawful for the board of township commissioners to cause the sidewalk in front of his property to be constructed in accordance with the requirements of the ordinance and to collect the proportion of the expense thereof which under the ordinance authorizing the construction of the same is chargeable upon the property owner including the costs of grading and any other incidental matters together with the penalty of ten per centum by action of assumpsit or by filing a lien against said property in the nature of a municipal lien in the manner prescribed by existing laws

Section 6 When any sidewalk has been constructed by an abutting property owner in front of his property under the provisions of this act the township commissioners upon the presentation to them of a receipted bill for the cost of constructing such sidewalk shall forthwith pay to the property owner the part or portion of the expense of the construction of the said sidewalk which by the terms of the ordinance authorizing the construction of the same is to be defrayed from the public funds of the said township and if the said part or portion of the expense of the construction of the said sidewalk which is to be defrayed from the township funds is not paid forthwith to the property owner by the board of township commissioners the property owner shall be exonerated from the payment of any and all township taxes until he has been fully reimbursed by the taxes so exonerated for the part or portion of the expense of constructing the said sidewalk which should have been paid him by the township commissioners with interest thereon from the date of his payment thereof

Section 7 This act shall not be construed to repeal or in any wise alter or affect any existing act of assembly authorizing or regulating the construction of sidewalks along any public road street or highway or part or portion thereof within townships of the first class in this Commonwealth Provided That the foregoing provisions of this act shall cease to be operative in any township of the first class when after the passage of any ordinance for any of the above purposes the owners of at least fifty-one per centum in value (according to the last assessed valuation for taxable purposes) of property in said township shall express in writing to the Board of Township Commissioners their dissent from the provisions of such ordinance

The title of the bill was read as follows:

An Act to authorize the township commisioners of townships of the first class to ordain and establish sidewalks along the principal streets and highways of the township leading directly to or connecting cities boroughs villages or places of public resort and to charge a part of the expense of constructing the same upon the abutting property owners and to defray the remaining part of such expense from the public funds of the township

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, I move to amend the title by striking out all after the words "An act" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "Authorizing the township commissioners of townships of the first class to ordain and establish sidewalks along the principal streets and highways of the township leading directly to or connecting cities, boroughs, villages or place sof public resort, providing for and regulating the construction of the same and authorizing the township commmssioners to charge a part of the expense of constructing the same including the grading and curbing thereof upon the abutting property owners and to defray the remaining part of such expense from the public funds of the township, and providing that the provisions thereof shall be in-operative in any such township when a certain percentage of the property owners shall dissent from the action of the commissioners taken under the provisions of this act."

Mr. McILHENNY. The President, I second the motion.

The title of the bill was read as follows:

An Act to amend the fourth section of an act entitled "An Act establishing in each county a board of viewers prescribing their duties providing for their appointment as viewers road juries juries of view and commissioners to view land and providing for the charges upon the respective counties in the matter of salaries costs and expenses thereof" approved the twenty-third day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven fixing the per diem and mileage of the said board of viewers and providing for the payment thereof by the proper county

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. JUDSON. Mr. President, I move to amend the title in line 1, by inserting after the word "the" the words "third and;" also, in line 8, by inserting after the word "diem" the word "compensation;" also, by adding at the end of the title the words "and increasing the power of viewers regulating the administration of oaths."

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER.

Mr. THOMPSON. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 1020 (House Bill No. 1244), on second reading, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1092 House Bill No. 135), on second reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the further government and regulation of cities of the second and third class by authorizing the initiative and referendum methods of legislation be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Affairs.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, this is a bill providing for the Initiative and Referendum in cities of the second and third class, and I feel that the bill at this time is in shape in which it should be passed upon by the Senate. This bill has passed the House of Representatives by a large majority, and as for myself I feel that the bill should remain on the Calendar. I am opposed to the bill being recommitted.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, at the time the Committee heard this bill it was reported out with the distinct understanding, as some of the members of the Committee could not get there, that it was their wish that the bill be recommitted, and I hope that the members of the Senate will vote in accordance with that arrangement.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair has already decided that this bill was recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Affairs.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I understand the matter is open for discussion.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I arise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Crow, will state his point of order.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, my point of order is that the Chair having already ruled that the motion prevailed and that this bill is recommitted, discussion at this time is out of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair had decided before any remarks whatever that this bill had been recommitted, and there is nothing now before the Senate with respect to this bill, and the point of order of the Senator from Fayetts, Mr. Crow, is sustained.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I appeal from the decision of the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Monroe, Mr. Huffman, will prepare his appeal.

The ACTING PRSIDEENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. Charles H. Kline) in the Chair.

APPEAL FROM DECISION OF CHAIR.

We, the undersigned, hereby appeal from the decision of the President on the question decided.

(Signed) HARVEY HUFFMAN,
J. CARTER JUDSON.

On the question,

Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Senate?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, as I understand the matter, as it now stands, the merits or demerits of the legislation are not before the Senate. A motion was duly made and seconded that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Affairs, in accordance with understandng when the bill was reported from committee. The motion was put to the Senate and upon the vote taken the Chair decided that the bill was recommitted. Now, up to the time that the Chair made the decision, no complaint or objection had been made by any member of the Senate, so that the Chair's decision was in accordance with the facts and the vote as it stood at the time the decision was given. There can be no claim of injustice or partiality in the decision of the Chair because at the time the decision was made no objection whatever had been made to the recommitting of the bill, and it seems to me that under these circumstances and no impartiality or unfairness appearing in the ruling of the Chair, the decision should be sustained.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I did not intend to say anything more about this, and I only arise because I want to make a comment about where this bill shou'd go. I want to say that I was as close to the President as the gentleman who just took his seat, and that I paid as much attention to that as was possible for me to pay, and I have not heard any decision the President has made yet on that question. The Senator from Mercer, Mr. Jarrett, was on his feet asking the attention of the Chair, and received it, and after he made his remarks, it was talked upon by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare.

I was immediately thereafter recognized and I deny that any decision was made in the hearing of the Senators and I say this without talking upon the merits of this question, that this is a reflection I think upon this Senate that when an attempt is made to talk upon a subject of this character that the Senator be cut off from discussing it. I don't know that I am in favor of an initiative and referendum for third class cities, but I do know one thing that so long as I occupy a seat in this Senate that I shall maintain my rights here and I do not think this Senate would be doing what is right to sustain this decision of the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The reporter will read the motion and the action thereon.

Which was accordingly done.

And the question recurring,

Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Senate?

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, in my legislative experience I have always tried to observe the rules of this Senate and I for one will not joi nin appealing from the decision of the Chair when I think that the decision of the Chair was right. I sat around all morning waiting for this bill to be called for second reading and when the motion was put whether or not this bill should be recommitted I was on my feet and the President of this Senate recognized me and allowed me to make my remarks. There was no objection made on the floor of this Senate as I made my remarks. When I attracted the attention of the Chair it was just when he was ready to say "All in favor say Aye, All opposed" when I attracted his attention. I am not here to deceive any member of the Senate and I hear the members of the Senate talking about upholding Senatorial courtesy, this is one place you should uphold it and I say the appeal made by the Senator from Monroe, Mr. Huffman, should be sustained, that we should vote in favor of the appeal from the decision from the Chair and that the decision of the Chair should not be sustained.

Mr. JUDSON. Mr. President, in seconding this appeal, I do not do it because I want to reflect upon the President, but I did not understand the nays and yeas had been called. I was waiting for this and I didn't hear the yeas and nays called on that motion.

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President, I would like to vote to sustain the Chair in this but it seems to be on the facts that are exhibited by the notes of the stenographer himself that the Senator from Fayette should withdraw his point of order. If that is the correct record of what occurred the Chair did not put the question to the vote of the Senators. It said the motion was put and seconded and immediately said it was agreed to. On the facts that are exhibited by the notes themselves I think this point of order should be withdrawn.

The PRESIDENT. If the Senator will look at the Legislative Journal he will notice that the presiding officers name never appears as putting the question.

And the question recurring,

Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Senate?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Huffman and Mr. Judson, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—23.

Catlin,	Hall,	Magee,	Sheatz,
Crow,	Homsher,	Martin,	Snyder,
Daix,	Hunter,	McNichol,	Sones,
DeWitt,	Jones,	McNichols,	Thompson,
Farley,	Kline,	Morgan,	Vare,
Graff,	Kurtz,	Salus,

NAYS—15.

Alexander,	Hoke,	Knapp,	Nulty,
Cooper,	Huffman,	McIlhenny,	Sensenich,
Heacock,	Jarrett,	Miller,	Wasbers,
Hilton,	Judson,	Moore,

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the appeal was not sustained.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John M. Reynolds) in the Chair.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE BY WHICH BILL WAS RECOMMITTED.

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 1092 (House Bill No. 135) was recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Affairs.

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Heacock and Mr. Judson.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to state, probably it is out of the usual order of things, in justice to himself, that he was not aware of the title of this bill, or the substance if the title of this bill as it was simply called by number. He was not aware of the substance of this bill until after he had made his decision. The Chair has been proceeding with some speed in order to get the calendar completed for the morning and this bill was called just as others and the motion was made to recommit, seconded and without, hastingly, as I have done in every instance, I said the motion was agreed to. As a matter of courtesy I always recognize a Senator who might rise with respect to any bill that has been disposed of, and then it was for the first time that I knew the nature of this bill, but I had rendered my decision and in justice to myself and the Senate I felt that I ought to say so. That is all I have to say in regard to it.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, there is no reason why this Senate should reconsider the vote by which this bill was recommitted. The bill came out with a distinct understanding of every Senator sitting in the committee room at the time this bill was considered and because of the small attendance at the hearing of the committee, that it should be recommitted. I said as Chairman of that committee that I would report this bill out with the distinct understanding that if the rest of the Senators from that committee are not satisfied the bill will come back, and that was agreed to, and I think this Senate ought to sustain the committee under that arrangement.

Mr. McNICHOLS. Mr. President, I am very much interested in this bill, for the reason that two years ago I voted for a measure just like this, and in order to complete our form of government up in Scranton, we would like to add this to it. However, I agree with the Chairman of the Committee on Municipal Affairs that there was an understanding, as I happen to be a member of this committee and was present at that hearing. I was informed since that that there was no opposition to it. I am a little surprised this morning to learn that there is opposition, and that it is to go back for a further hearing. I feel assured, however, that the Chairman will give the advocates of this measure a hearing in the very near future, and that we will get it back on the Calendar. As much as I would like to vote for this measure, and for this motion as made, I feel in all justice to the Chairman of this particular committee that I will have to vote "No."

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I know nothing at all about the arrangements that this bill should come out, be placed upon the Calendar and be recommitted on second reading. I regard this measure as a very important one for cities of the second and third classes. I am not going to discuss the merits of the bill. I think there is a sufficient demand for it. Some of the people want it. If the Chairman of the Committee on Municipal Affairs will say simply and assure the Senators that this bill will come out in a reasonable time, I do not want to be discourteous, but I do not want to see the bill go back in committee and there be killed. If we agree that this bill shall come out next Monday or Tuesday or Wednesday, that will be all right, but if there is no arrangement of that kind I will have to vote for reconsideration.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I was the gentleman who objected to reporting the bill out, but at the solicitation of Senator Powell, who desired to have the bill reported out and read the first or second time, I consented to it with the distinct understanding, and the rest of the members of the committee thoroughly understood the proposition, that this bill would go back and the idea of undertaking to report a bill out and to act upon it that has been in the Committee on Municipal Affairs, and never heard, I would think it preposterous that even the intelligence of this Senate could consider this bill in a dispassionate form, and I thnk it is due this committee as represented by its Chairman, Mr. Vare, that the understanding had in that committee should be lived up to, and not with the idea that the bill is going to be sent back with the intention of stifling it, but that the members of the committee should be fully familiar with its provisions and what is contained therein, in order to either defend or oppose it intelligently upon the floor of the Senate.

Mr. VARE. Mr. Presdent, in answer to the Senator from Mercer, Mr. Jarrett, I might add a few words. There never has been a time since the convening of this session that the Municipal Affairs Committee did not consider any bill by request, and that will be the case with this bill. It is not fair to stand in this Senate and say that bills are being stifled and the committee will not hear them, when there is not a member sitting on this floor who can say that the Municipal Affairs Committee has refused to give them fair hearings and in many cases, reported bills out when there were only two or three Senators at the hearings. And that is why this bill is to go back. Very many of the Senators did not attend and there was such a small attendance that they sent the bill out with this understanding that if some of the members would not agree to it, after the bill came out, it was to go back again, and I believe this agreement ought to be kept.

Mr. HILTON. Mr. President, after hearing the remarks of the Senators from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol and Mr. Vare, I would say that I am a member of that committee and that they are right. This bill was reported out with the understanding that the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, would arrange with the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Crow, otherwise it was not to be reported out, and while I am for the bill I am in favor of reporting it back to committee owing to that agreement.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, as I stated before, I am ignorant of the arrangements that were made at that time, not knowing anything at all about it. If it can be arranged that we can have a hearing on this bill, say this afternoon—Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. VARE, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I trust that my interrogation will not be considered out of order. Does the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare, think it will be possible to arrange a meeting of the Muncipal Affairs Committee this afternoon?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I do not think so as we have a meeting of the Elections Committee all afternoon.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, could the committee give half an hour this afternoon?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, maybe a half hour wouldn't suit the committee to pass on the bill.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, the committee could probably hear the arguments of the people that would like to be heard.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, there isn't any intention to hide this bill, never has been and never will be while I am at the head of this committee, and so far as the Senators are concerned, I want them to vote on this bill the same as a full committee.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, with the permission of the seconder to the motion, I withdraw it.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I agree that the motion shall be withdrawn.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with.

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1111 (House Bill No. 695), entitled:

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

Prayer by the Chaplain, the Rev. J. E. Wright.

O God, we pray for the toilers of our great Commonwealth, that vast number of men and of women whose strong and patient hands are doing the work so essential to us and which contributes so largely to our prosperity and welfare. Some of those people are working under very hard conditions, and their lives feel the fret and the strain of the work, and some of them are working under the cruel sense of injustice and wrong. They feel that they have not the opportunity to which they are entitled, and their hearts are stirred to discontent and bitterness. O Lord, Who art the Father of us all, Thou knowest these people, who they are and where they are and what the conditions under which they are working. Wilt Thou correct the wrongs under which they suffer. Wilt Thou give to them compassionate sympathy. Wilt Thou sustain them and cheer them and give them hopefulness. And may we whose business it is to consider the needs of the people and to minister to those needs to what we can to ease the friction under which they work and to make their lives easier. We feel that in doing this we are ministering to Him who when here upon earth was a laboring man, and unto His name shall be the praise of it forever. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. Burnett, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1895(Senate Bill No. 831), entitled:

An Act amending section four and six of an act approved the second day of April one thousand nine hundred three entitled "An Act to establish a Department of Fisheries to provide for its proper administration and to provide for the protection and propagation of fish by the Department of Fisheries" by fixing the salaries of the Commissioner and the clerk in the Department of Fisheries and repealing certain acts

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, in order that the House may know that we have nothing up our sleeves, I would like to say, at the outset, that this is a salary raiser. I think it is such a salary raiser as will not be objectionable to any member of this House who appreciates conscientious public service. This bill effects the Fisheries Department. This office has four employees, including the Commissioner, the chief clerk and two stenographers. Major Evans, who is the cheif clerk of that department has been in that service, in the department of Fisheries, ever since it was organized and he receives, as chief clerk, the munificent salary of twelve hundred dollars a year. He is seventy years old, a veteran of the Civil War and one of the most conscientious, careful and consistent workers, I dare say, to be found in any department in the State. His duties are those of chief clerk. His work is not confined to what is involved in his clerical position, but he has other duties: he goes from point to point in different parts of the State, prosecuting violations of the fish laws. He is conversant with all the fish laws and familiar with changes under the new act, and assists in prosecuting violations of laws that have been passed in this respect. His duties will be greatly enlarged. I submit to you if the salary of twelve hundred dollars for the chief clerk of such a department is an extravagant salary. Major Evans seeks under this bill to secure an increase of salary of three hundred dollars per year, making his compensation the princely sum of fifteen hundred dollars. There are to stenographers. in the department—only a total of three employees outside sum of fifteen hundred dollars. There are two stenographers. receive nine hundred dollars per year. It might appear from a casual reading of the bill that their salaries have been jumped six hundred to twelve hundred dollars, but the Act of 1907 made that salary nine hundred dollars, and then added another stenographer. This is an increase of both these stenographers to twelve hundred dollars per year, which is a customary salary of all stenographers, I believe, in all the departments. I don't know of any department in the Commonwealth that does better work or does its work more conscientiously and in a less ostentatious manner than this department. I submit, also, that the bill adds no new help. The only difference is that it raises the combined salaries of the entire department twenty-four hundred dollars.

Mr. HESS in the Chair.

On the question

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill No. 1019, file folio 5439, on page 24 of to-day's calendar, bills on final passage.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 1019, entitled:

An Act providing for the liquidation distribution of assets and dissolution of corporations under the supervision of the Commissioner of Banking and providing for the conservation and management of such corporations and their business

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, this is the bank receivership bill and it amends the present law in this manner: That whenever a bank examiner finds under his supervision an institution that has passed anything illegally in making payment of its obligations, or finds it unsound in any manner, he shall notify the Commissioner of Banking and the Commissioner of Banking shall notify the Attorney General, also the officers of the bank to appear before the Attorney General and answer questions as to whether this bank is unsound or not, or whether it has passed illegally its obligations or its payment of them. After five days, if the Attorney General at the hearing finds that the institution has illegally postponed or passed payment of any of its obligations or is unsound, he shall authorize the Commissioner of Banking to take charge of this institution, and after taking charge of any banking institution, the banking supervision can apply to the court in its own county to re-hear the case as to whether the bank has postponed any of its legal obligations or whether it is unsound in any way. After the court has heard the case, if the court should agree with the Attorney General, then the Banking Commissioner shall have charge of this bank until it is put in sound condition again or until it has liquidated its obligations fully. It is entirely in line with the national banking law. I hope that every member will vote for the bill

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, lawyers are sometimes supposed to be very selfish people, and yet they, like doctors, are continually thinking up things for the public benefit which interfere with their own profits. This House may not realize, but the chief value of this bill, I believe its chief purpose, is to allow insolvent banking corporations to be liquidated by the department of Banking at a minimum expense, instead of going through the ordinary method of receivership, where tremendous fees are paid, not only to receivers but to receivers counsel. There are no pickings which are so fat in the legal business as becoming receiver for an insolvent banking corporation. Thousands and thousands off dollars are the ordinary fees for receivers. The banking departement is thoroughly equipped for the work and can do it at a minimum expense and with absolute reliability. When I first read this bill, I was inclined to beleive that it gave new and dangerous powers to the Banking Department, but upon a more thorough study of it I find that the powers which it gives are not new, but are almost exactly those powers which previous legislation had given the Banking Department, and therefore I am convinced that this is a bill which will do a large public work and which will not cause any danger.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S. B. Scott.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether this bill does not provide that the Banking Commissioner shall appoint attorneys for the purpose of winding up the affairs of the bank.

Mr. HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I will answer for the gentleman. No, sir it does not.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether I properly understand this bill or not, but I would like to call your attention and the attention of the members of the House to what appears to me to be a bad feature of this bill. This bill provides that when the Commissioner of Banking shall have reason to conclude that any corporation under his supervision is in an unsafe and unsound condition, or its business or manner of conducting its business is injurious or contrary to the interests of the community, he shall take charge of its affairs. Now, we know men who are doing business to-day, whether it be in a banking business or along mercantile or commercial lines, have their own ideas of conducting their business. In a banking business they do not always coincide with the ideas of the Banking Commissioner, but nevertheless they are safe and sound policies to follow. Further along in the bill it provides that the Banking Commissioner, after giving five days notice to the institution that has won his displeasure, can hail it before the Attorney General for a hearing. Now, to my mind, the Attorney General is not the proper judicial authority or proper court to determine this question. But the bill provides that if, after the hearing, the Attorney General and the Commissioner of Banking are of the opinion that the institution is in an unsafe and unsound condition to do business, or its manner of conducting the same is injurious and contrary to the interests of the people, they can forthwith appoint a receiver to take over the entire assets of that corporation. What redress has the institution under this law? After the assets have been taken away and the receiver has been appointed, then they can go into the common pleas court within ten days and seek to have the work of the Attorney General and Bank Commissioner reviewed. What redress is that to any institution? I say to you gentlemen that under the provisions of this bill, any institution that incurs the displeasure of the Banking Commissioner is in jeopardy. I would call your attention to the magnitude of the funds of this Commonwealth under the supervision of the Banking Commissioner. There are in the building associations of this State under the supervision of the Banking Commissioner, $197,000,000, with annual receipts of $102,000,000. Saving institutions of this State, $220,000,000; State banks, $210,000,000; and trust companies, $754,000,000. And this bill is to constitute the Bank Commissioner an arbirary power to determine whether or not their methods are safe and sound. I say to you that his reasoning is not always infallible. I recall only a short time ago when the Banking Commissioner sent out his fiat for a certain process and method of conducting the business of building associations, and after having put many building associations to the inconvenience of conducting their business along his lines, and building associations that had adopted his policy and followed his course were obliged to go into the court in our city to defend their action, the courts determined that the policy of the Bank Commissioner was erroneous, and that the policy followed by the building associations on that score was bad and gave judgment against the building associations on that particular. Now, gentlemen, I say that any building association that had refused to adopt the policy of the Bank Commissioner, if this bill had been enacted at that time, would have been shut up; would have had its doors closed; and what would have been the result? After a series of delays, the court would have decided that the building associations method of doing business was the proper one. But what redress would they have? What redress would there have been to any institution which had its doors closed once? Can they ever rehabilitate their business with the public? Mr. Speaker, I am of the opinion that this bill would constitute the Bank Commissioner a czar over the financial institutions of this State and I hope the House will defeat it.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to impose on the House a long debate or discussion on this bill, but I think we ought not to go to sleep at the switch on an important measure like this. This measure has been on the postponed calendar for a long time and the sponsor, as I understand, possibly fearing that he might encounter shoals, has let it rest there. Now by some other people interested in the passage of the bill, it has been called up at this time. I would not like to impose an attack on the bill for the reason that it is a pet measure of the Banking Department. For many years in the Legislature, in both Houses, the interests of the administration and of the Banking Department have sought to pass laws of this kind, in order that they might bring mutual building and loan associations under the thumb of the banking commissioner and I want to tell you gentlemen that this is the very pretext on which they are trying to pass this law and write it upon the statute books of the State. Now it might be argued that they are trying to pass this law after the National Banking System or after the State system or any other system, but if you will take the pains to compare the National Banking Act and the State Banking Act, which has stood the test of eighteen years, you will find a great difference. Let me call your attention to this feature. Suppose a National Bank with a capital stock of fifty thousand dollars and a surplus of fifteen thousand should have an unexpected loss of twenty thousand dollars. Now you can readily see that the surplus would be immediately wiped out and that the capital stock would be impaired to the extent of five thousand dollars. What is done? The Controller of the National Currency comes in and gives the institution notice that under the federal law they are given three months to make good that loss. Now let us consider that same institution under the State System and suppose a State Bank having a capital of fifty thousand dollars and a surplus of twenty thousand dollars should have an unexpected loss of fifteen thousand dollars. Their capital would be impaired to the extent of five thousand dollars and the Banking Commissioner would give them notice to make good their loss in sixty days. Now gentlemen what does this bill provide? Suppose any banking institution, a bank or mutual building and loan association or anything codified or classified under the banking laws of the Commonwealth, should have a loss as I have recited, what would be the result? Suppose that banking institution away off in one of the remote counties of the State under the jurisdiction of the court, the Banking Commissioner, whenever he had an inspiration, whenever he had a little inkling or idea that something was wrong in a financial institution, can step in and take it under his charge and have the proceedings in his care and wind up the affairs of the bank or the affairs of the mutual building and loan association. I cannot see, gentlemen, where the friends of this bill have any force or argument or any facts or figures or any data upon which to base an argument and say it will do away with an expensive receivership. I hold that the Banking Commissioner is part of the Executive Department of this State. The Constitution divides our departments into three sets, the Executive, Legislative and Judicial, and when we cross over and impugn upon these constitutional provisions and take something out of the Judicial Department and turn it over to the Executive, gentlemen, we are taking a step backwards. I say to you that every man who goes to that Building and Loan Association with his little pass book, whether a laborer, miner, or machinist, who is desirous of saving his money to buy a home and goes to one of those institutions and deposits his money is a stockholder in that institution. He meets with the other stockholders who are depositors and elects a Board of Directors who run the institution. It is not so in the bank, because they who own stock by purchase are the only ones who have the power to elect the directors and those who run the bank. The argument advanced that this would do away with an expensive receivership, in my estimation, falls flat. Nothing has been quoted to show you how much could be saved or wherein it might be saved. Oftentimes the Banking Commissioner is not learned in the law. I am not attacking the honesty or integrity of the Banking Department of Pennsylvania for a minute, but it has come about and will come about as long as the Commonwealth stands, that the Banking Commissioner, ninety-nine our of a hundred times is not learned in the law. Then imagine in your minds eye of a Banking Department going into a mutual Building and Loan Association and lifting the records and the whole business and winding it up under his jurisdiction. Necessarily he will have to employ an attorney and when you do away with the receivership, tell me whether the attorneys employed by the State Department are more expensive than those little matters run by the local courts and you will readily decide that they will be more expensive.

Another provision of the bill put into it might be the giving out of jobs. I think that if the matter was under the jurisdiction of the local court there would be more confidence in the winding up of the affairs of any banking institution or building and loan association and I hold that this particular bill is aimed against this one class of institutions, the building and loan associations in Pennsylvania. I hope the gentlemen will consider this bill carefully. I have given it some careful consideration and I want again to call your attention to the fact that under the national banking laws they are given three months and under the State laws, which have stood the test for eighteen years, they are given sixty days to make good any loss and this bill puts the whole power into the hands of the Banking department to decide and if he has any inspiration that there is something wrong or that needs investigation, he can go and take charge of the bank or the mutual building and loan association and wind up the whole thing if he sees fit. I hope the gentlemen will stand as a unit in voting down this bill.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I intended to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia while the matter was fresh in the minds of the House. He appeared to be very much alarmed over the powers given to the Banking Commissioners. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. Bleloch).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman from Philadelphia examine the Act of 1895 and find out whether this Act enlarges in any way the powers of the Banking Commissioner to investigate and proceed to place any of these corporations into liquidation or at least declare them insolvent? Does this bill in any way change that?

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the gentleman to the title of this bill, —

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I did not want to precipitate a debate—

Mr. BLELOCH, (continuing) which provides as follows:

Providing for the liquidation distribution of assets and dissolution of corporations under the supervision of the Commissioner of Banking and providing for the conservation and management of such corporation and their business.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Now Mr. Speaker, I doubt very much whether the gentleman took the trouble to go over this bill very carefully to examine how much its powers are extended and perhaps he is as ignorant of these provisions as other members very frequently are on the great mass of propositions presented, as I know I am, but in this particular bill, if you will take the trouble to note what the facts are—and I fear very much that my friend from Erie does not fully comprehend the situation, or he would not place it before the Legislature in the manner he has. As a matter of fact I hope the House will take notice that since 1895 the Banking Commissioner of this State has had the powers to go and examine these various institutions and under the provisions of this bill over no additional institutions or corporations has he any power to examine other than those he has had since 1895. But under the Act of 1895 he could proceed to appoint a temporary receiver, so that you see that the argument made by my friend from Philadelphia is simply made because he did not happen to know—if he did he had overlooked the fact—that the powers to investigate and the powers to declare the institution insolvent, so far as this bill is concerned, are identical with the law of 1895. It don't change it one iota. This bill does not give any more power to go in and interfere and investigate and place into the hands of a temoprary receiver any of these so-called institutions. Therefore, all the argument made by my friend from Philadelphia and a large part of the argument made by my friend from Erie, absolutely fails. Now this is absolutely the fact and any person who is acquainted with the Act of 1895, or acquainted with this bill, will know that so far as the investigating and so far as the declaring an institution insolvent in this first action there is no change whatever in this bill. Now what does this bill do different from the present law? It is a very simple proposition and easily understood.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, sure.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware how long the present banking system has stood the test in Pennsylvania.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, ever since it was put into operation.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, when was that?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot say when it was first put in operation, I do not know; but I know the Act of 1895 is the act they are working under now, in so far as it applies to this particular subject before the House for discussion.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman and ask him if under the present law the Banking Commissioner recommends the winding up of any banking institution, how long that bank is given to make good any loss that he discovers?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I believe sixty days. Let me answer that question. I believe under the present law sixty days. What has been the result in working it out? The result has been that the Banking institution under our present system cannot go a particle further than to appoint a temporary receiver, and by practice it then goes into the hands of other parties and history shows that it largely goes into the hands of the very people and under the very influences that have resulted in the bad management, but under this Act within five days after the Banking Commissioner discovers or believes that a Banking Institution is being badly managed or is on the verge of insolvency, he can give it notice within five days for them to appear before the Attorney General. After that hearing before the Attorney General he can then declare his temporary receiver. The particular institution under investigation, if not satisfied, feeling that they are not insolvent, have another day fixed for them to appear in court, but in the mean time they cannot check up nor can they touch that institutions money. There is the great safeguard in this bill.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I wasn't through interrogating the gentleman.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I hope the gentlemen won't interrupt me in the midst of my explanation.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I did not know how long his answer was going to last.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, fortunately for me, when I have the floor and unfortunately for the members, I have the right of way. There are two ways of interrogating, one is to try to break in on an argument, therefore I will have to make it plain and go on—

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I desired only to ask the gentleman a question and he goes right on arguing the case.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, all right; I will satisfy him and accept his interrogation.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to tell us if in his interpretation as a legislator, it is not the fact that this bill is aimed especially to bring the building and loan associations under the thumb of the Banking Commissioner.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Now, Mr. Speaker, I stated in the first place and I think the House understood me—perhaps the gentleman from Erie didn't—and for his own special benefit I will repeat again, that this bill does not enlarge the scope of inquiry in so far as the Banking Commissioner of this State is concerned, one iota.

There is not a single institution that this act gives the Banking Commissioner certain control over for examination that the present act does not give. Therefore, that dismisses that entirely from your mind.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he considers that if a banking institution on any account has unexpectedly sustained a loss, that they should not be given some opportunity of winding up their own business and making good the loss?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, most assuredly, and the history of this Department is that this Department has loaned its assistance in many many cases. In the County of Erie, this assistance was loaned by this Department when the attorneys of that association came here and said they were of the opinion that the institution was insolvent, and under the arrangement and advice of this Department that institution is now solvent and doing business. I want to say to the members of this House that there is no member of this House who can point to a single instance in the history of that Department where the power has been used either arbitrarily or unwisely in the affairs of any institution in the liquidating of its affairs, but, on the other hand, after the suggestions by this Department, and if the management was honest, but somewhat inefficient, upon the advice of this Department the depositors were paid dollar for dollar and the institution is now going along in good shape. There is not a member of this House who does not know that many of the building and loan associations scattered over this country must necessarily sometimes have directors who are inefficient who are managing their affairs, and when this Banking Department, and I defy any man to show to the contrary, when this Department has been satisfied, that it was simply caused by inefficiency, it has not closed the doors of that institution, but has kept an eye over it and advised it how to proceed, and in many instances has made financiers of the men who were not such when elected to these positions, and the result has been very satisfactory in a number of instances which I could cite. The only proposition contained in this bill that the House need consider at all is whether it is wise to allow the Banking Department to follow along the identical lines that the National Banking Department does. This bill is not nearly so drastic as the National Banking Law. Under the National Banking Law, when the Examiner steps into a national bank and finds that it is insolvent, he simply closes the doors and proceeds to handle the whole proposition through the great National Banking Department at Washington. Under this bill, recollect, after five days' notice, and the argument is made before the Attorney General upon the evidence of both sides, the temporary receiver is then appointed, and if he finds things satisfactory he does not close the doors of the institution. That is the first step. Under the present law that is where the Banking Commissioner stops. But under the provisions of this act if the parties interested feel that they have been unjustly dealt with they can go into their local court just as they do now under the present law and when the local court decides that the institution does need to be turned over into the hands of other parties, under the present law the court dismisses the temporary receiver appointed by the Banking Commissioner, and appoints some person else as a receiver. Under this statute, if it goes on the books, when the local court declares that the institution should be turned over into other hands for any of the various reasons that arise in the management of these various institutions, it means then that it goes into the hands of the Banking Department to liquidate the affairs and finally close them up. Now, what does the history of our present law show. It shows all over this State in innumerable cases that these matters have been permitted to go on and on and on and sometimes covering a period of from five to eight years. Dissatisfaction nearly always exists at the time, and the longer the job lasts the more pay for the Receiver, and the more litigation the more pay for those keeping up the litigation. While, under the present system, these institutions will have the same hearings, and the same opportunity to be heard, and there will be none of the expense of a Receiver, and none of those enormous expenses of the attorneys, and if any person will compare the National Banking Law and pit it against the practice here now, he would not hesitate one second how he should vote. That is all there is in this bill. Coming right down to brass tacks, it means this: Should the permanent receiver be appointed by the local courts or by the Banking Department. Under the National Law the Banking Department closes the whole proposition out, and yet in all these years, in the operation of that law, not one word of complaint have I ever heard when a banking institution was closed up by the National Department. It is done so squarely that each man has been dealt with squarely and generally gets dollar for dollar without the fees paid for the Receiver or attorneys. The provision is a small one, and needs no argument, because it is so patent and plain and there is no use to cloud it at all. Let me give you a little evidence of what has happened in this Banking Department.

Two foreign corporations called valid bond and investment companies, the like of which the Legislature is now trying to suppress by the "Blue Sky" bill, were cited by the Commissioner of Banking for a hearing. Many months elapsed before the Commissioner was enabled to have them cited before the Dauphin County Court, and they then refused to appear, having applied for receivership in the United States Court voluntarily to avoid the laws of Pennsylvania. The cases are still pending in court, and the liability of a trust company which was criticized publicly by two judges for certifying to the certificates of one of these bond companies which held therefor assets which were apparently worthless, is still under investigation and a further hearing is awaited. With proper authority, these fraudulent bond companies could have been put out of existence months ago.

Here is something I think is one of the strongest arguments made on the floor of the House. Personally I have a great deal of confidence in the opinion of a man who has had experience, more confidence in him, than in any other class of citizen. Some few years ago, two years ago, this is what occurred:

A certain company went into liquidation. The president of that company, when this bill was before the Legislature two years ago was one of its most persistent opponents. A few days before his death, by his own hand, when he perceived the great expense and tedious proceedings which were about to ensue, expressed his regret in no uncertain way that the law had not been enacted similar to the one now proposed in this bill, to liquidate his corporation.

Well, gentlemen, I am not going to tire the House with reading something to substantiate what I say. I am going to close this argument this way. All experience, where laws of this character have been tried, shows that they have proven much more efficient than the old system. There was just as great a fight made in this House when I was a member in '95 when the Act of '95 was passed. There was a cry made not to pass this bill because it gave certain powers. And now the gentleman from Philadelphia comes back some eighteen years afterwards against the provisions of this act, which in a period of eighteen years, the people of this Commonwealth would not wipe off the statute books, nor have the institutions complained sufficiently to have it wiped off. We cannot please every company or every institution in this Commonwealth, but what the House wants to consider is whether or not the people are benefited. There shou'd not be a vote against this bill, and all experience tells you and has told you, that where we have an investigation of these institutions who take the people's money without anything to show for it except a pass book, the experience of civilized society is that the government must come in and with its strong arm protect the masses. The members from Philadelphia, and the members from Pittsburgh must certainly know that in every city there are certain foreign individuals a little shrewder than their fellow countrymen who go into the banking business and after a time migrate to some other country and leave their poor dupes standing on the corner minus their savings. It was this condition that called for the great National Banking Law and called for the law of 1895. Those conditions have existed for some time and exist at the present time, and it was for that reason that the Banking Commissioner, in the honesty of his heart, having a full knowledge of the conditions, presented this bill to the Legislature. It is not his bill, it is the people's bill. It is for the depositors of these institutions who should have this protection, and this House should not hesitate to give it to them even though there may be some institutions in different parts of the State that feel that it would be an unwarranted scrutiny into their business affairs.

While the banking department has these powers, it is always surrounded by the proposition that under no circumstances shall it divulge any of the information that comes before the Department, and for that reason, a person is unable to come here with any report or set of circumstances to back up an argument on the floor of the House. But certainly you are going to place this bill on the statute books and protect the small depositor who earns his money by the sweat of his brow.

We must conduct that in this great State and this great nation of ours. The number of men who are not handling these things is a very small percent. It is only one of the small per cent that is here today objecting to this proposition. In my county, I expect, there are fifty Building and Loan Associations and there is not a single protest comes from them. Any institution that is well managed or is well conducted, need to have not the slightest fear of placing this power into the hands of the Bank Commissioner. Those who are inefficient, those who don't want the public to know it till the crash comes, they are those who feel that this law should not be placed on the Statute Books of our State. I do believe that if this House understood the question will that they would feel as honestly and as sincerely and as conscientiously as I do about it and vote for the passage of this bill.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I fear very much that the gentleman from Delaware and Mr. North both rather left the main question undiscussed. I think the issue has been confined to a different scope, and it is not the fact, if it is so asserted, that this bill does not in any way increase the powers of the Bank Commissioner under the Act of 1895, in so far as investigation and the temporary receivership is concerned. Then we must look for the purpose of this bill elsewhere. It is admitted by the gentleman from Delaware that the extension of the powers after the adjudication of the bank which is insolvent, that he has a right to wind up its affars. When I interrogated the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scott, in order to find out whether or not the Banking Commissioner has any right under this act to engage the service of an attorney, and Mr. Howard took it upon himself to answer that question in the negative. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Baldwin, asserted just a few moments ago that the purpose of the act is to wind up the institution that is insolvent without any receivor.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I didn't say that.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I understood the gentleman to say so.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I said that it gave the Banking Commissioner a temporary receivorship and could have him made the permanent receivor.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, that would leave it to him to wind up the affairs of the bank.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, there is no receivor's fees provided for in this bill.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to refer to section seven in which you will find that under this act a banking Commissioner has the right to appoint one or more deputy; while it is not mentioned deputies in his office who are paid a straight salary but deputies outside of his office who can come and take charge of this institution just as any receivor can and he has the right to appoint one or more attorneys for the conduct of the legal business. Truly, the gentleman from Delaware cannot argue that it does not give scope to have future plums handed to favorites of the Banking Department. Mr. Howard was saying that a Banking Commissioner has a right to wind up the affairs of a bank. Section seven is as follows: With your permission, I will read part of it:

"The Commisisoner of Banking may under his hand and official seal appoint one or more deputies to assist him in the collection liquidation distribution management and conservation of the assets of such corporation and certificates of said appointment shall be kept in his office and a copy thereof filed in the office of the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas in which proceedings have been had or inventory filed. The Commissioner of Banking may employ such expert legal and other assistants as may be deemed necessary by the said Commissioner of Banking or his deputies in each particular case."

According to this section he has the right to fix their office and their fees and appoint attorneys for the purpose of winding up the affairs in a legal way. He has the right to fix fees and pay their fees. The proposition comes down to this: are we so distrustful with the courts and so trustful of our officials, and as this bill provides as the gentleman from Delaware made me believe, that there is not one item of expense involved to the stockholders and depositors.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Delaware stated, as he lead me to believe, and I think that was the impression that circulated through the House, that there would not be an item of expense to the stockholders, but the Commissioner of Banking has the jurisdiction to assume the responsibility of liquidating and distributing what is left I would be heartily in favor of this bill but it is not analogous to the National Banking Law as carried out by the National Government. It is not to be compared to that act. When a commissioner is sent there, there is no attorney fee paid; there is not a single cent paid out by the bank for his services because he is a salaried officer employed under a salary by the National Government. If these men are all to be officials of the National Government, under a regular salary, they would not get one cent which is quite different from what is stated in section seven. This section seven provides for officers to assume the management for the winding up of the affairs of the institutions. It arranges for the employment of outside attorneys to assume the legal management of the liquidation and gives the right to the Bank Commissioner to fix those fees. We have in that section the information that this is subject to the review of the Common Pleas Court. Why, that is just what the sponsor of this bill has in mind. He wants to take away the right of the Court by fixing fees. This bill is not introduced by citizens who are interested in it. It is presented to you by the very department that is going to get the greatest benefit from it and which will have the right to appoint innumerable deputies and innumerable attorneys for the winding up of these institutions. Every lawyer here knows that when an institution is placed into the hands of a temporary receivor the depositors or stockholders by petition come into the Common Pleas Court and say to the court, "we have so much money tied up, we would like the court to consider the appointment of John Jones, Esq. and ask him to become the receivor. We have confidence in him." The court will consider him and invariably the court acts upon such petition and will appoint such person as is recommended by the depositors and stockholders. In other words, if those directly interested in the affairs of the bank and directly effected by the dividend that is paid, petition the court, the court appoints that person. In this act, you ignore ninety-five per cent of the depositors and stockholders when the Commissioner will say "No, I will not appoint your man, but I will appoint that man, because I know him and I have confidence in him." We men know, as members of this Legislature, who are conversant with affairs in general, especially political affairs, that when you endorse the appointment of an official to any head of an executive department, you are more likely to get such appointments as are favored by the head of the department. I don't want to criticize appointments from an individual standpoint. You are liable to get appointments that meet with the political views of the Chief of the department. That I believe is a possible wrong but it is not the question. I don't want to say that this would happen but it is a probability that that is what would happen to any institution that would come within the pervue of this act. We would be placed in the position of having a political favorite handed these plums by the Commissioner. I don't say that this Commissioner, the present Commissioner, but the next one might be able to do it and I don't mean in the present administration, but for the years to come, under this bill will have some men who will be handed political plums. If he appoints those men and they are going to be a great deal more liberal than the court, because the courts action is more liable to be criticized. My feeling is this: I am more trustful of any individual judge than I would have the right to be of a commissioner who would have the right to appoint a receivor. I feel that it would be done with a great deal more satisfaction to put the responsibility on a judge than on one individual as it can be done under this act. I hope that the gentlemen will realize that this is a matter that may involve getting burdensome and expensive on stockholders and depositors and I think it is a very bad measure.

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Mr. Speaker, just a word in reference to section seven of this act. The courts in dealing with insolvent concerns have always been careful in providing bonds. In section seven, the deputies appointed according to this act by the Banking Commissioner are required by the Commissioner to give security for the faithful performance of the duties involved. As the gentleman from Philadelphia said, there are numerous officers and numerous deputies who might take it upon themselves to wind up this concern and by reason of their fiduciary capacity the law might require that these men do give bonds rather than place the power in some one man's hands to determine whether the bond shall be given. I have no reflection to make upon the Banking Commissioner of this State. I think he is a good man but he might not always be as honest and consequently when deputies are given such power, they should be required to make such a provision.

CALL FOR PREVIOUS QUESTION.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members:

Messrs. H. B. Dunn, Light, H. P. Kuhns, Morrow, McCaig, A. C. Schaeffer, Sassaman, Latshaw, Letzkus, Donnally, Currier, Becker, Strauss, Reuben Howard, Down, Kaufman, Ira Shaffer, W. F. Blair, Kitts, Lanius and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question.

On the question.

Shall the main question be put?

It was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia stated that I misquoted myself in answering his question.

The SPEAKER. There is nothing in order but the calling of the roll.

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I am not arguing the question, but I simply wish to say that I did not misquote the bill when I answered his question.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

SPECIAL ORDER.

The SPEAKER. The hour of 11 o'clock having arrived, the special orner for House Bill No. 595, file folio 7687 on second reading, page 1 of today's calendar, will be taken up.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 595, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to cover a deficiency caused by insufficient appropriation to carry out the purposes of an act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act relating to roads providing for the election and appointment of township supervisors in second class townships defining their powers duties and limitations relating to road tax and the expenditures thereof abolishing the work tax defining certain duties of the clerk of court fixing penalties for violation of this act and making an appropriation to carry out its provisions"

Whereas Under the provisions of an act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act relating to roads providing for the election and appointment of township supervisors in second class townships defining their powers duties and limitations relating to road tax and the expenditures thereof abolishing the work tax defining certain duties of the clerk of court fixing penalties for violation of this act and making an appropriation to carry out its provisions" the Commonwealth agreed to pay to the proper townships of the second class fifty per centum of cash road taxes collected in townships of the second class and

Whereas Owing to lack of a sufficient appropriation the Commonwealth has paid only a small part of such fifty per centum for the road year ending the first Monday of December one thousand nine hundred and twelve whereby a large deficiency has arisen under the provisions of said act therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of one million ($1,000,000) dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated to cover the deficiency that has arisen in carrying out the provisions of an act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "A Act relating to roads providing for the election and appointment of township supervisors in second class townships defining their powers duties and limitations relating to road tax and the expenditures thereof abolishing the work tax defining certain duties of the clerk of court fixing penalties for violation of this act and making an appropriation to carry out its provisions" for the road year ending the first Monday of December one thousand nine hundred and twelve

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

SPECIAL ORDER

NAYS—1.

Martin,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

SPECIAL ORDER.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

The SPEAKER. The Special order at this hour is House Bill No. 984, entitled:

An Act to provide for the registration and enrollment of the voters of the State acording to their respective party perferences and to prescribe peanlties for false registration and for voters voting or attempting to vote and for election officers permitting or conspiring to permit them to vote at a primary by or any other than their own proper party ticket which is on final passage.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, it developed last night that there was some misunderstanding and uncertainties about this bill and in order to clarify it from the rural members standpoint I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered for the purpose of offering a special amendment.

On the question,

Will the House reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I object to this being done at this time for the reason that this matter here was all threshed out last night on the floor of the House and the bill was made a special order of business on final passage. I do not see any reason why that action should be reconsidered. I discussed these amendments with the gentleman from Tioga this morning and I will promise him that I will undertake to see that the amendments are put in before the bill passes through the Senate and so not have any delay now. I ask him to withdraw the amendments and permit the bill to pass. I am sure that we will get together or at least attempt to reach a satisfactory understanding in regard to any little technicalities that may need alterations.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, it is true, the gentleman from Elk did talk with me or I talked with him, or I at least proposed an amendment. His suggestion was that the bill go through the House and let the Senate fix it. Now, Mr. Speaker, as was said by one of the other members on the floor, I for one feel that a bill that is to be fixed and fixed right should be fixed here. I object to sending it over to the Senate with a proposition to amend it over there. That does not appeal to me at all.

The purpose of the amendment that I offer is simply to clarify Section 3 in relation to the registering of voters in election districts where there is no personal registration. The bill as now drafted says that the assessor or whoever does the registering shall ascertain by inquiry of the voter, when practicable and by the best other means in his power, the party politics, preferences or affiliations of the voter. Now there is no regulation in that sentence that makes the assessor inquire of you or me or anybody. He could go to our neighbors, or Tom, or Dick or Harry and through that means register us as belonging to a certain party. In the rural districts men live five, six, eight or nine miles from the election poll or place where the assessor sits. They do not know anything about how they are registered, and if this bill goes through in the form it is and they come to the polls to vote at the primary and find they are not properly registered, they are absolutely disqualified from voting at all. The amendment that I offer is simply to say that the assessors shall inquire of the voter personally, and if he cannot find him, then inquire by letter. It simply clarifies that up so that each voter shall have the proper chance to declare his proper party affiliations.

Then in Section 4 there is no means of correcting a misregisteration. The amendment that I offer to that provides if a voter is registered, he can file an affidavit with the assessor, setting forth his proper affiliations, and the assessor shall be made to correct it. Those are the two amendments and the purpose of offering them is to clarify it and make it plain and I believe they should be adopted. As was said by me last night, if the bill comes to final passage in the present form I shall be obliged to vote against it and I know other members on the floor of the House who have said to me the same thing; so that if the gentleman desires to see the bill secure our support this is the time to do it, and I trust the motion will be adpoted.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to hear all the amendments read for information. I want to be absolutely fair about this matter, and as yet I have heard nothing which would indicate that action on this bill should be postponed or that it should be amended.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Clerk will read the amendments for information. The Chair hears no objection and the amendments will be read.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amtnd Section 3 by sriking out the word "when" in line four and all of line five down to the last word "the," and insert in lieu thereof the words "in person or by letter if the assessor is not able to find the voter personally."

Amend Section 4 by adding at the end of the section, "Provided that in any election district in which personal registration is not required, if any elector is dissatisfied with the registration of his party preference or affiliation he may make and file an affidavit with the assessor of the proper election district seting forth his proper party preference or affiliation and thereupon the assessor shall correct the same in accordance with the affidavit of the elector as filed."

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state, for the benefit of the House that these amendments mean little or nothing. In the first place, we will consider the first amendment offered which provides that the assessor shall ascertain the party affiliation of the voter either by letter or otherwise, and that could be done under this bill as it now stands. An assessor can go about and when he is making his assessment he ascertains the party affiliation of the voters by the best means possible either by inquiry of the voter or some other person. Then on the two days previous to election the assessor sits at the polling place for the purpose of correcting these lists. At that time the voter can either appear in person or he can write the assessor, or he can indicate that he is not satisfied with the enrollment and thereby have that changed. Therefore, there is nothing in that amendment. That argument, Mr. Speaker, covers both the amendments offered by the gentleman from Tioga, but I say again, that if there is any good reason that such should not be the case, I am satisfied that this bill shall be amended, but why fight the fight of last night over again, in connection with this matter? At that time the House refused to send the bill back to Committee, and why delay it now? Why not pass it on? It was only last week that the gentleman from Tioga stood on the floor of this House and asked that a bill of his be passed on to the Senate and there to be amended.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, it strikes me that these two amendments together would aboslutely nullify the purpose aimed at by this bill. In the first amendment the gentleman from Tioga would require that the assessor secure personally from the voter his party affiliation and by his second amendment he would permit that voter on the day of the primary to change his party affiliation in order that he might vote at the primary of some other party and these two amendments taken together—

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, Yes, sir.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman familiar with the provisions of this bill in which it says that no change shall be made unless made ten days before the primary?

Mr. HUMES. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROCKWELL. I contend, Mr. Speaker, that the amendment would not change that provision.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I am not so sure that the gentleman's interpretation is the correct one. In his amendment he does not say the affidavit shall be made ten days before the primary, and I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that I believe that ten days is even too short a time to permit a man who has personally declared his party affiliations to change them; but taking the two amendments together I cannot understand any reason for them unless it be to absolutely nullify this bill.

I also want to raise the point of order that the motion of the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Rockwell, is out of order, as a similar motion was defeated yesterday.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, as I recall the discussion on this bill last night, there was no motion to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, there was a motion to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading and that motion was defeated.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I guess that I am mistaken and the motion was made to reconsider the vote for the purpose of recommitting the bill to the Committee. The gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn, stated that the purpose was to kill the bill, but the purpose of the amendment which I am now offering is not to kill the bill.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, after reading the amendment, the effect of the amendment would be to nullify the whole bill. I want to say right now that the opposition to this bill from the ultra-progressive element in this House is not sincere. I have been all through this fight from beginning to end, and have found this opposition all coming from the same source. There has been opposition to it in the reporting of the bill, then the attempt to have it recommitted for the purpose of a hearing and then the question of reconsidering it, and postponing it until some other bill comes from the Senate, and I would like to ask what it all means if it is not an attempt to kill the bill.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Elk.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Elk if he has heard any opposition from me on this bill.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, not from Mr. Rockwell, personally, but from the gentlemen with whom he affiliated politically.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I suppose the gentleman means the gentlemen on this side of the hall.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I now renew my motion to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading.

Mr. LENKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, as I stated to the House last evening, that while the purpose of this bill was undoubtedly correct, I would have preferred to have had it referred back to the Elections Committee. That was done sincerely and for the purpose of having all the election bills considered together. I am sorry that the gentleman who is the sponsor of the bill has not allowed the vote by which this bill passed third reading to be reconsidered, and the amendments offered by the gentleman from Tioga fully discussed. I take it that it would be a very great wrong for those of us in the House to vote against the bill which has in substance the merit of this bill. While there are defects in the bill, in substance the bill is correct, and, therefore, I will support this legislation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of ... R. bill No. 1306, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred and nine entitled "An Act regulating requiring and defining certain general specifications for the use and construction of permanent booths or enclosures for operating therein moving-picture machines regulating requiring and defining certain general specifications for the use and construction of portable booths or enclosures for operating therein moving picture machines and providing for the supervision and inspection of the same by the Department of Factory Inspection of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions thereof and providing that the provisions thereof shall not apply to cities of the first and second classes"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, this bill is intended to remedy an omission in the Act of 1909 regulating the booths and operation of machines in booths in moving picture shows. In that bill passed two years ago, the booth was very carefully described and made absolutely fireproof. The omission was that it did not provide specifically that the machine should be operated in the booth. The department found then that they could not sustain prosecutions for that reason. Owing to the great care of the Underwriters, we have, in most of the cases, the booth built as the bill requires for the reason that they would not insure unless the booth was so constructed. But we should have the bill corrected, and for that reason this bill before you has been submitted. It is a very meritorious bill, intended to preserve human life, and to preserve property, and should be passed.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading.

It was agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1810 (Senate Bill No. 322), entitled:

An Act to extend the time for commencing and the time for opening and completing of certain railroads and railways in this Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of some gentleman of the House who may be sponsoring this bill, I would like to secure an explanation of its purpose. I understand that it increases the length of time for beginning work upon a railroad five years from the date of the bill, extending it for a period of five years from and after the time limit for the commencement of the construction under their original charters, as I understand it, therefore giving a further leeway to the railway company that originally was qualified to begin work in a given length of time, now giving them a further leeway of five years. Without some explanation of the purpose for which it is given, a good reason for it, it seems to me the bill ought to be held up.

BILL POSTPONED.

I therefore move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1907, entitled:

An Act regulating the furnishing of certain information by persons in the employ of this Commonwealth and providing a penalty for violation thereof

On the question.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman sponsoring this bill, in order that the House may have some information as to the meaning of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the sponsor of the bill, Mr. Humes, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUMES. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill what departments of the State of Pennsylvania are now furnishing information to the Federal Government?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I do not know how many departments are furnishing information. I know of one that is furnshing information. I do not know how many more there are that may be furnishing information, either to the United States Government or to some other government.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Crawford what department he knows is furnishing governmental statistics, vital statistics?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, the Department of Health, and I might suggest that inasmuch as the gentleman, himself, has suggested vital statistics that he probably knew without interrogating.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I wanted the House to know it. I sincerely dislike to take issue with my friend from Crawford, Mr. Humes, on this bill. I hope I haven't got my war-paint on this morning, and I hope nothing that I may say will be construed as personal or of a political character. Now, I desire to give the House what I know about this bill. If I am wrong, Mr. Speaker, if I misquote any facts, or if I interline my remarks with anything like a personality in the matter, I hope to be corrected; but here is what I understand about the bill. In 1903 the Federal Congress passed a resolution calling upon the different States of the United States to furnish them vital statistics. You know what those statistics mean. The United States Government has set up a department in the Health Bureau for the securing of these statistics from the various States. In 1903 this work was little heard of. None of them was doing very much work. This resolution having been passed, the Pennsylvania State Legislature in 1906 passed our health law setting up this department, over which Dr. Batt has been and is at the present head of the Department. After the resolution and its result, other States began to pass similar department laws, setting up health departments in the States. At present there are twenty-one States in what is called the registration area of the United States. At the time Pennsylvania passed her law there were but ten States. Now, when the State of Pennsylvania put upon the statute books in 1906, I think it was, the State law calling for this department, the Federal Government sent agents to Pennsylvania to look over the department and they went back and made one of the finest reports that was ever reported of any department in any State of the United States or any State of any other nation; and as a result to-day we have twenty-one States in the registration area, and the following States, Mr. Speaker, have modeled their law almost to the strict letter to it except in so far as it might relate to constitutional provisions, and these are the States: Ohio, Kentucky, Missouri, North Carolina, Minnesota, Washington, California, Colorado, Wisconsin, Montana, Utah and partially North Dakota and Virginia, and at the present sessions of these States, Texas and Mississippi, they are also passing a law. Now, the very facts in this case, Mr. Speaker, are these: Dr. Batt, who is at the head of the Health Department, which is furnishing to the Federal Government vital statistics, does it in this way: When he receives from the different boards of health or the different registration depots or bureaus which he has about the State, the vital statistics on printed blanks which he furnishes those different places for that purpose, the vital statistics which come in are taken off and copied and a copy sent to the Federal Government. He receives three cents a copy. That nets him in all about $3,500 a year. The press has gone out about through this State after the introduction of this bill, almost directly charging Dr. Batt with grafting $3,500 on the Federal Government, when on investigation you will find that Dr. Batt pays out nearly every year almost all of the $3,500 for clerical hire and for material which the Government does not furnish in order to set up the department. Now, it might be argued that this money should go into the Treasury, to be paid out as it is needed, but let me call your attention to the fact that out of twenty-one States of the Union which furnish this very kind of statistics to the Federal Government, that Pennsylvania is furnishing, not a single one pays the money into the State Treasury. There has been no demand by any of the States and none by the Health Department of the United States. There has been no intimation against Dr. Batt or against the Health Department of Pennsylvania that there has been anything going on there, that there has been any graft existing in that department, or any other department of the Commonwealth. Mr. Speaker, I would be the first man to raise my voice against it, but I have gone down there and inspected that department. I inspected the tabulating machine; I have had him call his records and I have verified them. I looked them over and I am convinced beyond a reasonable doubt, Mr. Speaker, that Dr. Batt is paying out nearly every cent of the $3,500 that he gets from the Federal Government for employing those clerks who do the work. Now, then, to pass the bill might be false economy, for this reason: Suppose Dr. Batt receives from some registration bureau in the State of Pennsylvania a tabulated sheet of vital statistics, or the statistics of a birth or a death or anything of the kind; and suppose his clerks who examine these sheets which he sends to Washington; in so doing, these clerks which he pays out of his own pocket, out of the money which he receives from the Federal Government; verify them and check them over, and which so far as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, at least, is concerned, would require one reading or comparing clerk and maybe two, and which would cost the State of Pennsylvania from $1,000 to $1,200 a year. It is done in this way because when one of these sheets comes in, people make mistakes and they put the information down wrong; they may have the age wrong and they may have the cause of the death of the child wrong. The clerk who gets up the statistics for Washington immediately calls the attention of the department to that mistake and they send it back to be corrected, and this is done almost entirely, Mr. Speaker, by money received from the Federal Government. Now, if twenty-one States are in this area and they all do the same kind of work and they all model their law after the law of Pennsylvania and have gone on so nobly since 1906, I can see no reason why by our vote we should go on record as accusing Dr. Batt of grafting from the Federal Government. If I am wrong, I want the gentleman from Crawford to correct me, but I feel that after the newspapers took this matter up and that Dr. Batt was practically accused broadcast over the State of Pennsylvania, bringing out the intimation that the Doctor was putting this money into his pocket, that intimation has settled solidly in the minds of the people. I believe that we ought to correct that misapprehension, because there is not an iota of truth in the whole allegation, and I hope that before the House votes on this bill they will consider it in the way it ought to be considered, and if it is a good bill, pass it, but if it is not, We ought to stand undivided in voting it down. Sometimes I think perhaps the gentleman from Crawford did not thoroughly investigate it before he put it in. Maybe he did not have the source of information, and I have arisen, Mr. Speaker, with no other thought but to correct that gross misapprehension that went out over the Commonwealth, and that this House may know what it is voting on.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I am somewhat surprised to have the gentleman from Erie take this bill so much to heart, and undertake to apply it to some particular case. I think the gentleman can find not one single syllable in this bill that refers to the Department of Health or Dr. Batt or any other department of the State Government. I believe that we have come to the time when we ought to be able to meet a principle and eliminate petty personalities from the consideration of that principle. In this State we have various departments that are accumulating at the expense of the State valuable statistics. The State is put to the expense of gathering those statistics, and those statistics, when they are gathered, are the property of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and if they are to be sold to anyone else, whether it is the United States Government or some one else, I believe that any remuneration that comes from that sale should go to the person that paid for the expense of gathering them. The gentleman is undertaking to apply this bill solely to the one case in the Health Department, and I call your attention to the fact that he admits that the remuneration received is not equal to pay all the expenses incident to furnishing the information. I care not whether every dollar of that money is spent in the Health Department. I care not what the expenses may be. That does not change the principle, either in the Health Department or any other department of the State Government, that when this State gathers valuable statistics and records together at the expense of the public treasury, that any remuneration that they may receive from furnishing that information to others should go to reimburse the State Treasury for the expenses that it has incurred in gathering the records. In the first instance, I would ask you this morning to forget all personalities, forget any individual that may be concerned and consider a great principle, the principle that the property of the State of Pennsylvania belongs to the State of Pennsylvania and the use from any sale or otherwise of that property should go into the public treasury and the public, if there is any incidental expense in connection with the furnishing of that information, should pay that expense. If, as the gentleman cites as an illustration, the case in the Health Department, if the expense of furnishing to the Government those statistics is $1,000 less only than the cost of furnishing it, that $1,000 belongs to the State of Pennsylvania and should go into the public treasury, and under the laws pertaining to that Health Department or other place which authorizes the Health Department to furnish statistics to individuals, the fees are paid into the State Treasury. But the law creating the department providing for the payment of these fees into the State Treasury, was enacted before this condition arose and I presume that accounts for the fact that it is not provided for and I believe that we should vote once for a principle and not for party politics.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call attention to the fact that the gentleman from Crawford has admitted that there was only one Department, and that is the reason that I mentioned that Department, the only one he knew of.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I beg the gentleman's pardon. I stated that I only had personal knowledge of one Department, and that I did not know how many other Departments might be doing the same thing.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, then the only thing before the House is that one Department which the gentleman admits.

There is no profit to the Commonwealth in this matter. It cost Mr. Batt as much as he pays out. Why should we turn something in which we have not got and then burden the Legislature every two years to put out something that is not in there. Now it does not cost the State a single cent and every one of the young men and women that are employed in the Health Department in furnishing statistics to the Federal Government are paid by Dr. Batt, out of the money which the Federal Government gives him, and they have so regulated the matter that they see that there is no profit. They only pay enough to pay the bare expenses of compiling and sending them these statistics and it is charity work on the part of anybody that gives this information out. It is merely charity on the part of Dr. Batt. The information is going out that the gentleman is putting this money in his pocket and we ought to vindicate him.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, I am always in favor of any legislaion that will protect the interests of the people of this Commonwealth, and I am always, Mr. Speaker, in favor of fair play and I am always in favor of a bill having a recognized foundation and not a bill that may have been drawn up upon false information which would reflect on any citizen of this Commonwealth. As I understand it to-day, there is not a Department at the Capitol Hill that is putting any money into their pockets from furnishing information to anybody, and his bill grew out of certain information that was presumed to be correct, alleging that one of the most upright, honest and useful employees on this hill had knocked down thirty-five hundred dollars money received for reports of births and deaths to the Federal Government the last year. As a matter of fact that Department was requested to furnish information from 1906, and they furnished it ever since. Dr. Dixon permitted Dr. Batt to make the arrangement with the Federal Government to pay the expenses of it, and it is accredited that we have the best department in the whole United States. Dr. Batt gives all his time to it and he furnished last year 195,000 records, and he received a sum of three cents a report, out of which he pays the salaries of the girls here, and he buys the paper and the ink and everything, and as a fact from some garbled information it was alleged and was so reported in the newspapers that that Department had knocked down that sum of money in the last year, and a bill was introduced to correct it, when as a matter of fact there is not one word of truth in the report. Now is this House, because this bill has a semblance of being right, are the citizens of the Commonwealth going to support a bill that was drafted on that character of information for the purpose of exposing one of the heads of one of the Departments here in this Capitol? I do not think they will do it. If any one can stand up on the floor of the House and show where there was one particle of truth or any foundation for this bill that would make it different. I came here eight years ago with a disposition to be fair to everybody. I have been opposed to any investigation when there is no cause for it, but this was the result of the effort in this session for some reason or other to blacken the name or the character of a party or an individual member of that party, until I am tired of it. You have spent, I think, one-fourth of this session in investigating and resoluting and occupying the time of this House on matters that had some merit and I hope that the members of the House will not support this bill. There is no necessity for it, especially when it is not founded of truth. I do not believe that this House will vote to corroborate the assertion that there was a necessity for it for merely carrying a bill for the purpose of blackening a part of the administration and blackening the character of one of the best heads of Departments in the Commonwealth.

Mr. CHARLES A. SHAFFER. I only wish to add a word to this discussion. There has been a remark made on the clerical help that is required to furnish these reports to the federal government, and I wish to state to the House that the number of clerical help is four, and out of this thirty-five hundred dollars, this clerical help is paid, and what other expense is added in connection. There is scarcely one penny left of the thirty-five hundred dollars when the year's work is up.

Mr. W. A. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Indiana.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Indiana permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATSON. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. W. A. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if there had been a bill prior to this in existence could this condition exist to-day? Could this impression have been created had there been a bill introduced some time ago before this Department was instituted? It looks to me as if a bill of this kind will safeguard somebody else in the future.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, had there been a bill of this character before? Why, no, not that I know of.

Mr. W. A. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, don't you suppose that it would have safeguarded the man you are trying to protect now. It looks to me as if there is a loop hole for an inference of this kind and a bill of this kind is necessary.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, there is no loop hole and I allege not one particle of evidence of that character where any heads of Departments have furnished information to the Federal Government, or in fact anybody, and pocketed the money, who are drawing salaries from the Commonwealth and if this is true, then there is no occasion for this bill.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would just like for a moment to call the attention of the House to the fact that we are at this session creating a new Department of Labor. The Federal Government during this year created a new Department of Labor, and it is probable that these two Departments will want to work somewhat in conjunction along the same lines as the two Departments of Health have been doing, and I believe we owe to the employees and officials of that Department to enact this law in order that under some regulation the two Departments can work in harmony and in a way that will not subject any one to criticism or complaint from any citizen of the Commonwealth.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Private Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented the following communications in writing from His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 569.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber Harrisburg, May, 2, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Gentlemen:—I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 569 entitled:

"An Act to ascertain and fix the fees to be received by the several clerks of the courts of Oyer and Terminer general jail delivery and quarter sessions of the peace of this Commonwealth in counties having a population of over one million"

The increase in certain fees authorized under the provisions of this bill appear to me to be out of proportion to the services rendered. For this reason the bill is not approved.

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this matter be laid on the table.

Mr. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

Also

PARTIAL APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL NO. 80.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 2, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 80, entitled:

"An Act supplementing an act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled 'An Act providing for the erection by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of a statue in memory of General George Gordon Meade in the City of Washington and making an appropriation therefor' and making a further appropriation" except as to the item appropriating two thousand five hundred dollars "for the purpose of preparing printing and publishing a fitting report of the dedication ceremonies of said statue."

I withhold my approval from this item for the reason that in my judgment the five thousand dollars appropriated for the purpose of defraying the necessary expenses of the commission will be sufficient to meet all proper expenses

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

The SPEAKER. The question being shall that portion of the bill vetoed become a law, the objection of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding? Those desiring to sustain the veto of the Governor will vote "no;" those oppose "aye."

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON TIHRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. Bill No. 1694, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue by taxation

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the bills suggested by the Joint Tax Commission in its recommendations to this session of the Legislature and is one of the most important tax measures that the Commission could possibly have suggested. It has been the case for many years in Pennsylvania, that the Secretary of a corporation is made the fiscal agent of the Commonwealth in the collection of the four mill tax on outstanding obligations, but it very often happens that the Secretary in making his returns to the Auditor General is unable to give any information as to the whereabouts of the holders of these obligations and the State loses millions and millions of dollars in taxation. Now this bill provides that the responsibility for the four mill tax shall rest with the corporation, so that it is immaterial hereafter as to where or in what part of the State the holder of the obligation lives, as this act places the responsibility or the burden of the tax directly on the debtor or the corporation. As I said, this bill is one of the most important bills suggested by the Joint Tax Commission and is one which is intended to give the Auditor General close tabs on taxable property and will result in a great increase in the State's revenues each year and I ask each member, in the interest of increasing the State's revenues to vote for this bill.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1891, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania to establish and maintain gauging stations on certain streams within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing said commission to issue flood warnings and making an appropriation therefor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ULMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have endeavored in a practical way to indicate to the Members of the General Assembly, by inserting in the Whereas clauses, the benefit to be accomplished by enacting this bill into law.

It has the approval of the Water Supply Commission of this Commonwealth, as well as the Department at Washington, charged with the supervision and regulation of certain streams in this State. If the Members of the House will read the Whereas clauses in the bill, they can readily see that information twelve hours or so in advance of probable flood conditions at any municipality will tend much to allay anxiety and will result in saving lives and valuable property. The recent flood conditions in this and other States resulting in loss of life, and the destruction of millions of dollars worth of property, emphasizes the absolute necessity for the enactment of this legislation.

I trust it will meet with the unanimous approval of the House of Representatives.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 2, line 28, by inserting words "upon view" after word "arrest" and line 31, by striking out the word "society" and inserting in place thereof the word "association" and inserting words "special officer or" after the word "such" and the word "or" after the word "appointed" and the word "drawn" after the word "warrant."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted according to the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill be prepared for final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 698, entitled:

An Act defining fraternal benefit societies and their status authorizing them to create subordinate lodges and to pay benefits to members and their beneficiaries from funds collected and regulating such benefits and collections Providing for the organization of such societies and for their supervision regulation and examination by the Insurance Commissioner and for the admission of foreign societies designating tables of mortality and establishing a standard of solvency requiring annual reports and the appointment of the Insurance Commissioner as attorney for services of process Providing penalties for any violations thereof exempting certain societies requiring beneficial association other than fraternal benefit societies to report to the Insurance Commissioner exempting fraternal societies from taxation and repealing existing laws

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the sponser of this bill what its general purpose is and the necessity for its enactment.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. R. J. Baldwin.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, what is the question?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I will repeat my question: What is the purpose of this bill and the necessity for its enactment?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, the Insurance Department of the State of Pennsylvania feel that there is a great necessity for this bill. It is very much along the line of the proposition that we had before us this morning. There are a number of organizations in the State of Pennsylvania that under the present law the Insurance Commissioner realizes that he is unable to protect the public by requiring them to show what they do and whether or not they are running a straight and honest business. That, in substance, is the provision of the bill. It brings in a larger class of institutions that will come under supervision of the Insurance Commissioner and give the public the protection they now get under other institutions that come under the Insurance Commissioner's supervision. I think, myself, that the bill is along exactly the right direction. Without going into detail, I desire to say that it effects each and every particular institution of this character. I don't see that it will do anybody any harm and it will do the public a great deal of good.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 507, as follows:

An Act providing for an initiative and referendum system of legislation under certain conditions in all boroughs within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That no ordinance resolution or other measure except emergency measures ordained and enacted by the legislative authorities of any borough in this Commonwealth shall become a law until the expiration of thirty days after its enactment An emergency measure shall be deemed to include only such measures as are immediately necessary for the temporary preservation of peace or health or for the safety of the community and shall not include more than one subject nor shall it grant or sell a franchise or license to a corporation firm or individual for a longer period than one year nor shall it include a provision for the purchse or sale by the municipality of real estate Each emergency measures shall be expressly stated to be such in the title and body of the measure and the fact creating the necessity shall be stated in one section of the measure and an emergency measure in order to become a law shall receive in its favor a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to such legislative body and in case such legislative body shall consist of more than one branch the emergency measure in order to become a law shall receive a two-thirds vote of all the members elected to each branch taken separately and may be vetoed by the chief executive officer of the municipality in the manner provided by the law for the vetoing of any other measure and the veto may be set aside as provided by the law for setting aside the veto of any other measure and such emergency measure may become a law on neglect of the chiew executive officer to act thereon as is provided by the law for other measures All emergency measures shall become and be in full force and effect upon their enactment unless otherwise provided in such emergency measures Provided that no provision of this act shall extend the powers of boroughs to legislate by referendum petition or by initiative petition or otherwise upon any matter unless at the time the authority be expressly granted to boroughs by general law and provided further that none of the provisions of this act shall be invoked for the purpose of regulating the sale of liquors

Section 2 That during the period of thirty days following the enactment of any ordinance resolution or other measure ten per centum of the voters of the municipality affected calculated upon the total vote cast for all candidates for the office of chief executive of the municipality at the last preceding election for that office may by referendum petition filed with the chief executive officer of the municipality demand that such ordinance resolution or other measure or any part or parts thereof shall be submitted by referendum ballot to the voters of the municipality affected for final decision at the polls in the manner provided by section eighteen of this act and such ordinance resolution or other measure or any part or parts thereof so submitted shall become a law or be effective only in case it receives in its favor a majority of all the votes cast for and against the said measure Otherwise it shall be null and void and of no effect Provided that the portion or portions any measure upon which a referendum vote is not demanded shall become law at the time measure upon which no referendum vote is demanded become laws

Section 3 Fifteen per centum of the voters of any borough calculated upon the total vote cast for all candidates for the office of chief executive of the municipality at the last preceding election for that office may propose to the legislative authorities thereof a peoples measure proposing the enactment of an ordinance resolution or other measure by initiative petition filed with the chief executive officer of the municipality who shall number the same as provided in section fourteen of this act and shall promptly transmit three certified copies of the same to each branch of the legislative body or to the legislative body in case it consists of but one branch of the municipality omiting however the names and addresses of the petitioners Any peopple measure thus proposed by initiative petition to the legislative authorities of any municipality shall have precedence over all over measures except emergency measures and shall be finally acted upon either by its enactment without change or by the said legislative authorities proposing a competing measure not later than within a period of three months from the filing of the said initiative petition with the chief executive officer of the municipality A competing measure competing with a peoples measure if proposed shall be proposed by passing the same in the manner provided by law for the enactment of other measures But no competing measure shall become a law unless it be approved by the electors at the polls in the manner provided for by this act Each of such competing measures shall bear the name "competing measure" and shall otherwise bear the same number and designating words as the corresponding peoples measure proposed by initiative petition

Any peoples measure so proposed by initiative petition unless the same shall have been enacted without change within a period of three months from the filing of such petition with the chief executive officer of the municipality shall as provided in section seven be submitted by the chief executive officer of the municipality by initiative ballot to the voters of the municipality affected together with any competing measure relating entirely to the same subject that may be proposed instead by the legislative authorities of the municipality All such measures shall be submitted in such form that the voters can choose between the peoples measures proposed by initiative petition and the competing measure or reject both by marking a cross (X) in the square to the right of the words indicating their choice

Section 4 If a peoples measure proposed by initiative petition be enacted without change by the legislative authorities of the municipality affected it shall not be submitted to the people for a referendum vote unless demanded by referendum petition in cordance with section two of this act or unless referred to the people by said legislative authorities of the municipality in the manner provided in section twelve of this act

Section 5 When there has been a competing measure proposed by the legislative authorities of such municipality to complete with a peoples measure proposed by initiative petition at the pools the measure receiving in its favor a majority of the votes cast for and against both measures shall become a law

Section 6 Any measure on which a referendum vote of the people is demanded in accordance with section two of this act shall be submitted to the voters of the municipality affected not later than the next succeeding general or municipal election provided the petition for the referendum vote shall have been filed with the chief executive officer at least thirty days before such election and provided that the legality of the petition if contested shall have been decided finally and in favor of the petitions at least three weeks before election day otherwise such measure shall be submitted by referendum ballot to a vote of the electors at the first general or special election held thereafter

Section 7 Any peoples measure proposed by initiative petition in accordance with section three of this act and not enacted without change within three months after the day of filing the petition with the chief executive officer of the municipality shall be submitted by initiative ballot together with any competing measure that may have been proposed by the legislative authorities to the voters of the municipality not later than the next succeeding election provided at least one hundred and thirty days intervenes between the day of filing the petition with the chief executive officer of the municpality and the election day but in case one hundred and thirty days do not intervene between the day of filing the petition and election day then the peoples measure proposed by initiative petition and by competing measure proposed by the legislative authorities shall be submitted by the initiative ballot to a vote of the electors at the next succeeding general or municipal election held thereafter

Section 8 The chief executive officer of any such municipality shall issue a proclamation such as is provided for in section eighteen of this act and shall call a special election for the purpose of voting upon any measure if such special election be demanded by a vote of the majority of the members of each branch of the legislative body or by twenty per centum of the voters of the municipality affected calculated upon the total vote cast for all candidates for the chief executive officer of the municipality at the last preceding election for that office Provided however that no such special election shall be called except by proclamation of the chief executive officer issued and published at least three weeks prior to said election and in accordance with the provisions of section eighteen of this act

Section 9 Ordinances resolutions or other measures or parts thereof in all such municipalities except the emergency measures provided for in section one of this act upon which a referendum vote of the voters is not demanded according to section two of this act shal become and be in full force and effect at the expiration of thirty days after enactment unless the time be extended by the measures

Section 10 All ordinances resolutions or other measures or parts thereof submitted to a vote of the legal voters and approved by a majority of all the votes cast thereon shall become effective or become laws and be in full force and effect from and after the date of the official announcement of the vote unless otherwise provided in such ordinances resolutions or other measures All ordinances resolutions or other measures or parts thereof which have been submitted to a final vote of the electors and not approved by a majority of all the votes cast thereon shall be null and void and of no effect

Section 11 The veto power of the chief executive officer shall not extend to the ordinances resolutions or other measures which have been proposed by the people by initiative petition or by the municipal legislative authorities and approved at the polls by the people in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 12 The legislative authorities of any such municipality may enact measures expressly conditioned upon the ratification of the same by a majority of the voters voting thereon Such measures shall be submitted as referendum measures are submitted but without requiring referendum petitions to be filed thereon

Any ordinance resolution or other measure passed by the legislative authorities of any such municipality and intended to amend or repeal any ordinance resolution or other measure or part or parts thereof which was formerly approved by the voters at the polls shall be submitted to the vote of the voters acording to the provisions of this act but no referendum petition for the same shall be required and no such measure to amend or repeal such a measure shall be valid unless approved by the voters at the polls in accordance with the provisions of this act

Section 13 Referendum petitions required under section two of this act in case a vote on the whole measure enacted by ordinance or passed by resolution is desired shall set forth the official number of the measure and the full title and full text of the measure In case only a portion of such ordinance resolution or other measure shall be requested to be submitted to a referendum vote of the people under section two of this act the whole portion of such measure to be submitted shall be set forth separately in such petition together with the official number of the measure and the full title and text of the whole measure

Section 14 Initiative petitions immediately upon being filed with the chief executive officer of the municipality shall by him be numbered consecutively each municipality beginning with number one and continuing year after year without duplication of numbers Each peoples measure proposed by initiative petitions shall be designated in the proclamation provided for in section eighteen as "Peoples Measure number (.....)" (giving the number) and by designating words not exceeding one hundred which may be selected by the petitioners and by the full title and text of the measure so proposed and the said peoples measure shall be designated upon the official ballots in exactly the same manner as in the proclamation except that the text of the body of the measure need not be printed upon the ballots Each competing measure proposed by the legislative authorities shall bear the same number and designating words as the corresponding peoples measure both in the proclamation and upon the official ballots except that it shall have a suitable title and be called or named "competing measure" instead of "peoples measure" Each measure or portion thereof upon which a vote of the electors has been requested by referendum petition shall be designated in the said proclamation as a "referendum petition on ordinances (resolutio nor other measure as the case may be or portion thereof as the case may be) number (.....)" (giving the official number of the measure) together with the official title and the full text of the measure and separately the portion thereof to be submitted in case only a portion is to be submitted The delegation of such a measure upon which a referendum vote has been requested shall be exactly the same upon the official ballots as in such proclamation except that the full text of the body of the measure and the argument need not be printed upon the official ballots

Section 15 In order to make it convenient to secure signatures to petitions under the provisions of this act separate copies of petitions may be executed with the same force and effect as if all the signatures to said separate copies were appended to one original petition each petitioner shall add to his signature his place of residence All petitions shall be marked filed by the chief executive officer of the municipality upon the day the same shall have been received

Section 16 If any citizen desires to appear for or against the sufficiency of any such petition the chief executive of the municipality shall immediately proceed to hear testimony and arguments on the same and shall promptly render his decision as to the sufficiency of the same His decision may be appealed from to anl Court of Common Pleas within the same county as the municpality affected and such appeal shall be taken up and decided without delay by said court and shall have precedence over all other business In case the chief executive officer shall decide that the petition is insufficient he shall state in what respect it is insufficient and return the petition upon request to the petitions for correction which corrections may be made and the petition returned to the chief executive officer within five days and when so corrected and returned the petition shall be considered filed as of the date that the original petition was presented for filing No objection of the insufficiency of any petition shall be considered unless the same shal have been made in writing and filed within five days after the filing of the petition

Section 17 Each referendum petition initiative petition and competing measure may be accomanied by arguments prepared by the petitioners or a committee thereof consisting of not more than six hundred words for or against the measure to be voted upon Such arguments shall be included in the proclamation of the chief executive officer issued under section eighteen of this act and shall appear immediately following the respective measures to which it relates

Section 18 When any ordinance resolution or other measure or portion thereof is ready for submission to the voters the chief executive officer shall issue and publish a proclamation stating the date of the election and setting forth any and all referendum measures peoples measures and competing measures and other measures ready for submission to the voters and which are to be voted upon by the electors designating each in the manner provided for in section fourteen of this act Said proclamation shall be published once not less than twenty days nor more than thirty days preceding the election in each daily newspaper in the municipality if there be such otherwise in the weekly newspapers thereof and in case no weekly newspaper be published in the municipality the proclamation shall be posted conspicuously throughout the municipality and copies shall be mailed to each registered voter thereof Said chief executive officer shall file five certified copies of such proclamation with the county commissioners of the county in which the muncipality is situated in order that said county commissioners may prepare the official ballots according to the provisions of this act

Section 19 The county commissioners of any county upon the receipt from the chief executive officer of any such municipality within the county of a certified copy of a proclamation such as is provided for in section eighteen of this act shall cause to be printed on the official ballots and sample ballots which are to be used at the polling places within such municipality substantially the forms required by section twenty-six of this act for the purpose of voting upon measures enumerated in this act and in the manner provided for in this act The said county commissioners shall designate each measure according to the manner required by section fourteen of this act The county commissioners shall as heretofore provide for the placing of suitable returning sheets and of all official ballots and sample ballots at the polling places at and before the opening of the polls on the day of election

Section 20 The compensation to be paid to election officer shall be the same as provided by law and shall be paid by the county commissioners of the proper county but any additional expense incurred by the county commissioners in executing the provisions of this act shall be charged to and paid by the municipality on account of which the said additional expense was incurred All other expenses of any and every kind made necessary in executing the provisions of this act shall be paid by the muncipality elected

Section 21 Elections or voting provided for by this act shall be held at the regular polling places by the regular election officers and in case of the absence of the election officers or the absence of any of them their places shall be filled as provided by law The said elections shall be conducted during the hours by law provided for and in accordance with the general election laws of the Commonwealth and any qualified voter may vote for or against any single measure and any qualified voter may designate his choice of two measures if one be a peoples measure and the other a competing measure or he may express his disapproval of both such measures by a cross mark (X) in a square of sufficient size on the official ballot at the right of the words indicating his choice The returns of election shall be on separate sheets and shall be delivered to the prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of the proper county and by him delievered to the judges of the Court or Courts of Common Pleas as provided by laws for computation and the result thereof shall be certified by the proper officer of the said Court of Courts of Common Pleas to the chief executive officer of the municipality who shall cause the same to be entered on the municipal records and the chief executive officer shall forthwith issue and publish a proclamation in brief form giving the results of such election The muncipal officer in charge of the municipal records shall keep a complete record of all measures and petitions filed and a complete record of the proceeding thereon

Section 22 In case a competing measure is submitted to a vote of the electors and neither it or the corresponding peoples measure receives in its favor a majority of all the votes cast for and against both of them the one receiving the larger vote in its favor if they together receive more than one-half of the total vote cast for and against both measures shall be re-submitted by itself at the next succeeding general or municipal election the proceedings to be the same as for a new peoples measure except that no measure competing with it shall be submitted and no additional petition shall be required and it shall be the duty of the chief executive to include the said measure in his proclamation to be issued before the next succeeding general or municipal election under the provisions of this act

Section 23 Any measure or part or parts of any measure rejected by the people at the polls shall not be nor shall any measure containing substantially the same provisions be enacted by the legislative authorities of the municipality within two years after rejection nor shall such a measure be again proposed within two years after such rejectiou at the polls unless it be proposed by an initiative petition signed by twenty per centum of the legal voters of the municipality calculated upon the total vote cast for all candidates for the office of chief executive of the municipality at the last preceding election for that office

"I vot in favor of said part of measure"

Section 27 All acts or parts of acts in so far as they are inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 28 The provisions of this act shall become operative and binding upon any municipality immediately after the legislative authorities of such municipality by resolution or the voters of said municipality by initiative petition and majority vote shall adopt its provisions Provided however that such vote of the voters of such municipality shall be taken in the manner provided in this act for voting upon other initiative petitions and upon said question of the adoption of this act by the voters of any municipality any and all of the provisions of this act shall for this purpose be in full force and effect and shall be available immediately upon the enactment of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LATSHAW. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 1, strike out all of lines 36 and 37.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be made in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill as amended?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, in relation to the bill, I desire to call the Chair's attention to the fact that on page 2, line 15, the first word "each" should begin with a capital, a mere typographical error and that correction can be made now. It is the beginning of a new sentence.

The SPEAKER. The correction is made.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, this bill is real progressive legislation. It gives the initiative and referendum for Boroughs of this Commonwealth. The system is so thoroughly and so cleanly defined in the bill, Mr. Speaker, that I feel I need only say a word or two in relation to the process. The Act provides how and in what manner emergency measures may be pased and it defines what emergency measures are. It goes further and provides that any ordinance which may be passed may upon a ten per cent. petition of the voters who voted for the highest office or officers at the last preceding general election or municipal election, the citizens may have the right of the referendum on that question to say whether or not it shall become a law. It provides that 15 per centum of the voters may initiate legislation, during which process by a petition of 15 per centum of the voters they propose a bill to the legislative authorities of the borough and that legislative authority may, if in its wisdom it sees fit, propose a bill covering that matter or a different bill making an entirely different provision, which would then be an opposition bill to the people's measure. The two bills are then submitted to the vote of the people and if a majority of the voters voting at that general or municipal election vote in favor of the people's measure, the people's measure thereby becomes a law; but if, on the other hand, the majority of the voters vote for the measure proposed by the legislative authorities, then and in that event that measure becomes a law. So that, Mr. Speaker, the entire matter is left in the hands of the people.

Now just a word in relation to why this bill above all bills of cities should pass at this time, this providing as it does for boroughs reaches into those communities which are very intimately in touch with the matters proposed and in hand more than in the larger municipalities. In the smaller places people can commune together and reason together and talk together and thereby come togetner either for or against measures which may be proposed by the people or may be proposed by the legislative authorities, and the matter covered by this bill should receive, I feel, at this time a unanimous vote on this subject.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I took the trouble to write to some of the prominent lawyers down in my county and sent them copies of this bill, and took particular pains to write to those who belonged to the progressive element in our county, feeling that, of course, they would advise me to vote for this bill and that the others would probably show me why I should not, while the progressive would show me why I should. I wrote for information. It was a very simple proposition, as the gentleman from Pittsburgh has stated. From two of those very prominent lawyers I received this answer: They said that after careful examination they believed that it was a backward step; that at one time they had thought that it would be a good thing to have the initiative and referendum in larger affairs, but one of them had been a member of council in one of the boroughs in my county and I felt that he would be able to give me good reasons why I should vote for it. I had felt rather inclined to consider this measure favorably and support it for the reason that if it did not work out all right, the Legislature could repeal it in two years. To my surprise this was the reason that they gave, the very reason that I offered on the floor of this House against State-wide initiative and referendum and the one who had been a member of council stated as one of these reasons that he discovered that the people never attended council; that they never paid any attention to borough affairs of their own town and he stated in addition to that that it is very difficult to even get the members of the council to attend. They have so little interest in the public affairs and as a matter of experience these affairs drifted into the hands of those who took some interest in them and generally they were the best men for the work in the borough. These are the reasons given, carrying out the thought that I believe was the correct one when applied to larger affairs, that the people may be negligent and probably would not give intelligent consideration to the matter.

Now do you realize that this means additional expense to the communities? Wherever a small number of people desire to initiate legislation that it must be advertised and go before the people. Do you realize that you are piling an expense on the community as a result of this and if the people would not be satisfied with what the council does then the council would feel that they were not responsible for the legislation and they would become more or less careless in the handling of it and the consequence would be that the people also would become more or less careless and you would have a worse condition than before and more expense and a more cumbersome method of getting legislation. This is simply an experiment. If in two years it don't work well, you can then repeal it and I think those who have some doubts of supporting the initiative and referendum, they can vote for it; at the same time I intend to vote "No."

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Delaware, I would say that lawyers sometimes give good advice in case of trouble, but they don't give the best political advice we can get. If you want to get political advice get down into the hearts of the people who look after the matters at home and in their own household. This bill may not and perhaps will not, in fifty per cent. or more of the boroughs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania within the next two years, cost one single cent of additional expense and why? I will tell you why. Because of this fact, that if the people of the boroughs have the rights which are delegated and conferred upon them by this bill, then and in that event council will keep their ears to the ground. This does not mean that every time fifteen per cent. of the people want a bit of legislation that it has to be advertised. No, certainly not; but they can compose their measure and file that measure with the legislative authority and if the legislative authority sees fit to give them that measure by their legislative authority, then and in that event it already becomes a law without any additional expense, but you men who live in smaller communities like I do, how many times have you had ordinances passed that you wished were not upon the statute books? If such ordinances, which are a hardship in that community, are passed, then and in that event ten per centum of the voters have the right to go before the people of the entire community, when? At the next municipal or general election and vote pro or con on that measure, thereby either approving the act of the legislative authority or setting it aside and holding it for naught. In such event, necessarily there would be some slight advertising as is provided in this bill and that advertising would consist chiefly in having it placed upon the ballot. The local papers would probably take it up because it would be a public matter and some discussion would be made as is always made in these political matters. There is one thing in this bill that says that the people of a community have to approve everything. They don't have to approve everything. They don't have to disapprove anything. They don't have to propose anything. But if in their wisdom they see fit to oppose anything, or if in their wisdom they see fit to propose anything, that then in that event under the provision of this bill they have the privilege to do so and that privilege alone is extended to them and we have all been taught that it is the will of the people that should prevail and here is a chance to show it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 292, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to carry further into effect the provisions of an act approved the tenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and seven entitled "An Act creating a reward or bounty for the destruction of certain noxious animals killed within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing a method for the payment of the same by the several counties of the Commonwealth which in turn are to be reimbursed by the Commonwealth making an appropriation for such reimbursement and providing penalties for violation of its several provisions" and to reimburse counties for moneys paid under the provisions of such act

Whereas By the provisions of an act of Assembly approved the tenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and seven entitled "An Act creating a reward or bounty for the destruction of certain noxious animals killed within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing a method for the payment of the same by the several counties of the Commonwealth which in turn are to be reimbursed by the Commonwealth making an appropriation for such reimbursement and providing penalties for violation of its several provisions" counties paying bounties on certain noxious animale were to be reimbursed by the Commonwealth through moneys specifically appropriated for that purpose and

Whereas There were so many noxious animals killed and bounties claimed and paid under the provisions of said act that the appropriation aforesaid was insufficient to reimburse the counties paying said bounties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated for the following purposes

To reimburse counties under the provisions of said act for the payment of claims for rewards or bounties for the destruction of noxious animals which have accrued or may accrue prior to the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen

Mr. PRICE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Title, line 1: Strike out "carry further into effect," and insert in lieu thereof "reimburse counties for moneys paid under."

Title, lines 10 and 11: Strike out "and to reimburse counties for moneys paid under the provisions of such act."

Section 1, lines 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11: Strike out said lines, and insert in lieu thereof the following: "To reimburse counties for moneys paid under the provisions of an act approved the tenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred seven, entitled 'An Act creating a reward or bounty for the destruction of certain noxious animals killed within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania: providing a method for the payment of the same by the several counties of the Commonwealth, which, in turn, are to be reimbursed by the Commonwealth; making an appropriation for such reimbursement; and providing penalties for violation of its several provisions.'"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to on third reading.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1216, as follows:

An Act to amend section twenty-nine of an act approved the thirty-first day of March Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six entitled 'An Act to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors as amended by increasing the penalty

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section twenty-nine of the act of March thirty-first one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six entitled 'An Act to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors' and which as amended reads as follows

'Section 29 That any person who shall be found intoxicated in any street highway public house public conveyance or public place shall be fined upon the view of or upon the proof made before any mayor alderman or justice of the peace and not exceeding two dollars to be levied with the proper costs upon the goods and chattels of the defendant which shall be paid to the treasurer of the school district where such conviction is had by the magistrate collecting the same' shall be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

'Section 29 That any person who shall be found intoxicated in any street highway public house or public place shall be fined upon conviction before any alderman police magistrate or justice of the peace in a sum not exceeding ten dollars and in default of the payment thereof be committed to the county jail or workhouse of the proper county for a period not exceeding thirty days'"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALIE. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman what is the objection in taking away the fines for drunkenness from the school districts?

Mr. MALIE. Mr. Speaker, it is not the intention to take the fines away from the school districts. The object of the bill is the increasing of the fine from two dollars to ten.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, but incidentally the section as amended makes no mention of the disposition of the fine while the former section gave it to the school district.

Mr. MALIE. Mr. Speaker, the fines are paid into the Treasury under the provisions of this bill.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MALIE. Mr. Speaker, I will agree to the postponement of this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1800, as follows:

An Act defining Indecent Assault and providing penalty for same

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That If any person male or female shall lay hands with lascivious intent upon the private parts of any other person male or female under the age of sixteen years with or without such person's consent or if any person male or female shall lie upon the body or touch the private parts with lascivious intent of any other person under the age of sixteen years with or without such person's consent then such person so offending shall be guilty of misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof be sentenced to undergo an imprisonment not exceeding five years and to pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or either or both in the discretion of the court

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I did not intend to take up any of the time of the House in discussing this bill, except that it has become quite a by-word with this House and some of the members seem to view the bill somewhat n a humorous light. I want to say that I think this is a very important addition to the criminal code. It so happens that members living in the larger cities know full well the force of what I say that in large cities such as Philadelphia and I suppose in Pittsburgh, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton, we find a number of boys and girls about the age of fifteen out late at night and subjected to the preying pervert. It is absolutely no joke or jest and I think that these minors under sixteen years of age should be given all the protection that the law can give them. We have passed bills here in this Legislature protecting minors in certain kinds and classes of work, and this you can see is infinitely more important that we should protect children under the age of sixteen in their morals, and I have introduced this bill that indecent assault upon minors under sixteen years of age may be summarily punished under our law. At present if a boy or girl who associates with an immoral pervert should assent or agree or not disagree to whatever may be suggested by that designing man or woman then the consent negatives the idea of assault and no matter how atrocious or wicked the associations may be, the consent of the minor negatives any idea of assault and the man goes free in Court. I remember one particularly revolting case in Philadelphia which suggested to me the absolute need of this bill, so I say in all sincerity aside from whatever humor may be associated with the bill, I would ask you to disassociate that element and support this bill. because it is very much needed in our criminal code.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

A supplement to an act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred eighty-seven entitled "An Act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this is a restrictive liquor bill which is introduced and advocated by the friends of the liquor traffic. It makes one think of that Tennysonian line in Persian, "Timeo Danaos et dona ferentes," but it will be noticed that the bill restricts two things: first, the "growler," and second, "free lunch." As a matter of fact, however, I may suspect the source from which this bill emanates but viewed in the cold light of science, I believe the bill in itself is a good thing and I want to express this idea so that the House will thoroughly understand that while I have no sympathy whatever with the sources of the emanation of this bill, I think it is a good bill.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponser of this bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Kaufman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KAUFMAN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman to tell us what the object of this bill is? Are the liquor dealers so corrupt and so immoral that they have to come to us to regulate the sale of their stuff? Don't the Brooks High License Law cover that? Are they so immoral that they cannot take care of their own business?

Mr. KAUFMAN. Mr. Speaker, they are not.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman why does he come to us with such a bill as that?

Mr. KAUFMAN. Mr. Speaker, because it is a good measure.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, why don't they regulate it themselves or why don't the judges regulate it? You ask for something and ask us to do something that they cannot settle among themselves. Is that not the idea of it?

Mr. KAUFMAN. Mr. Speaker, no, sir. I don't think so.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, if they cannot settle it among themselves, they are not fit to hold a license. The judges should go to work and revoke their license.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KAUFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend title, line 5. After the word "by" insert the words providing for representation of the Pennsylvania Conservation Association on the State Board of Agriculture"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill be prepared for final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. Bill No. 1604, entitled:

An Act further amend an act entitled "An Act to establish a Department of Agriculture and to define its duties and provide for its proper administration" approved March thirteen one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five as amended by the acts of April fourteen one thousand nine hundred and three and June seven one thousand nine hundred and seven by adjusting the salaries of the officers and other persons appointed to serve in said Department

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, this is an agricultural bill. I do not come to you with any story of the poor farmer; I do not come to you with any story of the honest farmer. The farmer of to-day is no poorer, no more honest than any other man, but I come to you with this plea: That agriculture is one of the basic principles of wealth of the great old State of Pennsylvania, and I ask you gentlemen to place the agricultural department up somewhere near an equal basis with the other departments of the State of Pennsylvania. I tell you gentlemen that when you send the Economic Zoologist out, when he comes back from visiting an orchard, that he never has made a visit and come back but what he has helped to bring the apple on your table in the morning hours with fewer worms than the old apple had. He did away with the buckwheat blight; with the wheat smut that destroys the corn. I say to you gentlemen that the oil is going; the timber has gone; and the minerals are being used up. Let us to a man stand for the Department of Agriculture for the great old State of Pennsylvania. It isn't to the farmer that I appeal; I appeal to you men from the cities, the great City of Phi'adelphia and the City of Pittsburgh, that you can reduce the cost of high living by having the agricultural department do their duty to the farmer and do their duty to everyone; that they can come back and give you that production that is right and that production that is fair and that production that is great at a less cost than they could otherwise. The proposition is fair, gentlemen, and I ask you to support the bill.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Bayle.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BAYLE. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Erie how many new jobs this creates in the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, it produces no new jobs. I think, sir, it only pays men that hire they are worthy of, sir.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman further.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. BAYLE. I am willing, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman what increase of expenses this bill will make.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, a few thousand dollars. That does not mean anything at all to the great State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman whether or not this bill in Section 1 increases a single salary up to $1,500.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, it does, and what is $1,500 to our mountains and our valleys?

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman whether or not in Section 2 it increases the expenses up to $5,800.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, it does, sir, but what is that, sir?

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has informed us in the first place that it would increase the salaries but $3,000, and now he states that in Section 1 it increases salaries to $1,500 and in Section 2 it increases it up to $5,800. Now, if you add that together and addition is as it used to be when I was a boy in school, it is not $3,000 but very close to $8,000. Now, the question before us to answer is this: Does the Department of Agriculture, the way it stands to-day in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, give us sufficient service, or does it not? Are we getting what we need, or is it necessary to increase the salaries to get less?

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, if the records of this House show that I said that it was $3,000, the records themselves made a mistake. I said a few thousand dollars, and I still maintain that with your $1,500 and your $3,000, and then double it and treble it, and multiply it by four, sir, with our millions and with our cost of high living, and giving to this State along with our three great lines of wealth, namely, agriculture, manufacturing and transportation, you gentlemen must come to the fact that we must develop agriculture on our mountain sides and in our valleys, that we must give to your tables and to my table that which is pure and ripe. I say, sir, that the gentleman at the head of the department serves at a salary ill-becoming his worth; shall the old State of Pennsylvania stand for it? That is my point.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman from Erie refers to the cost of high living by the increase of salary, how does that claim to reduce the cost of high living, gentlemen, to the general public throughout the State? Is that reducing or increasing the cost of high living? Are we here to legislate for a half dozen people in this Commonwealth or are we here to take care of the masses? Ask yourselves that question and be careful when the roll is called how you answer. Ask yourselves, are we here to take care of the few or of the many?

Mr. HOBBS. Mr. Speaker, as a rule I am opposed to the general principle of increasing salaries, but I am in favor of an equitable comparison of the salaries of the different departments. At the present time, the salaries of the officials of the agricultural department are far less than those of other departments which have no more work or business to transact than does the agricultural department. And inasmuch as the gentleman from Erie has stated the great importance of the agricultural department of this Commonwealth, there is no reason why the officials of that department should not receive as high salaries as the officials of any other department which has no more responsible work to accomplish. Therefore, for the principle and for the necessity of increasing the production of the farmers of our Commonwealth and thereby decreasing also the cost of living, I am in favor of this bill and shall vote for it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Blank forms for such applicantions shall be furnished by the Commission without charge to all persons requesting the same The Commission may require in connection with such applications such certificates of citizens physicians or others having knowledge of the applicant as the good of the service may require The Commission may refuse to examine an applicant or after examination to certify an eligible who is found to lack any of the established preliminary requirements for the examination or position for which he applies or who is physically so disabled as to be rendered unfit for the performance of the duties of the position to which he seeks appointment or who is addicted to the habitual use of intoxicating liquors or drugs or who has been guilty of any crime or of infamous or notoriuosly disgraceful conduct or who has been dismissed from any public service for delinquency or misconduct or who has within one year twice failed to attain a passing mark in an examination for the same position or who has made a false statement of any material fact or practiced or attempted to practice any deception or fraud in any application in any examination or in securing any appointment If any applicant feels himself aggrieved by the action of the Commission in so refusing to examine him or after an examination to certify him as an eligible as provided in this section the Commission shall at the request of such applicant appoint a time and place for a public hearing at which time such applicant may appear by himself or by counsel or both and the Commission shall then revew ts refusal to make such examination or certification and testimony shall be taken The Commission shall subpoena at the expense of the applicant any competent witness requested by him After said review the Commission shall file the testimony taken in its records and shall again make a decision which shall be final When any position to be filled involves fiduciary responsibility the appointing officer may require the appointee to furnish a bond or other surety and shall notify the Commission of the amount and other details thereof Provided however That any surety company the bonds of which are accepted by a judge of any court of record within the county wherein the office is located shall be sufficient surety on any such bond

Section 13 The positions in the classified service of the Commonwealth and of every county and city shall be arranged by the Civil Service Commission according to the provisions of this act in four classes to be designated as the exempt class the competitive class the non-competitive class and the labor class The Commission shall have the power from time to time to make such reclassifications of the positions in the classified service as it may deem necessary

No position shall be classified in any other than the competitive class except after a public hearing by the said Commission held in the manner provided in section twenty-eight A list of all positions that it may classify in any other than the competitive class shall be publicly announced and shall be posted on a suitable bulletin board at its office All positions not classified by the said Commission in the exempt non-competitive or labor class shall be in the competitive class

Upon the petition of any appointing officer or of any ten citizens of the Commonwealth asking for a change in any classification and setting forth the reasons for such change the said Commission shall hold a public hearing in the manner provided in section twenty-eight and after a careful investigation shall determine whether or not such change shall be made The petition or a copy thereof shall be posted on a suitable bulletin board at the office of the Commission at least one week prior to the date of the public hearing thereon and the petition shall thereafter become part of the public records of the Commission

The exempt class shall include

Section 14 (1) One secretary and one confidential clerk to the Governor and to the head of each department of the Commonwealth

(2) Such positions except laborers for the filling of which the Civil Service Commission shall have found competitive or non-competitive examinations to be impracticable No position shall be deemed to be in the exempt class unless and until the Civil Service Commission after a careful investigation and after a public hearing held in the manner provided in section twenty-eight has determined that it is unable to obtain by competitive or non-competitive examinations persons possessing the usual and requisite qualifications for filling such office or position and has classified such office or position in the exempt class and the reasons for every such exemption shall be stated separately and at length in the annual reports of the Commission Not more than one appointment shall be made to or under the title of any such office or position unless a different number is specifically authorized by the said Commission The Commission may at is discretion limit the time during which any position shall remain in the exempt class Appointments in the exempt class may be made without examination

Section 15 The competitive class shall include all positions now existing or hereafter created of whatever functions designations or compensation in each and every branch of the classified service of the Commonwealth (including those in the Civil Service Commission) and of every county and city except such positions as have been placed by the specific provisions of this act or by definite action of the Civil Service Commission in the exempt class the non-competitive class or the labor class No position shall be classified in any other than the competitive class unless the Commission has determined that persons possessing the requisite qualifications for filling that position cannot be obtained through competitive examinations Appointments shall be made to all positions in the competitive class that are not filled by promotion reinstatement transfer or reduction under the provisions of this act and the rules made in pursuance thereof by appointment from among those certified to the appointing officer in accordance with the provisions of Section sixteen The term validity of each eligible list shall be fixed by the Civil Service Commission at not less than one nor more than three years The Commission shall have the power to cancel any eligible list for fraud or for any other definite cause connected with the examination through which such list was procured Provided that the Commission has determined after a public hearing held in accordance with the provisions of Section twenty-eight of this act that such cancellation is necessary in order to promote the purposes of this act The Commission shall enter upon its public records the exact cause for the cancellation of any eligible list The names of those persons eligible for appointment shall always be listed and certified in the order of their gradings beginning with the highest Appointments shall be made from the eligible list most nearly appropriate to the duties of the position to be filled and a new and separate list shall be created only when there is no appropriate list existing from which appointments may be made No person shall be appointed under any title not appropriate to the duties to be performed No person in the Civil Service of the Commonwealth or of any county or city shall be assigned to or directed to perform any duties other than those properly pertaining to the position which he legally holds Provided however that if his main duties are those properly pertaining to his position he may with the written permission of the Civil Service Commission be assigned to the performance of other additional duties not higher in grade or salary than those of his own position

Section 16 Every position in the competitive class unless filled by promotion transfer reinstatement or reduction shall be filled only in the following manner The appointing officer shall notify the Civil Service Commission of any vacancy in the service which he deems it necessary to fill and shall request the certification of eligibles The Commission shall forthwith certify from the appropriate eligible list the names of the three persons thereon who received the highest averages at examinations held under the provisions of this act If no appropriate eligible list containing three or more eligible names exists the Commission shall proceed at once to hold an examination and to secure an eligible list as promptly as possible The appointing officer shall upon the receipt of the eligible list from the Commission and with sole reference to the relative merit and fitness of the candidates make an appointment from the three names so certified Provided however that should he make objection to the Civil Service Commission as to one or more of these persons for any of the reasons stated in Section twelve of this act and should such objection be sustained by the Commission the Commission shall thereupon strike the name of such person from the eligible list and certify the next highest name for each person stricken off

As each subsequent vacancy occurs in the same or a similar position precisely the same procedure shall be followed Provided however that after any name has been three times rejected by any one appointing officer for the same or a similar position in favor of other name or names on the eligible list the said name shall not again be certified to that appointing officer When there are a number of positions of the same kind to be filled at the same time each appointment must nevertheless be made separately and in accordance with the foregoing provisions

When an appointment is made under the provisions of this section it shall be in the first instance for the probationary period fixed by the rules as provided in Section ten

The provisions of this Section (16) shall not apply in making appointments to competitive positions which are specially excepted from competitive examinations under the authority conferred in Section seventeen

The Commission shall post in a public place in its office the eligible list containing the names and grades of those who have passed examinations for positions in the competitive class and shall promptly indicate thereon such appointments as may be made from said lists

Section 17 Positions in the competitive class may be filled without competition only as follows

1 Whenever there are urgent reasons for filling a vacancy in any position in the competitive class and there is no list of persons containing one or more names eligible for appointment after a competitive examination the appointing officer may nominate a person to the Civil Service Commission for non-competitive examination and if such nominee shall after appropriate non-competitive examination be certified by the said Civil Service Commission as qualified he may be appointed provisionally to fill such vacancy until a selection and appointment can be made after competitive examination If however there is an existing eligible list containing one or two names the appointing officer if he is unwilling to make a regular appointment and if he desires to make a provisional appointment must make such a provisional appointment from such list No provisional appointment shall continue for a longer period than four months and successive provisional appointments shall not be made to the same position nor shall the term of any provisional appointment be extended for any cause whatever A provisional appointee who has been appointed from among the three highest names on an existing eligible list may however be permanently appointed at any time within the four months unless a new eligible list has in the meantime been furnished the appointing officer When an eligible list has been furnished by the said Commission to the appointing officer any provisional appointment made as provided in this section must be terminated within two weeks from the date on which such list was furnished The occupancy of a provisional appointment shall not be referred to by any applicant in any competitive examination held while he is occupying his provisional appointment or within six months from the termination of his provisional appointment nor shall it be given a rating under experience or otherwise in any examination

2 When the services to be rendered are of a temporary character and will last for a limited period not to exceed six months the appointing officer may advise the Commission stating the duration of such period the rate of compensation and other conditions of employment and may thereupon select for such temporary employment one of the first three persons on the appropriate eligible list who has expressed a willingness to accept a temporary appointment Successive temporary appointments shall not be made under this clause nor shall any person be eligible to temporary appointment if he has served under either a temporary or a provisional appointment in the same office or department within the previous six months

The acceptance or refusal by an eligible of a provisional or temporary appointment shall not affect his standing on the register for permanent employment nor shall the period of temporary service be counted as a part of the probationary service in case of subsequent appointment from an eligible list The acceptance of a provisional or temporary appointment shall not confer upon the eligible any of the rights of promotion transfer or reinstatement

Section 18 Vacancies in a position in the competitive class shall be filled so far as practicable by promotion from among persons holding positions in a lower grade in the department office or institution in which the vacancy exists Promotions shall be based upon merit to be ascertained by competitive examination and upon the superior qualifications of the person promoted as shown by his previous service and experience From such tests eligible lists shall be prepared by the Commission from which appointments shall be made in the manner hereinbefore provided in the case of original appointments All positions so far as practicable shall be arranged by the Commission in grades based upon the compensation paid For the purposes of this section an increase in compensation of any person holding a position in the competitive class beyond the limit fixed for the grade in which such position is classified shall be deemed a promotion No promotion shall be made to a position in the competitive class from a position in another class except after such competitive examination and certification as is provided for original entrance to the competitive class No person except as above provided shall be promoted to a position for original entrance to which there is required by this Act or the rules adopted pursuant thereto an examination involving essential tests or quaifications different from or higher than those required for original entrance to the position held by such person

Section 19 No transfer shall be made from a position in one class to a position in another class unless the same be specifically authorized by the Civil Service Commission nor shall a person be transferred to a position for the original entrance to which there is required by this Act or the rules adopted pursuant thereto an examination involving essential tests or qualifications different from or higher than those required for original entrance to the position held by such person If any position in the non-competitive class or exempt classes is later classified as being in the competitive class the person holding such a position must pass an examination equivalent to that required for such or a similar position in the competitive class or if he fails to pass he must be removed from such position

On the question,

Will the house agree to the bill on third reading.

HOUSE BILL NO. 228 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the consideration of this bill be made a Special Order for to-morrow morning at 11:30 o'clock.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 556, entitled:

An Act providing for the compensation by the proper county of licensed physicians for certain reports and certificates required to be furnished to the State Department of Health and fixing the duties of the respective county treasurers and of the Commissioner of Health

Whereas, The laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the rules and regulations of the Department of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania require licensed practitioners of medicine to report in writing to the Health officers of the local health districts each case of a disease designated by law or by the rules and regulations of the State Department of Health as contagious or reportable and

Whereas, The licensed physicians of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are required by law or the rules and regulations of the Department of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to furnish to the proper authorities certificates of health birth and death and

Whereas, The furnishing of such reports and certificates aids very materially in the protection of the health and lives of the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in general and in the local health districts in particular therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the date of the passage of this act the county treasurer of each county in this Commonwealth shall pay out of the funds of the county upon proper warrant as hereinafter provided twenty-five cents for each certificate of death and certificate of birth to the physician executing and signing and furnishing to the proper health authorities such certificate

Section 2 The Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall after the date of the passage of this act on or before the tenth day of January April July and October of each year send to each licensed physician in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who has furnished one or more death certificates or birth certificates a statement or voucher addressed to the county treasurer of the county in which such death or birth occurred setting forth the name and address of the licensed physician who furnished certificates of same to the proper health authorities and the number of death certificates and the number of birth certificates as required by law or the rules and regulations of the Department of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania furnished by said licensed physician during the three calendar months last preceding and the Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall in issuing the above statement or voucher use the form as hereinafter provided in section three of this act

Section 3 The form to be used by the Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in carrying out the provisions of section two of this act shall be as follows

To the county treasurer of (name of county) county Pennsylvania greeting

'I (name of Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania) Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby certify that doctor (name of licensed physician furnishing certificates) of (address of said licensed physician) has furnished to the proper health authorities as required by law and the rules and regulations of the Department of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during the months (name of three calendar months last preceding) (year) certificates as follows

Death certificates to the number of (number furnished)

Birth certificates to the number of (number furnished)

Certificates required by law or by the rules and regulations of the Department of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (number furnished) occurring in your county of (name of county) under the professional care of the above named licensed physician and you are therefore hereby commanded as required by law to pay on presentation of this voucher to doctor (name of licensed physician furnishing certificates) above named the sum of (amount due) dollars ( ) cents this being at the legal rate of twenty-five cents per certificate or report and this shall be sufficient warrant to you for such payment

(Signature of the Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania)
Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

This voucher shall bear the seal of the Department of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Section 4 The county treasurer of each county of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall upon demand pay out of the funds of the county to the licensed physician named in such voucher as set forth in section three of this act the sum set forth in the voucher as being due said licensed physician provided said voucher bears the signature of the Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and bears the seal of the Department of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Section 5 All other acts or parts of acts general special or local pertaining to this subject matter covered by this act and inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Richards, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, Yes, sir.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire how this bill changes the provisions of the existing law with reference to the payment of physicians?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, under the present law the physicians get nothing for reporting the contagious diseases, neither do they get anything for reporting or making out the certificates of birth and death. This bill allows the physicians twenty-five cents for each certificate of birth and for each certificate of death, given to the local Board of Health. The local Board of Health—I will continue to explain as best I can—the local Board of Health then reports as they do now, to the State Board of Health Under the provisions of this bill then, Mr. Speaker, every three months the Commissioner of Health reports to the treasurers of the different counties the number of birth certificates and the number of death certificates reported by that particular physician and at the end of three months the County Treasurer issues a warrant for that amount of money due the physician or twenty-five cents for each record of birth and each certificate of death. Under the present law, Mr. Speaker, the physician gets nothing for that work.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman and say that as I understand it under this law each county would be paying the expenses of the State Board of Health in gathering together the statistics provided for by this Act?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I would not consider it in that way. The State Board of Health now receives the statistics from our local Boards of Health. The physicians are now compelled by law to report contagious diseases as well as make reports of births and deaths and submit them to the local registrars; then in turn at the present time they send them into the Commissioner of Health, here at Harrisburg, receiving nothing for that. This bill allows the physician the small amount of twenty-five cents for each certificate of birth and death and nothing for reporting the contagious diseases. They are compelled to do that now.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he has any way of ascertaining how much expense that will entail in the State, to be divided among separate counties, how many such certificates are issued in a year?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I really could not say how many certificates of birth there are issued in the State of Pennsylvania, but this will not mean one cent of expense to the State. The counties pay that entirely.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, that is just the point I am getting at. Under this bill the counties are going to be imposed upon to the extent of paying for certificates that are furnished to the State Board of Health, and while I recognize that physicians should have some compensation possibly for making out that certificate, and I am not objecting to that feature of the bill, yet it does not seem fair that the counties of this States are going to have the requisition made upon them—for it is that in effect—from the Commissioner of Health every three months for the payment of hundreds of dollars for these physicians, when it is information that the State Department of Health should gather within the apropriation that is made to it and should pay the bills themselves, and it looks to me like an imposition upon these counties. As I have figured it out, I believe it will entail an expense of a good many hundreds of dollars to the average counties of the State. To a county of average size, something like Delaware, or Crawford, this will amount to something like seven or eight hundred dollars. If that is true it will be an enormous expenditure in the bigger counties and it strikes me that it is absolutely unfair.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, Yes, sir.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. No doubt the gentleman can give the House some correct information on this point as to the number of births or deaths in Crawford county in a year.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I have not been able to ascertain this.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, wouldn't it be a good idea if the gentleman is interested in knowing this if he had gone to the Department, then he could have informed the House correctly.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I suppose that the gentleman would be worrying himself about his own county and not interesting himself about the county that I represent, as to what my attitude should be on this bill, and I didn't find it necessary to go further into details.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I merely want to say in answer to the gentleman from Crawford that the people of Delaware are very much opposed to having their doctors working without pay and the people of Delaware County appreciate, I know, the importance of vital statistics. They fully appreciate that the State has got a burden to carry, the various interests and have so much interested in the vital statistics that they are entirely willing to pay their physicians for the service they render, and I am sure they would be glad to pay the legal profession for any services they might render in proportion.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Delaware that the doctors should be paid for what they do, but when a doctor is taking care of my case, I do not think the gentleman from Delaware ought to be compelled to pay for it. When the doctor is looking after the interests of Pennsylvania and the Health Department, I do not think the counties ought to be compelled to pay the bill.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I really do not believe that the gentleman from Crawford thoroughly understands the bill yet. He seems to feel that the State Department of Health would be put to some expense if this bill becomes a law. That is not true. All of the statistics are now furnished the Department of Health by our local registrars, given them by the local physicians, and all this bill seeks to do is to pay the local physician for his time in making out the certificates of birth and death and not contagious diseases.

Mr. Speaker, I have the honor to represent in part one of the lardgest counties in the State and I feel sure that the people of Allegheny county are only too willing that their local physicians be paid this twenty-five cents for each birth and death certificate made out by them. It would amount to a very few hundred dollars even in the County of Allegheny, and I am sure it would amount to much less in the County of Crawford or some of the smaller counties.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman from Crawford.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, Yes, sir.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if the gentleman from Crawford would think it would be proper to pay the legal profession for rendering the services they were compelled to render like this, whether he would not consider it very unfair to put the legal profession to rendering such services without being paid.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I think it would be very unfair if the legal profession were compelled to render services to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to subject the gentleman from Delaware, or rather the people from Delaware County or Crawford County to pay him for the services he was rendering for the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to remind the gentleman that Delaware is a part of the State of Pennsylvania and the people of the County of Delaware are perfectly satisfied to pay their medical authorities as well as professional, because we have to pay the legal authorities a great deal more, larger prices than are asked by the medical profession in our County.

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, it seems to be rather small on the part of the medical profession to ask this House to pay them twenty-five cents. There is no sense at all in asking the counties to finish up their work for them. When they take a patient and the patient dies, they know that under the law they must furnish a death certificate. They must remember that in the first place that doctors as well as lawyers doing business in our cities without paying any county tax, and the little store keeper must pay a mercantile tax, while the doctor and other professional men do not. I think it looks rather picayune like for the doctors to ask twenty-five cents for the little certificate where they only insert a few words in a printed form. I think the patients of the doctors are paying enough without having to pay twenty-five cents or have the county pay twenty-five cents if they should be unfortunate enough to die. If the doctor needed twenty-five cents he might even hurry them off.

Mr. W. A. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inform the gentleman that the medical profession are not asking for this. This is not a medical profession bill at all, but some one has been interested enough in the profession to feel that they ought to be recompensed in some way for this clerical work. The fact of the matter is this: When you attend a confinement case, nine times out of ten you cannot get the data that is required. A great many times you have to make an extra trip to get that data. If it is out in the country you have to telephone out there at your own expense to get that information. This Legislature has seen fit to pass a law compelling the physician to make out these papers for the Department of Health. Now, the medical profession are not asking for this at all, but somebody has evidently taken enough interest to think that they ought to have some means of paying for this clerical work.

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, the reason I have opposed this was because in Philadelphia we are suffering from a lack of money for revenue purposes and one of the plans that we tried to get into force to get more money is to find some way of taxing the doctors. Now, the thing that strikes me in this bill is that this will let the doctors get at the city instead of the city getting at the doctors. the city is the county there. I do not think this bill should pass.

Mr. NEWBAKER. Mr. Speaker, since the Department of Health has been organized the physicians of Pennsylvania have been making out these certificates of birth and death without any charge, as well as those for contagious diseases. It requires a great deal of time and trouble to do so, and for the amount of work involved a lawyer would want a dollar or two, or two and one-half for doing the same work. It seems the people are asking the medical profession to work for nothing. As for the statement that this would cost Crawford County eight hundred dollars. that would require that there would be thirty-two hundred deaths and births in that county in three months at that rate and of course the State would be re-populated in the course of a few years. Now, this bill was not brought in by the medical profession, but certain persons thought that they would be entitled to a slight compensation, at least recognition to the extent of twenty-five cents for writing out a certificate of birth or death and I do not think it is more than fair.

Mr. CHARLES A. SHAFFER Mr. Speaker, I would like to explain this a little further. In cities of the first and second class, the registrars do not get their pay from their counties. For instance in Philadelphia, fifteen cents is paid to registrars by the State of Pennsylvania and not by the County of Philadelphia. Outside of the first and second class cities, the counties of the State pay their own registrars for deaths and births.

In answer to a question asked the gentleman of Crawford, I would say that on an estimate of 62,000 people in his county, the number of deaths is about nine hundred. I am of the opinion that the physicians are entitled to the twenty-five cents for each certificate. I do not see how this can double the expense to the conuty. The members can now know and understand this legislation when they come to vote on it. I believe that physicians should be paid for their services.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, in all probability in thirty-three per cent. of the cases the physicians attending them get nothing at all, and I thing that many of the phyhicians have a greater percentage of cases for which they do not get paid. You want them to do this work, and then you do not want to give them a measly quarter for it.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. KEEPORT asked and obtained unanimous consent to introduce a local bill, the title of which was first read for the information of the House.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 961, as follows:

An Act to amend the twenty-eighth section of an act entitled "An Act to consolidate revise and amend the laws of this Commonwealth relating to penal proceedings and pleadings" approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty Pamphlet Laws page four hundred thirty-seven so as to include all acts of embezzlement committed within statutory period

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the twenty-eighth one thousand eight proved the thirty-first day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty entitled "An Act to consolidate revise and amend the laws of this Commonwealth relating to penal proceedings and pleadings" which reads as follows

"Section 8 It shall be lawful in cases of embezzlement by clerks servants or other persons in the employ of another to charge in the indictment and proceed against an offender for any distinct acts of embezzlement not exceeding three which may have been committed by him against the same master or employer within the space of six calendar months from the first to the last of such acts and in every such indictment except where the offence shall relate to a chattel it shall be sufficient to allege the embezzlement to be of money without specifying any particular coin or valuable security and such allegation so far as regards the description of the property shall be sustained if the offender shall be proved to have embezzled any amount although the particular species of coin or valuable security of which such amount was composed shall not be proved or if he shall be proved to have embezzled any piece of coin or valuable security or any portion of the value thereof although such piece of coin or valuable security may have been delivered to him in order that some part of the value thereof should be returned to the party delivering the same and such part shall have been returned accordingly" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 28 It shall be lawful in cases of embezzlement by clerks servants or other persons in the employ of another to charge in the indictment and proceed against an offender for any distinct acts of embezzlement and in every such indictment except where the offense shall relate to a chattel it shall be sufficient to allege the embezzlement to be of money without specifying any particular coin or valuable security and such allegation so far as regards the description of the property shall be sustained if the offender shall be proved to have embezzled any amount although the particular species of coin or valuable security of which such amount was composed shall not be proved or if he shall be proved to have embezzled any piece of coin or valuable security or any portion of the value thereof although such piece of coin or valuable security may have been delivered to him in order that some part of the value thereof should be returned to the party delivering the same and such part shall have been returned accordingly

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. BERNTHEISEL. Mr. Speaker, this bill is an amendment to the embezzlement section of the criminal code. As the act now stands it provides that an embezzler can be indicted for but three acts of embezzlement and that three acts must have occurred within the period of six months. In other words, if the embezzler, under the present statute, is careful to spread out his embezzlements over a period the Commonwealth is obliged to select three offenses and therefore the defendant is not punished in full for his crimes. The amendment simply removes that obstruction. It provides merely that the defendant shall be indicted for each and every act of embezzlement that occurs within the statutory period. In other words, it simply puts the man who steals money on the same par with the man who steals horses or chickens and punishes him in full for his crime.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1874 (Senate No. 658), entitled:

An Act authorizing the Commissioner of Banking to appoint an additional clerk and one additional stenographer and fixing the compensation of each

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, as this is a bill creating new offices, and as the gentleman from Delaware seems to know so much about the Banking Department, perhaps he can explain the bill to the House.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that the gentleman see Senator Buckman, who introduced the bill, and he will give all the explanation that is necessary.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, as there is no one here to explain the bill, I guess we will have to vote no on it.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, as this is a Senate bill, I move that the further consideration of it be postponed for the present.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1875 (Senate No. 659), entitled:

An Act enabling the board consisting of the State Treasurer Secretary of the Commonwealth and Commissioner of Banking to authorize on behalf of the Commonwealth the satisfaction of record of any mortgage judgment or lien which has been or may hereafter be accepted by the said board under the provisions of the act of June nineteenth one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to provide for licensing and regulating private banking in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and providing penalties for the violation thereof"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1873 (Senate No. 574), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of an act entitled "A supplement to an act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania" entitled 'An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' approved the twenty-ninth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four as the same has been supplemented by acts of Assembly of said Commonwealth approved the following dates namely sixteenth day of February Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four twenty-fourth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one twenty-ninth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five twenty-fifth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five ninth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine twenty-ninth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five twenty-sixth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five twenty-seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five second day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one fourth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one twenty-first day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three and seventeenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and five inter alia providing for the establishment and regulation of trust companies" approved the eighth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven by enlarging and extending the preference given to depositors so as to include deposits payable only after specified notice or at the expiration of a fixed period and defining and including as depositors bona fide holders for value of certified checks on or of certificates of deposit issued by trust company or of checks or drafts given in exchange for or in payment of checks or drafts of depositors of a trust company drawn thereon

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I haven't had an opportunity to go into this bill. Perhaps there is some member on the floor of the House that can tell us just what it means.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, originally, when a bank or trust company failed, the depositors were in the same position as far as preference is concerned as any other creditors. A few years ago, a bill was passed by which depositors were made preferred creditors and that bill was correct, principally but there were a few cases in active practice which it did not cover. You will notice that this bill covers time clauses and also the holders of certified checks where the bank certificate is issued and the check is collected before the bank fails and the holder of the certified check is in the same position as the depositor, but under that act he was not treated as a preferred creditor, and this act simply fills up the want.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Section 10 Anything herein contained or any apportionment of the State into highway districts shall not be construed as including or in any manner interfering with the roads streets and highways in any of the cities boroughs or incorporated towns of the Commonwealth Provided That where any road street or highway within the limits of any city borough or in any incorporated town shall form a part or section of any State Highway as herein described and the same or any part thereof is not already improved or reconstructed according to the standards of the State Highway Department or in a manner equal to said standards by the city borough or incorporated town the State Highway Commissioner by and with the consent of the city borough or town councils may improve or reconstruct such unimproved section or sections of such road streets or highways at the expense of the Commonwealth Provided furth. That where the councils of any city borough or incorporated town shall for any valid reason object to the takin gover and appropriation of any road street or highway or of any part or parts thereof as a State Highway they shall file such objection in writing with the State Highway Department within sixty days after the State Highway Commissioner shall have notified in writing the proper authorities of said city borough or incorporated town of his intention to take over any such road street or highway or any part or parts thereof under the provisions of this act And provided further That any such road street or highway or any part or parts thereof forming a State Highway within the limits of any city borough or incorporated town shall onyl be taken over at the discretion of the State Highway Commissioner for reconstruction and maintenance by the State Highway Department when the failure to so take over such road street or highway would leave an unimproved gap in a continuous improved State Highway

The maintenance of any road street or highway or any part or parts thereof improved or reconstructed as a State Highway in any city borough or incorporated town or the maintenance of any State-aid road heretofore improved or reconstructed and which road forms a part of a State Highway in any city borough or incorporated town shall be done by the State Highway Department and fifty per centum of the cost and expense of said maintenance shall be paid by the respective city borough or incorporated town in which said work is done as is provided for in the case of the maintenance of State-aid roads Provided That where any road street or highway or any part or parts thereof in any city borough or incorporated town has been heretofore reconstructed as a State-aid road with bricks or material other than a telford water-bound macadam road or which may hereafter be reconstructed as a State Highway with bricks or other permanent paving material the said brick or paved road street or highway shall be maintained according to the standards of the State Highway Department by the city borough or incorporated town wholly at the cost and expense of the city borough or incorporated town in which said road street or highway may lie Provided if any city borough or incorporated town shall neglect or refuse to maintain any such brick paved road street or highway forming a part of a State Highway according to the standards aforesaid the State Highway Commissioner is hereby authorized and empowered to maintain and repair said road street or highway at the cost and expense of said city borough or incorporated town after giving thirty days' prior notice to the councils of any such city borough or incorporated town of the intention to do said work of maintenance and repair Provided further That upon the neglect or refusal of any city borough or incorporated town to pay such cost and expenses within sixty days after the completion of such maintenance or repairs the State Highway Commissioner shall take such action as is necessary to collect the same from the said city borough or incorporated town refusing to make the required payment And provided further That all improvement reconstruction and maintenance of any road street or highway in cities boroughs or incorporated towns shall be of the same character as that done in townships

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I might call the attention of the House to what the provisions of this bill are. It is to extend the provisions of the Highway Department so as to assist in building roads in cities of the first class. If I am wrong, I would like the author of the bill to correct me.

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, the Highway Act at the present time don't include the County of Philadelphia. It includes every county in the State excepting Philadelphia and every county in the States receives some portion of the highway money except that particular county of Philadelphia. They have spent now up to the present time between six and seven million dollars in the State Highways and at this present session, we have audited money that has been appropriated amounting to one million eight hundred thousand dollars for the State highways. We have also made allowances for the present fees that have been accumulated from year to year which at the present time, for this year alone, was over five hundred thousand dollars. The act presented by the gentleman from Butler county creating a special tax for good roads for counties and townships will bring an additional sum of nearly one million dollars. Furthermore, we have passed a constitutional amendment to permit a vote on a fifty million dollar bond issue for good roads. I live in the country district of Philadelphia County . We have in my district alone over two hundred miles of country roads. The country roads are unimproved and, unfortunately, there are two townships in my district and unfortunately at the time of the consolidation of the city in that district, these townships were then admitted as a part of the city and that deprives them of any right or any power to get any money from the State Highway appropriations. The result is that they are in the city and the county from which probably over one-half or two-thirds of the revenue comes to the State and especially to the Highway Department for good roads, from a county which receives no part of this revenue. I believe that the farmers of that district are entitled to some portions of it and I say that it is necessary to amend the Sproul act to cover the city of Philadelphia because the City of Philadelphia is co-extensive with Philadelphia county and it deprives our farmers of any Highway funds appropriated by the State. I only ask you for your fair judgment on this appropriation. You must remember that there is a fifty million dollar bond issue that must be voted on at the coming election. You must, in order to carry this bond on at the coming election, receive the vote of Philadelphia county; you must have that vote. If you don't allow that county or that part of Philadelphia to get relief for the farmer in my district, some portion of the State Highway appropriation, how do you expect to receive the vote of the farmers or the people who live in my district of Philadelphia county in order to pass this fifty million dollar bond issue? When you don't expect to get a penny of it under the existing law. We are only asking for an amount from the Highway appropriation so as to get a fair amount for the farmers in my district some portion of what they are helping to pay for. As I have said before, there are two hundred miles of roads in my district and it is only fair and honest that we should have some portion from the State Highway department; from the funds that are appropriated for that purpose. I have here from the Civic Association which includes in my county, and taking in Olney, Crescentville, Lawndale, Fox Chase, Cheltenham and they all cry out, "Give us some help in order to relieve the farmers in our districts." I have another letter from the Bustleton Improvement Association praying "Give us some assistance to remedy the evils in our particular district." I have another resolution from the Grane Association consisting of one thousand members in that district who appeal to the members of this House and say that those farmers ought to have and should have better highways and better roads to reach the city in order that they may take their products to the markets and be able to get through comfortably and conveniently. I don't think any man in this House would be selfish enough, when his county is receiving thousands of dollars for good roads in his county, to deprive the farmers of my county of a little help to relieve them. I hope that every member of this House will vote for this bill and I ask the members of this House to give me a little help on it so that the balance of the county may get the benefit of the appropriation that the State makes to the Highway Department. The balance of the county don't ask for anything. They are representatives of that part of the county which is the built up portion of the city and I am only asking you to give me a little assistance for the twenty thousand farmers who are depending on the farmers and who are farmers themselves who are all wanting good roads and would like to have help from the Highway Department which they are helping to carry and I hope the vote will be unanimous on it.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, in passing the State Highway Act, the farmers of that act had in mind the conditions they were dealing with. They had in mind that the rural population of this State could not possibly derive from its public highways any revenue to realize; that the cities did derive great revenues from their highways. Each and every trolley car that travels over the streets of Philadelphia pay a $50 license into the city of Philadelphia. In addition to that they receive directly $500,000, or one half million dollars annually from their highways for the privilege of traveling over them, so that you see the highways of your city naturally have their trolleys running over them and that they derive a great deal of revenue to assist in maintaining them. Now, the rural population of this State cannot derive a single cent, but in the city of Philadelphia, every single foot of property will average $50 per foot front. Wherever a property has a front foot of property value, the value is $50. Why, the highway expense is but a bagatelle, even though it be paved from curb to curb. The highways of the State upon which the city men like to come out and have kept in elegant condition, if they were put in condition, as I have heard men from the city say in the Ways and Means Committee, "Why, you country people don't understand the great benefits of these splendid highways;" and then when he asks you to tell him why we don't have them, we tell him that if we were to build the highways that they ask us to build, we would have to sell all the property in the whole township and then we could not build the highways that they demand. And thus, in the different portions of our State we are met with different conditions, and by simply stating that it is unfair to take his money from the State and send none of it back for this particular purpose is not correctly stating the whole proposition. The proposition is whether it is fair that these great big municipalities, which draw their life blood from those more sparsely settled communities should get the greater share of our revenues and taxation. You realize they are not dealt with exactly alike, and they are dealt with, in my mind, no more liberally than the rural districts. Now, I am not prepared at this time to tell you, but I will be prepared when another bill comes, to show you the great demand that the City of Philadelphia makes upon the State Treasury for her various needs, running into millions and millions of dollars. I believe that the cities of the State have been fairly treated by the Legislature of this State, and if there is any complaint coming from any one of the cities, it has at least had as much aid as the rural part of the State. Here this bill claims to take out of the State revenue to make highways in the city and share the $50,000,000 of the State's revenues. I do not believe the people of Philadelphia want it as a unit, but if they would consider it in its broad light, they would ask every member from Philadelphia to vote against this bill. I do not think the bill should pass, and those are some reasons amongst many others that I will not tire you to tell you about.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware is very much mistaken when he says that the trolley company pays $50 a year. Now, they pay nothing. The trolley company of Philadelphia pays for running through the county of Philadelphia $500,000 into the City Treasury, and in consideration of that the city is to keep the streets in repair and allow them to run the cars and their tracks free of taxes. Now, there is no taxation on a trolley car in the City of Philadelphia. There has not been for two years.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, before I made that statement, I took the trouble to inquire of one of the best informed lawyers of the City of Philadelphia in this House. I asked him that question. If I have made a mistake by making that statement to this House, it is the mistake of the gentleman, who is an eminent lawyer of Philadelphia. My understanding was that they paid this $500,000 for their franchise rights, and that in addition they paid for each and every car that they ran over the streets of Philadelphia a license. If I am mistaken, I want to state to the House that I do not think that I am—but even were that true, it would not change the question as to how you should vote on this bill.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, the lawyer that he has reference to is one of the back numbers to-day—I do not know who he is—but I am telling you that the cars pay no licenst whatever. They pay $500,000 for the right of franchise to the City of Philadelphia. Formerly, they had to keep their tracks in repair, but in the last two years they do not keep their tracks in repair.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Baldwin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if the Sproul Act does not apply to unimproved roads.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, the Sproul Act applies, as I understand the word "Sproul"—I do not know exactly what it stands for—but if he has reference to the Sproul Act, or the State Highway Act, that this House passed two years ago—

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, he knows as well as every other member in the House what the Sproul Act means. We won't quibble over that.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman knows what I know, why I don't see any need of his interrogating the gentleman from Delaware. If the gentleman from Philadelphia will indicate just what act he refers to—there have been a number of bills come here with the Sproul name. The Legislature of 1911 passed an act known as the "Sproul" Act, and is known so generally throughout the State of Pennsylvania. That was the State Highways Act. Then there was another one passed, as I understand it, known as the "Dirt Road Act." That was the Jones Act.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman from Delaware, I will say to the members of the House that in speaking of the Sproul Act, I refer to that which is universally known throughout the State of Pennsylvania as the State Highway Act. The other road act is universally known, as I understand it, throughout the rural districts, as the Jones Dirt Road Act.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, what is the Sproul Act known as?

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, it is know as the Sproul Act.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr Speaker, what is the State Aid Act known as?

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, it is known as the State Aid Act.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. That is right.

Mr. BLELOCH. Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware, since he has signified his willingness to be interrogated, to answer my question.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. I thought I did answer it. Please state your question.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman from Delaware, through you, Mr. Speaker, if the so-called "Sproul Act" or the State Highway Act, as the gentleman from Delaware sees fit to term it, did not apply only to unimproved roads.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Well, Mr. Speaker, for the gentleman's benefit I will state that in 1911 the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania saw fit to pass an act known as the State Highway Act to which was attached the name of Senator Sproul. That State Highway Act was for the purpose of building 8,000 and some odd miles of improved state highway, to be known as state highway, at the expense of the State. They were to be built and maintained at the expense of the State.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I still insist that the gentleman answer my question. If the State Highway Act of 1911 did not apply to unimproved State roads to be improved?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Why, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman certainly knows that in these 8,000 miles, part of those 8,000 miles were improved and some of them were unimproved. Sometimes they would pass over stone toll roads; sometimes they would pass over deserted turnpike roads; and sometimes over state-aid roads. Sometimes they passed over poor, unimproved dirt roads as we call them.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I think it is the general sense of the members of this Legislature and of the Legislature of 1911, that the Sproul Act applies to what is commonly known as unimproved roads. By that, any road that was unimproved under the various state-aid acts could be improved. In Philadelphia we have a few rural roads, roads that are practically unimproved, dirt roads, as you call them. These roads are very far between, but never theless they have some which are connecting links with the main highways of this State. I think that any reasonable member of this House will admit that as long as that condition exists in Philadelphia, there is no reason why we should not participate in the appropriation for the improved highways of this State. Mr. Speaker, the $500,000 which he has mentioned to this House is not paid by the Rapid Transit Company of Philadelphia to the City of Philadelphia for its francise rights. Under the old regime the transit company of Philadelphia maintained in repair the streets over which they ran their tracks, which had been paved previously, either by the City of Philadelphia or by the property owners adjoining and abutting thereon. Under the contract between the transit company and the City of Philadelphia in 1907, the city released the transit company from its obligations to maintain these streets in repair and required it to pay into the city treasury a lump sum of $500,000, which is to be used for that purpose. Five hundred thousand dollars is used only to go as far as it will towards maintaining the streets over which the Rapid Transit Company runs its tracks.

M.r HUMES. Mr. Speaker, it strikes me that we are overlooking one important feature of this bill. We seem to be confining the effect of it to the City of Phiadelphia. As I understand the Sproul bill, it has prescribed a given number of roads as state highways and has designated them as particular routes between given points. Now, this bill does not provide for additional routes or additional state highways. If it did, and the particular route in the County of Philadelphia that was made a route was a proper route to connect up with other routes, I could see some considerable merit in this bill, but this bill makes no additional route, but allows the connecting up through cities with any other routes that are prescribed by the Sproul bill. Now, that makes a possibility of an increase in the State Highway mileage of the State, which is equal to the length and breadth of practically every city in the State. I believe that in my county, the City of Meadville has no right to ask the State Highway Department to pave the street or improve a foot through that populated community to connect up outlying districts, and I believe that the same argument applies to the City of Philadelphia. I do not believe it is possible for the State Highway Department to undertake to pave or macadamize or improve the streets of any city in this Commonwealth, and if this bill was only confined in its purpose to laying out some particular route in the City of Philadelphia, or the County of Philadelphia. I would say that possibly it would be a very proper measure and would be glad to support it, but when this door is opened to every city in the State of Pennsylvania, to ask the State Highway Department to pave the streets in those cities when all of the political power and the personal influence of the different cities of the State of Pennsylvania are going to be exerted on this State Highway Department to get them to pave the city streets, I say you are going too far, and we ought to look at this bill in its application to the whole state and not confine it to this particular application in the City of Philadelphia.

Mr. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call especial attention of the representation from the City of Philadelphia and if I make any mistake in my statement I am ready to be corrected. Mr. Speaker, isn't it a fact that the City and County of Philadelphia are co-extensive, the only one county in the State of Pennsylvania? Why is it that we have laws like that on our statute? Is it not a fact that the government of the City of Philadelphia is seeking control of the entire county? Should any section be built up, is it not a fact that the City of Philadelphia wants to control that built-up highway? Is that not one of the reasons why the City and County of Philadelphia are co-extensive? On the other hand, Mr. Speaker, if this here bill passes and the State of Pennsylvania will build one of these roads in the outlying districts as they are to-day, will it not be a hitch for the Philadelphia council? Will they not lose a part of their control and isn't it a fact that until one of these routes can be improved as such that along that road the city would build up, property would increase in value, houses would be put up, people would ask for improvements and would it not be a stake in the way of the Councils of the City of Philadelphia? Is it not a fact that under the Sproul bill, if such were the case, that one of these roads were improved, that you could not lay a water main without the consent of the State Highway Department? Can it be possible that the City of Philadelphia wants the State to improve any part of this highway in that outlying district to-day? Now that is the question in my mind that was thoroughly threshed out two years ago in the session of 1911 and the government of the City of Philadelphia is seeking to have control of the entire county so that in case of development they could improve the streets according to their own notions? I should like to have one of the gentlemen from the City of Philadelphia express himself on this point.

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, one of the gentlemen made a statement that if it could be proven to him that if this act was for the purpose of extending the highway out into this particular district he would vote for it. I want to say to the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Speaker, that this is only the enabling act to permit a state highway to come into the County of Philadelphia. I have already had reported to this House an extending of a route that comes to the county line in Montgomery County, to extend that route over one of the oldest roads in the City of Philadelphia, known as the Welsh Road and which would go right through this farming district into the city proper. Remember, gentlemen, this particular district is seventeen miles out of the center of Philadelphia county and if this act is passed it will enable me to extend the three roads ending right at the beginning of my district on the outside county and if this enabling act is passed, the bill that has been presented here this afternoon, reported favorably from the Committee on Roads, it extends one of these roads through this particular district to give the farmers an outlet. This is only fair and justice, from the gentleman from Delaware, and I know that probably he thinks that my county is probably not deserving of any money from the State Highwayq Department. Probably the gentleman from Delaware wants a little more to expend on the highways in his own county. I only noticed in the Sunday papers where two roads are going to start and extend routes into Delaware, two extra routes, to extend these routes, and probably he fears that this would take a little more from the State appropriation and that would stop the extension of those routes in his county. That is the gentleman from Delaware's objection, but I want to say to you gentlemen that if you want the fifty million dollar bond issue for Good Roads you must expect the vote of Philadelphia County. It is only fair and justice then, if you want to receive the support of Philadelphia County in passing this fifty million dollar bond issue, it is only far and just that you will permit me—

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, wait until I get through.

Extend that route to give Philadelphia County the proper opportunity to vote for the fifty million dollar bond issue. Why? Because she knows probably she might not get any of it. We are only asking in that whole county the extending of one route to get these farmers who are seventeen miles from the center of the city out on the highways of the city that she has improved already.

I have a letter where a property was recently sold in this particular district and I want the farmers to pay particular attention, because they think that the farming land in Philadelphia County is so valuable because the city is co-extensive with the county. This property contained about 20 acres and sold for only twenty-eight hundred dollars and was assessed for over three thousand dollars. It had an eight roomed house, a barn, corn crib, chicken coop, etc. The only thing against the property was the bad roads, it being impossible to bring more than half a load at the most to the market, and yet it was under the city limits. This is an excellent farming section and the farmers will appreciate anything you can do for them in regard to good roads. That is all we ask, and I think I have convinced my good friend from Crawford County, who said in his remarks that if this was the extending of a highway route, the purpose of it, that he would vote for the act, and I believe I have convinced my good friend from Crawford County that such is the case. I cannot get a State highway route except by means of an enabling act and the bill reported out from the Roads Committee this afternoon is for the purpose of extending the road in that particular district.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman where he gets his information that it is now proposed to bring additional roads into Delaware County.

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, out of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I want to say that the Philadelphia Inquirer is absolutely mistaken or else the gentleman from Philadelphia is. There is no such proposition, but along that line, I want to say that there is no county in the State of Pennsylvania that has as much improved road—I mean purely country districts—as there is in the County of Delaware. I think a few days ago my friend from Allegheny said their county had the most improved roads, but I am satisfied that Delaware has the largest amount and as to the so-called State aid on State highways, when they passed through Delaware County, you can take the mileage and almost one-half that was improved and went into the State roads.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. J. A. Dunn.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the remarks the gentleman made in relation to the House's position on this bill—is it correct that if the House does not pass this bill, that we cannot look for any vote in Philadelphia County favoring the bond issue of fifty million dollars?

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. No, I don't think that—that is not what I stated exactly, but I say you want to encourage Philadelphia County—

Mr. ALLEN. Well, that is boiling it down. Mr. Speaker, that is boiling it down. Is that what it means?

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, no, it don't mean that, because we are more reasonable down there than in some other counties.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman whether or not the vote which was cast on April 7th, 1913, and recorded on page 1525 of the Legislative Journal in passing the Good Roads measure on second reading rather than referring it back to the Roads Committee, was indicative of the feeling of the Philadelphia delegation and their constituents in this matter?

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, sometimes the Philadelphia delegation don't control the constituents in voting power.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether the delegation controls the constituents or not then?

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. No, Mr. Speaker, the constituents control the delegation.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The Chair declared the nays seem to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for, 44 voting in the affirmative and 63 in the negative and the bill was not agreed to on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1905 (Senate Bill No. 859), entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the tenth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven entitled "An Act authorizing banks chartered under the laws of Pennsylvania to pay interest upon demand deposits" by authorizing interest on time deposits

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Cheeseman,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1568, entitled:

An Act to provide for an additional law judge of the several courts of the eleventh judicial district

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1483, entitled:

An Act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employee in the course of employment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present for the purpose of preparing amendments.

Mr. ISLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1608, entitled:

An Act to protect attorneys and counsellors-at-law in their fees for legal services and providing for a lien thereof and the manner of enforcing the same

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McKAY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, this is practically the same bill that was defeated by the House a few weeks ago, and it seems to me that there is really no need for it. I have been a practicing lawyer for twenty years, and I have never had any trouble in collecting my fees if I earned them.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1417, as follows:

An Act requiring the heads of the Executive Department to issue quarterly reports and transmit the same to the Governor members of the General Assembly and others

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That hereafter it shall be the duty of the head or chief officer of each executive department of the Commonwealth to issue quarterly a full report to cover the preceding three months period of his official acts and the work and operation of his department together with a detailed statement of all receipts and expenditures of his department for such period

Section 2 Immediately after the publication of such a report the head or chief officer of the department issuing the same shal transmit one copy thereof to the Governor of the Commonwealth one to each member of the General Assembly

Section 3 Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to exempt or release any executive department or its head or chief officer from making any reports annual or otherwise which are now required by law

Section 4 This act shall take effect two months after the enactment thereof

Section 5 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. FOSTER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, the only think that is the matter with this bill is that the title is not correct. It should read "The Place Hunter's Bonanza."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—1.

Walsh,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1351, entitled:

An Act permitting boards of school directors to reimburse certain teachers taking a special course of instruction during the annual vacation

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, this is a meritorious bill in every way. I have been in touch with the most prominent educators of this State before I introduced this bill. There is absolutely nothing compulsory or mandatory about it, and I know that every member who is a true friend of the teacher can vote for this bill without any trouble whatever. I ask your support. The House is light tonight.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is, as the sponsor says, meritorious in a way, but is it not class legislation? Is it possible that all the teachers will attend school in the summer, or will it be that only some will take advantage and register in some school and spend the month, possibly at Atlantic City, and have a good time. Now, Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen, I am in favor of having the very best men in the school room and I am in favor of paying them. Change the bill and increase the pay and let those that feel like improving their education for school work go to school the whole summer. Let us pay them for the work they do and not try to give a certain class an additional month's pay at the expense of all the rest.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I call the gentleman's attention to the bill as t reads in lines 4 and 5. Section 2 in line 4 there is clearly a misprint. In line 4 with the part that has been stricken out and the part that has been injected, it certainly does not express what is intended to be expressed in the bill. "By a majority vote of its directors to agree to reimburse such teacher to and amount", should be "an amount"; "equal to the average monthly salary paid the teacher of the district in which said teacher is employed." I presume that they may mean a difference between the summer salary and the winter salary, and the average for the year is what is intended. But clearly in line 4 there is a misprint.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for the information. I had looked the bill over and it escaped my notice.

BILL POSTPONED.

I therefore move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1449, as follows:

An Act supplementing and amending an act entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven by providing when and how boards of school directors in districts of the first class shall act upon reports and recommendations of the boards of school visitors

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That an act entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto at the end thereof the following paragraph

Section 2825 The board of public education of school districts of the first class shall consider any and all recommendations made by any board of school visitors at the next regular meeting of the said board of education following the submission of such recommendation or recommendations and if at that meeting the board of education shall not favor the recommendation they shall immediately after said meeting notify the board of visitors making the recommendation of the action of the board and fix a time and place when and where the board of school visitors making such recommendation shall be fully heard by the said board of education at a regular meeting of said board of education not more than two months after the submission of said recommendation to the board of education by the said board of school visitors

Section 2 All acts and all parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—1.

Carson,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 375, entitled:

An Act to restrain and regulate the use of billiard tables pool tables and bagatelle boards or tables kept and maintained for the use of the general public for hire or reward in cities of the first class in this Commonwealth Providing for the granting of licenses and providing for punishments for the violations of the provisions of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, in the absenc of the sponsor of this bill I move that further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. JOHN ROBERT JONES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I might be wrong in my interpretation of this bill, but it seems to me that it is going a long ways—it takes a long stretch of imagination on my part to see why this Legislature as a legislative body of the Great Comomnwealth of Pennsylvania should do by act what should be done by ordinance in any city. If the power were given to a city to legislate in relation to this matter, it could legislate by ordinance in such way as it saw fit and would meet the approval of that city. To go into detail with a bill of as little importance as this, which would simply regulate one little business in a great city, it seems to me to be absurd. I am perfectly willing at any time, Mr. Speaker, to delegate legislative authority in cities of the first, second and third class, and boroughs over such matters as appear to me ought to be controlled by those legislative authorities and in cities of the first, second and third class and boroughs, I would say that the regulation of places of this kind is one of the things over which the local legislative authorities should have the right to legislate. I believe that an enabling act which would cover the purpose intended to be covered by this bill might appeal to the members of this House, but as one of the members of this House I would dislike very much, from the western end of the State and from the rural districts of that western end, to say how a billiard hall should be run in the City of Philadelphia. It is a matter that ought to be left to the legislative authorities of that city, guided by the best information that might be at hand from the Public Safety Department or such other Department as would have charge and direct supervision over a business of this character. I think for the members of this House to go on record and say how any business—I care not what it be—in the City of Philadelphia, should be regulated, is absurd. This would class pool rooms really as a greater evil than the saloon. The management of the saloon is left to the discretion of the license court, which lays down the rules in the various counties as to how they shall be regulated. Many other things are regulated in our own cities by ordinance or by act of council, and I feel that this bill ought not to pass in the form it is. I feel that it is not our province to legislate in these matters.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Mr. Speaker, this bill practically repeals Section seven of an act passed a couple years ago. It is an Act to give the Director of Public Safety of Philadelphia control over pool rooms. A great majority of them are nothing but rendezvous for thieves and other disreputable characters, I know this myself from a personal investigation. It is a great source of harm as they are now conducted. There are some respectable pool rooms and bagatelle rooms, but the majority of them are rendezvous for gangs of thieves and those of disreputable character, and it is the purpose of the Director of Public Safety to have supervision over them and see who gets the license and that the right people and respectable people get them. I know myself there are boys who play truant from the schools and are enticed into these pool rooms by the keepers thereof. It is simply to give the Department of Public Safety control over the morals of the pool room.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, the regulation provided in this bill places merely the control of the situation in the hands of the Department of Public Safety. There is no attempt to regulate, so far as the details and conduct of the business is concerned at all. It merely provides for the issuance of a license to provide that the Director of Public Safety can cancel licenses and can close up pool rooms, and I know I have heard from the Director of Public Safety myself that these pool rooms offer one of the greatest sources of evil and menaces to the public that exists in the City of Philadelphia, and I see no objection to giving him the right as this bill does, to issue licenses and to revoke licenses.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

House Bill No. 580.

An amendment to an act entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the better government of cities of the first class in this Commonwealth' approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five creating a department of wharves docks and ferries (for the improvement regulation and supervision of the construction extension alteration maintenance and use of wharves piers bulkheads docks slips basins ferries harbors and harbor structures in cities of the first class and providing for the making and enforcement of rules and regulations and fixing certain penalties for violation thereof and providing for the acquisition of property by said cities by purchase and by condemnation for certain purposes) approved the eighth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven as amended by an act entitled "An Act to amend the fifteenth section of an act approved the eighth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven entitled 'A supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the better goverment of cities of the first class in this Commonwealth' approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five creating a department of wharves docks and ferries (for the improvement regulations and supervision of the construction extension alteration maintenance and use of wharves piers bulkheads docks slips basins ferries harbors and harbor structures in cities of the first class and) providing for the making and enforcement of rules and regulations and fixing certain penalties for violation thereof and providing for the acquisition of property by said cities by purchase and by condemnation for certain purposes' by fixing the number of the jury at three" approved the twenty-seventh day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven

With information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Strike out the words "A supplement" at beginning of title.

Section 1, page 4, line 47, after the word "withheld" insert "Provided that necessary repairs costing one hundred dollars or less and not affecting the stability or strength of the structure may be made without first procuring a license or permit"

Section 3, page 9, line 103, after the word "cities" insert "In the event that the property condemned appropriated and taken under the provisions of this section shall constitute a part of a plant used as an entirety the damage to the owner or tenant shall be assessed by taking the difference in market value of such plant as a whole including the buildings machinery fixtures other equipment installed and used in said plant before and after such condemnation appropriation and taking and notwithstanding that parts of the said plant may be separated by a street or public highway"

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House nonconcur in the amendments made by the Senate, because I think the title as amended by the Senate is in rather poor shape.

Mr. CONNER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. LETZKUS. I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to and (at 10:45 P. M.) the House adjourned until to-morrow morning at ten o'clock.

Session 1913 — 120th of the General Assembly

VOL. 2. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MAY 7, 1913. No. 62.

SENATE.

WEDNESDAY, May 7, 1913.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John M. Reynolds) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James, offered the following prayer:

"What is man, that Thou art mindful of him, or the son of man that Thou visitest him." We come together at this time, O Lord, invoking Thy richest blessing. Be Thou our guide throughout this day, and as we read in Thy Word, Thou art our keeper, even the keeper of Israel, so protect and guide us throughout another day of labor. Be Thou a shade upon our right hand, so that the sun shall not smight us by day or the moon by night. "The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil, He shall preserve thy soul; the Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in, from this time forth and even forever more." Hear us in this our morning prayer, we ask it in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. McILHENNY, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PETITIONS.

FAVORING MONUMENT TO MOLLY PITCHER.

Mr. DAIX presented petitions of Greble Council, No. 1, D. of L., Malta Council, No. 36, D. of L., and Silver Crescent Council, No. 3, D. of L., favoring the passage of a bill to erect a monument to Molly Pitcher.

Which were referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

FAVORING THE ERECTION OF MEMORIAL TO THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND THE FOUNDERS THEREOF.

Mr. DAIX presented petitions of Greble Council, No. 1, D. of L., Malta Council, No. 36, D. of L., Silver Crescent Council, No. 3, D. of L., and Bellevue Council, No. 148, D. of L., favoring the passage of bill providing for the erection of a memorial to the public schools and the founders thereof.

Which were referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 444, entitled:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act to regulate the nomination and election of public officers requiring certain expenses incident thereto to be paid by the several counties and punishing certain offenses in regard to such elections" approved the tenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three by changing the form of the ballot the method of distributing the ballots to the electors the method of voting and the method of couning the votes

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I would like to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that this is one of the bills which has been considered for the last four years by a commission appointed by the Governor for the purpose of codifying and suggesting election laws and amendments thereto, and it is, I think, due to those gentlemen who represent not only Republicans but Democrats and Independents with the idea that whatever was reported from that commission would be matters that would be fair and just to all political parties, I think it is due to their integrity and honesty in the preparation of these bills that this Senate at least should give consideration to those bills as reported. Those bills have been in the House for over three months, and it was reported at a meeting yesterday have not, except in one particular instance, received any consideration whatever at the hands of the Elections Committee of the House. But, instead, they have sent over here bills prepared by individuals for the purpose of codifying and correcting election laws. I think when we get an intelligent expression from the gentlemen who constituted that commission, that it behooves the gentlemen of this Senate to give the same careful consideration to these election bills, and I trust that the Senate will pass these bills.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, this is a bill which provides for the envelope system of voting. I do not wish to stand before the Senate here to-day to say anything disrespectful of the commission who drafted this bill. The commission who drafted this bill are all able men, but in my estimation they have brought a bill here which I cannot support. I do not favor the bill as it is drawn up, for the reason as stated that it provides for the envelope system of voting, and there are other provisions of the bill I do not favor. Therefore, I am opposed to the bill.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I just want to say a word about this bill. This is only one of the bills which this same commission has sent in to the Senate, and notwithstanding the remarks of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol, I do not believe that commission reflects the sentiment of the Democratic party or of the Independent party. They were both represented on the commission, but they were both in the minority, and neither do I believe that the report of the commission represents the sentiment of the people of Pennsylvania. I think that this is going backward about three decades in elections of Pennsylvania, and turns from a system which is not any too good to the system of the so-called vest-pocket voting. This bill would permit a voter to go to the polls or voting place and take out a ballot and go to his home or elsewhere to mark it and come back to the voting place and deposit his ballot. I do not know anything that is so retrogressive as this bill, and I do not think this Senate should give much consideration, with all due respect to the commission, to this kind of legislation.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, every time that we have passed a vital change to the ballot laws, it has taken the people a good long while to get accustomed to them, because they are complicated at their best. It seems to me that the right way to get at proper legislation is not by making violent changes, even though it is better, but gradually improving our present system. I think every time we find a weakness, or something that is not perfectly fair or simple as it could be made, it should be corrected, and we should accustom the people gradually to small changes, so that in time we may have a perfect system. These commissioners are very fine men and I am sure that they brought in a bill which they thought was the very best, but in my judgment, having been interested in elections for a good while and having been at the polls a good many years, I have found it difficult, particularly to independent voters, that when they have to learn a new system, and if they are discouraged by the difficulties of it, it has a tendency to keep them away from the polls, and my reason for opposing this bill is not because it is not a good measure, but because it is too much to expect of the people that they should learn a new system of voting every few years. And if we are going to make any changes, let us make them gradually.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I agree with the remarks of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McIlhenny, as to the constant interference in the changing of the election laws, but there has been so much said in the past four years as to the rights of certain classes of citizens to assistance at the polls, and this matter has been so thoroughly discussed notwithstanding what the Senator from Monroe has stated as to this being a step backward, I think that these bills are entitled to consideration at the hands of this Senate. So far as the ballot law is concerned I agree with the Senator that the people will accustom themselves to conditions, but there are certain elements in this Commonwealth that will require, no matter what the ballot law is, aid and assistance at elections. Now for the purpose of overcoming that condition I think that a man could be permitted to take his ballot home and I do not believe that citizens of Pennsylvania are in such a condition mentally that they are going to be molested or cajoled into permitting their ballots to be interfered with and taken around by other people, but if they are permitted to take their ballots to their own homes, even though they are not able to dissect that ballot for the purpose of voting, they have children, most of them, and children that are attending our schools that we are so amply providing for, to give them assistance in their own homestead, and I think it is a step in the direction of taking care of the people who do require assistance. In my own judgment I think the present method of voting will largely be subscribed to by the population, and there will only be a small unit of the voting people that will adapt themselves to this new condition, and I think, in view of the time consumed by these gentlemen, because they are men of reputation in the State, and as to minority reports there has been one filed by Mr. Freeman, that we as the gentlemen who gave them the commisison to furnish us with intelligent information, should at least recognize that information by passing that bill.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I simply want to add one more word. This Senate Bill 444, if it should pass will do away with Section 26 of the Baker Ballot Law, which is the clause in the Baker Ballot Law whereby voters are allowed to receive assitsance. If this bill should pass, this much talked about assistance clause will be disposed of. There are in addition to this particular bill a number of other election bills which the Election Committee has reported out of Committee. Some of these bills, in many places, I am not in accord with, and I am of the opinion that they are probably not the best kind of laws for the present time, but yet I feel that if the Senate would pass these bills as presented here and they were sent over to the House that the Election Committee of the Senate and Election Committee of the House could then get together and possibly frame a set of laws that would be satisfactory to all the people or all the parties in interest. We have now over here many of the bills and still more coming from the House, and are now in the Election Committee of the Senate. If our bills could be passed here, some of them and go over to the Election Committee of the House, and then the two Committees get together, I feel that we could get some sort of laws passed that might meet with the approval of nearly all the people, and so far as one or two of these bills are concerned, I want to say here, one or two of our Senate bills, I am not in accord with them, but I should like to see some of these bills pass, and to see if the Committees could not get together and frame some kind of Election laws that would meet with the approval of the people.

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, with all due deference to the able gentlemen on this commission, who have presented these bills to us, I believe that this is a step backward. It has been only a few years since we had the open ballot and every one could take his ballot and go and fix it up and vote it. We have been trying to get away from that and I am utterly opposed to any system whatever that will allow the voter to take the ballot away from the polls. I gives the greatest privilege and greatest opportunity to the boss of a section or a factory to get his men to go and get their ballots, bring them to him and he can mark them and the men can take them back and put them in the envelope and vote them. That is the greatest objection and with all due respect to the gentlemen, I hope that it will be defeated by this Senate. We are certainly entitled to have an expression of what we think of them, and I hope that expression will be the defeat of this bill, for it is certainly a step backward and not forward.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I just want to say one more word. In this particular bill, the ballot taken home is not the official ballot. After taking the ballot home and bringing it back, he gets his envelope and the envelope the official envelope. The ballot he gets can only be used after he gets the envelope at the polls.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I don't think there ought to be any misapprehension about what this bill is. He does receive the official ballot. I do not think, speaking to the members who may not have read this bill, that we ought to be indispute about that. He takes that ballot out and it is the same ballot that he afterwards deposits in the box. It does not matter whether he takes out the envelopes or not. He does receive that after he comes back, but the ballot is the same ballot which he first received from the election board. Furthermore, I do not think it is a proper way to get together to have this Senate this great, dignified, courteous body of Pennsylvania, to pass these bills out of courtesy to a Commission when we feel that they would not be propery representing us, or that they are not proper bills to send over to the House, or to a conference committee. I do not think that is a proper way to do it, and let us vote it down.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, we are passing bills here at every session of the Legislature, and I have been present for the last eight years, just on the recommendation of commissions of a similar nature on matters that pertained to legislation affecting the industries of this Commonwealth. In reply to the Senator from Warren, Mr. Knapp, in regard to the question of the boss of the employer taking the ballot and compelling the man to submit to his dictation, I want to say to him, as far as the knowledge we have in Philadelphia is concerned, and I think throughout the State of Pennsylvania as represented at the last November election, the man who is the employee, the working-man, is the man who takes his ballot and votes as he pleases, and I do not think there is a county of this State that can bring cases of where the employee has been subjected to the dictation of the employer. If that is the case, it is something we have not been able to find out.

Mr. SHEATZ. Mr. President, these bills were drafted by this election commission, all well-known men, respected in the various communities of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I had the honor of introducing all of these bills into the Senate, and I want to say at this time that I believe in most of them but not in all of them. The bill under consideration at this time is one of those I do not feel I can reconcile myself in voting for. Some of the other bills I believe are the bills which should be enacted at this session of the Legislature, but in order that these bills may have full consideration, I move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Elections for further consideration.

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I just want to say as the Chairman of the Committee on Elections that we have been threshing these bills out for the past two or three months, and it would almost be a physical impossibility for the Elections Committee to add to or to detract from this bill as it is now upon the Calendar, and I think that the Senate should pass favorably upon the bill or reject it, because it would only be a waste of time and an absolute impossibility upon the part of the Committee. I do not know how the other members of the Committee feel, but I think that it would be absolutely useless for us to consume any more time upon this bill, unless the Senator from Philadelphia has a suggestion that he thinks will be of some importance or an improvement to the bill.

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, I am thoroughly in accord with the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol, on this point. I think this matter ought to be settled now.

Mr. SHEATZ. Mr. President, I withdraw the motion.

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President, I agree to the withdrawal of the motion.

And the question recurring,

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH TO CORRECT THE SPELLING OF THE NAME OF WILLIAM J. LEAHY, WHO WAS COMMISSIONED SECOND LIEUTENANT IN AN ORGANIZATION KNOWN AS INDEPENDENT COMPANY SHARPSHOOTERS, AND WHICH WAS SUBSEQUENTLY MADE COMPANY C SECOND REGIMENT UNITED STATES SHARPSHOOTERS.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a concurrent resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. ALEXANDER offered a concurrent resolution, which was twice read as follows:

Whereas, On the fifteenth day of August, one thousand eight hundred sixty-two a commission as Second Lieutenant of Independent Company Pennsylvania Sharpshooters (Berdean's Company C) was issued to William J. Leahy; and

Whereas, Through a clerical error in the wording of the commission the name was spelled "William J. Sealy;" and

Whereas, It is eminently proper and a matter of justice that the name should be corrected to conform to the real facts; therefore

Be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Secretary of the Commonwealth is hereby authorized and directed upon the submission to him of proofs showing the above facts to correct upon the records in his office the mistake made in issuing a commission to William J. Leahy, wherein said commission was issued to "William J. Sealy," as Second Lieutenant of Independent Company Pennsylvania Sharpshooters (Berdean's Company C), under date of August fifteenth, one thousand eight hundred sixty-two which said organization subsequently became Company C Second Regiment United States Sharpshooters

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39 be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

Mr. ENDSLEY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED FOR THE PRESENT.

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of Senate Bill No. 838 (House Bill No. 409), on third reading postponed for the present, entitled:

An Act providing for the establishment and maintenance of boards of health in boroughs and townships of the first class and defining their powers and duties providing for the appointment of members of such boards of health by the borough councils or by the chairman of the board of commissioners of such townships providing for the election of a secretary and a health officer providing that the Commissioner of Health may take charge of the administration of health laws in any borough or township of the first class when conditions therein in his opinion constitute a menace to the lives or health of the people living outside the corporate limits of such borough or township of the first class or when it may be known to him that such borough or township of the first class is without an existing or efficient board of health and providing the manner in which the expenses of boards of health or of the Commissioner of Health incurred in administering health laws in any borough or township of the first class shall be paid

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 838 (House No. 409), entitled:

An Act providing for the establishment and maintenance of boards of health in boroughs and townships of the first class and defining their powers and duties providing for the appointment of members of such boards of health by the borough councils or by the chairman of the board of commissioners of such townships providing for the election of a secretary and a health officer providing that the Commissioner of Health may take charge of the administration of health laws in any borough or township of the first class when conditions therein in his opinion constitute a menace to the lives or health of the people living outside the corporate limits of such borough or township of the first class or when it may be known to him that such borough or township of the first class is without an existing or efficient board of health and providing the manner in which the expenses of boards of health or of the Commissioner of Health incurred in administering health laws in any borough or township of the first class shall be paid

be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1139 (House Bill No. 1419), entitled:

An Act to provide for the erection of public comfort stations in certain cities and boroughs of this Commonwealth and empowering the Commissioner of Health of the Commonwealth in certain cases to let contracts for the erection of such stations at the cost of such cities and boroughs

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, this Act by its terms provides that every municipality of the Commonwealth having a population in excess of twelve thousand people must build public comfort stations. During the earlier part of the session, I introduced and there was passed by the Senate a bill authorizing boroughs and cities of the third class to build public comfort stations. It seems to me, in the light of the times we are now in, when every municipality is overburdened by reason of being taxed up to its borrowing capacity that we should not make any mandatory provisions upon the several municipalities to build public comfort stations. It seems to me that we have gone far enough to give the various municipalities the authority if they want to exercise it. I think for this reason the Senate should vote down this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED FOR THE PRESENT.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate resume the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1140 (House Bill No. 938), on final passage postponed for the present, entitled:

To amend section eight of an act entitled "An Act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixtures thereof" approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven as amended by section one of an act approved the ninth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1140 (House Bill No. 938), entitled:

To amend section eight of an act entitled "An Act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixtures thereof" approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven as amended by section one of an act approved the ninth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, from the title of this bill it would seem that the bill provides for a change in the liquor laws—the Brooks high license law. That is not the case. This just changes the route which the money will take. It takes three per cent. of the license fees which go to the Treasurer of Philadelphia, and turns it over to the Police Pension Fund, for the benefit of their widows and orphans. It does not affect the high license law in any other way.

It just takes three per cent. and turns it over to the Police Pension Fund for beneficial results. In the boroughs it goes to the maintenance and upkeep of the roads.

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, my understanding is that it does change the amount of the license fee.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, no change in the license, no change in the liquor laws.

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, it does in townships.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, if the country members have discovered that there is any change in the amount of license fees, I do not think that it is the purpose of the Senator from Philadelphia that any such considition shall exist and if it shall be so pointed out that the law has been changed in that respect, I do not think he would insist on the bill being considered at this time.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, the only objection I have about this bill is the fact that it does make a reduction of twenty-five dollars in the licenses in townships.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, I ask this bill go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1151, entitled:

An Act prescribing the time and manner of submitting to the people for their approval and ratification or rejection a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I would like to state that this bill simply provides for the holding of the election on the fifty million dollar bond issue at the next general election. That is the amendment spoken of in this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1167, entitled:

An Act to prohibit any person from being a candidate for the same office as the nominee of more than one political party on the official ballot at any election to prohibit the county commissioners of any county from printing or causing to be printed the name of any such person as a candidate for the same office by more than one political party to prohibit election officers from receiving counting or returning any such ballot at any election upon which appears the name of any person as a candidate for the same office as the nominee of more than one political party and to declare all such ballots void and excepting from the provisions of the act candidates for judges and associate judges of the supreme superior common pleas and orphans court of such other courts of record as are now or hereafter may be established under the laws of this Commonwealth

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 895 (House Bill No. 195), on second reading, entitled:

An Act declaring buildings and parts of buildings used for purposes of fornication lewdness assignation and prostitution to be nuisances providing a method of abating same establishing a method of procedure against those who use said buildings or parts for such purposes and providing penalties for violation of this act be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion .

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I am somewhat interested in this bill, having been given in my charge by the introducer, and the bill was reported from one committee and at the invitation and suggestion of numerous members of this Senate I consented that it be referred to the Committee on Judiciary General. The Committee on Judiciary General had this bill in charge for a period of two weeks and went over it very carefully and eliminated what they considered was objectionable in the bill and put it out in the calendar. Now I do not see the necessity for sending the bill back to the Committee on Judiciary Special, neither do I see the necessity of referring the bill to any committee. If the members of the Senate feel that they cannot support it, vote against it. but I do not believe it will do any good to refer it to committee, therefore I hope the Senate will not vote for this motion.

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. President. I thought that this bill had been committed to the Committee on Judiciary Special. Now I move to amend my motion and refer it to the Committee on Judiciary General where it had been before, because I have been asked to say that certain parties desire a hearing. That is my only purpose in making the motion.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the amendment.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, in answer to the request for a hearing, we have given ample notice to all parties we thought would be concerned in the bill, for it or against it. Now it is a bill which has been before this body several times and everybody had ample opportunity to look into the merits of the measure and I think this is a late day now to ask for another hearing.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion as amended?

It was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, May 7th, 1913.

The House met at 10.00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, we thank Thee on this fresh, invigorating morning, that the withering heat of the past few days has ceased to oppress us, so that we are in condition to do our work. Our hearts go out to Thee in loving adoration and grateful praise. We have lain down to sleep and have walked because Thou hast sustained us. Now we enter upon this new day in the enjoyment of that vigor and healthfulness which we owe to the same kind Providence which has guarded us during our sleep. We render to Thee our thanks, and we ask that we may not be content with this verbal expression of our heart's gratitude, but that we may try to utter it throughout the whole day in earnest living and in faithful service. We may not do large things for Thee, but let us faithfully do the little things; let us at least smile and be cheerful; let us speak the kindly word and offer the helping hand as opportunity occurs. Let us remember Him who went about doing good, and so let it be our desire to live that we shall approve ourselves unto Thee and accomplish something in the way of making this world better, and Thy name shall have the praise of it forever. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when on motion of Mr. Aron, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and considering of H. R. bill No. 1605, entitled:

An Act relating to townships of the second class

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I would like the sponsor of this bill to give some explanation of the need of it.

Mr. REESER. Mr. Speaker, this is intended to remedy a wrong which has existed in counties and townships of the second class for a long time. Under existing laws the public highway must lead from one highway and intersect with another. Under conditions in Pennsylvania, on account of our hills and mountains, it is almost impossible to lay highways from one highway to intersect with another without injuring a great many people. Now, even though a road runs from one to five miles back towards a mountain these are considered private roads, and the people who live along them will have to maintain them under our present laws, and have always done it. They have to maintain them themselves and still pay their road tax to be used on other public highways. Now, this is an act which will allow or permit the supervisors to maintain those highways or partly maintain them. The people petitioning for those roads are to keep up at their own expense the bridges and culverts. The bill reads that they may, on petition of twelve electors and tax payers, make these said roads public highways. I think it is no more than fair. A man who owns one hundred acres of well improved land must improve his own roads and then pay his road tax to help maintain the other public highways. I think it is nothing more than fair.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, the sponsor of this bill, I really think, has a want in his section of the Commonwealth for some roads, but this bill asks for the township to improve private roads, and we must not forget we are opening a large gate. There are miles and miles of private roads in the Commonwealth that do not connect with public highways on both ends, but he says supervisors may, on the petition of twelve citizens, improve these private roads. Now, the bill does not specify who these twelve may be. They may be some parties that drive along my private road to my farm. They may petition to have the road improved. I do not want it improved, nothing of the kind. There may be twelve citizens petitioning because some butcher driving along the road may want it and the township may come in and improve my private road, when I don't want it improved at all. I may change it; it is on my own property, and I do not want it. Now, that is one side of this matter. On the other hand, some fellow has a private road and he may want it for some industrial reason, and he may have twelve friends to petition to the supervisors, as they will not have to raise their own capital to improve their road for a business purpose. Now, if there are roads in the mountainous districts, as the sponsor of the bill says, as the law today is, public highways must meet, the two ends must reach some public highway. In the maintains the roads cannot intersect at both ends. Why not have the bill read, and change the public highway act, that a public highway may be established with but one terminus on the public highway. But if we pass this bill we open a large gate. I am going to vote against this bill, and if the members of the House will consider the bill carefully, we will not be putting on the statute books legislation of this kind.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, there are many reasons that could be explained before this House why this bill should not pass. The present law gives power to establish roads that I believe should not be changed by this House at this time. The law provides at the present time for a petition to go before the court and the court to appoint viewers to overlook the respective places where roads are asked for. Now if you pass this law that Mr. Reeser asks you to pass it will open up rural districts probably in some cases where there is a house away back a mile or two or three or four miles—a man may live back there and may not have more than three or four acres of land. It will cost hundreds of dollars to build a road to that particular place and supervisors are like other men, they are always the right men in the right place, and they may lean towards this particular man or place and involve the township in an expense of hundreds of dollars—I may say thousands of dollars, in a few years. I hope the House will look at this bill as a dangerous proposition and vote it down.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield (Mr. McDermott.)

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield permit himself to be interrogated

Mr. McDERMOTT. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Clearfield if he thinks it is fair for farmers who live on these side or private roads to pay taxes equal to the men on the State Highway and still have to maintain their own roads

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman ought to be in his seat when he interrogates.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman does not have to answer my question if he does not want to.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, what is the question.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman if he thought it was fair for the people who live on these side roads to pay their taxes to the township and then after doing that, have to work their own roads?

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, we cannot all live in one place.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we ought to have equal rights and be treated alike any way.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, we might be born equal, but that is the only time I think we are equal.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to discuss this question. I want simply to call attention to one particular part of this bill and that is that twelve men can bring about this change. That number is entirely too small. If the number were larger I think I could conscientiously support this bill, but I cannot because it calls for but twelve men who could bring about such a change as this, and I trust the House will vote against it for that reason.

Mr. REESER. Mr. Speaker, this bill asks only that these roads be improved where there are at least 20 acres of improved land, with houses barns and other outbuildings.

In answer to the gentleman that just spoke, I want to say that these petitioners shall be residents of this township and tax payers and electors. Now do you believe that twelve tax payers and electors, in a certain township, and especially a township of the second class, would be foolish enough to improve a road that would be no benefit to any one, and not only that, but is it fair for instance, where roads that have been traveled for a number of years and people settled in away from the public highway—it was not their fault they settled there on those side roads—and are paying heavy taxes to maintain the other main roads. They cannot get out of that and still have to maintain their own private roads out of their own pocket. It is not a fair shake. There are hundreds of miles of that kind of road in the State and they are only in small pieces of one, two or three miles. We do not expect to improve lanes, etc. It is not the intention of the bill. They only need to do it —the Act says they may. That makes fifteen, three supervisors and twelve petitioners, who are asking for this, and I think that you would get fifteen men of good judgment in townships of the second class and I hope this bill will be supported because it is a fair square deal.

Mr. HOBBS. Mr. Speaker, it appears to me that there is considerable merit in this bill for the reason that farmers located away from the public highways, which were established perhaps many years ago, are deprived of the privilege of travelng from their home out to the public way on roads constructed by public expense; and these roads leading into this property are not absolutely private roads because the public many times—travelers who have business travel over these roads in going to these places on business. Therefore they are not exclusively used by the individual who owns the property but largely used by people who are not owners of the property and inasmuch as they are to be laid out and constructed by the individual and that culverts and bridges are excepted, I see no reason why, upon the petition of twelve electors who must be taxpayers in order to be electors, that the road supervisors of this State may not help keep these roads in repair.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was not agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and considerating of House Bill No. 1932, entitled:

A Joint Resolution providing for a Commission to investigate the traffic in women and girls in Pennsylvania for immoral purposes prescribing the powers and duties of the Commission and making an appropriation therefor

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1915, entitled:

An Act to repeal an act approved the twenty-eighth day of March one thousand eight hundred seventy entitled "An Act extending to Crawford county an act to enlarge the jurisdiction of justices of the peace in the county of Erie

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GODD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE.

Mr. McALLISTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 375, file folio 6619, entitled:

An Act to restrain and regulate the use of billiard tables pool tables and bagatelle boards or tables kept and maintained for the use of the general public for hire or reward in cities of the first clas in this Commonwealth Providing for the granting of licenses and providing for punishments for the violations of the provisions of this act was defeated on final passage be reconsidered.

Mr. STRAUSS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, for the same reason that last night I raised my voice against this legislature taking action on this bill, I now raise my voice against the reconsideration of that vote, and that reason was simply this: that this is a bill which relates solely to Philadelphia and can be regulated by that city, to wit, by the councils of Philadelphia, and has no place in the consideration of this body. It ought not to take up the time, or be considered by the body. Having been defeated once I think it ought to remain defeated.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Mr. Speaker, this bill is to give the Public Safety Department of Philadelphia control over the pool tables and billiard tables and such other amusements. We have several thousand of these rooms in Philadelphia, and two-thirds of them are of a disreputable nature, especially the tables. One came under my notice since the House has been in session this last winter where I saw women, colored and white, and white and colored men, playing pool and saw them dancing in a pool room. Also boys twelve and thirteen years of age are enticed into these places to play pool in opposition to the law. The Department of Public Safety has no jurisdiction over them whatever, and the idea is to give the Police Department the supervision to the extent that they may detrmine through an investigation of the moral character and conditions surrounding the place, who may have licenses to conduct these places. This does not interfere with the conducting of the places. Under this bill, every man who has a pool room which is run in a respectable manner can conduct it according to his own ideas, but he must have a license, which is not now provided for. This is simply to give the Department of Public Safety control over the pool rooms where there is no such a delinquency.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Chair declared that the "noes" seemed to have it.

Whereupon,

A division was called for, and fifty-three gentlemen voting in the affirmative and sixty-seven in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1785, entitled:

An Act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to this bill.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The SPEAKER. The hour of eleven thirty having arrived, the Chair lays before the House the Special Order which was fixed yesterday for House Bill No. 228, file folio 7125.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 228, entitled:

An Act to improve and regulate the Civil Service of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to regulate the conduct of the employes therein and providing penalties for any violation thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is intended to create a new system in our state government and necessarily is of some length. Boiled down it means the substitution of the merit for the spoils system. What is known as civil service or the merit system as now in force in our Federal and many State and city governments is too well understood by you all for me to go into any lengthy explanation of its workings, so I will confine myself in my remarks to a discussion of the question only in a general way. I take this opportunity to congratulate the members of the opposite side of the chamber in representing as they do a party that had the courage to declare for civil service in its state platform one year ago, and to express my regret over the failure of the Republican and Washington parties to make a similar declaration in their state platforms. Several times during this session I have with pleasure listened to the eloquent words of the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Swift and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott, in their appeals for support to measures which to their minds embodied real progressive ideas representative of the sentiment of the day on political and moral questions and I appeal to them to raise their voices at this time in favor of this the one real progressive measure of the session. One year ago we were assured by our party leaders, both from the platform and through the press, and repeated many times since that the day of political bosses and party machines in Pennsylvania was ended. If those who were predicting this change in the affairs of our State government from a rule by party machines to a rule by the people were sincere in their declarations then their influence to that end should be manifest in the vote on the measure now under consideration, for such a condition, even though so much to be desired, can be brought about in but one way and that by eliminating patronage the one asset on which political machines are built, which this bill is intended to do. The legislature as you well know creates the subordinate positions, fixes the salaries and can say how they are to be filled; they belong to the people and are to be administered in their interest and not in the interest of the party in power, and this can be done only by removing all political consideration in filling them. In this day when the sentiment is so strong for popular government, when the demand for the elimination of party machines and bosses is unlimited, there should be no hesitation on the part of this legislature to pass a law of the character of the one now under consideration. The introduction of the merit system places the department positions within the reach of ambitious young men, making it an incentive to fit themselves by education and training for public offices. With such a law on our statute books they would understand that individual merit and not political pull opened the way for them to thus serve the people. Free public competition and practical examinations are among the thoughts of this bill.

No legislation of this session is to be compared to this measure in its importance to the people of our state, that is to those to whom political activity on the part of government employes is offensive. I firmly believe that every department and bureau head in our State government would welcome a law that would relieve them of the annoyance of distributing the patronage or spoils of office. Just as certain as the shades of evening are to come over us this day just so certain is the day drawing near when the merit system will prevail not only in the affairs of our national government but in every state and local government of our country. If you are of the belief that a person appointed to office through your personal influence is your political servant and not the servant of the people, for no man can serve two masters, then vote against this bill, but if you believe in releasing them from political bondage that they may be free to be their own political masters and free to give their whole time to their public duties then vote for it.

The only sentiment for the repeal of the civil service laws in the States having the merit system, Ohio, Illinois. Massachusetts, New York and others comes from those who desire to have teh employes more active in pushing along the interests not of the people, but of party machines. Words of commendation have come to me from every part of our State for this measure in urging its passage. Look at your city and rural mail carriers, your postoffice and postal clerks and other Federal employes who are under civil service. Would you have them taken from the merit system and again made a part of the spoils system as in former years? If so, then you are not progressive but reactionary in your political views. No party in any State with a civil service law or in the country at large would dare to place a plank in its platform calling for its repeal.

Members of this body and the press of the State are daily charging first one and then another of our State departments as being run in the interest of certain political leaders and machines, and these charges will continue to be repeated without correcting these conditions unless a civil service law is first enacted, for it is a fact, and you can't get away from it, that the party in power in Pennsylvania, be it the Washington, Democratic or Republican party, if it has the patronage of the State at its disposal, will continue to give us machine rule. I have no criticism to make of the members who believe that the o'd Jacksonian doctrine, to the victor belongs the spoils, should be the party doctrine of to-day, and who believes that parties exist solely because of the patronage at their disposal, if they vote against this measure, but for the members who are constantly advocating better political conditions in our State to vote "no" will cause the public to doubt the sincerity of their declarations on the subject.

Political machines are not perpetuated alone by the personal magnetism of a leader or the issues he advocates, but rather by the patronage or spoils of office at his disposal and which alone creates party machines and makes party bosses. You will recall that a former President of the United States appointed an uplift commission to investigate the conditions of the people of this country with a view of recommendng laws that would be helpful to them. We are in need of an uplift commission in Pennsylvania at this time of which every patriotic citizen should be a member that we may through their united efforts elevate our citizenship and politics to a higher standard, and no one thing would contribute as much to that end as the introduction of the merit system into our State government.

In this, the year 1913, when the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg is to be celebrated, the battle that determined the downfall of the Confederacy and insured the emancipation of the slaves by the immortal Lincoln, is a fitting time for the Legislature of Pennsylvania to wipe out its system of political slavery resulting from the spoils system and to the end that we may emancipate the employes of our State departments from such serfdom, I urge the passage of this, the most progressive measure of this memorable session. There is no chance for you to evade the question this bill raises. It is either the spoils or merit system, a rule by party machines or the people. If you believe in the former, vote against the bill; but if in the latter, vote for it. Be brave and register by your vote your convictions on the measure that it may be announced to your constituents through the press of tomorrow.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, I crave the time of the House just for a few moments to endorse what the gentleman from Tioga County has so plainly illustrated and explained to this House. I rise just to add my approval to the very clear description and clear elucidation of the situation before the people of Pennsylvania to-day. I know the personal reputation and political reputation of the gentleman from Tioga, and I know that he has risen here from any political motive that he has nor risen here as one seeking political preferment, but rather as one whose position has been thrust upon him, and I wi'l say to the members of this House that after the admonitions we have had in our State, the representatives of this Commonwealth sitting here to-day should pause and give serious thought to this situation. We well know, gentlemen, what has been the condition in our State for the last twenty-five years or more. We well know what result that spoils system has brought unto the Commonwealth. We well know that through the political spoils system we have elevated representatives of the people to this House and Senate and to the different departments of the State, that brought about a disgrace to the name of the fair old Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Why, gentlemen of the House, I have blushed when I was in other States when I was introduced and said that I was from Pennsylvania. The first thing I usually heard was that it was one of the most corrupt States in the Union. And, gentlemen, the spoils system was the cause of the condition of affairs in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and answerable for our Capitol steal and misrepresentation both in the House and Senate of this State and in the Congress of the United States. There has been a great deal of talk in regard to reformatory measures, and a great many of the members of this House have sincere'y advocated them, but I am sorry to say that some of them are simply in their probationary State in their reference to bring about a better condition of affairs in our Commonwealth. The results of the spoils system, I can say, in my end of the State, and in my own county, have been to place men in positions that they could not have filled for one week, by reason of their ability as hustlers at the polls, and usually for a good round consideration. They have been given positions in which they had to have a deputy to take charge of their office. Gentlemen, of all the progressive measures that have been offered in this House, there is not one which is of so much importance. It is the secret and the very original way by which we can bring about a better condition of affairs. If you are going to elevate men by reason of their political pull, regardless of ability or fitness for the office and regardless of their integrity, it is not any wonder that we have had the admonition from the people of this Commonwealth that we have had. I represent a county that gave a majority for Fremont in 1856. It was the only Republican County in all the surroundings. Every county surrounding it and touching or bordering on my county gave a Democratic majority of from 400 to 2,500, but Indiana has stood a Republican county all these years, and has never fai'ed to give a majority in all the great upheavals that we have had. What was the result at the last Presidential election? We have been in the habit of stumping our county in the Presidential campaigns and in fact in all of the campaigns. At the last election we had only two political meetings in our county, one a Progressive meeting and one a Democratic meeting, and as a result of what we may call the spoils system in my county, as a result of the unlimited use of money, and as a result of unfairness in elections, Indiana County give six hundred votes more than they gave to Wilson and Taft combined. Now that was the objective result of the very things that my friend from Tioga has explained to you so clearly. Now, I have been an independent for the last fifteen or twenty years, and it amuses me sometimes to come in here as a representative of two or three different parties, because I had no opposition at this time, and listen to some of the doctrines that I have listened to in this House. I have become impatient with the resolutions and the time that has been occupied by this House in measures and in the supporpt of bills regulating the individual conduct of people, and regulating the heads of departments, and regulating everything. This bill means more than all the resolutions and all the good bills that have been offered in this House because it starts right at the root of the evil, and I hope that you will give this bill your unanimous support. It will demonstrate to the people at home that we are honestly in favor of striking out the evil and be really Progressive.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Tioga permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I may be misinformed as to this bill, but I am under the impression that when it first came in it included the county officers. Am I correct in that?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is correct.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to vote against this bill, and I will tell the House why. The bill will probably pass, and I don't want people to be mistaken about my reasons for voting against it, and my reasons will show on the record, and can be examined. I am a believer in Civil Service in so far that as a matter of practice it shows that it is an improvement. In our National Government, we are all in favor of Civil Service because the scope is so large and the duties are so various that it would be a backward step to take it away from those great departments where it requires a great training for one business and management to intedlock with another. But I am perfectly frank to say to the House that I do not believe that we are in any better condition than we wou'd be if we had continued the old appointing power. I want to tell the House what occurred under my observation. When the great administration of this Government was turned over after the first election of Grover Cleveland as President of the United States. In the City of Philadelphia a man by the name of Harrity was appointed as Postmaster of Philadelphia. There was no Civil Service regulating the Postal Department, and he being a man who had been only a professional man in life, and not knowing the importance of having employes skilled in their work, naturally concluded that the proper thing to do was to put all these men out and put in Democrats. He started in to do this, and inside of thirty days, when he had removed less than one-half, the City of Philadelphia was up in arms. Why? Because it disturbed a great piece of machinery that meant inefficiency and the public were not getting their mail, and the business houses were from five to six days late. Mr. Harrity never made a change afterwards, proving conclusively that the men whom the people have entrusted with these powers, when they see that a removal means an interference with the working of the Department have not followed the so-called spoils system. In other words, I believe that the men who are entrusted with the political positions in the State of Pennsylvania and in this great Government of ours, would have as well safeguarded the public if no Civil Service law were ever passed. The Civil Service law means this: A man going into office will go in for life, and we will have to use the pension system to get rid of him. Where is the necessity? It is all right to talk about the evil practice of the old so-called spoils system by picking out here and there as you can in every large business some inefficient men, but there is a very small per cent. of them. I have seen the man who went up and down the State of Pennsylvania talking about the employes being held when they were efficient, and talking about how he stood for that system. I saw him elected State Treasurer of the State of Pennsylvania, and I saw every single employe in the State Treasurer's Department put out of office. This is not a nice thing to talk about, but I mentioned it merely to show what the man did. He did that and has the State of Pennsylvania suffered over it. I have heard no cry over it. The reason I asked my friend who introduced this bill—and towards whom I have the highest regard—the question why the counties were cut out of this bill, was because if we had civil service throughout the State offices, why were not the boroughs placed in the bill, and the townships, and the smallest sub-divisions of this political structure?

Why? Because it was not necessary. It was a matter that would be so apparent to anybody in this House that it was not necessary to even debate the bill. But when he presented to us a question as a State proposition, it takes a wider range. We are not all thoroughly acquainted with how the different departments of the State are managed by those performing the duties of those departments. One man may draw heavily upon his imagination and think it is very inefficient; and another man will draw upon his imagination just as hard and think that it is far better than any that has ever existed, and may draw further upon his imagination to such an extent that he will think it is perfection. My personal acquaintance with the employes in going around the different departments of this Capitol building, and I believe the gentleman who introduced this bill will corroborate me in my observation, is that the class of men that are performing the duties at present are as efficient as any that would be appointed under Civil Service, in the different departments of this State, I say I can see no chance or opportunity for complaint. I hear no man say that he thinks that the work in the different departments is not done efficiently. I hear no charge from the different departments, that the employes are not doing their work as well as can be expected. That is the real question for each member of this House . The subject is whether the various departments of the State would be better administered under different rules or the question is, or the charge may be made that they are not well administered by the various officials in this State and if that is the charge and it is verified, then of course I shou'd vote for this bill, because there would be an evil, if that did exist, it should be corrected. After the experience in the long years that have passed we can still point to the various departments and say that the work is being done by capable men who are now filling these positions. Has any one made an investigation to see whether there is a necessity for this act or has this bill been suggested without deep thought? In dealing with the question from a practical standpoint, has the sponsor of this bill simply allowed his mind to carry him away with the theory so that he himself will have to admit that it is impractical? When you bring it down to a minor position, the idea that the public men have an interest as a rule, on this point, is a mistaken idea. Public men don't want to perform these particular duties. They, in other words, would rather escape the responsibility, but when I have in my community a man who has labored for me, some of them have certainly done so because he thinks I am worthy of the position I aspire to, and is it not proper that I should in turn do something for them when they come to me and ask for a position? Why, if there is anything in manhood that is admired, it is gratitude and a desire to pay back to those who have labored for you at least some compensation. As the result of that in the State of Pennsylvania and as the result of it in the various departments, being manned by a set of men who are performing those duties who are incompetent. I don't think a man on the floor of this House will get up and say that I am not right. See how small the number practically is and then stop to think what we are going to do? We are going to e'ect a Governor; we have confidence in him and we place in his hands power to appoint three men who, are to fill all the positions in this State. Why should we forfeit that power? Is not the power of that character safer in the hands of the Senate and the House of Representatives, and why should the various public officials of this State be taken from the established appointing power? Is it not safer in the hands of those who now handle it than in the hands of three men and if it is not, then our form of government is wrong. The proposition to fill different positions in the Capitol of our State is a simple one and has worked out so well that there is no real demand for a change. I want to tell you that to my mind I really think that outside of its application, which is made on what we call civil service, in small or large affairs, after all it don't accomplish anything but what has been and can be accomplished otherwise. It has not accomplished anything but what would have been accomplished in the regular way. What man of you will admit that he will go to a department and point out a man that is absolutely incompetent? If there is a single man here who would ask for the appointing of such a man; if there is one man who believes that he would do a thing like that; if there is a single one, I will vote for this bill. If the whole two hundred and seven men in this House having the full knowledge of the individual would ask for the appointment of a man whom they think is not competent. It is a simple proposition. What advantage can any civil service commission have over the knowledge that you have? It is a sort of a civil service examination proposition with questions which a boy fresh from school, from college, can best answer. That is what is meant by a civil service examination. To my mind that stands about fourth in the necessary qualifications to fill a position. I have seen men who have followed their trade for a lifetime and they are very poor mechanics, and I have seen men who learned a trade and who would be much more competent in a very short time, who might not be able to answer these questions.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware, whether he ever saw a civil service examination or was present at a civil service examination and whether he ever went over any of the questions asked in a civil service examination and whether he does not know that as high as seventy-five per cent. of those who take that examination pass them, and if he does not know these things, why should he express his opinion on the matter of civil service examinations as he does?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, the civil service commission sits and takes evidence. Now I know the men who come forward to testify and a man that is examined will very quickly see what he has to contend with. He will say "I was in this business ten years." Then you bring the man before the civil service commission and if it does not consider him very efficent, he will bring the man in and ask him questions, then he will bring another man and he says to him, "I know you are a good man and you are with me," and there is your prejudiced jury. But when I come up here and recommend to any one of the members here any of my friends or come up here and recommend a man who no doubt has influence, personal or politcial—yes, sure I will not recommend a man who does not belong to my political party, until all the positions are filled and there are no more requests. I want to say to the gentleman who represents that side of this proposition, it has not been long since I saw how certain individuals sent letters up and down this State and they wanted the Legislature to come here and pledge themselves in a body not to go into a caucus in a star chamber meeting and immediately the Legislature took up with a Committee on Committees a sort of a civil service and the main object was to keep the Legislature untrammeled, with nobody to meet down town in a hotel or anywhere else, but let them come each one, unbiased, and I was one of the gentlemen who didn't go into a caucus and I really thought that they meant what they said, but I discovered on the very day that this Legislature met that I was up against stacked cards and all the members of this House know it. All the members of this House know that in a certain hotel somewhere along between twelve and three o'clock in the morning, there was a regular star chamber arrangement and we came into the House and discovered that there was a thorough understanding; I discovered it with the rest. Of course, this is entirely out of order. I only want to illustrate the insincerity of some men that go out and talk so much about these matters. I don't want to take any more of the time of the House. There is no necessity for this bill so far as the employes of the Capitol of the State of Pennsylvania are concerned. There is no necessity for it in the various county appointments. There is no necessity for it in the various boroughs and the various township affairs. Results show that there is no necessity for it and I am not in favor of giving life tenure to any one in office. Not long ago a friend of mine was in England and he was talking to an Englishman and, "By the way," said the American to the Englishman, "you have that splendid civil service method in England?" "Yes," he said. "But, strange to say, nobody but rich men's sons are able to pass this civil service examination." That is what you find to-day in the civil service examinations as it is applied, for some reason or other, all the cousins and aunts and uncles and relatives of the commission somehow or other pass high, and in England to-day hold all the offices.

Mr. McCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. McCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman is it not a fact that the appointments of a civil service commission are as a rule subject to a point of law?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, in what respect?

Mr. McCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, in respect to their duties.

Mr. HUMES in the Chair.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I assume any three men appointed on the Civil Service Commission in the State of Pennsylvania would be holding under the laws of the State, and would have no more than the appointing power.

Mr. McCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman and ask him, whether under the civil service plan there is anything to prevent appointments being made in the interest of the party in power?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I certainly would say that merit counts. The percentage gained by the men in the examination governs their every appointment. What we are trying to do is to get away from political pull and adopt the merit system.

Mr. McCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, under the civil service plan, as it is worked out in the City of Philadelphia, and in other states throughout our nation, we find, as a rule, that the civil service commission are subject to the appointing power and as it amounts to the same practice as the plan of appointing now under our old conditions in the State, when that commission is servile to the appointing power. For that reason, I cannot see any advantage for the change of method at this time and I am opposed to this civil service bill.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill ought to prevail. The whole trend of legislation of not only this but of previous sessions, although not in as great a degree has been to clean up party politics. In 1906, the Legislature in extra session passed the civil service commission bill of Philadelphia County, and at the same time passed the bill known as the Shern bill, which prevented those holding office from taking an active part in politics. That legislation is of great importance and benefit to parties. Under the old system, Mr. Speaker, it would be impossible for the Republican Party to hold, as it does to-day, its power in Philadelphia. Under the old system of patronage prior to 1906, the election of an adverse administration would mean the overthrow of the party that had been in power, and the giving of the power to the party represented by the administration. The present administration in Philadelphia is a reform administration, and the present political power in Philadelphia is the Republican Party. It would be impossible for that party to remain in power was it not that the present administration is held in check by a rigid civil service and a rigid enforcement of the Shern Law. Why, with the great number of office holders in power, the administration could turn that great force and crush down any party. Mr. Speaker, in 1905, we had a demonstration of it. We, as a party were then in control, under the leadership of as astute a politician as ever stood at the head of a party, Israel W. Durham, and when the administration turned away from his leadership and drove its horde of office-holders against the political power, within a few months we went down, in November 1905, from a party of great power to defeat. And then, when in 1906 the civil service and the Shern Bill were passed that same party, came back to power. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the best party measures that we could possibly vote for in this House. They speak, Mr. Speaker, of patronage as being a benefit to a party. When I listened to the gentleman from Delaware speaking of twenty years ago, I thought that he had not come abreast of the times. He forgets that while patronage in one phase is a help to the party leader, that patronage becomes a very great burden in another aspect of it. We in party politics in the past depended upon patronage entirely, and we found it to be a weak basis to stand upon, and we have been coming step by step from the old principle of "To the victor belongs the spoils" to a stronger and more powerful basis by not depending alone upon the skeleton work of the party machine, but by rather bringing the whole party in and making them part in all party affairs. Mr. Speaker, this is only a part of the legislation that this present legislation is passing for the purpose of cleaning up politics. If the legislation that has been advocated this session becomes law, we will go from this building at the end of this session to a position in our party that we can consider to be a great credit. We will eliminate to a very great extent the fraud in politics. We will eliminate to a very great extent corporation influences in politics. We have already by the vote of this Legislature and other legislatures throughout this country eliminated one of the greatest evils of legislatures, the election of the United States Senators by the vote of the two bodies of the Legislature. That will to a great extent eliminate an influence from the Legislature that ought to be eliminated. The passing of the strict corrupt practices act will to a great extent remove from this Legislature the influence of the corporations. Now, let us then pass some bills, one of which is this bill, for the purpose of eliminating improper influences from party matters and instead, Mr. Speaker, of our catering to a few party workers let us make the whole membership of our party part of our working machine, and then we do indeed become a powerful party in this Commonwealth. Mr. Speaker, if this bill prevails, it means this: That there will be eliminated from state offies the patronage system, which means that the Governor of the State and his various chiefs of cabinet and those who are heads of different bureaus and department beneath them will be freed from the influences. They will be freed from the influence that holds them in check. They will have the right to allow their own minds to prevail, and that is what ought to be. If we pass this bill and at the same time, before this session is over, pass a bill that takes from the Legislatures and the Governor the power of fixing appropriations for various charities, we will allow the next Governor who comes to Pennsylvania to be freed from every baneful political influence and allow him to prevail before the people as a strong, individual power, and that is what ought to be.

Mr. Speaker, any member of this House who claims affiliations to a party, especially who claims affiliations to the Republican Party, and stands on the floor and fights this bill as being an enemy to his party, does a great harm. He is fighting a bill that will give his party great strength.

Mr. J. A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I do not expect to make much of an impression upon your minds after the able argument offered by my learned friend from Philadelphia in favor of this bill as he sees it. This bill is a very important bill, because it proposes a State-wide civil service in the State of Pennsylvania. It covers every institution that this State is interested in, and therefore, my friends, it is a very imporant bill to every memebr of this House. I am hoping that by the resolution which passed this House by a unanimous vote some weeks ago, we would have the pleasure of investigating the workings of this law in the City of Philadelphia first and bringing that investigation to the members of this House so that they might study it and compare the workings of this law as it is done at the present time, and then you could vote inteligently on this bill in a manner that would satisfy every body, but unfortunately the resolution lies over in the "dead-house" and probably we will never see it resurrected. But, Mr. Speaker, the intent of the Civil Service laws are to establish a system whereby a person might qualify by practical, fair and honestly conducted examinations for any position in the municipal government in cities of the first class. That is, they are to be conducted so that every applicant to be examined would be so examined in the various questions, reasonable and practical, that would give all classes an equal chance. The commissioners now appointed to carry out the provisions of this act in the City of Philadelphia have prepared various questions for examination, but they have prepared them with the thought that theoretical questions, are more important in the examination than practical questins, and thus it prevents practical men from passing and permits theoretical men to occupy positions, to which practical men are unable to pass. A young man graduating from a high school, I will agree, can pass almost any theoretical examination, which a practical man, perhaps with ten years' experience, cannot pass. But when a man is wanted by any man for working where practical experience is needed, a business man would not put a theoretical man on the work when he could obtain a man with fifteen or twenty years of practical experience.

Professor. G. W. Caldwell, in the Popular Monthly,—you have had attorneys to speak to you on this bill and you paid strict attention to them. I am trying to offer an argument for the common people. Certainly, in the position that I stand, I am unable to meet an argument prepared by a learned attorney-at-law. All that we ask is a fair chance by giving us a little attention. Professor G. W. Caldwell, in the Popular Science Monthly, a short time ago, said this: "For twelve years approximately but twelve per cent. of the inrollment of the High Schools has been graduated, regardless of the increases in facilities and of an increase in the number of pupils and of an assumed increase in the relative efficiency of this teaching force, and regardless of the increased public belief in secondary education there has been no increase in twenty years in the percentage of high school pupils that take a full high school course. The fact that they begin the work indicates clearly that some one in control regards it as worth while, for some reason, for these pupils to engage upon the work of the secondary schools, through they may at the outset expect to do but one or a few years of the work. But the fact that approximately 88 per cent. do not complete a course indicates that most of these who thought it worth while to enter the High School, for some or many reasons, do not find it possible or perhaps not worth while to follow out the course, even if at the outset they intend doing so."

What does this mean? It means that 88 per cent. of the school children are compelled to leave school before they reach the graduating class of the High School. Why? For various reasons, but the majority because their parents cannot afford to send their children to school after they reach the age of fourteen or sixteen years and are often compelled to put them to work to help to support the family, and thus the civil service law, as it is worked under the present commissioners, deprives 88 per cent. of our children from accepting the opportunities offered under said law, by preparing the questions for the examinations so that only graduates of the high schools and universities can successfully pass. Further, the intent of the Civil Service law, as we all supposed, was to protect a faithful, honest and capable employee from being removed, and if after long years of service he had proven himself worthy of promotion, the opportunity being offered according to the merit system, he would be the one to receive the reward.

But even under the working of the present commissioner this impression of working of the law as we see it is fulfilled. Employees who have worked for years in the various departments have been discharged and men of no experience have taken their place. Employees who have sought promotion after years of practical experience has been turned down and even demoted and graduates of High Schools or Universities have been appointed to take charge over men, when they did not have the least practical experience about the work and therefore the purpose of the laws as intended in regards to protection to an employee, a promotion under the merit system and a fair and impartial examination or in other words a square deal, to all has not been fulfilled and under such condition the working of the laws, I believe, should be investigated so as to inform us whether it needs improving, extending or repealing.

Let me illustrate to you some of the cases that happened in Philadelphia under the present civil service law. I live in the district where the great filtration beds are located and where hundreds of city employees are employed. Every one of these gentlemen have passed the civil service examination and have been passed on the list and were promoted.

Harry Blessing, appointed September 23, 1901. He took several examinations for Assistant Chief Engineer and passed the last one second or third on the list and with over eleven years of practical experience he was not appointed and a graduate from the University of Pennsylvania was appointed to the position without any practical experience whatever.

Jack Gakeler, appointed a laborer August 21, 1896, took an examination as oiler, passed No. 2. Twelve oilers were appointed off the list and Mr. Gakeler was left out.

Samuel Logan, appointed April, 1907, a per diem man, acting clerk or timekeeper, at $2.50 per day. He was discharged for no cause whatever, always done what he was told to do, not a complaint against him, but a young graduate who passed the civil service examination was appointed as a clerk to take his place, at $3.00 per day, served fifteen days and the time sheet was so mixed up that he was discharged and as his place, not being filled, it was necessary to obtain a temporary clerk and a coal passer was requested to take the position temporarily and after three days the coal passer had straightened out the middled time books and for the past six weeks there has not been a complaint while the coal passer has been acting clerk.

About 150 laborers, firemen and mechanics who passed the civil service have been removed from the Ladner pumping station alone; all honest working men, some have been employed in the department for over eighteen years and for no other reason than political activity, which happened before the present administration went into office.

In the early part of January of last year 150 men were removed from the beds, cutting down the force at least one third. They had all passed the civil service examination for laborer. Then there was about 100 that had passed and they came up there with white shirts and neckties, clerks, thinking they would get a good political job. The work that they were to do was to go down into the beds and scrape off the refuse and up to their heads wade in the water and remove the dirty sand and muck and pump it out and put in clean and they were getting two dollars a day. When the clerks looked down into the beds and saw what was to be their work, they took the first train away and then they had to get a contractor with 200 or more Italian laborers to do the work and the contractor paid the laborers $1.50 a day when he was drawing $2.00 a day from the City. I do not complain that this reduction was for the purpose of cutting down expenses. No, I do not complain for the present administration that this was the purpose; but listen to this when these poor laboring men were deliberately removed from their positions, one-third of them, they made the other two-thirds do all the work and what did they do then? Listen to the increase of salaries after that. We have here the mayor's private secretary. Previous to this he was getting $3,000.00 a year and he thought he had a good job. When the new man was appointed and the old man removed they increased the salary out of the money taken from these poor laborers and they increased it to $6,000.00 a year, double the salary in the reform administration. I want to give you furthermore the other increases and new jobs that were made after laboring men were removed who were doing good hard honest work, and that money was saved by cutting down the force of laboring men and increasing these offices by the reform administration inside of six months, and these men removed were all civil service employees. Here is the list of new positions and increases:

The Bullitt Bill provides as follows:

"No person shall hold more than one office of profit in any city department and no person shall hold any office of profit under the city or any department thereof while holding any other official or representative position of profit in or under the Government of the United States of this Commonwealth or such city except in the militia service of this Commonwealth"

The Board of Examination has in its employ as teachers the following persons who are also employed as extra examiners by the Civil Service Commission, in violation of the above provision of the Bullitt Bill:

Thomas Moore, James H. Moffett and Emery B. Zeigler. Moffett lives in Armore, Ziegler in Conshohocken.

They have been employed by the Civil Service Commission for a year or more.

There are fewer applicants now than in the same period during the year 1911, when the Commission had but fourteen persons in its clerical and examining force. They now have about thirty.

Now my friends when we want practical men they exempt them. When they find that the theoretical men that they get to pass the examination fail to do the practical work then they want the practical men exempted. When the Director of the Public Wharves Norris wants practical men he asks the Civil Service Commission to exempt a certain class, that is in regard to getting men on the dreges in the Delaware river. That is manual labor, practical work and you cannot get a college graduate to take a job like that and the men who are doing the work were unable to pass the examination and the Director therefore asked the Civil Service Commissioner that these men be exempted.

Furthermore, only recently in the case of Mr. William F. Gleason, Secretary of the Comprehensive Plans Committee, the point was brought out that there was a vast difference between the various marking of Doctor Brumbaugh and Kelsey, the latter in a number of cases being known to have given better grades than Doctor Brumbaugh. Important points were brought out. One is that where an applicant makes an average of 69-5-10, the commission gives that person the benefit of the doubt and makes it 70. It was also brought out that the Civil Service Commissioners had conferred with Director Cooke on the requirement for the position of a Secretary. Mr. Gleason's contention was that instead of being marked 70 he should have had an average of 88—4-10.

Furthermore, I want to submit the case of another man by the name of John S. Macauley, 5237 Catharine street. This man passed twenty examinations under the Civil Service Commission of Philadelphia and six or seven of them were number one and every one of them was above the average of seventy, required and that man has not received one consideration from the Civil Service Commission of Philadelphia. Note the injustice of the case. I have a list of the cards here with the examination averages on them and anybody who doubts my word in regard to them can come here and I will show them the cards. One time he received a card to come down to the City Hall where he was referred to a Mr. Carlin and he was asked whether he was a stenographer and a typewriter and he said he was and they put him to a desk and he wrote five or six letters in eight minutes. I don't know whether that is a good record. The result was, that was all he heard about it. Think of the injustice of the Civil Service, where a man passes twenty examinations for a clerkship, typewriter, bookkeeper and all kinds of examinations and receives an average over ninety-nine, five or six of number one on the list and not one opportunity did he have to accept a position. That is the test in regard to that part of it.

Here is a test of a laboring man: While I was in the City Hall a few weeks ago a laboring man came down stairs and he said, "My God I wouldn't go through that examination under any consideration." He was asked what was the matter and he said they asked him whether he wanted a laborer's position and when he said he did they told him to go into a room and take off his clothes where there were two or three others where he was compelled to go through a medical examination and they bent him into all kinds of shapes and they laid him down and stretched every muscle. The laboring men get $1.50 per day and they make them take a bag of sand, weighing a hundred pounds or more and make them carry it back and forward. Think of a man forty or fifty years of age being put through such a test.

Many a man who applied for a dollar and a half laboring position, was compelled to take a bag of sand weighing about a hundred pounds, and the man sometimes would be from forty-five to fifty years of age, and he would have to put it on his shoulder and walk up and down the room, while the commission examined every muscle in his body. Not only that, I have here the impression of his finger print. I do not know whether they expected him to steal the shovel, when he was working for a dollar and a half or two dollars a day, but I show you here his finger prints, although I don't know why they were taken. After he had passed the examination they said to him, "Now you have passed this examination, what kind of a position do you want?" He said, "Any kind of a laboring job." They said,

"Will you go down into the meadows in the lower end of the city and dig ditches?" Think of a man of his age digging ditches after passing this examination, and after the commissioners had examined his muscles. Think of having to pass that examination to dig ditches. And this was supposed to be a political job. We can get all the foreigners for a dollar and a half a day to do that work, and the majority of them even refuse to do it. That is the conduct of the Civil Service Commission in Philadelphia. Not only that,—His Honor Rudolph Blankenburg,—and I have the highest regard for him and I don't want you to think that I am opposing the administration, in the course of what I am saying. I paid the highest price I ever paid, and more than I could afford to pay—five dollars, to go to a banquet not long after he was elected, and heard him say that no man would be removed from service, who conducted his work properly, and that he would not take the bread and butter away from any man's wife and family; he said no man would be removed while he was in office. Further than that he said that no old soldier, a veteran of the Civil War would be removed from office, and if such should be the case that he hoped his right arm would drop off. I have a list here of over fifty old soldiers who have been removed. I say to you gentlemen, I have here a list of fifty who have been removed since the present administration went into power. That is the injustice of the Civil Service law in the City of Philadelphia, and it might be extended to the State of Pennsylvania. In rememberance of these old soldiers, I ask you gentlemen, notwithstanding the arguments of our learned friend as to the provisions of this bill, I ask you in the name of these veterans not to extend the law to the State of Pennsylvania and have the same conditions exist as exist in the City of Philadelphia. Some of our learned brothers will tell you that Mayor Blankenburg did not know that these soldiers were removed. He did. I have a letter here, and I want you to listen to this letter. It reads as follows:

Philadelphia, July 12th, 1912.

Hon. Rudolph Blankenburg,
Mayor of Philadelphia,
City Hall.

Dear Sir:—I feel it my duty to direct your attention to the work injustice and favoritism recently practiced by the Civil Service Commission in the examination for Office Manager and Chief Clerk, whereby Mr. William J. Cooley was defrauded of his standing as Number 1 on the eligible list, and another person, not a resident of Philadelphia, was given the position.

The schedule which announced this examination stated that "applicants must be residents of Philadelphia," and the Commission set back the date which had been tentatively agreed upon in order to allow Mr. Herbert N. Mitchell, who resides in Riverton, N. J., a chance to establish a "bluff" residence in this City.

Mr. Mitchell was then employed by the U. S. Civil Service Commission. The local commission engaged Mr. Doyle of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, mind you one of Mitchell's employers, you might say, to prepare the questions and conduct the examination.

The examination covered four branches, viz:

Experience.
Knowledge of C. S. A.
Practical Questions.
(Business Ability)
Oral Test.

The oral test held on a Tuesday before a Board consisting of Mr. Doyle of the U. S. C. S. Commission, Mr. Hanson, of the Board, and Mr. Godwin, of the U. S. C. S. Reform Association.

All the applicants who had successfully passed the first part of the examination were required to appear on this day. But Mr. Mitchell came in the Saturday previous, and the Commissioners informed me that he was to be given his oral test on this Saturday, before one of the members of the examination board, because he could not come in on the day set for the other applicants. When he came in the following Tuesday before the full Board of Examiners, primed and ready for the questions which they would propound, as he had already heard them the previous Saturday. Mitchell was given 92 for the Oral Test; Mr. Cooley received but 84.

I do not mean to insinuate that all of the members of this examining board were corrupted, but one of them surely was.

When the result of the combined examination was made known to the Commission, Mr. Cooley stood No. 1 in spite of fact that Mr. Mitchell had been given much higher marks than he for business experience and for the Oral Test, the two branches entirely at the discretion of the examining board.

The Commission then deliberatly rubbed out the mark given Mitchell for experience, 94.8 and changed it to 95, in order to put him ahead of Cooley, and thus have some sort of excuse for appointing a non-resident, because he had apparently demonstrated his superior fitness.

I would not bother you at this time, were it not for the fact that Mr. Mitchell's period of probation will expire on the 24th inst. and he can be quietly dropped at this time, and thus a public scandal, involving the Commission, will be avoided, as I feel so strongly on this subject that I will certainly bring legal proceedings if something is not done.

Yours respectfully,

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ALLEN. My point of order is this: that I believe the gentleman is not in order as to his remarks; that the remarks to which he has confined himself applies solely to the City of Philadelphia, and are solely a propose to the conditions in the City of Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order of the gentleman from Allegheny is not well taken, and the gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, my purpose is to show the workings of the law. I have been trying to get this information by resolution and am trying to give it to you now so that you may vote intelligently on the law whether you vote for it or against it. This letter was sent to the Mayor complaining of the charges and the violation and the fixing of the examination papers but no reply whatever was received, and say His Honor, the Mayor, knew these things and conditions, and knew of the violations when they held back the examinations to enable a non-resident of Philadelphia to take the examinations for a position, and be given the position, instead of a resident of that town. Not only that, my friends, but a reform Councilman, in the City of Philadelphia, when a bill was represented asking for an additional $4500.00 for clerk hire, for the Civil Service Commission, the Reform Councilman of that city opposed the increases for the payment of school teachers who were members of the Examining Board of the Civil Service, and who also received a salary from the City of Philadelphia. The reform Councilman at that time opposed this measure and the bill was knocked out. I want to show you the Civil Service Appropriation under the so-called "Gang Rule" or Republican rule. In 1910 for salaries and official expenses the appropriation was $32,390.00 and for supplies, $1500.00. In 1911—

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, when I get through I will answer all questions.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I again rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is this; that there is nothing before this House to indicate that the same plan of Civil Service is in operation in the City of Philadelphia as is provided for in this bill. If the plans be distinctive plans, then the gentleman's remarks are out of order because they simply apply to the City of Philadelphia. If, however, the plans are similar, the remarks are in order, and I ask for a ruling on my point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will confine himself to the bill.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I insist upon a ruling upon my point of order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order of the gentleman from Allegheny is well taken, as the bill in question does describe a similar system as that of Philadelphia. The gentleman from Philadelphia will confine himself to the bill.

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, my only purpose was to try and enlighten the members. This system that is now in use in Philadelphia might be extended throughout the State. We have in Philadelphia other departments not under Civil Service, and there is no complaint about them. In the State Departments they are running at the present time, and have been for years without civil service, and I have failed to find any fault with any employee of the State whereby he is doing wrong, or not a man qualified to do the work simply because he has not passed the Civil Service Examination. Recently, in the Auditor General's Report,—and there is not civil service in that office, and yet, in the yeas that he has been in that office, he has collected for the State over $25,000,000.00 more than his predecessors, and yet there has been no complaint. Why should we then change the present system, when there is no fault found. Why should we extend this law over the State of Pennsylvania today when there is no fault found with any employees in any of the State Departments. Shall we change the law for the purpose of pleasing some few people who form the Civil Service Commission and who advance this measure? They are not so big as they seem. The Civil Service Association is composed only of a President and a Secretary and Treasurer, and they have letterheads with a heading printed on it , "Civil Service Reform Association," but there are only three of them. The impression has been created that this is a very powerful organization. The only purpose of the law is to attack some good honest law, and put a good honest servant out of office because he has failed to pass this examination. Mr. Speaker, I have just been advised that the State of Illinois is repealing the Civil Service Law now in existence in that State, because they considered it a failure. I ask the members of this House not to put on the books a law that will prohibit the poor man and the laboring class and the men not able to hold these positions that they have to pass the examinations, that will compel them to pass these examinations. I trust, gentlemen, that you will defeat this bill.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following gentlemen: Messrs. O'Neil, Ramsey, Heyburn, Conner, Conrade, Lowers, Moses, Moulthrop, Matt, Cochran, William Blair, Fahey, Herman, George A. Baldwin, McCaig, Frank Gray, Frey, Horace B. Dunn, Swift, Stone, Bass, Murphy, and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

It was agreed to.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to be recorded as voting "Aye."

Mr. O'NEILL. Mr. Speaker, I object. The gentleman was out of the Hall.

The SPEAKER. Was the gentleman in the Hall when the roll was called?

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker; no, sir.

The SPEAKER. The objection is sustained.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Alworth is recorded as voting—he was not in the room.

Mr. ALWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I was in the room and voted.

On the question recurring,

Shal the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken,

The roll was verified as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I have been informed that Mr. Keegan and Mr. Goss, who are recorded as voting in the affirmative were not in the room when the roll was called.

Mr. KEEGAN. Mr. Speaker, I was in the room and answered to my name.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman responded to his name.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman responded to his name.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Goss was at his desk: I heard him.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, the gentlemen may have heard some one but he didn't see him, and I challenge Mr. Goss's vote.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman responded.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I challenge that vote. There is no proof positive that Mr. Goss was on the floor.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, any gentleman seeking to challenge a vote has his method by which to do it.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, when a challenge is made as to the voting of a member, evidence must be produced in the affirmative, proving that the member was here and that the member voted in his proper name.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the roll has been verified, and the challenge should have been made when the name was anounced. The challenge is too late.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I challenged that vote before the anuoncement of the result.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the challenge is not in order for the reason that the challenge should be made at the time the name was announced as having voted either for or against.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, insofar as the challenge made by me affects the result, I think it should receive respectful attention.

Mr. R. J. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask you to rule on my point of order. The Chair has announced the decision. There must be something of finality in parliamentary procedure. I therefore ask for a decision on my point of order.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I insist on the position that I am taking.

The SPEAKER. Rule 65 provides as follows:

"After the completion of a roll call, any member of the House may demand a verification of the roll, by the Clerk, and if the vote or votes of members recorded as voting shall be challenged, in writing, by any member, and the votes so challenged would change the result, the announcement of the vote shall be postponed until the Speaker shall have investigated the allegations made, when the roll call shall be corrected, if necessary, and the true result shall be announced by the Speaker."

Under that rule the Chair withdraws its decisions as to the final passage of the bill, to give an opportunity for the gentleman to put his challenge in writing, if the gentleman so desires.

The challenge having been made that the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Goss, was not in the House when the vote was taken the announcement of the result will be withheld until the challenge is investigated.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. The hour of 1 o'clock having arrived, the House will take a recess until 3 o'clock P. M.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 3:00 o'clock P. M.

Mr. HUMES in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. In compliance with rule 65 the Chair has investigated the challenge filed against the vote of the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Goss, on House Bill No. 228, and finds that the gentleman was present and voting and voted in the affirmative. The Challenge is therefore not sustained. On the final passage of the bill the yeas are 104 and the nays 58.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I think the House is sufficiently interested in this bill to have the gentleman come before the House and make that statement.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol, and the House, the Chair would state that he has had a personal interview with the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Goss, and Mr. Goss declares that he was present and voted in the affirmative and three members of the House who were present with the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Goss, at the time, have verified the statement as made by the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Goss. The gentleman was leaving when he was interviewed by the Chair with reference to this matter and he is not in the City at this moment.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, while my disposition is not to quesion the statement that you make, yet I feel that the question is of sufficient importance to have an investigation made in a regular way, and I believe that the Chair will agree with me that his information did not come in the regular manner, and for that resason I think that my position maintained here is the proper one, that the gentleman should come before the body proper and make the statement, not in some foreign place.

The SPEAKER. Under the rule referred to the Chair has made the investigation called for by the rule. The rule directs that the investigation be made by the Chair. The Chair has made that investigation in accordance with the directions of the rules of this House. and the investigation having been made and the result of the investigation reported to the House, there nothing remains but to complete the action upon the bill.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I submit that if you made an investigation it should have been made in the proper way before this House, and I submit if the people interested in this bill want to pass it in a questionable manner, I have no objection, but in order to prove clearly the truth of the assertion made by me or its falsity, I think it is necessary to have the gentleman appear before the House as we are the people before whom the investigation should have been made. As I understand it you meet hi min some out of the way place and when you spoke to him in reference to the matter he did not know whether you were in jest or earnest. Is that not the fact?

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman desires to interrogate the Chair, he will leave the Chair and take the floor for that purpose.

Mr. REUBEN HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I sit over by the side of Mr. Goss and I heard him vote "aye."

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, why should we want to surround this question with doubt, when you refuse to allow the gentleman to come before the House and make that statement.

The SPEAKER. There is no doubt in the mind of the Chair. The investigation has been made in accordance with the rules of the House and the Chair is willing to take the responsibility for the investigation that has been made.

The result of the vote is yeas 104, nays 58. The majority required by the constitution having voted in the affirmative the bill passes and the Clerk will present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, May 7, 1913.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH TO CORRECT THE SPELLING OF THE NAME OF WILLIAM J. LEAHY, WHO WAS COMMISSIONED SECOND LIEUTENANT IN AN ORGANIZATION KNOWN AS INDEPENDENT COMPANY SHARPSHOOTERS, AND WHICH WAS SUBSEQUENTLY MADE COMPANY C SECOND REGIMENT UNITED STATES SHARPSHOOTERS.

Whereas, On the fifteenth day of August, one thousand eight hundred sixty-two a commission as Second Lieutenant of Independent Company Pennsylvania Sharpshooters (Berdean's Company C) was issued to William J. Leahy; and

Whereas, Through a clerical error in the wording of the commission the name was spelled "William J. Sealy"; and

Whereas, It is eminently proper and a matter of justice that the name should be corrected to conform to the real facts; therefore

Be it resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Secretary of the Commonwealth is hereby authorized and directed, upon the submission to him of proofs showing the above facts, to correct upon the records in his office the mistake made in issuing a commission to William J. Leahy, wherein said commission was issued to "William J. Sealy," as Second Lieutenant of Independent Company Pennsylvania Sharpshooters (Berdean's Company C) under date of August fifteenth, one thousand eight hundred sixty-two which said organization subsequently become Company C Second Regiment United States Sharpshooters.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The House having dispensed with the rule requiring the printing of resolutions before being considered, the resolution was considered and concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. O'NEIL, from the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1652, entitled:

An Act to amend section twelve of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the more effectual protection of the public health in the several municipalities of this Commonwealth," approved the eighteenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five providing that all principals or other persons in charge of schools are hereby required to refuse admission of any child to the school or schools under their charge or supervision except upon a certificate signed by a physician legally qualified to practice medicine setting forth that such child has been successfully vaccinated or that it has previously had smallpox whenever and for a period of twenty-one days after the health authorities of the city, borough, township or municipality within which such school or schools are located or the State Commissioner of Health shall have given written or printed notice to the said principals or other persons in charge of schools as aforesaid that smallpox (variola or varioloid) exists within dangerous proximity to such school or schools said notice to contain the name and location of the person or persons afflicted with the disease and said notice to be renewable so long as smallpox (variola or varioloid) continues to exist within dangerous proximity to such school or schools.

Mr. GIBSON, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported as committed, House Bill No. 952 (Senate Bill No. 1992, entitled:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act to authorize county commissioners for the purpose of encouraging agriculture and the holding of county agricultural exhibitions to pay annually one thousand dollars to the incorporated agricultural association paying premiums on agricultural exhibits holding an annual exhibition in the county providing for the filing of sworn statement by the claimant or claimants with the county commissioners relative to said exhibition and providing for the repayment to the county by the State of the sum so paid" approved the thirteenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven.

Mr. PEACHEY, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1994 (Senate Bill No. 993, entitled:

An Act regulating the sale or exchange of defective or diseased horses and mules and providing a penalty for violation of this act.

Mr. STEEDLE, from the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, reported as committed, House Bill No. 667, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred one, entitled "An Act to prohibit the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine, butterine, and other similar products, when colored in imitation of yellow butter; to provide for license fees to be paid by manufacturers, wholesale and retail dealers, and by proprietors of hotels, restaurants, dining-rooms and boarding houses; for the manufacture or sale of oleomargarine, butterine, or other similar products, not colored in imitation of yellow butter; and prevent and punish fraud and deception in such manufacture and sale as an imitation butter; and to prescribe penalties and punishment for violations of this act, and the means and the method of procedure for its enforcement, and regulate certain matters of evidence in such procedure."

Mr. J. H. WILSON, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1977 (Senate Bill No. 1063), entitled:

An Act amending the second section of an act approved the thirteenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven entitled "An Act to authorize county commissioners for the purpose of encouraging agriculture and the holding of county agricultural exhibitions to pay annually one thousand dollars to the incorporated agricultural association paying premiums on agricultural exhibits holding an annual exhibition in the county providing for the filing of sworn statement by the claimant or claimants with the county commissioners relative to said exhibition and providing for the repayment to the county by the State of the sum so paid" by changing the date for filing by the association with the county commissioners the statement required from November fifteenth to December twentieth in each year.

Mr. MITCHELL, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as amended, House Bill No. 1892 (Senate Bill No. 13), entitled:

An Act providing for the incorporation regulation and government of cities of the third class, regulating nomination and election of municipal officers therein and repealing consolidating and extending existing laws in relation thereto.

Mr. FREY, from the Committee on Public Roads, reported as amended, House Bill No. 1146, entitled:

An Act to amend section six of an act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department by the appointment of a State Highway Commissioner two Deputy State Highway Commissioners chief engineer chief draughtsman superintendents of highways and a staff of assistants and employes defining their duties and the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department and fixing salaries of commissioner and deputies and other appointees providing for taking over from the counties or townships of the Commonwealth certain existing public roads connecting county-seats principal cities and towns and extending to the State line describing and defining same by route numbers as the State Highways of the Commonwealth providing for the improvement maintenance and repair of said State Highways solely at the expense of the Commonwealth and relieving the several townships or counties from any further obligation and expense to improve or maintain the same and relieving said townships or counties of authority over same requiring boroughs and incorporated towns to maintain certain State Highways wholly and in part requiring the State Highway Commissioner to make maps to be complete records thereof conferring authority on the State Highway Commissioner providing for the payment of damages in taking of property or otherwise in the improvement thereof providing for purchase or acquiring of turnpikes or toll-roads forming all or part of any State Highway and procedure therein providing for work of improvement of State Highways to be done by contract except where the State Highway Commissioner decides the work to be done by the State providing aid by the State to counties and townships desiring the same in the improvement of township or county roads defining highways and State-aid highways providing method of application for State aid in the improvement maintenance and repair of township or county roads and prescribing the contents of township county borough or incorporated town petitions providing for percentage of cost of improvement or repairs to be paid by State county township borough or incorporated town and requiring contracts by counties townships boroughs and incorporated towns with Commonwealth governing same providing for the minimum width of State Highways and State-aid highways and kind of materials to be used in the improvement providing for payment of cost of improvement and repairs providing penalty for injuring or destroying State Highways making appropriations to carry out the provisions of the act and providing for the repeal of certain acts relating to Highway Department and improvement of roads and of all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith and providing that existing contracts are not affected by provisions of this act"

Mr. PETERS, from the Committee on Game, re-reported with a negative recommendation, House Bill No. 1263, entitled:

An Act to provide that fines and forfeitures levied and collected for violations of the game laws of the Commonwealth shall be paid to the Game Commission for the purpose of acquiring and maintaining game preserves and for acquiring propagating and distributing game

Mr. BROSIUS, from the Committee on Game, reported with a negative recommendation, House Bill No. 672, entitled:

An Act regulating the killing, wounding or capturing of rabbits, squirrels and pheasants during the open season, and providing a penalty.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1911, as follows:

An Act relating to petroleum and natural gas wells drilled through coal measures within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and providing penalties for the violation thereof

ARTICLE I

Definitions

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That for the purposes of this act the terms and definitions contained therein shall be as follows

Well A bore hole heretofore or hereafter drilled for the purpose of developing petroleum or natural gas or a bore hole producing petroleum or natural gas

Well Operator Any person firm partnership company or corporation drilling operating or abandoning or purposing to drill operate or abandon such well as hereinbefore defined

Well perator Any person firm partnership company or corporation owning leasing or operating coal mines or coal properties excluding coal stripping operations

Plat A map drawing or print made in accordance with the provisions of this act as hereinafter contained on the scale of one hundred feet to the inch

Casing The pipe commonly used within wells drilled for petroleum and natural gas The size of casing refers to nominal commercial dimensions

Cement Mortar Cement mortar shall consist of one part of Portland cement and two parts of clean sand mixed with sufficient water

Coal Bed A workable bed of coal that may be mined during the reasonable life of a well purposed to be drilled through it

Chief of the Department of Mines The person appointed by the Governor and charged with the supervision of the mining laws of this Commonwealth

Inspector One of the several persons commissioned by the Governor to have supervision of coal mines

ARTICLE II

Location of Wells

Section 1 No well hereafter drilled shall belocated within three hundred feet of a hoisting shaft air shaft slope or drift into an artificially ventilated coal mine not definitely abandoned or sealed nor within three hundred feet of a boiler house engine house power house mine fan or mine tipple unless such structure has been abandoned No well shall be drilled within fifteen feet of any underground haulage-way entry or airway in use

Section 2 When a location is hereafter made for a well which will pass through a coal bed or within three hundred feet of a coal bed it shall be the duty of the well operator to give written notice in duplicate to the inspector of the district of the intention to drill such well and to send therewith a description and plat in duplicate of the proposed location one copy of which notice description and plat shall be sent forthwith by said inspector to the Department of Mines of this Commonwealth

The location shall be determined by a survey and the description and plat shall show the courses and distances from two permanent points on the boundaries of the tract of land upon which the proposed well is located together with the name of the tract names of adjoining tracts township and county It shall also be the duty of the well operator to send to the coal operator through whose coal bed the well is to be drilled if such coal operator is known a copy of the description and plat filed with the district inspector It shall be the duty of the coal operator within four days after the receipt of the plat to plot the well location upon his map and send to the well operator a plat and to the inspector a plat in duplicate showing the present and proposed mine workings under the tract of land upon which the proposed well is located Within five days after the receipt of said notice and plats from the well operator by the inspector he shall examine the same and if he deems it necessary shall personally examine the premises and if said location is not in violation of the provisions of section one of article two of this act he shall give the well operator written permission in duplicate to drill said well Provided however that no permit issued under the provisions of this act shall be valid unless countersigned by the Chief of the Department of Mines If however the inspector shall find that said location is in violation of any of the provisions of section one of article two of this act it shall be his duty to confer with the coal operator and the well operator and designate within five days from the date of said conference a suitable location for the well or if no location can be made on the premises without violating the provisions of section one of article two of this act he shall refuse to give such permission If the well is relocated a re-survey shall be made by the well operator and a description and plat shall be sent to the inspector as previously required and a copy of the corrected description and plat shall also be sent to the coal operator

Section 2 It shall be the duty of all coal operators to show on their maps furnished semi-annually to the inspector of the district the location of all known wells The coal operator shall also furnish annually if requested to do so to any well operator a plat of the mine under the leases owned or operated by the said well operator

Section 4 It shall be the duty of the well operator to display at the location one copy of the permission provided for in section two of this article properly protected from injury and in such place and manner that it may be easily seen

Section 5 Permission given to drill a well shall expire at the end of one year from the date of issue unless drilling operations are actually in progress

Section 6 When the location of a well is such that it passes through a mine or near a mine the well operator may appoint as his representative a mining engineer or other competent person experienced in mining operations who shall have the right to enter such mine for the purpose of examining and inspecting the workings thereof provided such entry shall be made at such times as to cause the least interference with the operation of the mine the said representative shall be subject to the provisions of the mining law of Pennnsylvania and shall be accompanied by a mine foreman or a fire boss whose time shall be paid for by the well owner

ARTICLE III

Drilling Casing and Protecting of Wells

Section 1 Each well passing through a workable bed of coal shall be drilled cased and protected in the following manner

(a) Where the coal is in place

A hole of a diameter six inches greater than the inside diameter of the outside casing to be put through the coal shall be drilled at least thirty feet below the bottom of the coal bed Within this hole shall be placed the casing and the space between the outside of the casing and the wall of the hole shall be filled with cement mortar to a height of at least thirty feet above the top of the coal bed for the purpose of excluding water from the coal bed

(b) Where the coal is removed and the mine excavation is inaccessible

A hole of a diameter sufficiently large to permit the setting in of a liner four inches larger in diameter than the inside diameter of the casing to be put through the coal shall be drilled at thirty feet below the bottom of the coal bed Within this hole shall be placed a liner four inches larger than the inside diameter of the casing and extending from the bottom of the hole to at least thirty feet above the top of coal bed A string of casing centrally guided by shoes or winged guides shall be placed within the liner and the space between the lines and the casing shall be filled with cement mortar to the top of the liner

To exclude water the space between the casing and the wall of the hole and immediately above the top of the liner shall be filled a distance of at least ten feet with cement mortar

(c) Where the coal is removed and the mine excavation is accessible

The method shall be the same as that provided in the case of inaccessible mine excavations or as that provided where the coal is in place Provided that if the latter method is chosen the well operator shall at his own expense provide a suitable retaining wall laid in cement mortar to retain the cement mortar about the casin This wall shall extend from two feet below the mine floor to the roof of the mine and be of such size as to retain at least six inches of cement mortar about the casing

Section 2 Under any of the above provisions the work of casing and protecting from gas and water through the coal seam shall be completed before the well is drilled to a greater depth and in the event of any well being productive of petroleum or gas the space between the said outside casing and the next string of such other casing as may be left in shall remain open at the surface for proper ventilation the top being provided with a suitable device to permit such ventilation and at the same time to prevent dirt or debris from falling in or being thrown in or the ventilating opening from being readily closed

Section 3 The well operator shall upon completion of the work of casing through a coal bed make an affidavit in duplicate signed by two men having at least three years' experience in casing wells as to the method of casing and protecting the well said affidavit to be filed with the inspector

ARTICLE IV

Abandonment of Wells

Section 1 It shall be the duty of any well operator upon determining to abandon a well to send a written notice in duplicate to the inspector of the district of his intention to do so and the work of plugging the hole or pulling the casing shall not proceed until the inspector or his authorized agent is present to see that the plugging is done as prescribed b ythis act In case the inspector fails to be present within three days from receipt of notice the work may proceed provided that two men having experience of at least three years in the plugging of wells be present The said two men shall make affidavit in duplicate that the work was done in accordance with the provisions of this act said affidavit to be filed with the inspector

The well operator shall send to the inspector with the notice of abandonment a copy of the permission given to drill the well provided the well was drilled under the provisions of this act if the well was drilled prior to the passage of this act the well operator shall send to the inspector with the notice of abandonment a bed in duplicate showing the location as provided for in section two article two of this act

Section 2 When the work of plugging and filling from bottom to top has been completed the well operator or his authorized agent shall make a report in duplicate to the inspector upon forms to be furnished by the inspector showing the date of completion of the work the depth of the coal bed or beds and the total depth of well If the well previous to abandonment was productive of petroleum or gas shall state in the report the name and depth of the productive sand measures He shall also report the location and the kind of all plugs used and the method followed in placing them also the material used and the method followed in filling well

If the inspector or his authorized agent has been present during the performance of this work he shall also sign the report

Section 3 Every well drilled through a coal bed or within three hundred feet of a coal bed upon abandonment must be plugged and filled solidly and tightly from the bottom to the top as follows The hole must be filled with rock sediment sand clay or other suitable material from the bottom of the well to a hard and firm stratum below the last string of casing set in above the producing petroleum or gas sands When the inspector declares that it is impracticable to fill the cavity in the lowest producing sand then he shall permit the well operator to place plugs at the top of the lowest producing sand and fill as hereafter specified In this firm hard stratum three seasoned wood plugs of a diameter equal to the diameter of the hole and each of a length of at least three feet shall be driven into place Above the third plug ten feet of clay must be placed and thoroughly tamped down for the purpose of preventing the passage of petroleum gas or water

Immediately below the seat of each and every string of casing there shall be driven a seasoned wood plug as described and all spaces between wood plugs shall be filled solidly and tightly with rock sediment clay sand or other suitable material as the casing is withdrawn length by length All plugs shall be driven in place with proper drilling tools

In the case of a well in which the outside casing has been cemented as hereinbefore provided said outer casing may be cut off at a point not less than fifty feet above the coal bed and removed but in any event the hole shall be filled to the surface

The locations of the plugs herein provided for are made with reference to the relative positions of the workable coal beds and the gas and petroleum sands for the purpose of preventing the passage of petroleum or gas into the workable coal beds and of water into the petroleum and gas sands and if any well presents a variation in such relative positions of the said strata such additional wood plugs as the inspector may deem necessary shall be driven into place by the well operator

In case of failure or neglect of the well operator to plug an abandoned well in accordance with the provisions of this act it shall be the duty of the inspector to have the work done by contract approved by the Chief of the Department of Mines the cost to be assessed against the well operator and collected as other debts are collected by law

Section 4 When the coal is removed from around a casing or liner the coal operator shall protect the same from corroison and mechanical injury by a wall of brick or stone laid in cement mortar and of sufficient thickness to retain six inches of cement mortar between the said wall and the said casing or liner This protection shall extend from two feet below the mine floor to the roof of the mine except in the case of an abandoned well that has been plugged and filled as prescribed in this act

Section 5 Every well not drilled through a coal bed nor within three hundred feet of the coal bed upon abandonment shall be plugged in the same manner as provided for in section three of article four except that such well must be filled solidly as provided in said section for a distance of only fifty feet above the upper plug

Section 6 Before any well operator shall be granted permission to drill any well or wells he shall furnish to the Commonwealth with the approval of the Chief of the Department of Mines a bond in such amount as will protect the State against any failure on his part to carry out the provisions of this act

ARTICLE V.

Section 1 The inspector shall carry out all the provisions of this act pertaining to him and shall make a complete record of the wells drilled through coal beds in his district together with their location date of completion depth character of product date of abandonment name of owner and transmit same together with any other information required of him to the Chief of the Department of Mines and shall include said data in his annual report to the Chief of the Department of Mines

The inspector shall receive and investigate all complaints as to injury present or impending due to lack of precaution on the part of any well operator or coal operator If he finds the complaints to be well founded he shall submit the facts to the Chief of the Department of Mines for decision

If the inspector discovers any well being drilled operated or plugged contrary to the requirements of this act he shall order the workmen engaged upon such well to cease work at once and he shall not permit the work to be resumed until he is satisfied that the law is being complied with

The inspector shall have the right at all times to approach and examine any well in his district and upon the discovery of any violation of this act or upon being informed of such violation he shall institute proceedings against the person or persons at fault as provided for in section one article six of this act

He shall determine the sufficiency of plats for the purpose of accurately locating wells and shall cause a new survey of the location in case the available plat and descriptions are unsatisfactory The cost of this survey shall be recoverable from the well operator as other debts are recoverable by law unless it is shown that the original plat was correct in which case the expense incurred in making the survey shall be paid by the State Treasurer upon warrant of the Auditor General issued upon the presentation of vouchers approved by the Chief of the Department of Mines

It shall be the duty of the inspector to transmit to the Chief of the Department of Mines the duplicate of plats descriptions applications and reports sent to him by well operators to be retained in the Department as official records

Section 2 For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act the Chief of the Department of Mines is hereby empowered to employ whenever necessary persons with technical and practical knowledge of the drilling casing and plugging of petroleum and gas wells The expense thus incurred together with the expense of necessary clerical service and the traveling and other necessary expenses of the Chief of the Department of Mines shall be paid out of the State Treasury on warrant of the Auditor General issued upon the presentation of vouchers approved by the Chief of the Department of Mines

ARTICLE VI.

Section 1 Any coal operator or well operator or any other person who neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions of this act or who violates any of the provisions or requirements thereof shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction thereof in the court of the county in which the misdemeanor was committed be punished by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than five thousand dollars or by imprisonment for not less than one nor more than six months either or both at the discretion of the court

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been drafted in accordance with the recommendations which emanated from a discussion held in Washington in the Department of Interior, Bureau of Mines. The pamphlet which I hold in my hand contains the recommendations which came from that Committee or Commission, that sat there for over a month, and the only change in this bill from the recommendation of Commission is that in place of starting a separate department to be known as the "Department of Oil and Gas-Well Inspector," the laws and regulations for the control of the drilling of oil and gas wells through coal veins, reasonable ones, have been compiled here and they are to be put under the direction of the Department of Mines in this State. It involves no additional expense to the State nor does it create any new jobs, but simply provides some regulation for the drilling of oil and gas wells through coal veins. The bill as drawn and presented to the House has been rafted by all of those interested, and the gas and oil and coal people, not less than two weeks ago held meetings here in Harrisburg, and the bill as now drafted represents the general opinion of all of the interests involved and is drawn to meet their requirements. Some regulation should be had, and there are no reasonable regulations at the present time. This is a law that involves no additional expense to the State.

Mr. WHITMAN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia is mistaken when he says that all of the interests in this State have been consulted. I have here a letter from an attorney who represents some of these interests and it contains seven reasons why the bill should not pass. First, there is no demand for this law. The people interested have never asked for any law regulating the drilling. The second reason is, that the operators are already sufficiently protected. They are already responsible for any damage that would occur from their drilling, and for that reason it is unnecessary. Third, the provisions are burdensome, harsh and unnecessary. Under this law we would be unable to drill a little well without getting permission from Harrisburg, and furnishing the Department with a map of the territory. Fourth, it hampers and impedes oil drilling, and it would be entirely without benefit to the people. Fifth, the requirements are expensive. Sixth, it only seems to benefit the Department of Mines, and that is the only place that any reason for his bill has originated Seventh, the penalties are too great. You will find them so, if you read the bill. There is a maximum and minimum penalty provided, and any one who drills a well without getting permission from the Department of Mines, would be liable to a fine of one hundred dollars. The title does not agree with the bill and the bill does not agree with the title. The title speaks of wells drilled through coal veins. and the body of the bill mentions, "Any well" whether through a coal vein or not. I think that in the interest of gas and oil well drilling, that this bill should be defeated.

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, there are many bills that come before this House upon which I have to vote that do not in any way affect me or my constituents, and I am compelled to rely upon the testimony offered by those whom it does affect as to whether it is a benefit or otherwise. This bill does affect my county. It affects it in the way of the coal operators, and of oil and gas operators also and our County of Butler is one of many in the western part of the State that is affected in the same way by this bill. In the coal mining done in our county, the vein is a very shallow one, being about three feet deep, usually. There is no danger in these mines from an accumulation of gas, and the explosions such as exist in the larger mines never occur there. Therefore, there is no necessity for his bill for that protection in that section. While the provisions of this act may be necessary in some coal regions, it is not necessary in regions such as ours, and we should be relieved from the annoyance and cost and inconvenience and hardship, which this would impose upon us, when it is not necessary. If you were to go over this bill as I did. and read wherein it would require unnecessary hardship. you would be surprised as I was when I read the bill. It is full of repetitions. There is no demand for it in our country, either from the coal operators or gas and oil operators. There is no demand whatever for its enactment, at least I never heard of any. There is no damage resulting from any mine being flooded by the oil wells in our country, as that is guarded against by the law as it now is. It is required by law that a well must be plugged when it is abandoned, and the operator who fails to do so is severely punished.

He is required to protect the strata by plugging the well and here is one of the provisions which it calls for which is only one of a good many that I would bring out that are unnecessary and this is one of the unnecessary things. I desire to read from the bill section three,

The well operator shall upon completion of the work of casing through a coal bed make an affidavit in duplicate signed by two men having at least three years' experience in casing wells as to the method of casing and protecting the well said affidavit to be filed with the inspector

If you want to take into consideration what is announced in the country where they are drilling for oil or gas, you would see the foolishness of it. You would see that this bill is full of such things that are unnecessary and uncalled for in our country. If it is necessary in some sections, let them have it but our section should be relieved from it. I will have to vote against it as long as it brings its enforcement upon our country. It provides for five hundred dollars fine for the violation of this act. Think of an operator going out to drill for oil or gas, without being thoroughly informed of this act, and if he fails to comply with the provisions of this act being subject to a fine of five hundred dollars. I call upon the members of this House to vote it down.

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. WHITMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be dropped from the calendar.

Mr. DOWN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1076, as follows:

An Act amending section one of an act entitled "An Act dividing the cities of this State into three classes with respect to their population and designating the mode of ascertaining and changing the classification thereof in accordance therewith" approved June twenty-fifth one thousand eight hundred ninety-five by dividing cities of the State into four classes with respect to their population and providing that the laws relating to cities of the second-class shall apply to cities both of the second and third class as herein provided

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of an act entitled "An Act dividing the cities of this State into three classes with respect to their population and designating the mode of ascertaining and changing the classifications thereof in accordance therewith" approved June twenty-fifth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five which reads as follows

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That for the purposes of legislation regulating their municipal affairs the exercise of certain corporate powers and having respect to the number character powers and duties of certain officers thereof the cities now in existence and those hereafter created in this Commonwealth shall be divided into three classes

Those containing a population of one million or over shall constitute the first class

Those containing a population of one hundred thousand and under one million shall constitute the second class

Those containing a population under one hundred thousand shall constitute the third class" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That for the purpose of legislation regulating their municipal affairs the exercise of certain corporate powers and having respect to the number character powers and duties of certain officers thereof the cities now in existence and those hereafter created in this Commonwealth shall be divided into four classes

Those containing a population of one million or more shall constitute the first class

Those containing a population of five hundred thousand or more and under one million shall constitute the second class

Those containing a population of one hundred thousand or more and under five hundred thousand shall constitute the third class

Those containing a population under one hundred thousand shall constitute the fourth class

All laws now in force applying to cities of the second class shall apply to both cities of the second and third class herein provided

All laws now in force applying to cities of the third class shall apply to cities of the fourth class herein provided

Section 2 This act shall take effect the first day of January Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred fourteen

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KAISER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, line 7, after "laws" insert "now."

Line 9, after "class" insert "and the laws now relating to cities of the thrid class shall apply to cities of the fourth class."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill be prepared for final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1182, as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for the transportation of certain pupils at the expense of the proper school district

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That where any sub-district public elementary school was for any reason abandoned or closed in any school district prior to the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven it shall be the duty of the board of school directors of such district to furnish at the expense of the proper district to pupils residing one mile and a half or more from the nearest public elementary school located and held in any district transportation to and from any school to which such pupil shall by law be entitled or permitted to attend and whether or not such pupil at any time attended such school so abandoned or closed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

If a majority of the commissioners shall not attend at the meeting on the first Monday of January those present shall have power to adjourn the meeting from day to day until a majority attend

The board shall organize by the election of one of their number as president He shall preside at all meetings of the board and perform such other duties as are specified in this act or which may be prescribed by ordinance

The board shall meet at least once a month at such time and place as may be designated by ordinance A majority of the members of the board shall constitute a quorum

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for unanimous consent to insert amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Strike out title and insert the following: "An Act amending the sixth section of an act approved the twenty-eighth day of April, eighteen hundred and ninety-nine, entitled "An Act to provide for the classification of the townships of the Commonwealth with respect to their population into two classes and to prescribe the form of government for townships of each class."

Section 1, lines 36 and 37, strike out the word "organie" and insert the word "organize"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments?. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill be prepared for final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1122, entitled:

An Act amending section nine of an act entitled "An Act in relation to the laying out opening widening straightening extending or vacating streets and alleys and the construction of bridges in the several municipalities of this Commonwealth the grading paving macadamizing or otherwise improving streets and alleys providing for ascertaining the damages to private property resulting therefrom the assessment of the damages costs and expenses thereof upon the property benefitted and the construction of sewers and payment of the damages costs and expenses thereof including damages to private property resulting therefrom" approved the sixteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one as the same was amended by an act approved the twenty-second day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five and as the same was again amended by an act approved the nineteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three by changing the requirements in respect to the publication of ordinances introduced and providing for the laying out opening widening straightening extending and vacating streets or alleys or parts thereof where there is no petition of the property owners

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That so much of section one of article fifteen of an act entitled "An Act for the government of cities of the second class approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one (Pamphlet Laws twenty) which reads as follows

"At the expiration of the present contract and every three years thereafter the city recorder of each of the cities of the second class shall contract for the term of three years with not less than three nor more than five daily newspapers one of which shall be a daily newspaper printed in the German language published within the county in which such city of the second class is situated for the publication of all official advertising the cost o fwhich is payable out of the municipal treasury which said official advertising shall include all ordinances of councils city recorder's proclamations all official reports of the city officers all notices for opening widening straightening grading paving and curbing and vacation of streets lanes and alleys and the construction of seweers including all viewers' reports and proposals for public work and supplies such contracts to be let to the lowest bidder agate measure per line for each thousand of circulation the basis of circulation to be the average daily sales (exclusive of Sunday weekly semi-weekly and tri-weekly issues and also exclusive of all credits for returned or unsold newspapers and newspapers distributed free of charge) of such newspaper for the six months next preceding the month in which such advertising may be published" shall be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

At the expiration of the present contracts and every three years thereafter the mayor of each of the cities of the second class shall contract for a term of three years with two daily newspapers one of which shall be a daily newspaper printed in the German language published within the county in which such city is situated for the publication of all official advertising the cost of which is payable out of the municipal treasury such contract to be let to the lowest bidder agate measure per line for each thousand of circulation the basis of the ciruculation to be the average daily sales (exclusive of Sunday weekly semi-weekly and tri-weekly issues and also exclusive of all credits for returned or unsold newspapers and newspapers distributed free of charge) of such newspaper for the six months next preceding the month in which such advertising may be published

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO DROP BILL FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be dropped from the calendar.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Wil the House agree to the motion?

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a bill to reduce the number of newspapers in which official advertising is done of ordinances, proclamations of the mayor and reports of the different departments of cities of the second class. During the last year it cost the city of Pittsburgh over $67,000 to publish ordinances, contracts and other matters which probably only one person out of a thousand would read. The object of this bill is to reduce that cost about one-third. Now, of course, the newspaper men have lobbied agaiast this pretty strong. I don't blame them from their standpoint, but from the standpoint of the taxpayers of the cities of the second class, I believe this is a very good bill. The advertising cost is such an enormous item and acomplishes so little good that I think it ought to be cut down. Under the present law the ordinances are advertised in three papers, two of which are printed in English and one in German. This simply reduces the advertising to one English paper and one German paper. I believe the bill has real merit in it, and I don't think it should be dropped from the Calendar.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, if that motion is to be put I demand the yeas and nays on it.

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the call.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the motion was made for the purpose of saving time, so I withdraw the motion.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1121, entitled:

An Act to repeal an act entitled "An Act in relation to the official newspaper advertising of cities of the second class" approved the twenty-first day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a repealer of the Act of May 21, 1895. The Act of May 21, 1895, provided for five newspapers. In 1901, the Ripper Bill, for Pittsburgh and Scranton, was passed and provided for three newspapers. but there is no express repealer in that act. The courts in our county have held that the Act of 1901 by implication repealed the Act of 1895, and this act is simply put in as an express repealer of the Act of 1895.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1488, entitled:

An Act providing for the licensing of stock brokers as herein defined and for the regulation of the sale pledge or negotiation for sale of certain stocks bonds and other securities by such stock brokers or their agents within this Commonwealth providing for the winding up of the business of stock brokers licensed thereunder and conferring certain powers and duties on the Commissioner of Banking for the enforcement of the provisions of this act and imposing penalties for the violation thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Page 2. Amend section 3 by inserting after the word "unlawful" in line 2, the words "except as hereinafter provided"

Page 17. after section 18, line 50, insert two new sections, Nos. 19 and 20, as follows:

Section 19 Upon notice to the Commissioner of Banking of the stock broker's intention to rely upon the provisions of this section and except as hereinafter provided the provisions of this act shall not apply to a stock broker or his agents or representatives who in good faith and not for the purpose of avoiding the provisions of this act shall purchase for his own account for cash or its equivalent or shall execute a certain contract for the purchase of any and all specific stocks bonds or other securities at not less than ninety per centum of the price at which each of such stocks bonds or other securities is thereafter sold or otherwise disposed of within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Provided however that such stock broker shall keep full and complete books of account or records of all transactions which shall clearly and definitely show the price actually paid for such stocks bonds or other securities and the price for which the same are thereafter sold pledged or otherwise disposed of and provided further that the Commissioner of Banking may at any time examine all such or other books of account or records or other papers or documents whatsoever to ascertain whether such stock broker is within the exception specified in this section or may demand from such stock broker the production of any evidence of proof establishing such fact

The aforesaid notice of the Commissioner of Banking of the stock broker's intention to rely upon the provisions of this section shall be accomplished by a joint and several bond to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania executed by said stock broker and by a surety or sureties approved by said Commissioner of Banking conditions for the payment in full of all losses and damages to any person or persons to whom stocks bonds or other securities aforesaid may be sold or pledged sustained by such person or persons by reason of any false or fraudulent literature advertising matter printed or in writing letters or other false or fraudulet representation printed written or oral issued or made by such stock broker and upon the fault of or on reliance upon which said stocks bonds or other securities may have been purchased The penalty of such bond shall be a sum fixed by the Commissioner of Banking which shall not be more than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) nor less than ten thousand dollars ($10,000)

In lieu of the aforesaid bond the stock broker may deposit and the Commissioner of Banking shall receive moneys or securities consisting of bonds of the United States or of this Commonwealth or of any municipality thereof or other securities approved by the Commissioner of Banking If the securities be deposited in lieu of the aforesaid bond the Commissioner of Banking shall require the stock broker to maintain such deposit at a value equal to the amount fixed as the penalty of the bond in lieu of which such securities have been deposited

The Commissioner of Banking shall from time to time pay over to such broker all moneys received by him as interest or income upon any moneys or securities deposited in accordance with the provisions of this act All moneys or securities deposited with the Commissioner of Banking hereunder shall be turned in to the State treasury and receipted for by the State Treasurer to the depositor and be subject to withdrawal only upon warrant of the Commissioner of Banking or upon order of a court of competent jurisdiction All interest coupons of any securities deposited with the State Treasurer shall be surrendered when due to the depositor of said securities upon his request.

Section 20 Any stock broker who shall elect to rely upon the provisions of section nineteen and who shall thereafter fail to comply with any demand of the Commissioner of Banking therein provided for or who shall fail to conduct his business within the provisions of such section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction therefor shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) or to undergo imprisonment for a period not exceeding one year both or either in the discretion of the court and shall thereupon and thereafter be subject to all the provisions of this act

Page 18. Amend section 23, line 1, by striking out the figures "23" and inserting in lieu thereof "25."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1916, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand eight hundred and thirty-our entitled "An Act relative to the organization of the courts of justice"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, I simply want to explain to the House that this bill takes the place of House Bill No. 168, which was passed at the present session by an almost unanimous vote of the House, but was vetoed by the Governor for the reason that it inadvertently repealed several bills passed in 1834. The present bill remedies these defects and I ask the House to vote for the bill.

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like the sponsor of the bill to tell us what the bill provides for. What is the purpose of the bill?

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, I think the members of the House who gave consideration to House Bill No. 168 would be acquainted with its provisions. This bill simply gives the right to appoint a court crier. In counties where there are two judges, under the law at present where they have only one Court of Common Pleas, they can only appoint one court crier, which makes it extremely inconvenient.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I have just discovered that there are some typographical errors in this bill that will have to be corrected. They were not discovered until too late to prepare the proper amendments and I, therefore, moved the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GRABE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Speaker announced that the noes would seem to have it

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, in order that the gentlemen may understand this motion, if I did not speak loud enough in the first instance for them to hear, I would say that there are some typographical errors in the bill which were not discovered until just now, and I have had no time to prepare the amendments. For that reason I ask to have it postponed until I can prepare them, and will call the bill up again this afternoon if possible.

The SPEAKER. The noes seem to have it.

Whereupon,

A division was called for, and seventy-one gentlemen having voted in the affiramtive and thirty-six in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and the motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1450, entitled:

An Act supplementing and amending section two thousand two hundred and eight (2208) of article twenty-two of an act entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania togetner with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven by providing that boards of school visitors in school districts of the first class shall remove janitors of grammar and elementary schools in their district for cause

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section two thousand two hundred and eight (2208) of an act entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven which reads as follows

"Section 2208 The board of school visitors in each ward district shall at least once every three months visit all the public elementary schools therein and inspect the same They shall without delay call the attention of the board of school directors of the district or its appropriate executive officer to every matter requiring official action They shall make at least once every three months a written report to the board of public education of the district respecting the condition of the schools and the needs of the ward district especially in regard to the number kind equipment and efficiency of the school buildings be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2208 The board of school visitors in each ward district shall at least once every three months visit all the public elementary schools therein and inspect the same They shall without delay call the attention of the board of school directors of the district or its appropriate executive officer to every matter requiring official action They shall make at least once every three months a written report to the board of public education of the district respecting the condition of the schools and the needs of the ward district especially in regard to the number kind equipment and efficiency of the schools and school buildings They shall have the appointment of all janitors for the grammar and elementary schools in their district subject to the rules of the board of education The board of school visitors shall dismiss such janitors at any time for incompetency negligence drunkenness or immorality

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewitn be and the same are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. E. G. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, this seems to be a Philadelphia bill. As we are having some trouble in voting on bills under a misapprehension on bills referring to these big cities, I would ask the sponsor of this bill to explain to us country members how we should vote on this bill.

Mr. HACKETT. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill merely giving the so-called school visitors of Philadelphia a little more power. Under the present School Code the School Visitors have the power to elect the janitor, but have no power to dismiss him for a failure to perform his duties for drunkenness or for any other reason. This bill provides that the school visitors shall have the power to dismiss the janitor for cause. Another thing in the bill, is that it provides that the school visitors shall visit the schools once every three months and file a report with the Board of Education. I trust the gentlemen of this House will support me in this bill.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS 3.

Blair, W. A., Scott, S. B., Walnut,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1945 (Senate Bill No. 875), entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the twenty-third day of April one thousand eight hundred and twenty-nine entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to reform the penal laws of this Commonwealth' " as amended

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill is somewhat lengthy and I for one do not know anything about its provisions. If there is any one in the House who can give us, in a few words, the gist of this bill, I would like to hear it.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is to change the law of 1829, which provides that the Warden of the Penitentiaries should visit each prisoner at least once a day. Conditions from that time up to the present have so changed that it makes the carrying out of the law of 1829 physically impossible. That is one of the changes that this bill will provide for. The Act of 1829 also provides that the Inspector shall make a weekly visit to the penitentiary and this bill changes that, to make it incumbent upon the inspector to visit the penitentiaries at least once a month. The Act of 1829 provides for the appointment of the warden for the penitentiary for only six months and you see, gentleman that in order to get the proper character and kind of men to serve in a position of a responsible character, such as a warden of a penitentiary, the inducement to serve for six months is wrong. Therefore, the bill changes the term from six months to four years. It makes a provision, also, for the election of a chaplain of the institution who, heretofore, has been elected for six months. It increases his term to four years, giving him an oportunity to familiarize himself with the work he is called upon to perform. It also provides that the Prison Inspectors may appoint if, in their judgment it is necessary, a secretary for their board. As it is now, one of the inspectors has to perform the duties of secretary, and he is often prevented from participating in the deliberation of the Board of Inspectors. Those are the principal changes in this measure and I believe that the changes on the Act of 1829 are necessary and that the gentlemen of the House will recognize the necessity for all the bill provides for. I can see no objection on the part of any of the members voting Aye.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 302, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of an act entitled "An Act to amend section two of an act entitled 'An Act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" approved the twentieth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four abolishing the restriction that the tax levied to pay municipal indebtedness shall be equal to eight per centum of the amount of such increased debt providing for the method of assessing and levying a tax for the payment of the principal and interest when the bonds become due and the form of statement to be filed approved the thirteenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven by extending the power to incur and increase indebtedness to townships of the second class

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that I do not fully see the necessity of. The only change I can see in the section is that it includes townships of the second class. Now, I was born and raised and lived forty-two years in a township of the second class, and we never had any occasion to have this change. I should like to have the sponsor of the bill explain the whys and wherefores.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the most important bills in the House. Prior to the act of 1897, and also prior to the Act of 1874, there was no such municipality as a township of the second class, but when in the wisdom of the Legislature they saw fit to classify townships and create a municipality to be known as a township of the second class, there arose doubts in the minds of attorneys in some parts of the state, and especially in my mind as to whether the power to loan to the limit of two per cent. provided for all other municipalities would not be invalidated. For the purpose of clearing that up, the bill was amended to include townships of the second class.

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware is correct in stating that before the passage of that act there were no townships of the second class, but let me tell you, Mr. Speaker, that that act did not change the conditions in those townships. They are to-day the very same townships as they were before that time, and when that act passed classifying the townships, giving them certain privileges of first-class townships, we people in the second class townships did not object thereto at that time. But, now when this here act is to be amended, giving a few officers of the townships of the second class authority to issue bonds, we do object, and I hope the House will not pass the bill.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I really did not know that the gentleman was serious in the matter. He certainly does not understand the provisions of the bill or he would not say anything about it. You all realize that the laws of the State of Pennsylvania have given to the various municipalities the right to make temporary loans, as they are generally known,—in other words, municipal authorities have the right to go out and borrow money to the extent of two per cent. They are limited to the borrowing only of two per cent. of the assessed value of the propery. Now, that exists and has always existed since 1874 in townships. That includes townships that are now first and second class, but when the Legislature changed, and threw in another name for a municipality, namely, townships of the second class, the attorneys thought the old law did not carry that provision with it, that there were doubts. And thus to clear up that doubt and to place townships of the second class in the same position with them that they have been in since 1874, we have simply taken the old act and inserted in it townships of the second class. Now, my friend from Lehigh is unduly disturbed. He has been living all this time under a law similar to the one proposed here, but lawyers being very technical and money loaners very careful, there arose some doubt when we created townships of the second class that their loans were not well protected. Thus to secure the right that my friend's township always has had and will always desire, we simply placed in the old act the words "townships of the second class." We have lived under those conditions all these years. It is simply an enabling act.

NAYS—5.

Kuhns, E.G.M.,	Light,	McDermott,	Rothenberger,
	Snavely,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. METZENBACHER asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up House Bill No. 731, file folio 7201, on page 17 of to-day's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 731, entitled:

An Act relating to mutual fire insurance companies providing for assessments upon members or policy holders of such companies and fixing penalties for violation of this act

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. METZENBACHER. Mr. Speaker, this bill is not a department measure in the sense that the department took the iniative in preparing this bill, but this bill was prepared with the assistance and with the approval of the insurance department. The object of the bill is to regulate mutual fire insurance companies for the benefit and the protection of their policy holders. The bill provides that mutual fire insurance companies shall levy an assessment during the month of October of each year sufficiently high to liquidate all lossess and expenses and other indebtedness during that particular year, so that when the policy holders have paid their assessments, they may know that their companies are in good standing up to that time and that they are not carrying their indebtedness from year to year without the knowledge of the policy holder. Now, this bill does not seek in any way to impose any hardship on the mutual companies, and in fact it does not, but it does seek to give some measure of protection to the very large number of mutual policy holders all over this State.

Mr. LENKER. Mr. Speaker, I hold a letter here received from one of my constituents. The letter, I believe, speaks for itself and is as follows:

"I have found on my desk on my return to day from a six days trip on business, a copy of the Amended Metzenbacher Bill No. 731, and have digested it, and find the whole scheme is something we do not need, and have not asked for. We levy our assessments on the last saturday in December, and this Bill asks to change to October, which disarranges our present plan of business.

The Bill contemplates that the Mutual Companies shall keep no cash (reserve fund) on hand to meet emergencies, thus letting the cat out of the bag, that the Stock Companies are behind the scheme to keep the Mutual Fire Insurance Companies always on the verge of bankruptcy, so that the happening of some heavy losses shall send them into the hands of a Receiver, and wind them up—giving the Stock Companies full play to raise their rates, and grind the public for more money than they need—to make larger dividends to their Stockholders. It means that, although not so stated, and we can plainly see the "snake in the grass." No money is to be left over, or on hand for any emergency. This is a very dangerous part of the scheme, although colored with another color, by the alluring bait that they need not assess that year, if the losses do not exceed one-tenth of one per centum of the amount of insurance in force.

Section 2 requires that no debt or loss shall be carried over the year, without making an assessment, or without the consent of the Insurance Commissioner. We have a loss on which we are sued, but the party was arrested for arson, but acquitted by the jury two of them having since been held as having allowed themselves to be tampered with, besides two County Commissioners, and the suspected arsonite was allowed to go scot free; but it looks as if he feared the same witnesses would be brought before another jury which might convict him. But this Bill (Section 2) would compel us to settle the case, (guilty or not guilty), unless the Insurance Commissioner would consent to allow the case to go unsettled.

There is no just reason why the Bill should not be amended by striking out this 2nd section, or making it read that it shall not be operative on supposed arson cases lying unfinished in court.

Section 3, proposes to place a penalty of $500 or not more than $1,000 on a Company, or its officers for violating any of the foregoing provisions of said Bill, as if the Company, or officers thereof were criminals.

This penalty is outrageous, and should be wiped out altogether or so amended as to make the penalty not less than $100 nor more than $200.

The jail sentence shows the villany of the whole scheme, and the animosity of some one behind it, and should be stricken out altogether.

In the last three sessions of the Legislature, the Mutual Fire Insurance policyholders and officials of those Companies have caused the defeat of every measure aimed at their destruction or hamering in their business, which has caused much expense to the Companies, and I had hoped these schemes would stop; but it seems they never weary in their desparate attempts to break down the Mutual Fire Insurance system, until the people are aroused to even a higher pitch of opposition to the determination of the Stock Companies, and their friends in the Legislature to stop this eternal" welfare.

Mr. Speaker, if this is correct the bill should not pass this House.

Mr. METZENBACHER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the letter that the gentleman just read, I wish to state that this bill does not do the things that he has stated. Now, in the first place the month of October has been selected, as the month in which to make the assessments, because the Insurance Department found that most of the assessments were made at that time, and by taking the month of October it would inconvenience the fewest number of companies. Now, some have misinterpreted the second section of the bill. Now, this bill provides that insurance companies must make their assessments some time during the month of October, but they must not delay longer than the first November and after the assessments have been made, they have their own time to collect those assessments as they have now. Now, this bill does not mean that the assessments must be made the first October and collected by the first of November, but the assessments are simply made during the month of October for the year ending the first of October, then they can have sixty days or whatever length of time they choose to collect these assessments. Some opposition has been made to this bill because of that fact, because they have misinterpreted the meaning of the second section. This matter was taken up with the insurance department and, as I said, they have given their approval to this bill; and further they have stated that this is a piece of legislation that we should have had long before this time, as the records in the Insurance Department of many mutual insurance companies will show.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, the whole trouble with this bill, as I see it, is section 2. Section 2 makes it unlawful for any mutual fire insurance company to carry over any loss after the first of November. It reads as follows:

Section 2 It shall be unlawful for any such mutual fire insurance company without the consent of the Insurance Company to carry over after the first day of November in any year and debt of any nature including losses if any without making an assessment as required in section one of this act

Now how are you going to make assessments as required in section one of the act unless you wait until the very end of the month of October? How can you assess all the losses that are going to occur during the month of October? You are told in section one that you make the assessment as of October first, but in section two you say that it is unlawful to carry over any loss which may have occurred during the month of October. I agree with the gentleman from Dauphin that the second section should be stricken out, because you certainly make it unlawful and make the insurance companies responsible for something they cannot guard against under the provisions of this act.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I think it would be well to postpone the bill for I agree with the gentleman from Dauphin that the language of Section two is not quite fair. It was unintentional, of course, but this bill is intended to do something that is much needed, and the thought of the friend of his who wrote him is very much mistaken, I think. The trouble is as we all know, that sometimes companies, whether they are the standard or mutual—of course the standards are now carefully supervised and they must carry a reserve and must comply with the law. They are investigated and must make annual reports. Mutual companies do not. Frequently some of these mutual companies get back badly and people later on find that they have a heavy assessment laid upon them. The intention of the bill is that at the end of each year the assessment should be laid to cover whatver deficiency exists. It is not intended to work a hardship, which perhaps it will as the section now reads, because it is true a loss might occur only a few days prior to the 31st of October and then under the strict interpretation of the bill—perhaps you could not call it an offense and I don't think anybody would enforce the law under that condition, yet I believe that ought to be remedied. I also realize that in this State, as many of you know, some mutual concerns have allowed themselves to drift along and have accumulated a debt and afterwards the insured wakens up to the fact that he is compelled to pay a heavy assessment. This should not happen. If this bill is corrected in that particular and put on the statute books it would prevent such conditions arising. I suggest that the bill be postponed for the present and amended in that respect.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the gentleman from Delaware and the House, to what I think is a misunderstanding that he has with reference to that provision and if I do not convince him I want to conclude what I have to say with a motion to postpone the matter. I think, however, that I can convince him.

Section one provides that the assessment shall cover all losses incurred up to October 1st and Section two provides that the indebtedness shall not be carried after November 1st without having made an assessment as required by Section one. So far as I understand this the assessments are for the year up to October 1st and they must be made before November 1st. Now if I am not correct in that, I want to join with the gentleman from Delaware in postponing this bill.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I want to withdraw my suggestion for a postponement. The bill is all right in the shape it is in, and I thank the gentleman for the explanation.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, we have had in this State experience with the Susquehanna Mutual Fire Insurance Company and with the Iron City Mutual that we all remember, because they were state-wide in their operations. In our county at the present time we have another company that is imposing very seriously upon the people who were insured even thirty-five years ago and other localities are having the same experience. The practice with some mutual fire insurance companies has been this: That one year they have a rather heavy loss and they feel that they do not want to let their policy holders realize how big the loss was, so instead of making an assessment sufficient to pay that loss they make an assessment to pay fifty to seventy-five per cent. of it, carrying the balance over into the next year in the hope that there will be no losses the next year and that a moderate assessment might get them out of it. The next year they have as heavy losses as the preceding year and that indebtedness keeps accumulating, and in our county today we are having an experience with a mutual fire insurance company, a small one it is true, with fifteen thousand dollars of libailities, where the costs of the receivership have already been nine thousand dollars and the assessments are being made on policies clear back to 1878. Men have had policies in that company and have had in other companies and they have cancelled their policies and paid all the assessments made and thought their indebtedness was liquidated and five, ten or thirty years afterwards that company goes into the hands of a receivor and then the receiver makes assessments on policies that were issued thirty years ago, just because there was an insufficient assessment made to pay the losses when they occurred. In a mutual insurance company every policy holder is a partner and under the law he is bound to pay his share of any losses that are incurred and it makes no difference to him whether he pays that loss this year or in five years in so far as it may affect him financially; but when that accumulates and a failure occurs, there is added to that one hundred per cent penalty in the way of costs and expenses and then his losses are doubled up and any one knows the burden to be called upon to pay for something that should have been paid long ago and would gladly have been paid at the time the loss occurred.

I believe this is the longest step forward we can take in order to protect the policy holders in mutual insurance companies and to protect the companies themselves, and it has that dual purpose.

As to the point made by the gentleman from Lehigh (Mr. Miller) when he suggested the second section of the bill be stricken out, I think he will find, just as the gentleman from Delaware has discovered, that he was in error and that the only thing necessary is that the assessment shall be made during that month. The assessment for the year, up to the first of October must be made before the first of November.

The gentleman from Dauphin refers to the amount of cash on hand. There is nothing in this bill that will prevent them from having a cash balance. This law fixes a minimum assessment. It requires that they shall assess at least an amount sufficient to pay the indebtedness and they can assess an mount in excess of that so as to carry a cash balance on hand all the time, if they want to, and I trust that the House will join in support of this bill in order to protect not only the policy holders, but the companies themselves.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1842 (Senate No. 359), entitled:

An Act authorizing fraternal beneficial associations organized under the laws of this Commonwealth to provide in their constitution and by-laws for the payment of funeral expenses of its members from the amount due on the beneficial certificates of the deceased member

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides that benefits from Mutual societies shall be distributed in part by the society, or in other words, when a person is insured in a Mutual beneficial society, the society has the right to take a part of the benefits going to the estate of the insured and conduct the funeral and pay the expenses of the funeral, out of the money which should go to the family of the deceased. I think that when anyone insures in an insurance company he expects the benefits to go to his family, and if the society is to conduct the funeral, they should provide for it in some other way. I ask the members of this House to vote against the bill.

Section 6 It shall be proper for said cities to provide by ordinance for the exercise of all rights and powers herein conferred upon the City Planning Commission by a Park Commission or kindred municipal Bureau or Commission authorized under existing laws And no person holding office under the government of any of said cities except the mayor members of councils or Commissioners shall be ineligible to serve as a member of a City Planning Commission

Section 7 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 5, line 6, by striking out the word "five" and inserting the word "three."
Also by striking out the word "five" same section, line 25, and inserting the word "three."
Also same section by striking out word "municipality" line 27 and 28 and inserting therefor the words "city of the third class."
Title, line 10, after the word "Department" insert the words "and authorizing the exercise of the powers herein provided by a Park or other Municipal Commission"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill be prepared for final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 396, entitled:

An Act to promote the public health by providing for one day of rest in seven for employes in certain employments and making a violation of its provisions to be a misdemeanor and providing penalties for the violation thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. HEIDINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industries.

Mr. HEMMINGER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1787, entitled:

An Act relating to indebtedness incurred by cities of the first class of this Commonwealth to provide for the construction and improvement of subways tunnels railways elevated railways and other transit facilities of wharves and docks and for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves and docks providing that interest during the period of construction on expenditures for such construction improvement and reclamation shall be included in the cost thereof and that bonds may be issued to provide therefor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walnut.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walnut, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman from Philadelphia explain to the members of the House what provision there is in this bill with regard to the taking care of the sinking fund charge.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, there is a provision in this bill that the sinking fund charges shall be taken care of out of the bonds issued for that purpose, to be paid out of the principal.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, the passage of this bill provides that interest on the bonds would be paid out of the principal is that it?.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the bill is unconstitutional. It violates section eight, article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which provides as follows:

Section 8 The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenue in excess of the interest on said debt or debts and of the annua linstallments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted: Provided, That a sinking fund for their cancellation shall be established and maintained.

Mr. Speaker, I contend that this act is unconstitutional because it permits the payment of the interest in carrying charges of the bonds authorized by the act to be paid out of the principal; the provisions in the act with regard to earnings of the subways of whatever improvements are designated in the act. It has not provided for the payment of interest out of the earnings nor is there any provision in the act which provides for a sinking fund to meet these additional charges. I therefore contend that it is in direct violation of that portion of the constitution.

The SPEAKER. What does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walnut, have to suggest in regard to the point of order that has been raised?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, my contention is that the act is not unconstitutional. The amendment to the Constitution passed in 1911 provided, as read by Mr. Wilson. When we needed in Philadelphia a subway, elevated railroad, wharves and docks and improvements that will make returns on the money invested it was decided to be proper to permit the city to exceed its seven per cent. limitation by providing as was stated in this amendment that when the improvements pay a return equal to the sinking fund charges and the interest upon the funds that then the city could exceed, for the purpose of completing these improvements its seven per cent. constitutional limitation. Immediately after the adoption of this amendment the question was presented in connection with the making of certain improvements and the point was at once raised that there was no possibility of determining or providing for the interest upon the bonds that would be issued upon this amendment until after the work was completed. The act I have here introduced is presented upon the possibility that this particular portion of the constitutional amendment may be provided for and that the interest of the bonds during the process of construction of the improvements shall be paid out the principal. That is the only purpose and it provides as intended that the requirements of the Constitution shall be taken care of out of the principal during the times that the improvements are under course of construction. After the improvement is completed and the improvement itself takes care of the interest and the sinking fund the charges upon the bonds issued for that purpose will cover that point. I see no reason at all why these bonds would not be valid under the Constitution. Under the very worst the court need not decide that this action in itself is unconstitutional and I would hold that it would not so decide because if the court would decide that this act did not be constitutional, I think the act itself has no connection whatever on the face of the act with this particular constitutional provision

My point, Mr. Speaker—I believe I can probably make it more clear—is this: That under this bill there is no reference whatever to the constitutional amendment. It merely provides in broad terms that when a municipality issues bonds for this particular purpose, that the interest and sinking fund charges upon those bonds may be paid out of the principal.

The SPEAKER. May the Chair inquire whether this act relates exclusively to all bonds issued over the seven per cent. limit?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, it does not.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I was about to say that the constitutional amendment of 1911 which provided that and which applied to the City of Philadelphia has been found unworkable because there can be no income derived from the utility or the improvement until it is constructed, and consequently the work would have to be undertaken within the seven per cent. limit. Now, the constitutional amendment of 1911, which provided for the borrowing of unlimited sums of money, has been found unworkable in Philadelphia because there is no way of meeting the necessary charges on those bonds that are issued for the construction of this public utility and which, of course, could not return any income sufficient to meet the charges on the bonds until the subway was actually in operation. Now, it seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that the section of the Constitution which has direct application to this point before the House is Section 10 of Article 9, which says that "Any county, township, school district or other municipality incurring any indebtedness shall, at or before the time of so doing, provide for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest and also the principal thereof within thirty years." I think that constitutional provision absolutely prohibits the payment of the necessary charges on the bonds out of the capital funds, because, as I read that constitutional provision, at the time of the issuance of the bonds, there must be contemporaneously established a sinking fund in order to pay the actual charges on those bonds, and I therefore think that this bill, which was in a sense an enabling act to carry out the deficiencies of the constitutional amendment of 1911, is in itself unconstitutional as violating Section 10 of Article 9. It is very regrettable, because in Philadelphia we are all a unit that something be done in the way of improving our transportation facilities, but I think this bill,—and I make the point for the information of the Chair and the House—I think this bill unfortunately is in conflict with Section 10.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia on this particular point, I would like to call the Chair's attention to the wording of Section 10 and also Section 8. Section 8 being a later section of the Constitution. Section 8 provides that "The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district"; Section 10 expressly excludes the word "city" from the classification of governmental units covered by the section. It provides for "any county, township, school district or other municipality." I therefore argue that the term "other municipality" would refer to governmental agencies of the same class as those immediately preceding, and further, what I think is this: That there is nothing in Section 10 which provides for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest and also the principal thereof, referring to an indebtedness of these governmental agencies within thirty years. There is nothing in this act, whatever, which would indicate that such a tax was not to be levied. There is a provision in here which, so far as it appears from the act, is a mere matter of bookkeeping which will have to be taken care of by the municipality. If the municipality is under the obligation to levy a tax to take care of the bonds issued under this constitutional amendment, there is nothing in this act which would indicate that they are not called upon to levy that tax. We are not arguing as a matter of legislation that the municipalities shall not levy a tax. We merely provide as a matter of bookkeeping the manner in which the interest upon those bonds can be paid.

BILLS POSTPONED.

Mr. J. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, this is an important act, so far as Philadelphia is concerned, and I do not think we ought to decide this question haphazardly. I am perfectly willing that further consideration of this bill be postponed and be made a special order for Tuesday next at 11 o'clock, at which time the question can be thoroughly considered, and I make that motion.

HOUSE BILL NO. 1787 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I am agreeable to that, provided we make it Monday evening at 9.30.

Mr. J. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I have no objections to Monday.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. Bill No. 1606, as follows:

An Act to prevent misrepresentation or misleading estimates to induce the taking of a policy of insurance or misrepresentations or incomplete comparisons of policies intended to induce the lapse or forfeiture of policies of insurance prescribing penalties for violations of this act making provisions for compelling the production and repealing existing laws

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That no insurance company association or society or any officer director agent or broker or solicitor thereof shall issue circulate or use or cause or permit to be issued circulated or used any written or oral statement or circular misrepresenting the terms of any policy issued or to be issued by such company or make an estimate with intent to deceive of the future dividends payable under any such policy

QUESTION ON PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I understand that on House Bill No. 228, the Civil Service Bill, my vote was challenged by my worthy colleague, Mr. McNichol. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McNICHOL. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOSS. On what grounds did you challenge my vote?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, as I stated, upon information received to the effect that the gentleman was not present when his name was called.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, may I ask where he got the information.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, as I stated to the Chair, from gentlemen who stood in the back of the House, supplemented by a further statement that he was met leaving the House at the time the roll was in progress.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state that I was within the rails of this House when my name was called, and I answered very distinctly, and if my worthy friend, Mr. McNichol, doubts my word, I can prove it by my colleague, Mr. James J. Campbell, that I was on the floor of the House, and if that is not sufficient, I will produce an affidavit to satisfy him.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I stated publicly that I would be perfectly satisfied if the gentleman whose vote was in question would come forth stating that he was within the hall of the House, that I would accept his word. That was my statement made to the Chair and to the House. Now that he has made that statement, there can be no further objection on my part.

Mr. GOSS. Mr. Speaker, the explanation is satisfactory.

The SPEAKER. It has been suggested, in view of the fact that the full committee on Judiciary General will have to spend the whole evening and considerable of the night in considering a bill of great importance, the public utilities bill, which we desire to have reported out in the morning, that we continue our session until about 6.30 and then adjourn until morning.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1928, entitled:

An Act repealing an act entitled "An Act for the better security of the city of Philadelphia from dangers incident to the refining or improper and negligent storage of petroleum benzine benzole or naphtha" approved the second day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five and a supplement thereto entitled "A Supplement to an act for the better security of the city of Philadelphia from dangers incident to the refining or improper and negligent storage of petroleum benzine benzole or naphtha approved March second one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five" approved the twenty-fourth day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five and a further supplement thereto entitled "An Act supplementary to an act relative to the manufacture and storage of petroleum in the city of Philadelphia approved March twenty-fourth one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five and to extend the boundaries of the same" approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the law governing the present use of gasoline or naphtha was enacted in 1865 at a time when gasoline or naphtha was not so commonly employed as at present. The law referred to permits not more than one barrel, 55 gallons, on any premises in Philadelphia at one time, no matter what precaution may be exercised in its safe storage and handling.

Appreciating the inadequacy of this old law and the hardship to many citizens through its enforcement, this bill, if passed will free Philadelphia to reasonably regulate the storage and handling of gasoline to meet present day requirements.

By repealing this section the councils will have the power to properly regulate this storage, by ordinance.

There are many places storing gasoline in a haphazard way, greatly endangering the neighborhoods adjacent thereto. The passage of this bill will correct this, and will allow the city to acquire effective control over the situation.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. GEARY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GEARY. Mr. Speaker, I was absent when the vote was taken on House Bill No. 612 (Senate No. 84), and I desire to state that I would have voted Aye, if I would have been present and ask that it be noted on the record.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Clerk will be directed to enter the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geary's statement, in the Journal immediately following the roll call, on House Bill No. 612 (Senate 84).

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1627, entitled:

An Act relating to the issuing of policies of insurance prohibiting the giving or offering or receiving of rebates or inducements of any kind not specified in the policy with certain exceptions prescribing penalties for violations of this act and making provision for compelling the production of evidence and repealing existing laws

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, I would like the author of this bill to give us a slight explanation, if he can do so in a few words, as to the necessity for this bill. I understand from the provisions of the earlier part of the bill that it provides against rebating, and there is already a law on the books against rebating and the latter part of the bill simply goes on repealing the law already in force; now what is the necessity for this change?

Mr. KEEPORT. Mr. Speaker, this bill comes from the Department. They have found in several cases that when they were trying to enforce the law there was irregularities crept in there and they have prepared this bill in order to overcome those weak points. That is the object of the bill. It comes directly from the Department itself.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

An Act prohibiting the conversion or embezzlement of premium or return premiums under policies of insurance by agents solicitors or brokers providing that violations of this act shall constitute the crime of embezzlement and shall be punishable as embezzlements by agents and brokers are now by low punishable and repealing existing acts

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman who introduced this bill to explain to the House whether or not it is not a step backward to the old imprisonment for debt law.

Mr. KEEPORT. Mr. Speaker, I do not look at it in that way. This is another of the bills in which the Department is interested and asked to have introduced in this form. I did it at their request.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not often disagree with many of the Departments but I certainly disagree with them if they are advocating this bill. The truth of the matter is that every man who wants to do business, either an insurance company or any other line of business, and desires to send out his agents to work for him, the laws of this State give him ample protection. They appoint their agents to secure their money for them, and he can demand a bond from them if he doubts their integrity. Those who are in the insurance business and have agents collecting money for them sometimes do the same as I do. Some times I have as much as $1,500.00 advanced which I must pay to the insurance company every month because they demand monthly settlements, though in reality I am selling insurance myself. In this way there is a lot of money standing out with the agents, and perhaps in this State sometimes, some agent may make some unfortunate investment at the time that he owes the insurance company some money. The insurance company under this act can prosecute him for embezzlement and put him in prison. In my judgment I do not believe that the Legislature wants to do that, but that is practically what this says.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

THURSDAY, May 8th, 1913.

The House met at 10 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

The Chaplain (Rev. J. E. Wright) offered the following prayer:

O God, we pray for that class of men throughout our Commonwealth to whom Thou has entrusted great riches, with all the responsibilities which wealth entails. The men who occupy large places and control vast interests and exert wide influence. It is so easy for such to forget the obligations which wealth entails, to lose sight of that Scripture, that unto whom much is given, of them much will be required, to drift away from sympathy with their fellowmen, to become absorbed in indulgence and pleasure and selfish interests. May it not be so with this class of men in this Commonwealth. May they remember that riches and honor come of thee; that wealth is a trust, a sacred trust. May they not forget that a man's life consisteth, not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth. May they do justly and love mercy and walk humbly with their God. May they consecrate their wealth to beneficent purposes. May they be sympathetic and brotherly and anxious to serve. And whilst we thus pray we would not forget ourselves. We would ask that whatever gifts any of us have received, whether they be larger or lesser, we may consecrate those gifts to be devoted to Thy service. And we ask all this in the name of Him Who taught us to say: Our Father Who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy Name; Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, for Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the proceedings of yesterday, May 7th, when on motion of Mr. Matt the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. HOBBS. I ask leave of absence for myself after two o'clock to-day for the balance of the week.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections; what are the gentleman's reasons?

Mr. HOBBS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to explain briefly why. In the first place, I would like to state to the members of the House that I have not been absent from one day's session or from a period of any day's session of this Legislature without leave of absence, and then only for the reason of ill health. While I am not pleading ill health at the present time, I state that my health is not first class at the present time, and I feel that if I was permitted to return to my home this afternoon and remain there during Friday, Saturday and Sunday that I will be better able to go on with the work of next week's sessions.

The SPEAKER. The objections appear to be withdrawn.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman anticipate going fishing?

Mr. HOBBS. Mr. Speaker, no sir.

The SPEAKER. The House gives unanimous consent.

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 41.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Senate Resolution No. 41.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 41.

Requesting Congress to enact such legislation as will be necessary for the construction of a system of paved public highways connecting the Capitols of the several States of the Union with the National Capitol and with each other and also with the principal National Parks

Whereas A uniform system of National Public Highways or roads connecting the Capitols of the several States of the Union with the Nationals Capitols at Washington and with each other and also with the principal National Parks will vastly promote commerce between the several States and reduce the cost of transportation thereof facilitate and cheaped travel and social intercourse between the people discouraging sectionalism and render the entire people more cosmopolitan intellectually morally and politically aid the farmer in marketing his produce and make farm ife more agreeable attractive and profitable induce Americans to see and know America beautify all parts of the Union intensify industrial activities encourage good road building throughout the continent and bring the entire people countless blessings conveiences and joys known only to a highly developed country and

Whereas To secure uniformity thoroughness and economy In the construction fitness and adaptability of grades and avoidance of such local controversies in the selection of routes as would probably delay if not defeat the entire enterprise the cost of such a system of highways being beyond the probable financial resources of the several States it would be necessary that it would be constructed at the expense and under the supervision of the General Government now therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Honorable Congress of the United States is respectfully urged to enact suitable legislation for the location and construction under the supervision and by the General Government of a system of National Highways or roads which shall connect the capitols of the several States of the Union with the National Capitol at Washington and with each other and also with the principal National Parks that such National Highways be construed on firm concrete bases with hard surfaces and as nearly dustless as possible that they be located solely with regard to the greatest public good and feasibility of route and grades and be it further

Resolved That Congress is earnestly urged to provide in such legislation means of raising the necessary money for the location and construction of such National Highway by the restoration of the internal revenue tax of one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine on tobacco or in some other manner as to it shall seem meet and proper and that the location and construction of such a system of highways be commenced as means can be provided throughout the country generally without giving priority to any section or locations and it is further

Resolved That a copy of this memorial be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Senate and to the House of Representatives of the United States and be it further

Resolved That copies thereof be transmitted by the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennnsylvania to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of Pennsylvania with the request that they use every effort within their power to bring about a speedy action for the accomplishment of the ends and purposes herein indicated

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I was in the anti-room and did not hear all of this read, but it is a big proposition and I do not think the House should act hastily on this matter. The matter of national road construction is a pretty big proposition and the last Congress appointed a commission to investigate the matter and that commission has been investigating the matter between the sessions and I read in the paper just a few days ago that Senator Bourne had made a report and they recommended some scheme of highway improvement based on a number of facts and this resolution puts the Legislature of Pennsylvania on record as petitioning our representatives and Senators to a definite system; whereas it would be better, in my estimation, to trust to their judgment to consider the information given them as a result of this investigation and then act according to their best judgment. I do not like to take the position of opposing this resolution, but if it be in order.

RESOLUTION POSTPONED.

Mr. SPEAKER, I move that further consideration of this resolution be postponed for the present.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. Speaker, the American Congress of Roads that met in Washington passed a resolution similar to this and have asked every State to adopt this policy of simply a memorial to Congress. It creates no jobs, no increase of salary in it and no appropriations, nothing in it only a simple memorial to Congress that the great State of Pennsylvania is in favor of good roads. That is all the bill means.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, if that were the entire purpose of the resolution I would not raise my voice against it. But I think it is to permit the National Government to insert a definite system of highways to connect the capitols. As I understand the recommendation of this Commission from the National Congress, they have in mind several systems that are feasible. It would be distributed among the States in a practicable and definite way, and it is for that reason that I make this motion, and I think it would be the wiser plan to adopt the motion and postpone action for the present.

On the question recurring?

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER announced that the yeas seemed to have it.

Whereupon,

A division was called for, and fifty-eight gentlemen having voted in the affirmative and forty-six in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and the motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. Will the House dispense with the Committee of the Whole on all bills to be considered? Is there any objections? The Chair hears none, and the Committee of the Whole on all bills is dispensed with.

surance to proceed against any corporation company or association violating section one of this act to annul its charter
Section 5 This act shall take effect immediately
Section 6 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent are hereby repealed
An Act to prevent fire insurance companies entering into or maintaining pools trusts conspiracies or agreements to control rates of insurance and prescribing penalty et cetera

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I object to this bill. It is something like that Missouri bill. It is one of the most vicious bills that ever was presented to this Legislature. If you will simply read it, you will see what the bill is. It has simply one specific purpose and I move that we disapprove of the bill.

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, the object of this bill is to prevent an agreement of a corporation or a trust company; they have a minimum rate but they have no maximum rate. The object is to make them come down and stop this pooling business.

BILL STRICKEN FROM THE CALENDAR.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the intention of the Public Utilities Bill is to cover just such things as this bill is aimed at. Whether or not it is all embodied in the bill, I am not able to say but I am convinced it is and it was the intention so to do. This bill as it is drawn is one that, if passed, within two years would absolutely prevent any one in the State of Pennsylvania from obtaining insurance because of the restrictions which are placed upon the Insurance companies. I don't speak as the representative of an insurance company or any combination of insurance companies but I do know that the dancer pays the fiddler and that the rates will be so raised under the restrictions provided in this bill that no one can afford to carry insurance. You will find that the insurance companies which stand upon a fairly staple business foundation will absolutely refuse to do business in the State of Pennsylvania under this bill for the reason that the field for insurance is too open to allow them even to knock at the door when the doors are not only closed but barred. This bill should be stricken from the calendar and I move, therefore, that this bill be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The bill is not agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 419, as follows:

An Act relating to the advertising of proposed amendments to the Constitution of this Commonwealth
Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That hereafter in advertising proposed amendments to the Constitution of this Commonwealth the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall cause the same to be advertised in not more than two newspapers in each county
Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1926 (Senate Bill No. 772), entitled:

An Act to amend the third section of an act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spiritous malt or brewed liquors of any admixture thereof approved the thirteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven by regulating the refusal of licenses by the court and by regulating appeals from such refusal

The first section was read as folows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That an act act to amend the third section of an act entitled "An Act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof" approved the thirteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven which section reads as follows to wit

"Section 3 Such licenses may be granted only by the court of quarter sesions of the proper county and shall be for one year from a date fixed by rule or standing order of said court The said court shall fix by rule or by standing order a time at which application for said licenses shall be heard at which time all persons applying or making objections to applications for license smay be heard by evidence petition remonstrance or counsel provided That licenses under previous laws shall not be granted later than June thirtieth of this yea" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows to wit

Section 3 Such licenses may be granted only by the court of quarter sessions of the proper county and shall be for one year from a date fixed by rule or standing order of said court The said court shall fix by rule or by standing order a time at which application for said licenses shall be heard at which time all persons apply or making objections to applications for licenses may be heard by evidence petition remonstrance or counsel Provided That the said court shall find the facts upon which a refusal of an applicant who has been granted license for the two years immediately preceding the third or subsequent application of such applicant and file the same of record and specially find whether or not such applicant has willfully and intentionally sold vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors to minors Intentional sale to minors by such applicant shall be legal ground for refusing said third or subsequent application of said applicant Such applicant shall have the right of appeal to the superior court from an order refusing such third or subsequent application and on such appeal the testimony and evidence for and against such application shall be part of the record

On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

The amendments were read by the Clerk.

Amend section one, as follows:
page 2, line 28, strike out "a refusal" and insert instead thereof, "it grants or refuses the application."
Page 2, line 22, strike out "willfully and intentionally."
Page 2, line 37, after "refusing" insert "or granting."

On the question.
Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, it is only fair to the sponsor of this bill to give you the reason for the amendments. This simply grants the right of remonstrance to appeal to a higher court the same as an applicant for licenses and for that reason I offer this amendment.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I request a second reading of the amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read again.

(The amendments were again read by the Clerk).

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. speaker, speaking for the sponsor of this bill I want to say in all fairness concerning the proposed amendment which has been offered by the gentleman from Union, Mr. Showalter: I want to tell you the purpose of this bill, so that the House may clearly understand what it is. It is simply this: Under the present rules the license court regulating licenses has a right to grant or to refuse any application for any license without giving any cause whatsoever. Under the provisions of this bill a man who has had a license for two years and has a hearing in court and if that license or application be refused, the court shall state the cause and that is for this reason: Upon the causes shown by the record he has his right of appeal to a higher court to say whether or not the causes for the refusal have been sufficient to warrant the court in the action that it has taken. Now, there is one man who is injured and only one in the refusal of an application for a license and that is the man who is the applicant. We all know that it is a matter of fact that many men who go into the liquor business go into it at great expense. They fix up their places elegently and spend thousands of dollars, perhaps, for the purpose of beautifying and making the surroundings inviting to the people who go there. This involves the fixing up of cafes and dining rooms, all equipped in keeping with the standing of the place, if it is first class, and consequently he will spend thousands of dollars in so doing.

At the end of the first year, he gets a second license or a renewal of his license for one more year. At the end of the third year, improving his surroundings, he succeeds perhaps in obtaining a third license. Under the present law, at the end of the third year, or upon application for renewal for the third time or a fourth year, the court without any cause whatever say, "no," the license is refused and he is down and out of all the money that he has spent because of this act. We know that a place that is equipped for a saloon is for a saloon only, and the equipments which go with a saloon do not go with a grocery store or dry good store or millinery store or jewelry store or anything else. It is a saloon. Now, under the provisions of this bill, that applicant would be taken care of in this way, as suggested in the amendments, and all the court would have to show in a record would be to show that the cause of refusal was sufficient to warrant the court in so doing upon the facts presented in the case. Now, as to these amendments. These amendments, if you please, Mr. Speaker, go to this fact, that not only as I read it—and I want to be strictly honest in this matter—as I read it the amendments go to this fact and to my mind it is clearly their intent absolutely to kill the purposes of this bill. If an applicant be granted a license, if I be one of those people in the community and am interested and have entered myself on record in his particular case by remonstrance, petition or otherwise, if I be interested to that extent and that applicant be granted a license, then I in turn have a right to appeal to a higher court to show why the license should not have been refused. Now, that I say is unjust. I say it is unjust for this reason. I say that in any community, I do not care where it is; you can take it in the lower wards of Pittsburgh where there are very little said against the liquor interests, or you can take it in the lower wards of Philadelphia, where there is very little sentiment against the liquor interests, you can take it in any of the large cities where there is very little sentiment against the liquor interests; then, in that event, Mr. Speaker, there will always be some busy-body who seeks to establish a reputation for doing great things who will appear in every license case that may be filled in any of the courts, appear on record, if you please, and if he be not satisfied with the granting or the issuance of the license, and he would not be if he were that narrow; if he be not satisfied with the issuance of the license which that court hands down, then, and in that event, under the provisions of the amendments in this case, he files his appeal with a higher court and closes the doors of the place up until the appeal is finally determined. Now, I care not whether you favor or whether you do not favor the liquor interests, and whether you are vitally opposed to the liquor interests. I ask you whether or not that is fair. The court, mark you in issuing any license says that that place is a necessity under the law. And yet some individual seeking to take advantage of those provisions which are handed over by these proposed amendments, ties up and will tie up every applicant that they may see fit in any county throughout the entire State. These amendments, Mr. Speaker, and I am not speaking of the general merits of the bill at this time, but these amendments in the matter of fairness, in the face of fairness to the interests at stake, in the face of fairness to yourselves as members of this House, these amendments should not be injected into this bill. They should not be allowed to stand, and I ask the House to support my position.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, it is a plain state of affairs that while a license is pending in the license court, there are two interested parties, namely the applicant for license, as well as the remonstrant; while just as soon as a case has been decided in the quarter sessions court granting a liquor license, there is only one interested party. Now, why is it just as soon as a case is carried to a higher court, that the one party is dropped. I say it is not fair; they have rights and ought to be protected in the higher as well as in the lower courts, and I ask this House to sustain the amendments.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Union, Mr. Showalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHOWALTER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman in all fairness whether or not the people who oppose a license on an appeal by the applicant for this license which has been refused, whether or not under the provisions of this bill or any other law that is upon the statutes of the State of Pennsylvania today loses his place in the higher court?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I didn't get the gentleman's question.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, if under this bill an applicant has been refused and carries his case to a higher court, does he thereby close the doors on the people who have opposed his license so far as court procedure is concerned?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, it certainly does not give the right of appeal to the remonstrant, and that is what I do not like. This bill simply provides that the applicant for license can appeal. Now, I desire to give the remonstrant a chance to appeal as well as the applicant.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman further. I wish to ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if under the provisions of the amendment which he seeks to inject, any man could not appeal from the issuance of any license by the court and thereby close up that place of business until the higher court had passed upon that license.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, as the law stands at the present time, I suppose he could.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, as the law is proposed by the amendment is my question.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would say, as the law stands at the present time, he cannot, but at this session of the Legislature the gentleman from Pittsburgh, Mr. Stein, introduced a bill providing that a person who was the holder of a license could hold his place of business open during the time the application for the license was pending. If that bill is passed, it most certainly would not close up the place of business while this remonstrance was in the higher courts.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has actually dodged my question, which is very clear, and I consider very fair. I asked him the question whether or not, under the provisions of the amendments which he seeks to inject into this bill, if, when the court has handed down a decision, some individual who had appeared in one of those cases as a remonstrant attempted to appeal that case to a higher court, whether or not the applicant against whom he was making the appeal would not be closed until the higher court had handed down its decision?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, there is absolutely nothing said in this bill concerning the closing of any hotel or licensed place during the time the application is pending in the lower court, or even if the case is taken up on appeal there is nothing whatever said.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman further. Is the gentleman an attorney?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I am.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, then, does not the gentleman know that a license is issued but for one year and at the end of that year it either has to be renewed or the place has to be closed. Does he as an attorney know that?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I was trying to explain to the gentleman a while ago that as the law stands they must close their place of business during the time an application is pending, but I qualified my statement by saying, that under the Stein bill he would not be compelled to close his place of business.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is talking about an entirely different condition. This bill is in relation to the hearings which are held in license court annually. The Stein bill has already passed and I believe has been signed by His Excellency, the Governor, which makes the law universal instead of a court rule throughout the State, allowing a place in case of a transfer to stay open until the transfer is made. Now that condition, Mr. Speaker, prevailed because there was no law against it. That condition prevailed in many sections of the State, while in other sections, Mr. Speaker, the court required the placed to be closed during the pendency of the transfer. Now, that is entirely wiped out. But this, Mr. Speaker, relates to the entire list of hearings, the annual hearings, and that is always held, as the Speaker knows and as those members who know anything about the running of our courts know, that our annual hearing is always held near the close of the license period, the time covered by the license. In the city of Pittsburgh, we get through along about the first day of May, or rather the last day of April. A man's privileges under his original license expires. Now, I will try to get a direct answer, if you please, out of the gentleman. Under such conditions, if the hearings of the licenses to be handed down held before the middle of the month preceding the time at which the new license is to take effect, if under such conditions some remonstrant appeals to a higher court because a license has been granted, what becomes of the place? Is it closed up or does it stay open?

Mr. G. A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Allen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALLEN. Most certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. G. A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Allegheny understand that the taking of an appeal by the remonstrant would prevent the applicant from keeping his hotel open pending the appeal to the superior court?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I said a moment ago that I thought that it did, and I was asking the gentleman from Union, but failed to elicit an answer, for his judgment in the matter. I think that it would be closed.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I understand then that the gentleman from Allegheny maintains as a proposition of law that the taking of an appeal by one of the remonstants would act as a supersedeas and prevent the vesting of a license in the applicant?

Mr. ALLEN. I say I think it would.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. I have to differ, Mr. Speaker, with the gentleman from Allegheny and I say as a proposition of law that the taking of such an appeal would not act as a supersedeas unless the Superior Court would so order. The result would be that when the court below granted the license the hotel keeper could open his place of business and keep it open until the appeal was disposed of in the Superior Court. There is absolutely nothing in the law as it now stands, and there would be nothing in the law if these amendments were adopted, to prevent the hotel keeper from keeping his place of business open while the appeal was being disposed of, and I challenge the gentleman from Allegheny to produce any authority to sustain him in his position.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I care not what the position may be in relation to the matter. I am not convinced that I am wrong I may be wrong, but the Lord knows we are not always right. But Mr. Speaker I do know this, that if these amendments are injected into the bill that every man who has been issued a license by any court can be hounded and hounded by a single hound dog in any community he sees fit to take his appeals in the various cases, where he may appear for remonstrance; and I do know better, Mr. Speaker, if you please, that the people who take advantage of this, many of them are paid people who go out simply for the purpose of blackmailing under the present system, and if you open the doors much wider to the system of blackmail we would be taken advantage of under the provisions of this act whereby any one could go in and make an appeal and there isn't a man who would have a license issued to him in the State of Pennsylvania, if he runs his place as clean as the law provides and then cleaner and then have it laundered to make it that much cleaner, that he would not be safe from the attack of such scoundrels. I know that, Mr. Speaker, and any reasonable man on the floor of this House that is honest with himself knows the same thing.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would say in my experience as a lawyer I have never known fellows so anxious to take an appeal simply for the fun of the thing because in taking an appeal you must give a bond and if you fail in your appeal you will be liable to suffer loss and I don't think any person will take an appeal in the case of a liquor remonstrance unless there is some good reason for it.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Union further and ask him is there anything in this bill that provides what kind of a bond or that any bond should be given on an appeal?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, there is nothing said concerning a bond in this case, but it is the usual practice that when an appeal is taken the bond is filed.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman further what the bond would cover in a case of this kind.

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would say it would be for the discretion of the court what amount should be fixed, and I would also say that if the remonstrants should take an appeal it is my opinion that the licenses would not have to be granted during the pending of an appeal and the bond would cover the damage that might be suffered.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman whether or not there is any provision in this bill that says the court shall fix the amount of the bond?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I do not think there is. I know there is not, but it is in the discretion of the court to fix the amount of the bond.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, we have heard a great deal in this session in the discussions on the liquor problem about the Brooks' High License Law. It has been lauded to the skies by the gentlemen in favor of the liquor element. Now here comes along a proposition to amend the Brooks' High License Law, and what is the purpose of the amendment? It proposes that when the court refuses a license, even though he gives the statutory cause or reason, that the applicant for the license can appeal to the higher court and the Supreme or Superior Court can grant a license over the head of the lower court. Now it seems to me that the gentlemen who have so lauded the Brooks' High License law are backing water or getting into reverse gear and it is a proposition that we should not adopt and I for one am in favor of fighting this out right now.

I therefore move, Mr. Speaker, that this bill be dropped from the calendar.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I call for the yeas and nays.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I second the call.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not fuly agree with the position in which the gentleman from Tioga presents this question to the House. The proposition as I understand—it is true under the Brooks' High License Law that the licensee has to come before the court every year to know whether he can continue in business. He has large interests at stake and under the present Brooks' High License Law—I don't know that the gentleman can call attention to anybody particularly lauding the Brooks' High License Law—they have simply compared it with the other propositions that come before the House and many of us feel that the proposition that the gentleman supports is not an improvement—not that we feel the Brooks' High License Law is perfect, because I do not think so or never said so, but I do think that when I have a property interest at stake and I do think the gentleman from Tioga, if he had a large property interest at stake—and it is the property interest that is at stake here,—it is not a question of local option, or not a temperance question at all. The question is a property right question and it is nothing else, and it means this: That under the present system the court without giving any reason, can dismiss an applicant and the gentlemen know that there are factional feelings and conditions that sometimes cloud the real issue and the gentleman knows the judges are not immune to certain influences. I do not mean any corrupt influences, but I mean by bias. They are only human and I would like the gentleman to tell the House whether he would like to be deprived of the right of appeal to the higher court when he had a property interest at stake. I know he would not. I know no member of this House would like to have that right taken away and I think it is a right of theirs that is in our law and in our fundamental law. It is the question at stake. It is not a question of temperance or intemperance. It is a question of property rights. And also the court may make a mistake in this case and he should state his reasons, in my judgment, why he forms certain conclusions. I do not know why a man should have the power to arbitrarily take my property and give no reasons for taking it. He may have been mistaken and after setting forth his reasons and a review taken it may be pointed out and he may reverse himself and that is the reason the other courts are established in our State. I think that where property rights are at stake, to bar men from taking an appeal is a mistake. I do not think that right should be taken away from those who have that property and who desire to have the right of appeal. They are doing a lawful business in this State at the present time where they are permitting to do business and they thus get property.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, the trouble is that many of the gentlemen of this House are taking a wrong position in relation to the license business. A license is not granted simply for the purpose of selling liquor. It is not a property right. No man has a right to a license in this State to sell liquor unless he has a hotel and then he is granted a license incidental to that hotel to accommodate the traveling public and entertain strangers and the public. There is no property right attached to it and the courts have so held, and when you take away a license you are simply doing it in nine cases out of ten because the man has violated the law. You don't take his hotel away. It may take his profit from the liquor selling point of view, but that is not the purpose of this bill. The purpose is to take away the discretion from the lower court and vest it in the higher court and I claim we should not go that far.

Mr. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, this here is a question rather heavy for the farmer, because the lawyers are digging into it and digging into it further. The gentleman from Tioga has stated this fact that the license is not granted simply to sell liquor and let me tell you that I have had a little experience in this line, just fifteen years. As the gentleman has told you, the license is not granted simply to sell liquor. He is perfectly right when he says that. When the license is applied for the fact is stated that there is a public necessity for a public place and for the accommodation of the public. Some of the judges of our courts refused to grant the licenses and here you stand without any recourse. Now the gentleman from Tioga says it is not granted for selling liquor only. The other facts are set forth when the license is granted and when some persons come along as was the case in Lehigh when some gentlemen from the upper counties came along the pike and got a lot of our hotel men introuble and it was only through the good action of our officers that they were found out and our hotel men say it was crooked from one end to the other. Let me tell you that these gentlemen appeared at my place on a Sunday afternoon. They tried in every way to get drink. Why? Why? You all know why. I don't need to answer. They finaly got a little something at some other place and the fellows got into trouble and as I told you just on account of the good action of our officials it was found that it was all fraud and the other parties served the term which was exactly right for them. I do not care who was back of it but whoever invested the money to send them men, it served them right, because they were after something illegal. Here comes this bill to protect a man who has invested his money in the property and where he has set forth the facts that there is a necessity for public accommodations and the judge refuses to grant the license and then that man must sit down without any means of redress and I say pass this bill and pass it lawfully and do what is right.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to tire the House in relation to this measure, but I do want to present the facts in the bill which I think merit the earnest and sincere consideration of the House. This bill provides, gentlemen, as you will see, not that a new applicant has the right of appeal to the higher court for review on facts, but it establishes and gives the right to the man who has had a license for two years. Now, as a basic principle, Mr. Speaker, we know that the courts are very loath to reverse themselves; that when they have passed upon a matter once we usually find them following in the same rut. Now let us be fair with each other and be fair to the merits of this bill. Under the provisions of this bill the gentleman applies to a court for a license. That court goes into the matter of public necessity. Is it necessary that a place be established for the accommodation of the traveling public? And the court finds affirmatively on the facts. That then secures his license for one year.

At the end of the second year he applies, and the court for no reason whatever, refuses the license. There is nothing now whereby any action may be reached. But a more successful man had succeeded in showing one year before that his place was a necessity for the traveling public, and the second year rolls around and the same facts are established before the same court or another court and the second license was issued. Then the second year rolls on, and the end of that time he applies again for a license. For two successive years the man who is getting the license has succeeded in establishing the fact that the place is a necessity for the accommodation of the traveling public. At the end of two years he comes before a court that does not see things as broadly perhaps as somebody else. There is that one variety of courts, and they exist, and that court, for no reason whatever, says "refused." Now what? Under the provisions of this bill the court cannot say refused without making out the record which justifies the fact of the refusal, and the primary thing that had to follow between the granting of the license the year before and the present day, would be that there was no necessity for the place for the accommodation of the traveling public. Is that fair? Is this bill fair? It certainly is, and there can be no man on the floor of this House who is honest with himself, and I care not whether he is in favor of the liquor proposition or against it, who cannot but say when property rights are involved, that it is a fair bill. When the court has already twice said that the man has a right to have the license and that his place is something that the public requirements need, it is not more than right that the court should give some reason why the conditions have changed, especially when property rights are to be wiped out. Further than that, it places no restrictions or rather it wipes away none of the restrictions in regard to running a place according to the law. All those things are embodied in the provisions of this bill. It seems to me that any man on the floor of this House, that every man on the floor of this House, has some confidence in the courts, and I must take issue with the gentleman from Tioga. I have heard no one on this side of the question lauding the provisions thrown around this interest by the Brooks' High License Law. I can go further in relation to matters of this kind, and say why these things should be done. The gentleman from Tioga asks why, and I will tell you. I can take you into a county of this State, if you please, where the court refused practically every one of them in a certain end of that county. It granted two in a sparsely settled end of the county and away from the public highways, but in the other end of the county, where the court said there was no necessity for a retail license for the accommodation of the traveling public, that court saw fit to say that there was a necessity and reasons why wholesale licenses should be granted. Wholesalers to do what? To furnish retail places with liquor, and yet there were no retail places in that community. Is that logical? Is that reasonable? If there were no retail places there, what in the name of high heaven was the use of the wholesale places? That was not due to the fact that there were no applications for retail places there, but the court, in its wisdom (with a big question mark after the word "wisdom") found no necessity for retail places but a crying need for wholesale places. There can be no such conditions under the provisions of this bill. All those retailers that were refused could have appealed to the high court, and that court would have had to say whether under the existing conditions there was a necessity for those retail places. There is another point in relation to these matters. Is it possible that the members of this House have such a high opinion of the local courts, which act in matters of issuing liquor licenses, as to say that the lower court is right and the higher court to which these very matters, that these particular people should not have the right of appeal?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether or not he does not know that if the matter is a question of fact it is not appealable to the higher court?

Mr. ALLEN. Oh yes, there are some things I know, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would also like to ask the gentleman if he does not know that the question of necessity in a certain locality is not a question of fact?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, it may be a question of fact or a question of law. When the law fixes the fact it becomes a question of law.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, how can it be a question of law?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, if under the provisions of the Brooks High License Law the matter is left solely to the discretion of the court, I do not know but that it may be a question of law whether it was sufficiently established to allow the court to do that one thing and make that correspond to the law.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I am sure I cannot see the distinction

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, there is a distinction.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, if a court now refuses a license, it just says refused. Then there can be no appeal to the Superior Court. If a reason is given there can be an appeal, but when the court just simply says not granted, arbitrarily, without reason, then you cannot appeal, and this bill is simply intended, when the court arbitrarily and without reasons says, "No, you cannot have a license," to this man who has all this property invested, involving many thousands of dollars, and the question as to whether or not that man should have a license is rested in the arbitrary action of one individual, to give the party injured the right to carry the matter up to the higher court, and the reason for such refusal must be furnished by the lower court, and that the lower court must not simply say "refused." It is to correct that arbitrary proposition that this Legislature is asked. I do not see how any member on the floor of this House can refuse to grand that privilege to the man who has lost his license. It will produce a better condition, and will lift the suspicion from the lower courts. Of course I cannot say why I feel that way about the lower courts, but I think it would be good policy for the lower courts to give reasons for refusals. But where the lower court says arbitrarily "refused" there is no right of appeal.

On the question recurring,

Shal the bill be dropped from the calendar?

So the question was determined in the negatve and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the first section?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1 by adding after the word "miners" in line 33 the following: "or has violated any law of the Commonwealth in relation to the sale of spirituous, vinous, malt or brewed liquors."

Strike out the words "intentional sale" in line 33 and the words "to minors" in line 34, and insert in lieu thereof the words "any violation of the liquor laws."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I understood the Chair to announce the first section as agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair said "Will the House agree to the first section."

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I want to take the gentleman from Allegheny at his word. He has been the principal spokesman for this bill and he says he wants to be fair. Now, in this bill, it undertakes to provide in line 33 that the sale to minors shall be sufficient reason to refuse the license. Under the present law any violation of a liquor license or any violation of law by the liquor licensee is sufficient cause to refuse a license. The amendment that I offer simply includes that a sale to a minor shall be sufficient cause to refuse the license, or any violation of the liquor law shall be sufficient cause. Now, if the gentleman wants to be fair and those who are voting with him, they can do nothing else to my mind, but support this amendment.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is perfectly in harmony with the present law, and as one of the representatives of the sponsor of the bill on this side of the House, I gladly accept the amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The title of the bill was read and agreed to as follows:

An Act to amend the third section of an act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixture thereof approved the thirteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven by regulating the refusal of licenses by the court and by regulating appeals from such refusal

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to, as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1962 (Senate No. 1002), entitled:

An Act authorizing certain corporations to issue preferred stock of one or more classes providing for the manner of issuance restrictions and regulations in the matter of voting thereof and the rights and privileges of the holders thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1898 (Senate No. 521), entitled:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 1, line 8, after the word "class" insert quotation marks.

Section 1, line 174, strike out the word "spucified" and insert the word "specified."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The second section was read as follows:

Section 2 That section fifteen of the aforesaid act which now reads as follows

"Section 15 In all dwellings hereafter to be erected with a front of sixteen feet or less provided they do not exceed sixty feet in length and thirty-five feet in height the cellar or foundation wall shall not be less than eighteen inches in thickness the front and rear walls not less than nine inches and the party walls not less than nine inches Walls binding on the street lane or alley shall not be less than thirteen inches to the top of the first floor joist In all dwellings over sixteen and not over twenty feet front nor more than forty-five feet high the foundation walls shall not be less than eighteen inches in thickness the front walls shall not be less than thirteen inches the party walls not less than thirteen inches and for all dwellings over twenty feet front the party walls shall not be less than thirteen inches and the front and rear walls shall not be less than thirteen inches to entire height If there be a stone ashler used three inches thick or less it shall not be included in the thickness of any wall herein specified Where two or more dwelling houses of brick adjoin each other all floor joists on a level shall be disconnected on the party of division walls and filled with mortar and brick at the end of the joists No party wall where built of stone shall be less than sixteen inches in thickness Provided That when an application is made for a permit to erect an additional story upon a one or two story building used or to be used for a dwelling and the party walls of the said building are but nine inches thick the bureau of building inspection may in its judgment issue such permit without requiring any additional thickness for the party wall Provided further in all dwellings hereafter erected the cellars shall extend underneath the whole house and be ventilated from both ends and in low damp or made ground the bottom of all cellars shall be covered with brick concrete or asphalt at least three inches thick of such material as may be approved by the bureau of building inspection Every new dwelling house shall have at least fourteen feet front Provided however that this limitation shall not apply to lots of less than fourteen feet in width which are bounded on each side by ground belonging to other owners at the time of approval of this act and every such new dwelling house have an open space attached to it in the rear or at the side equal to at least one hundred and forty-four square feet clear space unobstructed by any overhanging structure" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows

Section 15 In all dwellings hereafter to be erected with a front of sixteen feet or less provided they do not exceed sixty feet in length and thirty-five feet in height the cellar or foundation wall shall not be less than eighteen inches in thickness the front and rear walls not less than nine inches and the party walls not less than nine inches Walls binding on the street lane or alley shall not be less than thirteen inches to the top of the first floor joist

For dwellings with a front not exceeding sixteen feet being not more than two stories high and having a floor area not exceeding eight hundred square feet on each floor exclusive of porches the cellar shall not be less than six feet high the basement not less than eight high and the first and second story not be less than eight feet six inches high for each story and shall not be more than ten feet high for each story The exterior walls and the division or party walls may be built of brick frame or hollow title Exterior walls of brick or hollow title may start on foundation at grade line but no portions of these exterior walls shall be below the grade line Division or party walls of brick or hollow title may start on footing course of basement or cellar floors Exterior division or party walls constructed of brick shall be built of hard burned brick laid in Portland cement or lime mortar and shall not be less than nine inches thick Where exterior party or division walls of brick extend below the first floor line to a depth below that specified for foundation walls in Section eleven of this act then these exterior party or division walls shall be increased in thickness as called for under Section eleven for brick foundation walls

Exterior party or division walls constructed of hollow title shall meet the requirements and be constructed as herein provided

All hollow tile shall be hollow terra cotta well manufactured and free from checks and cracks each piece or block to be modeled square and true and to be hard burned so as to have a good clear ring when struck and not to absorb more than twelve per centum of its own weight in moisture Each of said blocks should develop an ultimate crushing strength of not less than three thousand pounds per square inch of avaible section or web area and shall not be loaded when in the wall more than eighty pounds per square inch of effective bearing area

Tiles shall have outer shells or walls not less than three-fourth inch thick and shall be additionally reinforced by continuous interior walls or webs which shall not be less than one-half inch thick and so arranged that no void shall exceed four inches in cross section at any point

It is further provided that the Superintendent of Building Inspection may require a test to be made of such blocks before allowing the same to be placed in the wall if in his judgment there be any doubt as to whether such blocks proposed to be used meet the requirements above specified

No foundation wall of any building shall be constructed of hollow blocks or terra cotta tiles and no hollow tiles or terra cotta wall or partition shall be supported in part or entirely by any wooden or other combustible beam girder or post

Hollow tile exterior party or division walls shall not be less than eight inches thick and where these walls extend below the first floor line on a two-story dwelling they shall not be less than twelve inches thick

No bearing wall or exterior wall shall be built of a single unit less than eight inches thick or more than twelve inches high when the voids are placed vertically And all such exterior walls shall be plastered on the outside three-fourth inch thick with Portland mortar

All openings over three feet in width in hollow tile walls shall have lintels composed of steel reinforced concrete or reinforced of sufficient strength to carry the load imposed

When the floor or roof load is applied to said bearing or exterior walls in concentration of two tons or more at one place a solid pier of brick reinforced concrete or concrete filled tile shall be used under each concentration Each of said piers to be not less than twice the thickness of the wall of which it is a part and no pier shall be loaded in excess of eighty pounds per square inch of its area

Whenever floor slabs or joists rest on a hollow terra cotta wall composed of tile with voids set vertically or wherever a change in thickness of wall occurs the course upon which the joists or slabs rest or upon which the tinner wall rests shall have the voids in the tiles or blocks in the course so bearing the load completely filled with Portland cement concrete so construced that no joists timber or other material whatsoever shall bear or transmit a load to the wall without having an iron first quality of hard brick or terra cotta bearing plate or concrete filled or solid block under the same at the point where the load is transmitted

And further provided that in no case shall the area of the block to which the load is transmitted be less than double the area of the beam or timber or other material transmitting the load

All walls hereinbefore referred to in the preceding section of this ordinance shall be constructed in the following manner The blocks will be set only in Portland cement mortar composed of not less than one part Portland cement to three parts clean sharp river sand This mortar may be tempered with one part lime paste to eight parts of mortar Tile blocks shall be thoroughly bonded one to another both vertically and longitudinally and all joints filled with mortar and when tiles are set in the wall the vertical web of one shall occur as nearly as practicable directly over the vertical web of the adjacent tile below The blocks may be built with voids horizontally and with mortar joints between all blocks or they may be built with voids vertical provided all horizontal bearings or joints are reinforced with metal fabric of from one-eighth to one-half inch mesh capable of holding the mortar This fabric shall be one-half inch less in width than the width of the wall of the course upon which it is applied and shall be double lapped at all corners Such web shall be spread on each horizontal course of tile before the mortar is put on and shall be completely covered with and imbedded in Portland cement mortar as the course of blocks upon it is being laid No cutting of blocks will be allowed to admit pipes in bearing walls The metal fabric hereinbefore specified may be omitted in non-bearing or curtain walls or where the tile is laid in bearing walls with the voids horizontal

Further that in all parts of the city within the fire limits no interior joist or wood work shall be within four inches of the outside of the exterior of the wall

In all dwellings over sixteen and not over twenty feet front nor more than forty-five feet high the foundation walls shall not be less than eighteen inches in tickness the front walls shall not be les sthan thirteen inches the party walls not less than thirteen inches and for all dwellings over twenty feet from the party walls shall not be less than thirteen inches and the front and rear walls shall not be less than thirteen inches to entire height If there be a stone ashler used three inches thick or less it shall not be included in the thickness of any wall herein specified Where two or more dwelling houses of brick adjoin each other all floor joists on a level shall be disconnected on the party or division walls and filled with mortar and brick at the end of the joists No party wall where built of stone shall be less than sixteen inches in thickness provided that when an application is made for a permit to erect an additional story upon a one or two story building used or to be used for a dwelling and the party walls of the said building are but nine inches thick the Bureau of Building Inspection may in its judgment issue such permit without requiring any additional thickness for the party wall Provided further in all dwellings hereafter erected there shall be a cellar underneath the whole house or a cellar and a basement underneath the whole house Where basements are provided and occupy a portion of the space underneath the dwelling the finished floor of basement must not be below the outside grade line at outside entrance to basement Cellars shall be ventilated from both ends and in low damp or made ground the bottom of all cellars shall be covered with brick concrete or asphalt at least three inches thick of such material as may be approved by the Bureau of Building Inspection Every new dwelling house shall have at least fourteen feet front Provided however that this limitation shall not apply to lots of less than fourteen feet in width which are bounded on each side by ground belonging to other owners at the time of approval of this act and every such new dwelling house shall have an open space attached to it in the rear or at the side equal to at least one hundred and forty-four square feet clear space unobstructed by any overhanging structure"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 2, line 39, after the word "width" insert the words "on which buildings are now erected nor to lots less than fourteen feet."

Section 2, line 146, strike out the word "aborb" and insert the word "absorb"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The third and fourth sections and title were then separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 3 That section thirty-four of the aforesaid act which reads as follows

"Section 34 In no building shall any wooden girders joists or timbers be placed nearer than four inches of the outside of any smoke hot-air or other flue and all joists or other timbers in the party walls of any building hereafter erected whether built of stone brick or iron shall be separated from the joists or timbers entering into the opposite side of the wall by at least four inches of solid mason work Every trimmer over four feet long except in a dwelling shall be hung in wrought or malleable iron stirrups of suitable dimensions and no timber shall be used in any wall of any building where stone brick or iron is commonly used except bond timbers and lintels as hereinbefore provided or as may be approved by the inspector and no exposed bond timber in any wall shall in width and thickness exceed that of a course of brick Where stud partitions are parallel with the joists the joists supporting them are to be doubled also all stairways and other floor openings to be double and in addition the size of the joists to be used in dwelling houses twenty feet front or less shall be for the first floor not less than two by ten inches shall be for the first floor not less than two by ten inches and shall be no more than sixteen inches from center to center and for upper floor they shall not be less than two by nine inches and shall be placed not more than sixteen inches from center to center and must be properly bridged and all joists that are used must be sound and well seasoned No floor joists shall be blocked up or leveled on more than one dry course of brick" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows

Section 34 In no building shall any wooden girders joists or timbers be placed nearer than four inches of the outside of any smoke hot-air or other flue and all joists or other timbers in the party walls of any building hereafter erected whether built of stone brick or iron shall be separated from the joists or timbers entering into the opposite side of the wall by at least four inches of solid mason work Every trimmer over four feet long except in a dwelling shall be hung in wrought or malleable iron stirrups of suitable dimensions and no timber shall be used in any wall of any building where stone brick or iron is commonly used except bond timbers and lintels as hereinbefore provided or as may be approved by the inspector and no exposed bond timber in any wall shall in width and thickness exceed that of a course of brick Where stud partitions are parallel with the joists the joists supporting them are to be doubled also all stairways and other floor openings to be double and in addition the size of the joists to be used in dwellings twenty feet front or less shall be for the first floor not less than two by ten inches and shall be no more than sixteen inches from center to center and for upper floors they shall not be less than two by nine inches and shall be placed not more than sixteen inches from center to center and must be properly bridged and all joists that are used must be sound and well seasoned No floor joists shall be blocked up or leveled on more than one dry course of brick For dwellings with a front of sixteen feet or less being not more than two stories high and having a floor area of first story not exceeding eight hundred square feet the floor joists shall be not less than two by eight inches in depth placed sixteen inches from center to center

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1950 (Senate No. 585), entitled:

An Act making an appropriation for the restoration of the brig Niagara Commodore Perry's flag ship at the battle of Lake Erie for its participation in the events of this centennial celebration year its care and for the erection of a permanent marker arch or memorial at Erie Pennsylvania

The first section and preamble were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated from any money in the State treasury not otherwse appropriated to the Commssioners appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania to co-operate with the Commissioners from other States in the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the battle of Lake Erie for the purpose of restoring the aforesaid Brig Niagara to the condition she was in at the time said battle of Lake Erie was fought as nearly as said Commissioners can with the exercise of reasonable diligence restore it to its original conditon including rigging armory and equipment of every kind and for paying the expenses incident to the proper participation of said Brig in the events of this centennial year and the proper care therefor until further provided for by the Legislature and any balance of said sum hereby appropriated remaining after such restoration and equipment of said Brig and after paying the expenses incident to its particpation in said centennial events and providing for care of same as aforesaid is to be paid and expended by said Commission toward the erection of a permanent marker arch or memorial at the City of Erie Pennsylvania commemorating the building of the fleet at that place as well as the splendid manner in which in the hands of the brave Commodore Perry and the gallant men who fought with him it performed its errand at the battle that followed its construction said balance to be expended in conjunction with moneys contributed by the citizens of Erie and others for the purpose of erecting said permanent marker arch or memorial and all of the money hereby appropriated to be paid on the warrant of the Auditor General upon requisition of the President of said Commission and itemized vouchers for all expenditures to be filed with the Auditor General within a reasonable time thereafter

Whereas, The States of Pennsylvania New York Ohio Illinois Michigan Wisconsin Minnesota Rhode Island and Kentucky have through commissioners duly appointed for that purpose formed an association and proceeded to erect a memorial at Put-in-Bay, Ohio, to Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry and his brave men who fought with him at the Battle of Lake Erie and are proposing to hold a centennial celebration during the present year in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of that great victory; and

Whereas, The Brig Niagara to which Commodore Perry transferred his flag from the disabled Lawrence during the battle, and which for nearly one hundred years has lain at the bottom of Misery Bay an arm of Presque Isle Bay at Erie has been raised by the Commissioners appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania to co-operate with the Commissioners of other States in the celebration of the centennial anniversary of the Battle of Lake Erie and is now the property of the State of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, The larger cities upon the Great Lakes from Buffalo to Duluth are proposing to hold celebrations beginning at Erie on July sixth on this the centennial anniversary of that great battle and all of the States participating are very desirous that Commodore Perry's Flagship, the Niagara, may be one of the features of the celebrations and the people of the whole United States are deeply interested in and concerned about the disposition the State of Pennsylvania is to make of this old Flagship and the part it will take in the events of this centennial year; and

Whereas, Six of the nine ships constituting Commodore Perry's fleet were built at Erie to wit: The Niagara, Lawrence, Ariel, Scorpion, Porcupine and Tigress, bearing fifty of the fifty-five guns carried by the whole fleet and for the single purpose of fighting this battle and after winning it the fleet returned to Pennsylvania waters at Erie bringing with it all of the enemy's ships, it is fitting that a permanent marker arch or memorial be erected at Erie to commemorate not only the bravery of Commodore Perry and his gallant men but the part taken by Pennsylvanians in building the fleet and in fighting the battle including the conspicuous services of Captain Daniel Dobbins of Erie, who was instrumental in inducing the Government to build the fleet and was in charge of its construction when Perry arrived in March, one thousand eight hundred and thirteen.

The title of the bill was read as follows:

An Act making an appropriation for the restoration of the Brig Niagara, Commodore Perry's Flagship, at the Battle of Lake Erie, for its participation in the events of this Centennial Celebration year, its care and for the erection of a permanent marker, arch or memorial at Erie, Pennsylvania.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the title?
Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment:
The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the title by striking out all after the word "act" and inserting in lieu thereof the following:
Making an appropriation for the commemoration of the building of the fleet at Erie with which the Battle of Lake Erie was won, by the restoration of the Brig Niagara, Commodore Perry's flagship, in that battle; providing for its participation in the events of the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary thereof, its care, and aiding in the erection of a permanent marker, arch or memorial at Erie

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to.
The title as amended was then agreed to.
And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to, as amended,
Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

An Act regulating appeals from tax and other public accounts settlements of the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That in every appeal now authorized by law from a tax or other public accounts settlement of the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth an affidavit of the party appellant or if a corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association then of one of its chief officers shall be filed with said appeal stating the specifications of objections to the said settlement that said appeal is not taken for the purpose of delay but because appellant believes injustice has been done by the settlement appealed from and that the facts set forth therein are true to the best of affiant's knowledge and belief

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, I call the attention of the House to this bill. It is just the same as House Bill No. 1166, which has already passed the House and been approved by the Governor. I therefore move this bill be dropped from the Calendar.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he has spoken to Senator McNichols about this.

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, I have not, but I have compared it and it is just exactly the same as the one that has been passed and approved.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that out of courtesy to the Senator he should have been spoken to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill be dropped from the Calendar?

It was agreed to.

Section 12 This act is intended to furnish a comprehensive method of inflicting the death penalty If any portion of this act shall be declared invalid or unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania the entire act shall thereupon be null and void

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides for the substitution of electrocution instead of hanging for criminals who have been convicted of murder in the first degree. I received my inspiration for the introduction of this bill on an almost perfect June day almost a year ago. Standing with a small group of men in the western part of the lawn surrounding the prison in my own county, we were all gazing at a small door in the western wall of the Lancaster County prison, which never springs open except to close forever the door of hope upon the misguided life and soul of the person under sentence of death. We saw the procession start from the death cell just inside of that door. There was nothing unusual about that procession. Preceded by his spiritual advisers, who were garbed in their saintly garb, the victim followed shackled to two officers of the law. A hush fell over the small audience as that procession, with measured tread, approached the steps and ascended to the scaffold. There was nothing unusual in what proceeded there. When the proper moment arrived, the sheriff retired to the rear of the scaffold, waved his white handkerchief and the assistants on the ground below pulled the drop and the body of the victim dropped through the opening of the scaffold and onto the ground beneath. And as the sheriff stepped to the edge of the platform, he gazed down under the scaffold and discovered the form of the man lying on the ground. The rope had broken. Immediately the sheriff and his assistants hurried to the side of the man and attempted to unfasten the noose, but it would no yield for a moment. They struggled with it but it would not yield. Knives were procured and an attempt was made to sever that cord that was strangling the man on the ground. But that cord was almost as hard as a steel cable and it was almost impossible to cut it. But finally a larger knife was secured, and the sheriff by using force and strength finally severed the rope. And the moment that rope was severed, it was six minutes from the time the drop fell. A plank that had been provided for such occasions was quickly seized and placed in position and the man was laid upon it and strapped down and taken back to the scaffold the second time. He was thus carried up the steps of the platform and the plank was set on end until they could adjust another rope and the black cap be adjusted the second time, That man, in tones loud enough to be audible to the entire audience, repeated the confession of faith after his saintly advisers, and every one in the audience heard it. It was no bungling job, that rope was insured and tested the day before, and it was twenty-two minutes from the time the first drop fell until the second drop fell. Then it was twenty-two minutes more before the physicians pronounced that man dead,—forty-four minutes of strangulation to enable the officers of the law to uphold the sanctity of the law and inflict the penalty of the law that the victim should be hanged by his neck until dead. Gentlemen, this procedure is a relic of barbarity. No later than Thursday, April 24th, and this is still fresh in all your minds, a similar incident accurred in Uniontown, Pa., in the County of Fayette. When John Harris was being hanged, the rope stretched or was too long. There is a difference of opinion on that point. It does not make any difference what the reason was, because when the drop fell the man was thrown to the ground and was found on his knees. The officers of the law hastened to the scaffold and grasping the rope lifted him clear of his feet and for eighteen minutes he swung there suspended in the air and struggled and gradually strangled to death. I wish to read to you gentlemen an editorial from the Philadelphia Inquirer. I will not read the whole thing, but will only read the closing paragraph.

"We do not know what effect this latest hanging bee will have upon the Legislature, but we know what effect it ought to have. It ought to determine every member to put a stop to a relic of barbarity and substitute the electric chair for the scaffold."

I trust that every one of you gentlemen will lend your support in passing this bill.

Mr. GRAMLEY. Mr. Speaker, I merely want to say to you that I had an experience similar to the gentleman from Lancaster County. I have seen the rope break and have seen the culprit fall to the ground, when the sheriff of Centre County deputized me as one of two parties to carry that apparently lifeless body back up on the scaffold, and then they repeated the experiement. It was a sad thing to behold and a sadder thing to have as a result of our execution law. Let us put away the system of barbarism and become more humane in inflicting the penalty upon our criminals.

REASONS FOR NOT VOTING ON HOUSE BILL NO. 45.

Mr. FOSTER. Mr. Speaker, my reason for not voting upon this question of changing the form of capital punishment from hanging to electrocution is because of the fact that I do not believe in any form of capital punishment whatever and therefore cannot consistently vote upon the question.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House procedeed to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1429, as follows:

An Act prohibiting any person to lead drive ride or work or cause or permit any other person to lead drive ride or work any horse mare mule ox or any other animal whether belonging to himself or in his possession or control for more than fifteen hours in any twenty-four hour period nor more than ninety hours in any one week in any city of the first or second class Provided that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to warrant any person's leading driving riding or working any animal a less period than fifteen hours when so doing shall in any way violate the laws against cruelty to animals providing a penalty for the violation of this act and authorizing policemen constables or agents of duly incorporated societies or associations for the prevention of cruelty to animals in this Commonwealth to make arrests on view or by warrants of offenders of this act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be unlawful for any person to lead drive ride or work or cause or permit any other person to lead drive ride or work any horse mare mule ox or any other animal whether belonging to himself or in his possession or control for more than fifteen hours in any twenty-four hour period nor more than ninety hours in any one week in any city of the first or second class Provided that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to warrant any person's leading driving riding or walking any animal a less period than fifteen hours when so doing shall in any way violate the laws against cruelty to animals

Section 2 Any person found guilty before any magistrate or alderman of violating the provisions of this act shall be fined in a sum not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars or by imprisonment for not more than six months said fine to be paid to any regularly incorporated society or association for the prevention of cruelty to animals which shall have jurisdiction in the county wherein suit is brought

Section 3 Any policeman or constable of any city of the first or second class or any agent of any regularly incorporated society or association for the prevention of cruelty to animals shall upon his own view of any such offence make arrest and bring before any magistrate or alderman offenders found violating the provisions of this act and any policeman or constable or any agent of any society as aforesaid shall also make arrests of such offenders on warrants duly issued according to law when such offence is not committed in view of said policeman constable or agent

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, this bill was introduced in this House by me at the request of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and has been amended. A number of objections were raised to the first bill as presented, but now, in its amended form, I think all the objections have been overcome. The object is to prevent the abuse of the horse and working a horse twenty hours out of twenty-four. It covers cities of the first and second class, fixing the hours that a horse may be worked at fifteen hours a day or ninety hours a week. and that will give the horse one day's rest—his Sunday. The Secretary of the S. P. C. A. has informed me that it is quite common in cities of the first and second class for those people who hire out horses, that horses are in the habit of being used at night and also during the day and working them consequently as many as twenty hours out of the twenty-four. We have gone, at great length, into the regulating of the hours of labor for women and children, and justly so, and I think we should do something for our dumb animals, especially the horse. I hope the members of the House will support this measure as it don't interfere with the use of horses when they are used in a legitimate way and I don't think any right thinking man wishes to work his horse anywhere near fifteen hours a day every day in the week.

An Act regulating the payment of certain deposits made with any bank trust company or savings institution in the name of two persons

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That whenever any deposit not exceeding one thousand dolars has heretofore been made or shall hereafter be made in any bank trust company or savings institution within this Commonwealth in the names of two persons and such deposit shall at the time of making the same be made payable to either depositor or to the survivor the whole or any part of such deposit together with any interest or dividends due thereon shall be paid by such depository to either of such persons drawing upon the same and in case of the death of either of such persons the whole of such deposit or any part thereof together with all accumulated interest or dividends due thereon shall be paid on demand to such surviving person

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I want to say a word in explanation of the provisions of this bill. There has been, I think, some misunderstanding as to its provisions. It simply legalizes deposits and state bankers are very anxious to have it passed. It has been amended to limit the size of the acounts to meet the objections of those who formally voted against it.

REPORT OF THE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the report of the State Railroad Commission in accordance with the resolution of the House of April 16th.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

Pennsylvania State Railroad Commission,
Harrisburg, Pa., May 8th, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—In accordance with the resolution passed by your Honorable body on April 16, 1913, to wit: "That the State Railroad Commission be instructed to confer with the telephone companies and bring about reduced rates along the lines recommended in their respective schedules," the Commission has the honor to report that the matter of the revision of the telephone rates now in effect throughout the State of Pennsylvania is receiving the careful attention of the Commission and will be disposed of without unnecessary delay. Respectfully,

(Signed,) NATH'L. EWING,
Chairman.
MILTON J. BRECHT,
SAMUEL W. PENNYPACKER.

The SPEAKER. The report will be noted on the House Journal and printed in the Legislative Journal.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. GRAMLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to introduce a bill, the title of which was first read for information of the House.

HOUSE BILL NO. 183 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The motion was read by the Clerk as follows:

Moved by the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Rockwell, and seconded by the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Claycomb, that House Bill No. 183, be made a special order for second reading for Tuesday, May 13th, at 11.00 o'clock A. M., and for third reading and final passage on Wednesday, May 14th, at 4.00 o'clock P. M.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?
It was agreed to.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. CONNIFF asked and obtained consent to introduce a bill repealing a local act.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 292, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to reimburse counties for moneys paid under the provisions of an act approved the tenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and seven entitled "An Act creating a reward or bounty for the destruction of certain noxious animals killed within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing a method for the payment of the same by the several counties of the Commonwealth which in turn are to be reimbursed by the Commonwealth making an appropriation for such reimbursement and providing penalties for violation of its several provisions"

Whereas, By the provisions of an act of Assembly approved the tenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and seven, entitled, "An Act creating a reward or bounty for the destruction of certain noxious animals killed within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing a method for the payment of the same by the several counties of the Commonwealth which in turn are to be reimbursed by the Commonwealth making an appropriation for such reimbursement and providing penalties for violation of its several provisions" counties paying bounties on certain noxious animals were to be reimbursed by the Commonwealth through moneys specifically appropriated for that purpose; and

Whereas, There were so many noxious animals killed and bounties claims and paid under the provisions of said act that the appropriation aforesaid was insufficient to reimburse the counties paying said bounties; therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated for the following purposes

To reimubrse counties for moneys paid under the provisions of an act approved the tenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and seven entitled "An Act creating a reward or bounty for the destruction of certain noxious animals killed within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing a method for the payment of the same by the several counties of the Commonwealth which in turn are to be reimbursed by the Commonwealth making an appropriation for such reimbursement and providing penalties for violation of its several provisions"

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 10 Waiting rooms of proper dimensions and properly secured shall be constructed at the foot of all shafts and intermediate lifts thereof for workmen to wait therein prior to ascending the shaft

Section 11 Safety blocks or some other device for the purpose of preventing cars from falling into a shaft or running away on a slope or plane shall be placed at or near the head of every shaft slope plane or intermediate lift thereof and said safety blocks or other device must be maintained in good working order

Section 12 No mine cars shall be used in any mine unless the bumpers are of sufficient length and width to keep the bodies of said cars separated by not less than twelve (12) inches when the cars stand on a straight level road and the bumpers touch each other

Section 13 Breakers shall be properly heated and kept sufficiently clear of dust to maintain a healthful atmosphere therein

Section 14 Ample means to produce and maintain a constant and adequate supply of pure air for the workmen and animals in every mine shall be provided and the air shall be circulated through the main entries cross entries working places and abandoned workings to such an extent that it will dillute carry off and render harmless the smoke and noxious or dangerous gases generated in the mines affording not less than two hundred (200) cubic feet of air per minute for each and every person employed therein

Section 15 All shafts slopes planes traveling ways tunnels and haulage ways shall be maintained in a safe condition for persons and animals to travel therein

Section 16 The following safety devices shall be provided installed and maintained in good working order in and about every coal mine and colliery

(a) The top of each shaft and also of each slope if dangerous or any intermediate lift thereof shall be securely fenced off by railing or by vertical or flat gates

(b) Every abandoned slope shaft air hole drift and cave hole shall be properly fenced around or across its entrance

(c) Suitable appliances through which conversation can be held by and between persons at the bottom and at the top of the shaft or slope or any intermediate lift thereof shall be installed in every mine and maintained in good working order and also an efficient means of signaling from the bottom of such shaft or slope and any intermediate lift thereof to the engineer in charge of the hoisting engine which shall be maintained in good working order

(d) Guard rails which will prevent persons from falling into the shaft and efficient safety catches shall be attached to and a sufficient cover over head shall be provided on every cage used for lowering or hoisting persons in any shaft the safety catches shall be tested monthly and the report of said test stating the distance said cage dropped shall be sent to the mine inspector the test shall be made by detaching the rope from the cage and allow the cage to descend by gravity Every cage or gunboat used for lowering or hoisting persons in any slope shall be provided with a proper protector so constructed that persons while on such cage or gun boat shall not be struck by anything which may fall or roll down said slope

(e) The main link of the chain connecting the rope to the cage gun boat or car in any shaft or slope shall be made of the best quality of iron Bridle chains made of the same quality of iron shall be attached to the main link rope or rope socket from the cross-head of the cage or gun boat when persons are being lowered or hoisted thereon

(f) An efficient brake shall be attached to every drum that is used for lowering or raising persons or materials in any mine Flanges or horns of sufficient dimensions to prevent the rope from slipping off the drum shall be provided and properly attached to the drum and all machines used for lowering or hoisting persons in mines shall be provided with an indicator to show the position of the cage car or gun boat in the shaft or slope An overwind safety device shall be attached to each engine used to hoist or lower any persons in any shaft to prevent the cage from going to the sheave

(g) Over all shafts which are being sunk or shall hereafter be sunk a safe and substantial structure shall be erected to sustain the sheaves or pulleys at a height of not less than twenty (20) feet above the tipping place and the top of such shaft shall be arranged in such manner that no material can fall into the shaft while the bucket is being emptied

(h) All rock and coal from shafts as they are being sunk shall not be raised except in a bucket or on a cage and such bucket or cage must be connected to the rope or chain by a safety hook clevice or other safe attachment Such shafts shall be provided with guides and guide attachments applied in such manner as to prevent the bucket from swinging while descending or ascending therein and such guides and guide attachments shall be maintained at a distance of not more than seventy-five (75) feet from the bottom of such shaft until its sinking shall have been completed but this sentence shall not apply to shafts one hundred (100) feet or less in depth

(i) Whenever the strata are not safe every shaft shall be securely cased lined or otherwise made secure

(j) All boilers used for generating steam in and about mines or collieries shall be kept in good order and the same shall be examined and inspected by a qualified person as often as once in six months and oftener if needed All air receivers used in or about a mine shall be kept in good order and shall be examined once every six months and oftener if needed The results of such examination under oath shall be certified in writing to the inspector of the district within thirty (30) days after said examination

(k) Every nest of boilers shall be provided with a steam gauge properly connected which will indicate the steam pressure in the boilers and another steam gauge shall be attached to the steam pipe in the engine house and placed in such position that the engineer or fireman can readily examine them and see what pressure is carried Such steam gauges shall be kept in good order and inspected as often as once every six months and their condition reported to the inspector of the district in the same manner as the report of boiler inspector

(l) Each nest of boilers shall be provided with a safety valve of sufficient area for the steam to escape in case the pressure should arise above that set by the boiler inspector and with weights or springs properly adjusted The said weights or springs shall be locked after the same are adjusted and no person except the superintendent shall have a key to the same

(m) All machinery used in or about the mines and collieries and especially in breakers such as engines rollers wheels screens shafting belting and conveyor lines shall be protected by covering or railing which will prevent persons from inadvertently walking against falling upon or into the same The sides of the stairs trestles and plank walks in and around the colliery shall be provided with hand and guard rails which will prevent persons from falling over their sides This section shall not forbid the temporary removal of a fence guard rail or covering for the purpose of making repairs if proper precautions are used and the fence guard rails or covering is replaced immediately thereafter

(n) It shall not be lawful to place any boiler or boilers for the purpose of generating steam under or nearer than one hundred (100) feet to any coal breaker or other structure in which persons are employed in the preparation of coal provided that this section shall not apply to boilers or breakers already erected

(o) There shall be provided installed and properly maintained a sufficient number of telephones speaking tubes barometers thermometers and anemometers in and about every coal mine or colliery as provided in sections forty-one forty-two and forty-four of general rules Article nine of this act

(p) Whenever batteries are used in any mine for the purpose of exploding blasts they shall be the property of the owner and he shall furnish and maintain in good condition a sufficient quantity of electric batteries to amply supply all workmen who will use the same

Section 17 Any owner operator or superintendent who fails to comply with the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of an offense against this act

ARTICLE IV

Duties of Mine Foreman and Assistant Mine Foreman

Section 1 The mine foreman shall have charge of all matters pertaining to ventilation and the speed of the ventilators shall be particularly under his charge and direction and any owner operator or superintendent who shall cause the mine foreman to disregard the provisions of this act shall be amendable in the same manner as the mine foreman

Section 2 All accessible parts of an abandoned portion of a mine in which explosive gases have been found shall be carefully examined by the mine foreman or his asistants at least once a week and all danger found existing therein shall be immediately removed A report of said examination shall be recorded with ink in a book kept at the colliery for that purpose and signed by the person making the same a copy of the record thus made shall be mailed to the superintendent of the colliery and also to the mine inspector of the district on the day the examination is made

Section 3 In mines liberating explosive gases the mine foreman or his assistants shall make a careful examination every morning of all working places and traveling roads and all other places which might endanger the safety of the workmen before the workmen shall enter the mine and such examination shall be made with a safety lamp within three (3) hours at most before time for commencing work at the breaker and the workmen shall not enter the mine or his working place until the said mine or part thereof and working place are reported to be safe Every report shall be recorded without delay with ink in a book which shall be kept at the colliery for that purpose and shall be signed by the persons making the examination

Section 4 The person who makes said examination shall establish proof of the same by marking plainly the date thereof at the face of each working place and all other places examined

Section 5 A station or stations shall be established at the entrance to each mine or different parts of each mine as the case may require and a workman shall not pass beyond such station until the mine or part of the mine beyond the same has been inspected and reported to be safe It shall be the duty of the mine foreman or assistant mine foreman to remain at the danger station until relieved by some persons authorized by the mine foreman or assistant mine foreman who shall stand guard until said mine or part of said mine shall be reported safe by the person in authority and he shall not permit any person to pass without permission from the mine foreman or assistant mine foreman

Section 6 If at any time it is found by the person for the time being in charge of the mine or any part thereof that by reason of noxious or explosive gases prevailing in such mine or such part thereof or of any cause whatever the mine or the said part is dangerous every precaution shall be used to insure the safety of the workmen and every workman except such persons as may be required to remove the danger shall be withdrawn from the mine or such part thereof as is so found dangerous until the said mine or said part thereof is examined by a competent and qualified person and reported by him to be safe

Section 7 The mine foreman or assistant mine foreman shall visit and examine every working place in the mine in addition to the examination required by section three of this article at least twice a day while the men of such place are or should be at work the first of said examinations shall take place in the forenoon and the second in the afternoon while the men are at work The person who makes these examinations shall see that each and every working place is properly secured by props and timber and that safety in all respects is assured by having all loose coal or rock pulled down or secured and that a sufficient quantity of air is circulating in the face of each working place to dilute render harmless and sweep all smoke noxious and explosive gases and that no person shall be permitted to work in an unsafe place unless it be for the purpose of making it secure Provided that this section shall not apply to places that are worked full

Section 8 The mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman shall examine at least once every day all slopes shafts main roads traveling ways signal apparatus pulleys and timbering and see that they are in a safe and efficient working condition A report of said examination shall be made with ink in a book kept at the colliery for that purpose and signed by the person making the examiation a copy of said report shall be sent to the superintendent and inspector of the district at the close of each working day together with a report of the number of working places and where situated in which gas had been found on that day

Section 9 Any mine foreman or assistant mine foreman who fails to comply with the provisions of this atricle shall be deemed guilty of an offense against this act

ARTICLE V

Duties of Miner

Section 1 No miner shall fire a blast in any mine or in any portion of a mine where locked safety lamps are used except by permission of the mine foreman or assistant mine foreman and before such blast is fired and person giving the permission shall examine the place and satisfy himself that it is safe to fire the same

Section 2 No miner while charging holes for blasting coal slate or rock shall use an iron or steel pointed needle or tamping bar unless the end is tipped with at least six inches of copper or other soft material nor shall he force a tight cartridge into any hole

Section 3 A miner who is about to fire a blast shall be careful to notify all persons who may be in danger therefrom and give sufficient alarm to warn all persons approaching of the danger

Section 4 A miner who ignites a feeder of gas by blast or otherwise if he discovers the same shall make a reasonable effort to extinguish it If he is unable to do so he shall notify the mine foreman or assistant mine foreman of the location where the feeder is burning Before leaving his working place he shall see that no gas blowers are left burning

Section 5 No miner shall withdraw a charge of any explosive from a hole that has misfired nor shall he reopen the same

Section 6 Any miner having charge of a working place shall keep the roof and sides thereof properly secured by timber or otherwise so as to prevent such roof and sides from falling and he shall not do any work nor permit any work to be done under loose or dangerous material except for the purpose of securing the same

He shall order props cap-pieces and timbers necessary at least one day in advance of needing them as provided for in the rules of the mine If he fails to receive the same and finds his place becoming unsafe he shall vacate it until the necessary timbers are supplied

Section 7 A miner working a breast or any other place shall before commencing work and also after firing every blast enter said breast or place to examine and ascertain its condition and his laborer or assistant shall not go to the face of said breast or ploce until the miner has examined it and found it to be safe

Section 8 No miner shall cut out any props or timbers that are supporting the roof or sides When it becomes necessary to remove such props ortimbers it shall be done by blasing or by placing a chain or rope around such props or timbers that the pressure necessary to remove the same can be exerted at a point of safety

Section 9 Any miner who has gun powder or other explosive shall keep it in a wooden or metallic box securely locked said box shall be placed at a safe distance from the working face and tracks in the entry

Section 10 A miner when opening a box containing explosives or when handling the same shall first place his lamp at a distance of not less than five feet therefrom and in such position that the air current cannot convey sparks to the explosives and he shall not approach with a lighted lamp pipe or any other thing containing fire nearer than five feet to any open box containing the same

Section 11 Any person who fails to comply with the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of an offense against this act

Shafts Slopes Openings and Outlets

Section 1 It shall not be lawful for the owner operator or superintendent of any mine to employe any person or persons in such mine or permit any person or persons to be in such mine for the purpose of working therein unless they are in connection with every seam or stratum of coal and from every lift thereof worked in such mine not less than two openings or outlets separated by a startum of not less than sixty (60) feet in breadth underground and one hundred and fifty (150) feet in breadth at the surface at which openings or outlets safe and distinct means of ingress and egress are at all times available for the person or persons employed in the said mine but it shall not be necessary for the said two openings to belong to the same mine if the persons employed therein have safe ready and available means of ingress and egress by not less than two openings This section shall not apply to opening a new mine or to opening any new lift of a mine while being worked for the purpose of making communication between said two outlets so long as not more than twenty persons are employed at any one time in such mine or new lift of a mine neither shall it apply to any mine or part of a mine in which the second outlet has been rendered unavailable by reason of the final robbing of pillars previous to abandonment so long as not more than twenty persons are employed therein at any one time The cage or cages and other means of egress shall at all times be available for the persons employed where there is no second outlet

Section 2 The owner operator or superintendent of any mine to which there is only one shaft slope or outlet may petiton the Court of Common Pleas in and for the county in which said mine is situated which said court is hereby empowered to act in the premises setting forth that in consequence of intervening lands between the working of his mine and the most practicable point or the only practicable point as the case may be at which to make or bring to the surface from the working of his mine he is unable to make an additional shaft slope or outlets in accordance with the requirements of this act the court may make an order of reference and appoint three disinterested persons residents of the county viewers one or more of whom shall be a practical mining engineer all of whom after being sworn to a faithful discharge of their duties shall view and examine the premises and determine as to whether the owner should have the privilege of making an additional outlet through or upon any intervening lands as the case may require and report in writing to the court which report shall be entered and filed of record If the finding of the viewers or any two of them is in favor of the owner of such coal mine or colliery he may make an aditional shaft slope or outlet under through or upon intervening lands as may be determined upon and provided for by the award If the finding of the viewers is against the owner or if no award be made by reason of any default or neglect on the part of the owner he shall be bound to comply with the provisions of this act in the same manner as if this section had not been enacted In case the said owner operator or superintendent desires to and claims that he ought to make additional opening under through or upon any adjoining on intervening lands to meet the requirements of this act for the ingress and egress of the men employed in his or their mine he or they shall make a statement of the facts in the petition with a survey setting forth the point of commencement and the point of termination of the proposed outlet which he or they their engineers agents or employes may enter upon said intervening lands and survey and mark as he or they shall find it proper to adopt for such additional outlet doing as little damage as possible to the property explored and the viewers shall state in their report what damage will be sustained by the owner or owners of the intervening lands by the opening construcing and using of the outlet and if the report is not appealed from it shall be confirmed or rejected by said court as to right and justice shall appertain and any further and all proceedings in relation thereto shall be in conformity with like proceedings as in the case of a lateral railroad across or under intervening lands under the act approved the fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and thirty-two entitled "An Act regulating lateral railroads and the supplements thereto so far as the provisions of the same are applicable hereto and the notice to the owner of intervening lands of the intention to apply for the privilege of making an outlet and meeting of the viewers shall be given and the costs of the case shall be paid as provided in the said act of the fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and thirty-two and the supplements thereto

Section 3 The escapements shafts or slopes shall be fitted with safe and available appliances by which the persons employed in the mine may readily escape in case an accident occurs deranging the hoisting machinery at the main outlets

Section 4 In slopes where the angle of inclination is fifteen degrees or less there must be provided a sparate traveling way which shall be maintained in a safe condition for travel and kept free from steam and dangerous gases

Section 5 No inflammable structure other than a frame to sustain pulleys or sheaves shall be erected over the entrance of any opening connecting the surface with the underground workings of any mine and no "breaker" or other inflammable structure for the preparation or storage of coal shall be erected nearer than two hundred (200) feet to any such opening but this act shall not be construed to prohibit the erection of a fan drift for the purpose of ventilation or of a trestle for the transportation of cars from any slope to such breaker or structure neither shall it apply to any shaft or slope until the work of development and shipment of coal has commenced Provided That this section shall not apply to breakers that are now erected

Section 6 Every abandoned slope shaft air-hole and drift shall be properly fenced around or across its entrance by the owner operator or superintendent

Section 7 Fences shall be placed around or across all underground entrances to any place not in actual course of working by the owner operator or superintendent which will prevent persons from inadvertently entering the same

Section 8 The following rules shall be observed in every shaft to which this act applies

First After each and every blast the chargeman must see that all loose material is swept down from the timbers before the workmen descend to their work

Second After a suspension of work and also after firing a blast in a shaft where explosive gases are envolved the person in charge must have the said shaft examined and tested with a safety lamp before the workmen are allowed to descend

Third Not more than four persons shall be lowered or hoisted in any shaft on a bucket at the same time and no person shall ride on a loaded bucket

Fourth Whenever persons are employed on platforms in shafts the person in charge must see that the said platforms are properly and safely constructed

Fifth While shafts are being sunk all blasts therein must be exploded by an electric battery

Sixth Any person firm or corporation who fails to comply with or who violates the provisions of this article shall be guilty of an offense against this act

ARTICLE VII

Ventilation

Section 1 The owner operator or superintendent of every mine shall provide and maintain a constant and adequate supply of pure air for the same as hereinafter provided and see that the same is circulated therein as required in this article

Section 2 It shall not be lawful to use a furnace for the purpose of ventilating any mine wherein explosive gases are generated

Section 3 The minimum quantity of air thus produced shall not be less than two hundred (200) cubic feet per minute for each and every person employed in any mine and as much more as the circumstances may require

Section 4 The ventilating current shall be conducted and circulated to and along the face sides and roof of each and every working place throughout the entire mine in sufficient quantities to dilute render harmless and sweep away smoke and noxious or dangerous gases to such an extent that all working places and traveling roads shall be in a safe and fit state to work and travel therein

Section 5 All worked out or abandoned parts of a mine in operation shall be kept free of dangerous bodies of gas or water or fenced off by sufficient walls which will prevent any gas or water from any abandoned mine or portion thereof from entering any mine or portion thereof where men are employed therein

Section 6 Every mine employing more than seventy-five (75) persons must be divided into two (2) or more districts Each district must be provided with a separate spilt or pure air and the ventilation shall be so arranged that not more than seventy-five (75) persons shall be employed at the same time in any one current or split of air The inlet and return air passages for any particular district must be separated by a pillar of coal stone or cement except where it is necessary to cut through said dividing pillar for the purposes of ventilation traffic or drainage

Section 7 All air passages be of sufficient area to allow the free passage of not less than two hundred (200) cubic feet of air pressure per minute for every person working therein and in no case in mines literating explosive gases shall the velocity exceed four hundred and fifty (450) lineal feet per minute in any opening through which the air currents pass if gauze safety lamps are used except in the main inlet or outlets air ways

Section 8 All cross-cuts connecting the main inlet and outlet air pasages of every district when it becomes necessary to close them permanently shall be substantially closed with brick or other suitable building material laid in mortar or cement but in no case shall said air stoppings be constructed of plank except for temporary purposes

Section 9 All doors used in assisting or in any way affecing the ventilation shall be so hung and adjusted that they will close automatically

Section 10 All main doors shall have an attendant whose constant duty it shall be to open them for transportation and travel and prevent them from standing open longer than is necessary for persons or cars to pass through

Section 11 All main doors shall be so placed that when the door is open another which has the same effect upon the same current shall be and remain closed and thus prevent any temporary stoppage of the air current

Section 12 An extra main door shall be so placed and kept standing open as to be out of reach of accidents and so fixed that it can be at once closed in the event of an accident to the doors in use

Section 13 The frame work of such main doors shall be substantially secured in stone or brick laid in mortar or cement unless so otherwise permitted in writing by the inspector

Section 14 All permanent air bridges shall be substantially built of such material and such strength as the circumstances may require

Section 15 The quantities of air in circulation shall be ascertained with an anemometer or other efficient instrument such measurements shall be made by the inside foreman or his assistants once a week at the inlet and outlet airways also at or near the face of each gangway and at the nearest cross-heading to the face of each gangway and at the nearest cross-heading to the face of the inside and outside chamber or breast where men are employed and the heading shall not be driven more than sixty (60) feet from the face of each chamber or breast and shall be entered in the colliery report book

Section 16 A report of these air measurements shall be sent to the inspector before the twelfth day of each month for the preceding month together with a statement of the number of persons employed in each district

Section 17 All ventilators used in mines shall be provided with recording instruments by which the speed of the ventilators or the ventilating pressure shall be registered for each hour and such data shall be preservevd at the colliery for future reference for a period of three (3) months

Section 18 Any person or persons who shall neglect or refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or who shall make any false report in regard to air measurements shall be guilty of an offense against this act

ARTICLE VIII

Maps and Plans

Section 1 The owner operator or superintendent of every coal mine or colliery shall make or cause to be made an accurate map or plan of the workings or excavations of such coal mine or colliery on a scale of one hundred feet to the inch which map or plan shall exhibit the workings or excavations in each and every seam of coal and the tunnels and passages connecting with such workings or excavations It shall state in degrees the general inclination of the strata with any material deflection in said workings or excavations and shall also state the tidal elevations of the bottom of each and every shaft slope tunnel and gangway and of any other point in the mine or on the surface where such elevation shall be deemed necessary by the inspector The map or plan shall show the number of the last survey station and date of each survey on the gangways or the most advanced workings it shall also show section of the seam on each gangway together with the coal thickness It shall also accurately show the boundary lines of the lands of the said coal mine or colliery and the proximity of the workings thereto and in case any mine contains any water dammed up in any part thereof it shall be the duty of the owner operator or superintendent to cause the true location of the said dam to be accurately marked on said map or plan together with the tidal elevation inclination of strata and area of said workings containing water and whenever any workings or excavations are approaching the workings where such dam or water is contained or situated the owner operator or superintendent shall notify the inspector of the same without delay

A true copy of which map or plan the said owner operator or superintendent shall deposit with the inspector of mines for the district in which the said coal mine or colliery is situated showing the workings of each seam if so desired by the inspector on a separate sheet of tracing muslin One copy of the said map or plan shall be kept at the colliery

Section 2 The said owner operator or superintendent shall as often as once in every six months place or cause to be placed on the said inspector's map or plan of said coal mine or colliery the plan of the extensions made in such coal mine or colliery during the preceding six months The said extensions shall be placed on the inspector's map and the map returned to the inspector within two months from the date of the last survey

Section 3 When any coal mine or colliery is worked out preparatory to being abandoned or when any lift thereof is about to be abandoned the owner operator or superintendent of such coal mine or colliery shall have the maps or plans thereof extended to include all excavations as far as practicable and such portions thereof as have been worked to the boundary lines of adjoining properties or any part or parts of the workings of which it is intended to be allowed to fill with water must be surveyed in duplicate and such surveys must practically agree and certified copies be filed with the inspector of the district in which the mines are situated

Section 4 Whenever the owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine or colliery shall neglect or refuse or from any cause not satisfactory to the inspector shall fail for a period of three months to furnish to the inspector the map or plan of said colliery or of the extensions thereof as provided for in this act the inspector is hereby authorized to cause an accurate map or plan of such coal mine or colliery to be made at the expense of the owner thereof which cost shall be recoverable from said owner as other debts are by law recoverable

Section 5 If the inspector finds or has reason to believe that any map or plan of any coal mine or colliery furnished under the provisions of this act is materially inaccurate it shall be his duty to make application to the Court of Common Pleas of the county in which such colliery is situated for an order to have an accurate map or plan of said colliery prepared and if such survey shall prove that the map furnished was materially inaccurate or imperfect such owner operator or superintendent shall be liable for the expense incurred in making the same

Section 6 If it shall be found that the map or plan furnished by the owner operator or superintendent was not materially inaccurate or imperfect the Commonwealth shall be held liable for the expense incurred in making said test survey

Section 7 If it shall be shown that the said owner operator or superintendent has knowingly or designedly caused or allowed such map or plan when furnished to be incorrect or false such owner operator or superintendent thus offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeeding five hundred dollars or imprisonment not exceeding three months at the discretion of the court

Section 8 The maps or plans of the several coal mines or collieries in each district and which are placed in the custody of the inspector shall be the property of the Commonwealth and shall remain in the care of the inspector of the district in which the said collieries are situated to be transferred by him to his successor in office and in no case shall a copy of the same be made without the consent of the owner operator or superintendent

Section 9 The inspector's map or plan of any particular colliery shall be open for inspection in the presence of the inspector to any miner or miners of that colliery whenever said miner or miners shall have cause to fear his or their working place or places are becoming dangerous by reason of the proximity to other workings which may be supposed to contain water or dangerous gases or for any other reason map shall also be open to the inspection and examination of any citizen interested during business hours

Section 10 It shall be obligatory on the owners of adjoining coal properties to leave or cause to be left a pillar of coal in each seam or vein of coal worked by them along the line of adjoining property of such width that taken in connection with the pillar to be left by the adjoining property owner will be a sufficient barrier for the safety of the employees of either mine in case the other should be abandoned and allowed to fill with water such width of pillar to be determined by the engineer of the adjoining property owners together with the inspector of the district in which the mine is situated and the surveys of the face of the workings along such pillars shall be made in duplicate and must practically agree A copy of such duplicate surveys certified to must be filed with the owners of the adjoining properties and with the inspector of the district in which the mine or property is situated

Section 11 Any person firm or corporation who fails to comply with the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of an offense against this act

ARTICLE IX

General Rules

Section 1 In every working approaching any place where there is likely to be an accumulation of explosive gas or where workings are required to be examined by safety lamps before the men enter the mine as required in section three article four of this act no light or fire other than a locked safety lamp shall be allowed or used unless the operator has a sufficient quantity of air circulating throughout the entire mine which will dilute render harmless and sweep away all noxious explosive and dangerous gases liberated therein provided however that the mine inspector of the district shall have authority to require a mine to be worked with locked safety lamps if in his judgment open lights are a menace to life or property

Section 2 No one except a duly authorized person shall have in his possession a key of any other contrivance for the purpose of unlocking any safety lamp in any mine where locked safety lamps are used No Lucifer matches or any other apparatus for striking light shall be taken into such mine or parts thereof

Section 3 Every workman in want of props ties cappieces rails or timbers shall notify the mine foreman or his assistant of the fact at least one day in advance giving the length of the props or timber required and in case of danger from loose roof or sides he shall not continue to cut or load coal until the said props and timber have been properly furnished and the place made secure A failure to furnish articles above mentioned to the miner or workman ordering the same on the part of the owner operator superintendent or mine foreman shall be deemed an offense against this act and shall be taken to be negligence per se on the part of the owner operator superintendent or mine foreman as the case may be of such mine in any action for the recovery of damages for accidents resulting from insufficient propping of such mine through failure to furnish the necessary props or timbers

Section 4 No blast shall be fired in any mine where locked safety lamps are used except by permission of the mine foreman or assistant mine foreman and before a blast is fired the person in charge must examine the place and adjoining places and satisfy himself that it is safe to fire such blast before such permission is given

Section 5 The doors of any carriage cage bucket or gun boat shall not face downwards while persons are being hoisted or lowered in any shaft slope or plane

Section 6 No person shall ride upon or against any loaded car cage or gun boat in any shaft slope or plane in or about a mine or colliery

Section 7 Not more than ten (10) persons shall be hoisted or lowered at any one time in any shaft or slope and whenever five (5) persons shall arrive at the bottom of any shaft or slope in which persons are regularly hoisted or lowered they shall be furnished with an empty car or cage and be hoisted except however in mines where there is provided a traveling way having an average pitch of fifteen (15) degrees or less and not more than one thousand (1,000) feet in length This however shall not prohibit the hoisting or lowering of twenty (20) persons at one time on slopes where two (2) or more loaded cars are regularly hoisted Provided that not less than thirty (30) workmen working therein make such request in writing to the inspector of the district and after inspection by him he finds the hoisting appliances in every respect are of sufficient strength he may comply with the request of the workmen Provided that in any coal mine or colliery where the hoisting appliances are not of sufficient strength to hoist or lower the number of persons named he shall have the power to reduce the number of persons to be hoisted or lowered

Section 8 Every engineer shall work his engine slowly and with great care when any person is being lowered or hoisted in a shaft or slope and no one shall interfere with or intimidate him while in the discharge of his duties

Section 9 An engineer who has charge of the hoisting machinery by which persons are lowered or hoisted in the mine shall be in constant attendance for that purpose during the whole time any person or persons are below ground and he shall not allow any person or persons except such as may be deputed by the owner operator or superintendent to handle or meddle with the engine under his charge or any part of its machinery

Section 10 No person engaged as hoisting engineer at or about the anthracite coal mines of this Commonwealth part of whose duties it is to lower men and boys into and hoist them and coal from the said mines shall be engaged for a longer period than eight (8) hours out of each day of twenty-four (24) hours

Section 11 The engineer shall operate his engine with great care and in such manner that the cage carriage or gun boat shall not exceed a speed of one thousand (1000) feet per minute in shafts and five hundred (500) feet per minute in slopes when any person is being lowered or hoisted in a shaft or slope and no person shall interfere with him while in the discharge of his duties

Section 12 In any shaft or slope where the engine has been standing idle for one-half hour or more an empty trip shall be hoisted as a precautionary measure before any person shall be permitted to ride on the cage carriage or gun boat

Section 13 No person except those who have permission from the superintendent shall enter the engine house while the engineer is on duty and no person shall engage in conversation with the engineer while his engine is in motion Telephone or speaking tubes installed to engine houses shall not be used by any person except to communicate with the engineer and then only on matters pertaining to the engineer's duties under this act

NAYS—1.

Jones, E. E.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, when Bill No. 1785 was voted on and I voted "no" I did so under a misapprehension with the idea that I was voting on the following bill. If it is possible, I would like to have my vote changed from "aye" to "no." If not, that I would like to have the statement appear on the record.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the statement will be recorded in the Journal immediately following the record of the vote.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 1076, as follows:

Those containing a population under one hundred thousand shall constitute the fourth class

All laws now in force applying to cities of the second class shall apply to both cities of the second and third class herein provided

All laws now in force applying to cities of the third class shall apply to cities of the fourth class herein provided

Section 2 This act shall take effect the first day of January Anno Domoni one thousand nine hundred fourteen

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I wish the sponsor of this bill would make some explanation of it to the House.

The SPEAKER. The sponsor of the bill, Mr. Kaiser, is not in the House at the present time.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I then move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 1182. as follows:

A supplement to an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred an eleven entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for the transportation of certain pupils at the expense of the proper school district

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That where any sub-district public elementary school was for any reason abandoned or closed in any school district prior to the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven it shall be the duty of the board of school directors of such district to furnish at the expense of the proper district to pupils residing one mile and a half or more from the nearest public elementary school located and held in any district transportation to and from any school to which such pupil shall by law be entitled or permitted to attend and whether or not such pupil at any time attended such school so abandoned or closed

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, this bill is intended to cover omissions in the Act of 1911. In my county as well as in Tioga County and Centre County and one other county the school directors did not have the right to provide for transportation where schools had been closed for want of attendance prior to the Act of 1911. In the four counties the courts have passed upon this question, and have decided that the school code of 1911 does not provide for transportation for children that had lived in sub-districts that had been closed prior to this act. This act is simply to provide for that contingency which is not in the school code. It is amended so as to cover the question, and to wipe away all objections formerly raised, and I hope that every member will vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Benninger, Brosius,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REQUEST FOR RECORDING VOTE.

Mr. BROSIUS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to be recorded as voting on the bill just passed. No. 1182, as voting "Aye" if it can be done.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the request will be noted in the Journal following the recording of the vote.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 531, as follows:

An Act amending the sixth section of an act approved the twenty-eighth day of April eighteen hundred and ninety-nine entitled "An Act to provide for the classification of the townships of the Commonwealth with respect to their population into two classes and to prescribe the form of government for township of each class

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section six of an act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine entitled "An Act to provide for the classifict-tion of the townships of the Commonwealth with respect to their population into two classes and to prescribe the form of government for townships of each class" which reads as follows

"Section 6 The persons elected township commissioners shall meet on the first Monday in March succeeding their election and until otherwise designated by ordinance the place of meeting shall be the oldest polling lace in the township Each member shall take and subscribe an oath or affirmation to be administered by a justice of the peace or notary public to support the Constitution of the United States and of this Commonwealth and to perform the duties of his office with fidelity Certificates of such oaths and affirmations shall be filed with the township auditor

The board shall meet at least once a month at such time and place as may be designated by ordinance A majority of the members of the board shall constitute a quorum shall be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows

Section 6 The persons elected township commissioners shall organize on the first Monday of January following their election assembling for such purpose at their respective places of meeting at seven thirty o'clock in the afternoon and until otherwise designated by ordinance the place of meeting shall be the oldest polling place in the township Each member shall take and subscribe an oath or affirmation to be administered by a justice of the peace or notary public to support the Constitution of the United States and of this Commonwealth and to perform the duties of his office with fidelity Certificates of such oaths and affirmations shall be filed with the township auditor

If a majority of the commissioners shall not attend at the meeting on the first Monday of January those present shall have power to adjourn the meeting from day to day until a majority attend

The board shall organize by the election of one of their number as president He shall preside at all meetings of the board and perform such other duties as are specified in this act or which may be prescribed by ordinance

The board shall meet at least once a month at such time and place as may be designated by ordinance A majority of the members of the board shall constitute a quorum

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, fearing that some one may misunderstand the purpose of this bill, I will simply say that it is drawn to fix the time at which commissioners shall organize so as to conform to the present constitutional provision and law made thereunder. It is a very meritorious measure.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1551, as follows:

An Act providing that taxes assessed against property used exclusively for public hospital purposes and which have not been paid shall be remitted by the municipal authority levying the same

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever heretofore taxes have been assessed against any property used exclusively for public hospital purposes including the ground upon which any hospital building has been erected and so much additional ground as may be or may have been neccessary for such public hospital purposes and said taxes have not been paid the taxes so assessed and unpaid shall be remitted by the municipal authority levying the same

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was not agreed to and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1736, entitled:

An Act limiting the time within which to begin actions in trespass for malicious prosecutions conspiracy and false imprisonment to one year after the injury complained of

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the sponsor of this bill is going to ask for postponement.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Watson.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, it is changing the limitation of action for malicious prosecution, conspiracy and false imprisonment to one year instead of two. The bill does not need any explanation.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, in conversation with the sponsor of this bill this morning with reference to an amendment that I proposed to offer, he said he would postpone this bill until we had an opportunity to consider it, and if he is not going to do that, I desire to offer an amendment.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

The motion was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1551, file folio 7721, entitled:

An Act providing that taxes assessed against property used exclusively for public hospital purposes and which have not been paid shall be remitted by the municipal authority levying the same on page 17 of to-day's calendar, failed on third reading, be reconsidered.

Mr. JOHN ROBERT JONES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, what is the purpose of the bill?

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, this bill is to remit taxes by the City of Philadelphia that they assessed against the Jefferson Hospital. You passed this bill in 1911. The Governor vetoed it on account of the unconstitutionality of the bill at that time. Now, that condition is corrected.

The City Councils of Philadelphia has remitted this, but the city solicitor says that the councils have no right to, and they had to come into the Legislature to get permission from the Legislature. Now, I think, under the statutes hospitals and churches are exempt from taxation. This is a piece of property that was presented by the Baldwin Locomotive Works to the Jefferson Hospital, and they neglected to have it certified to release these taxes. This is strictly a public charity.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of H. R. bill No. 1656, as follows:

An Act providing for the annulment of charters of boroughs incorporated by decree of the court of quarter sessions and prescribing the manner and procedure necessary to secure such decree of annulment and providing for the reversion to the original township of the property within such borough

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the several courts of quarter sessions within this Commonwealth shall have power upon petition of seventy-five per centum of the qualified electors of any borough heretofore incorporated to decree the annulment of the charter of such borough

Section 2 That upon presentation of such application for annulment as aforesaid to the court it shall be filed with the clerk and notice thereof shall be given in at least one newspaper of the proper county for a period of not less than thirty (30) days immediately preceeding the date of such hearing and during which time exceptions may be filed to such application by any person interested and at such hearing the court shall make a full investigation of the case and if it shall find that the conditions prescribed by law have been complied with and shall believe that it is expedient to grant the prayer of the applicants shall grant the same and make a decree accordingly and said application and decree shall be recorded in the recorder's office of the proper county

Section 3 That upon the entry and recording of such decree the lands embraced within the limits of such borough shall revert to and become a part of the township from which it was originally taken and be under and subject to its government and control provided however that any indebtedness of such borough shall be paid from the taxes assessed and collected from that portion of said township as formerly included within the limits of said borough

Section 4 All costs and expenses incident to the preceding for the annulment of the charter as aforesaid shall be paid by the petitioners

Section 5 All laws general and special inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 46, as follows:

An Act requiring hospitals receiving appropriations from the Commonwealth to maintain free rooms for certain patients regulating the use of said rooms and regulating the care and treatment of such patients

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That every hospital which shall receive from this Commonwealth any appropriation shall at all times maintain a private room to be known as the "Commonwealth Room" This room shall be for the preferential use of any of the following persons who may apply to such hospital for care and treatment in any serious illness or for a surgical operation of any kind

1 Any honorably discharged soldier sailor or marine who served in the army or navy of the United States during the Civil War or any preceding war and who was at the time of his enlistment and at the time of his application for admission to said hospital a resident of this Commonwealth

2 Any resident of this Commonwealth being the wife or widow of any honorably discharged soldier sailor or marine who shall have served as aforesaid

Such care and treatment and any necessary surgical operation shall be given and performed without any cost to such patient during the continuance of such illness if he or she is unable to pay the cost of the same

Section 2 Should any such person make application as aforesaid when said room is already occupied and the Commonwealth room of other hospitals in the same locality is also occupied by such persons then the proper hospital shall at once set apart another such room for the applicant and treat and care for such patient or patients as herein required Provided however That if all the rooms of said hospital are occupied then the said applicant shall be entitled to occupy any such room as shall first become vacant

Section 3 Before any appropriation to any hospital shall be available the proper hospital authorities shall certify to the Auditor General under the seal of such institution that such room has been reserved and that all applicants qualified as hereinbefore set forth will be cared for and treated as required by this act

Section 4 Should at any time any such hospital cease to maintain a room as aforesaid or refuse or neglect to care for and treat applicants qualified as aforesaid or fail or neglect to extend to such applicants all proper care and treatment the Auditor General shall upon due proof thereof refuse to authorize any further payment of money from this Commonwealth to such hospital

Section 5 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. J. A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 2, line 6: Strike out after word "required" provided however," also strike out line 7, 8, 9.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be made in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The amendments consisting merely of striking out, the bill will now be put upon final passage.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass?

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like the sponsor of the bill to state to the House what classification is provided for in this bill.

Mr. J. A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is to give to the old soldiers who are unable to pay, free treatment in any hospital in the State. We all know that these veterans have only a short time to remain here and if there is any one of them who is unale to pay for hospital treatment he should be given free treatment. This great Commonwealth is spending twenty million dollars for hospital and charity work and the old soldier should be the first one to be given free treatment. I struck out, for the benefit of our country members who thought it might be a burdent on those particular hospitals, the proviso in section 2, which I think is now satisfactory to them and I think all of us as Pennsylvanians should give this right to the old soldier.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—1.

Heidinger,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1548, entitled:

An Act to amend sections fourteen and seventeen of an act approved June first one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to establish an Insurance Department authorizing the appointment of an Insurance Commissioner and prescribing his powers and duties also providing for the licensing examination regulation and dissolution of insurance and surety companies and associations and for the licensing and regulation of insurance agents and insurance brokers also providing for the collection of fees and prescribing penalties for the violation of any of the provisions of this act and repealing all existing acts'

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KEEPORT. Mr. Speaker.

This is a department bill the only change from the old law is in section 1, lines 63 to 67.

The principal change is in relieving the companies from paying a fee for licensing the firm or corporation as required under the present law. This is a double taxation and while it only produces about $1,200 additional revenue annually, it costs our own companies under retaliatory laws of other states from $12,000 to $15,000, which they are required to pay to those states. This change is to relieve our companies from that burden.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman.

Th SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KEEPORT. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know the occasion for inserting the word "real estate" in the sentence starting in line 60, as follows:

No license shall be issued to a corporation unless by its charter it is authorized to engage in the insurrance or real estate business

Mr. KEEPORT. Mr. Speaker, that is in the present law.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I am unable to find it in the present law.

Mr. KEEPORT. Mr. Speaker, Attorney General Bell is the gentleman who drew up this bill and asked to have it introduced.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I do not find it in the original act.

Mr. KEEPORT. Mr. Speaker, I think it is in the original act.

At least, I understood it that way.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

			Swift,

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 451, as follows:

An Act creating a reward or bounty for the destruction of certain noxious animals and birds killed within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing a method for the payment of the same by the several counties of the Commonwealth which in turn are to be reimbursed and providing penalties for violation of its several provisions

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act a reward or bounty shall be paid by this Commonwealth for the killing within the Commonwealth only of the following noxious animals and birds as follows For each wildcat the sum of four dollars for each gray fox the sum of two dollars for each weasel the sum of two dollars for each hen hawk duck hawk or goshawk or pigeon hawk the sum of fifty cents for each great horned owl the sum of fifty cents and for each porcupine fifty cents

Section 2 It shall be the duty of any person who having killed one of these animals or birds within the Commonwealth and being desirous of securing the reward or bounty named in section one of this act to produce such slain animal or bird or the entire pelt of such animal before any person authorized to administer oaths in the county in which said animal or bird was killed and to make affidavit that he or some member of his family killed the same stating clearly the time of such killing and that the place at which such animal or bird was killed (naming it) was within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Upon the production of such animal or pelt or of such bird and the making of such affidavit the said official shall in the presence of the party making such affidavit and at least one elector of the county in which the claim is made cut off the ears from such animal or pelt or the head of such bird and burn the same and split the skin of the face of the animal from between the eyes through the end of the nose

Section 3 Upon the destruction of such ears or head and the splitting of the skin of the face of such animal the said official shall give to the party making such affidavit a certificate directed to the commissioners of the county in which he has jurisdiction setting forth clearly the fact that the provisions of this act have been complied with naming the kind of animal or bird killed the name of the person killing it the time it was killed and the name of the place within the Commonwealth where it was thus killed Upon the presentation of such certificate in proper form the commissioners of the county shall give an order for the amount named in such certificate to the person presenting the same drawn upon the county treasurer directing the payment of the reward or bounty as provided for in this act and the County Treasurer shall at once upon presentation of said order pay the same from the funds in his hands belonging to said county

Section 4 The county commissioners of the several counties of this Commonwealth shall keep an accurate account of all applications made to them for bounty under the provisions of this act and shall on or about the first of January and the first day of June of each year prepare and forward to the Auditor General of the Commonwealth at Harrisburg an itemized statement to be prepared upon a form supplied by the Auditor General at the cost of the Commonwealth of all the several amounts directed by them to be paid between the aforesaid dates and under the provisions of this act making affidavit thereto and accompanying the same by a sworn statement of the county treasurer setting forth the fact that the several amounts were actually paid by him in compliance with said orders and the Auditor General shall if he finds the before named return in proper form draw a warrant in favor of such county upon the State Treasurer for the amount so claimed and approved which said warrant upon presentation to the State Treasurer shall be paid out of the appropriation hereafter provided

Section 5 No person shall at any time be paid a bounty for the killing of any animal named in this act the skin of which has had the ears cut off or the front of the face split or of any bird which has had the head cut off before presentation to the person authorized to take affidavit under the provisions of this act and no person shall at any time collect or attempt to collect a second bounty for the killing of any animal or bird under the provisions of this act or shall attempt to collect such bounty through the presentation of the skin or head or any part thereof of an animal or bird not named in this act or through deception of any character and it shall be unlawful for any person in this Commonwealth to present for the purpose of securing the bounty provided for by this act the skin or head or any part thereof of an animal or bird that has been reared in captivity or the skin or head or any part thereof of any animal or bird killed or captured outside of this Commonwealth Each and every person who shall willfully or fraudulently collect or attempt to collect any reward or bounty provided for by this act to which he or they are not legally entitled under the provisions of this act or shall aid or abet or assist in any capacity official or otherwise in an attempt to defraud the State through the collection or payment of any reward or bounty provided for by this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall in addition to the penalty that may be imposed for perjury where a false affidavit is made be sentenced to pay to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a fine of not less than one hundred dollars or more than five hundred dollars or suffer an imprisonment in the common jail of the county for a period of one day in jail for each dollars of fine imposed

Section 6 That the sum of one hundred thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this act during the two fiscal years beginning with June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen but no bounty shall be paid on any animal or bird killed prior to the passage of this act It being specifically understood that this entire amount thus appropriated for this purpose shall be returned to the State Treasury for the use of the Commonwealth by putting into the general funds of the Commonwealth fifty per centum of the amount obtained through collections made under the provisions of the act requiring resident hunters to secure a license before hunting in this Commonwealth until one hundred thousand dollars have been so returned

Section 7 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, this carries an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars and I think it should be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations. I therefore move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. GRAMLEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, while this bill carries an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars, it is money to be provided by the Hunters' License Act and I don't think that the Appropriation Committee necessarily cares to pass on it. I don't think the House is being opposed upon by allowing it to be postponed for the present.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, if it is satisfactory to the gentleman from Sullivan, I will withdraw my motion to recommit and agree to postpone it.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. RESSER. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1906 (Senate No. 872), entitled:

A supplement to an act approved the twenty-fifth day of February one thousand nine hundred and one entitled "An Act to establish a Department of Forestry to provide for its proper administration to regulate the acquisition of land for the Commonwealth and to provide for the control protection and maintenance of Forestry reservations by the Department of Forestry

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, this bill aurorizes the State to pay ten dollars an acre for Forest Reserve Land. I understand the present price is three dollars an acre. There certainly should be some reason for this increase. If any one can explain any reason for that increase, I should like to have them do it.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the member from Allegheny, Mr. Semmens, was requested by Senator Kline to look after the bill on this side of the House. He, however, is not here and I ask that further action on this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1850 (Senate No. 630), entitled:

An Act fixing the salary of the second assistant State Librarian

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SHOWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I am consistently opposed to any salary raising measures but I believe that a man who works is worthy of recompense for what he does. I understand that the second assistant State Librarian is paid fifteen hundred dollars a year at the present time. That is scarcely a living wage in this city and scarcely sufficient compensation for the work he does. I am informed that he is worth a great deal more, measured by his duties to the State, than two thousand dollars that this bill provides for. I hope you will see fit to approve this measure and that you will give this man compensation for what he is doing. He would not be overpaid at twenty-five hundred dollars a year.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—3.

Benson,	Burnett,	Carson,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1614, as follows:

An Act authorizing the attachment of wages or salary upon judgments obtained for necessaries limiting the amount of exemption to be claimed and providing for the payment of the costs

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act whenever a judgment is obtained in any court of record or before an alderman magistrate or justice of the peace upon a contract for furnishing the necessaries of life and the defendant is a laborer or person engaged in public or private employment the wages of such laborer or the salary of such person shall be subject to attachment in the hands of the employer

Section 2 When an attachment execution is issued upon such judgment and wages or salary are attached in the hands of the employer if the amount in the hands of the employer shall be less than the amount of exemption allowed the defendant by law the debtor shall be entitled in his claim for an exemption to a sum amounting to ninety per centum and no more of the money so attached No deduction from the fund attached shall be permitted for said costs shall be paid by the attaching creditor

Section 3 No attachment shall issue or be levied under this act unless and until the debtor has been given thirty (30) days previous notice by registered mail at his last known address of the intention to issue such writ and shall have failed within said period of thirty days to adjust such judgment to the satisfaction of his creditor

Section 4 The provisions of this act shall only apply to judgments secured upon contracts for the necessaries of life furnished after the passage of this act

Section 5 All acts or parts of acts supplied hereby or inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. MOULTHROP. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1739, as follows:

An Act extending and defining the liability of owners or operators of electric wires or electric current conductors and declaring what shall constitute negligence in actions where death or injury to property has resulted on public highways and declaring on whom the burden of proof shall be and defining who shall be considered an owner under this act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all actions to recover from any owner

for injuries sustained from any wire or electric current conductor charged with electric current breaking or becoming unfastened or falling or hanging down or over any street or public highway for any reason or from any cause other than the act of God or the public enemy within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the fact that said wire or electric current conductor had been inspected at frequent intervals by employes of the owner shall not be a defense in proving that there was no negligence on the part of the owner of such electric wire or electric current conductor and the fact that such wire or electric conductor breaking or becoming unfastened or falling or hanging down shall be deemed evidence of negligence on the part of the owner and the burden of disproving negligence shall be on the owner

Section 2 The word "owner" as used in the first section of this act shall include all individuals firms co-partnerships associations and corporations who may be either the owner of electric wires or electric conductors or the lessee or those otherwise in control

Section 3 All laws or parts of laws inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. CARTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present, on account of the absence of the sponsor.

Mr. CLEARY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

The county commissioners shall provide for each voting machine for each election the following printed matter and supplies suitable printed or written directions to the custodian for testing and preparing the voting machine for the election one certificate on which the custodian can certify that he has properly tested and prepared the voting machine for the election one certificate on which some other person other than the custodian can certify that the voting machine has been examined and found to have been properly prepared for the election one certificate on which the party representatives can certify that they have witnessed the testing and preparation of the machines one certificate on which the deliverer of the machines can certify that he has delivered the machines to the polling places in good order one card stating the penalty for tampering with or injuring a voting machine two seals for sealing the voting machine one envelope in which the keys to the voting machine can be sealed and delivered to the election officers said envelope to have printed or written thereon the designation and location of the election district in which the machine is to be used the number of the machine the number shown on the protective counter thereof after the machine has been prepared for the election and the number or other designation on each seal as the machine is sealed with said envelope to have attached to it a detachable receipt for the delivery of the keys of the voting machine to the judge of election one envelope in which the keys to the voting machine can be returned by the election officers after the election one card stating the name and telephone address of the custodian on the day of election two statements of canvass on which the election officers can report the canvass of the votes as shown on the voting machine together with other necessary information relating to the election said statements of canvass to take the place of all tally papers statements and returns as provided heretofore three complete sets of ballot labels two diagrams five suitable printed instructions to judges and inspectors of election three notices to judges and inspectors of election to attend the instruction meeting three certificates that the judges and inspectors of election have attended the instruction meeting have received the necessary instruction and are qualified to conduct the election with the machine The ballot labels shall be printed in black ink on clear white material of such size and arrangement as to suit the construction of the machine provided however the ballot labels for questions may contain a condensed statement of each question to be voted on accompanied by the words "Yes" and "No" the titles of the officers on the ballot labels shall be printed in type as large as the space for such office will reasonably permit and where more than one candidate can be voted for any office there shall be printed below the office title the words "vote for any two" or such number as the voter is lawfully entitled to vote for out of the whole number of candidates nominated

If the election be one at which all the candidates for the office of Presendential elector are to be voted for with one device the county commisisoners shall furnish for each machine twenty-five ballots for each political party each ballot containing the names of the candidates for the office of Presenditial electors of such party and a suitable space for writing in names so that the voter can vote thereon for part of the candidates for the office of Presidential electors of one party and part of the candidates therefor of one or more other parties or for persons for that office not nominated by any party For election districts in which voting machines are to be used no paper ballots shall be furnished for any offices to be voted for on the machine

INSTRUCTION TO VOTERS BEFORE ELECTION

Section 7 Before each election at which voting machines are to be used the custodian shall place on public exhibition a suitable number of machines for the proper instruction of voters Such machines shall be so arranged and so equipped with ballot labels as to best illustrate the method of voting at that election and so far as practicable shall contain the names of the offices to be filled the names of the candidates to be voted for together with their proper party designations and statements of the questions to be voted on Not more than ten or less than three days before each election at which voting machines are to be used the board or officials charged with the duty of providing ballots shall publish in newspapers representing at least two political parties a diagram of reduced size showing the face of the voting machine after the official ballot labels are arranged thereon together with illustrated instructions how to vote and a statement of the locations of such voting machines as shall be on public exhibition

INSTRUCTION OF JUDGES AND INSPECTORS OF ELECTION

Section 8 Where more than one machine is to be used in an election district one additional inspector shall be appointed for each additional machine Before each election at which voting machines are to be used the custodian shall instruct all judges and inspectors of election that are to serve thereat in the use of the machine and their duties in connection therewith and he shall give to each judge and inspector that has received such instruction and is fully qualified to conduct the election with the machine a certificate to that effect For the purpose of giving such instruction the custodian shall call such meeting or meetings of the judges and inspecotrs as shall be necessary Each judge and inspector shall attend such meeting or meetings and receive such instructions as shall be necessary for the proper conduct of the elections with the machine and as compensation for the time spent in receiving such instruction each judge and inspector that shall qualify for and serve in the election shall receive the sum of one dollar to be paid to him at the same time and in the same manner as compensation is paid to him for his services on election day No judge or inspector of election shall serve in any election at which a voting machine is used unless he shall have received such instruction and is fully qualified to perform his duties in connection with the machine and has received a certificate to that effect from the custodian of the machines provided however that this shall not prevent the appointment of a judge or inspector of election to fill a vacancy in an emergency

TESTING AND PREPARING VOTING MACHINES FOR ELECTION.

Section 9 The county commissioners shall cause the machines to be properly prepared prior to any election whereat the same are to be used and for that purpose shall employ competent persons who shall be known as voting machine custodians who shall be sworn to perform their duties faithfully according to law and who shall receive each the sum of five dollars per day out of the county funds for each day actually employed under the provisions of this act One custodian shall be employed for each twenty machines One-half of the custodians shall be selected as nearly as may be from the party casting the largest vote at the election preceding the appointment The remainder shall be selected from the party casting the next highest vote All appointments to fill vacancies shall be made in like manner The custodians shall be appointed for the term of two years

In preparing a voting machine for an election the custodian shall according to the written or printed directions furnished by the county commissioners arrange the machine and the ballot labels therefor so that they will in every particular meet the requirements for voting and counting at such election The custodian shall thereupon test the machine and certify accordingly to the county commissioners The names of candidates shall be arranged on the machine in the manner prescribed by law for their arrangement upon ballots

Before preparing the voting machine for any election the custodian shall give written notice to at least three of the principal political parties stating the time and place where machines will be prepared at which time one representative appointed by the county chairman of each of such political parties shall be afforded an opportunity to see that the machines are in proper condition for use in the election Such representatives shall be sworn to failthfully perform their duties and shall be regarded as election officials but shall not interfere with the custodians or assume any of their duties When a machine has been so examined by such representatives it shall be sealed with a numbered metal seal and such representatives shall certify to the number of the machine that the public counter and all the candidate and question counters register 000 the number registered on the protective counter and the number or other designating mark on the seal After being prepared for the election each machine shall be examined by some person other than the custodian preparing it and a certificate thereof filed with the county commissioners The custodian shall cause all voting machines to be delivered to the polling places in charge of an authorized official who shall certify to their delivery in good order on the certificate furnished therefor After such delivery the county commissioners shall provide proper protection therefor The county commissioners shall provide a light for every machine which shall be in good order and give sufficient to enable voters while in the booth to read the ballot labels and suitable for use by the election officers in examining the counters

DELIVERY OF ELECTION SUPPLIES AND KEYS.

Section 10 The county commissioners shall cause to be delivered to the judge of election not later than the day before the election the keys for the voting machine which shall be delivered in a sealed envelope on which shall be written the designation and location of the election district the number of the voting machine the number or other designating mark on the seal and the number registered on the protective counter as reported by the custodian for which a receipt shall be taken on the blank attached thereto two diagrams one extra set of ballot labels one envelope containing seal for sealing the machine after the polls are closed one envelope for the return of the keys two statements of canvass and all other supplies necessary for conducting the election

OPENING THE POLLS

Section 11 The election officers of each election district in which a voting machine is to be used shall meet at the polling place therof at least forty-five minutes before the time set for opening the polls and before unlocking the machine for voting shall proceed as follows They shall see that the voting machine is placed where it can be conveniently attended by the election officers and conveniently operated by the voters and where unless its construction requires otherwise the ballot labels thereon can be plainly seen by the election officers and the public when not being voted on They shall see that the model is placed where each voter can conveniently operate it and receive instructions thereon as to the manner of voting before entering the machine They shall post one diagram inside the polling room and one outside in places where the voters can conveniently examine them They shall see that the lantern or other means provided for giving light is in such condition that the voting machine is sufficently lighted to enable voters to readily read the names on the ballot labels They shall see that the ballot labels are in their proper places on the machine They shall see if the number or other designated mark on the seal setting the machine also the numbers registered on the protective counter agree with the number written on the envelope containing the keys and if same do not agree they shall at once notify the custodian and delay unlocking the machine and opening the polls until he shall have re-examined the machine If such numbers or marks do so agree the election officers shall then proceed to see if the public counter and all the candidate and question counters register 000 if any of such counters shall be found to register some number other than 000 the judge of election shall at once notify the custodian who shall set such number at 000 After performing their duties as provided in this section the election officers shall certify thereto in the appropriate places on the statement of canvass as provided thereon When the polls are declared open the judge or an inspector of election shall break the seal and unlock the machine for voting

CONDUCTING THE ELECTION

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a statement in reference to the bill just voted on. The bill was amended in committee by substituting a bill that changed every section of the bill. I reported the bill out myself from the committee and attached to the bill the substitute bill. The printer, however, did not print the bill as reported out, did not insert the amendments from the substitute bill. The file folio, therefore, of the bill, as it appeared upon our calendar several times, will not show the bill in the shape in which it has passed to day. I want to make that statement in order that no question can afterwards arise as to the manner in which this bill arrived upon our calendar. I might state, Mr. Speaker, that the bill in its present form on our calendars is the bill as it was reported out from the Committee on Elections as amended, and the amendments as they appear here are the amendments adopted by the Committee on Elections.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1125, as follows:

An Act to provide revenue by taxation for the improvement of the public roads in this Commonwealth

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the State authorities levying and collecting taxes shall as provided under existing laws levy and collect an additional special tax of one mill for road purposes on personal property capital stock and bonds of corporations joint stock associations companies limited partnerships gross earnings of corpoartions bankers brokers and foreign insurance companies which are now taxed for State purposes including the capital stock and bonds of companies limited co-partnerships and corporations engaged in manufacturing and brewing Provided The provisions of this act shall not apply to mortgages and judgments given in the purchase of real estate

Section 2 The road taxes collected under the provisions of this act shall be held by the State as a separate road fund to be distributed under the direction of the State Highway Commissioner among the several boroughs and townships of the State in proportion to the number of miles of public streets and roads in each borough and township for permanent street and road improvements the provisions of this act as to assessment and collection of taxes shall go into effect on the first day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirteen and the distribution of the road fund so collected shall be made on the first day of April in each year beginning in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BROSIUS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 2 as follows: In line 1, after the first word "the" insert the words "street and";

In line 2, after the word "separate" insert the words "street and."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend House Bill 1125, section 1, strike out the words "given in the purchase of real estate" in lines 13 and 14.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I want to say just a word in relation to this bill. The bill, as its number indicates, was introduced early in the session and was properly referred to the Appropriations Committee. The committee gave most careful consideration to the bill and it is only following out a line of action and operation which was started two years ago in this Legislature and that is to make a great waterway between Lake Erie and the Ohio River. Three States are involved in this great movement, Mr. Speaker, the States of West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania. The Legislature of Ohio, at its session which has just closed, passed the enabling acts which are necessary to put in operation the construction of this waterway and the Governor, James Coxe, signed these bills and so reported to Mayor Magee at the dinner given in his honor in the City of Pittsburgh on last Saturday evening. These bills have already been passed in Ohio. The bills have been passed in West Virginia and I had hoped that at this time—but on account of the brevity of the time which has expired since the Governor signed the bills, it has been impossible for me to produce to the House the original bills or copies of the original bills passed in Ohio. I had hoped to do that to-day, or when this bill was reached.

This bill, Mr. Speaker, means to the western end of the State exactly what the improvement of harbor conditions and all those changes that are needed in the eastern end of the State at Philadelphia mean to the entire State. In the western end of the State, on account of the deposit of iron ore in the Northwest, which comes by water way down through Lake Erie to the shores of the Lake where the railroads have to take charge, the freight rates are increased fearfully from that point to the delivery point at the mills in the western end of the State. By this waterway system a complete line of waterway will be given and transportation will be given for the ores into our mills. The mills instead of seeking new places will remain where they are. The fact that they have been discriminated against in the rates made for conveying the iron ore for the short distance has, Mr. Speaker, as statistics will show, cause many of those institutions to move out of this State and thereby the State's revenues were lost. We want this bill not only locally, not only in the entire western end of the State, not only for the State of Pennsylvania, but for this little bunch of States comprised of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio, which will be most benefited. Further than that, Mr. Speaker, by the connection being made by this canal between Lake Erie and the Ohio River you can see how far the waterway system will be extended down to the Gulf and thereby to the Ocean; and by the Panama Canal which will probably be completed by that time, you can see the extent and the scope and the necessity of this bill.

The bill carries an appropriation of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, which is for the purpose of making all the necessary surveys and making all the estimates and making a return to this House in 1915, or so soon as those things can be accomplished and make a return to show what the completion of the enterprise will take and how much of a benefit it will be to the State. There ought not to be, Mr. Speaker, a single vote on the floor of the House cast in opposition to this bill. It is the largest enterprise that the State of Pennsylvania has before it today.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Session 1913 — 120th of the General Assembly

VOL. 2. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MAY 12, 1913. No. 64.

SENATE.

MONDAY, MAY 12, 1913.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John M. Reynolds) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James, offered the following prayer:

Our Father, which art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name. In Thy Word, O Lord, Thou hast said unto us "Obey my voice and I will be your God." "Many are the afflictions of the righteous, but the Lord delivereth him out of them all." We are weak, but Thou art mighty; guide us with Thy powerful hand. We are mortal, but Thou art eternal; we are finite, but Thou art infinite. But a new day shall dawn for each one of us, wherein this mortal shall put on immortality and this corruption shall put on incorruption. We have entered, O Lord, upon a new week of labor. Thou art the Master Workman. Teach us how to work. We know not how soon our tenure of life shall expire. Help us, then as we have opportunity to do good to all men. And now may the grace of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, the love of God, and the fellowship of the Holy Ghost abide with us all evermore. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MCILHENNY, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

JOHN K. TENER.

APPROVAL OF CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RECALLING SENATE BILL NO. 77 FROM THE GOVERNOR FOR THE PURPOSE OF AMENDMENT.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 1, 1913.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed Concurrent Resolution from the Senate and House of Representatives, recalling from the Governor for the purpose of amendment Senate Bill No. 77, entitled "An Act to exempt from the payment of inheritance taxes, bequests and devises to institutions of purely public charity."

JOHN K. TENER.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 22.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 10, 1913.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 22, entitled "An Act to avoid delay in the administration of justice by fixing a time within which decisions in certain questions and matters shall be rendered by judges and requiring certain certificates from judges before their salaries shall be paid."

This bill seems to be an unjustifiable attempt to control the discretion, and to interfere with the independence, essential to the proper admnistration of the judicial branch of our State Government.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. SENSENICH. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 156.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 8, 1913

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I herewith return, without my approval, Senate Bil No. 156, entitled "An Act relating to the satisfaction of mortgages under power of attorney directed to the recorder of deeds."

The existing laws provide for the satisfaction of mortgages and are generally understood. Under the present rule of law death ends a power of attorney.

I see no good reason for making an exception to that rule with reference to the satisfaction of mortgages.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of this bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. SENSENICH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 366.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 8, 1913

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 366, entitled "An Act providing that waste paper and ashes shall not be hauled upon the streets or alleys in the built up portions of cities of the third class unless covered wagons or vehicles be used and providing penalty for violation thereof"

By this bill it is proposed to regulate the manner in which waste paper and ashes shall be hauled upon the streets or alleys in the built up portions of cities of the third class, and a penalty is provided for its violation.

In my judgment the regulation of matters of this kind should be left to the proper municipal authorities, who can, by ordinance, regulate and control the same, in accordance with the requirements of the various municipalities of the Commonwealth.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of this bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. SENSENICH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 328.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 8, 1913

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I herewith return, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 328, entitled "A further supplement to an act approved the seventh day of June one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine entitled 'An Act to provide revenue by taxation' as variously amended and supplemented."

I see no reason why a corporation incorporated to conduct a laundry, should be relieved of taxation under the guise of being a manufacturing company, when in fact it manufactures nothing.

This would open the door on any class of corporations being declared manufacturing corporations, for the purpose of being relieved from taxation.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of this bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. WASBERS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 394.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, May 8, 1913

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith without my approval, Senate Bill No. 394, entitled An Act to give additional protection to the fish in the waters within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania prohibiting the fishing for or capture or killing of such fish by unnaturalized foreign-born residents and prescribing penalties for violation of its provisions

I am not persuaded that the legislation proposed by this bill is advisable or necessary. In my judgment the proper enforcement against all persons of the provisions of our present fish laws will furnish adequate protection to our fisheries.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of this bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF BILLS RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President. I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 77, recalled from the Governor for amendment, entitled:

An Act to exempt from the payment of inheritance taxes bequests and devises to institutions of purely public charity passed finally be reconsidered.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I move that the vote by which the bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Finance for amendment.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, in the absence of the Senator from Bradford, Mr. Mills, in order that the bill may be amended in accordance with the suggestions, I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 120, recalled from the Governor for amendment, entitled:

An Act regulating pay of election officers and clerks at certain elections hereafter held within this Commonwealth passed finally be reconsidered.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President. I voted "aye."

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Elections for further consideration.

Mr. CATLIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.
